SECT. 9. A woman may also be barred of her dower in all the lands of her husband, by a jointure settled on her with her assent before her marriage: provided, such jointure consist of a freehold estate in lands for the life of the wife at least, to take effect in possession or profit immediately on the death of the husband; her assent to such jointure being expressed, if she is of full age, by her becoming a party to the conveyance by which it is settled, and if she is under age, by her joining with her father or guardian in such conveyance.

SECT. 10. Any pecuniary provision made for the benefit of an intended wife, and in lieu of dower, shall, if assented to as provided in the preceding section, bar her right of dower in all the lands of her husband.

SECT. 11. If such jointure or pecuniary provision in lieu of dower is made before the marriage and without the assent of the intended wife, or if it is made after marriage, it shall bar her dower, unless within six months after the death of her husband she makes her election to waive such provision and be endowed of the lands of her husband. If the husband dies while absent from his wife, she shall have six months after notice of his death within which to make such election; and she shall in all cases have six months for that purpose, after notice of the existence of such jointure or provision.

SECT. 12. A widow shall not be endowed of wild lands of which her husband dies seised, nor of wild lands conveyed by him, although they should be afterwards cleared; but this shall not bar her right of dower in any wood lot or other land used with the farm or dwelling-house, although such wood lot or other land has never been cleared.

SECT. 13. If a woman is lawfully evicted of lands assigned to her as dower or settled upon her as jointure, or is deprived of the provision made for her by will or otherwise in lieu of dower, she may be endowed anew in like manner as if such assignment, jointure, or other provision, had not been made.

SECT. 14. If a tenant in dower commits or suffers waste on the premises held in dower, she shall forfeit the place wasted, and also the amount of damage done to the premises, to be recovered in an action of waste by the person having the next immediate estate of inheritance.

SECT. 15. When a man dies seised of lands, tenements, or hereditaments, or of any right or interest therein in fee simple, not having lawfully devised the same, and leaving a widow, but no issue, the widow in

- lien of dower shall be entitled to one-half of said estate during her natural life; and if any part thereof taken by the widow is wild or woodland, she may use, clear, and improve, the same.
- SECT. 16. The widow may have her dower instead of the provisions of the preceding section, if within six months of the date of the letters of administration she files in the probate office her election to claim dower.
- SECT. 17. When a widow is entitled to any undivided part, or the use and improvement of any undivided part, of the real estate of her husband for the term of her life or widowhood, by the provisions of the will of her husband, in lieu of dower, or by any provisions of law, the probate court in the county where the estate of the husband is settled, may cause her interest in said estate to be set off and assigned to her in like manner as dower.
- SECT. 18. A widow may remain in the house of her husband forty days after his death without being chargeable with rent.
- SECT. 19. When a man and his wife are seised in her right, and when a married woman is seised to her sole and separate use, free from the control of her husband, of any estate of inheritance in lands, and they shall have issue born alive which might inherit the same, the husband shall on the death of his wife hold the lands for his life as a tenant thereof by the curtesy.
- SECT. 20. When land is demised for the term of one hundred years or more, the term shall, so long as fifty years thereof remain unexpired, be regarded as an estate in fee simple, as to every thing concerning the descent and devise thereof upon the decease of the owner, the right of dower therein, the estate in lieu of dower, and the sale thereof by executors, administrators, or guardians, by license from any court; and also as to the levying of executions thereon, and the redemption thereof when taken on execution or mortgaged.
- SECT. 21. Whoever holds as lessee or assignee under such a lease, shall, so long as fifty years of the term are unexpired, be regarded as a freeholder for all purposes.
- SECT. 22. When dower, or an estate in lieu of dower, is assigned out of such land, the widow and her assignee shall be held to pay to the owner of the unexpired residue of the term, in case of dower, one-third, and in case of an estate in lieu of dower, one-half, of the rent reserved in the lease under which the husband held the term.
- SECT. 23. No devise of any such term by will, made before the first day of June in the year one thousand eight hundred and thirty-four, although the deviser shall have died after that day, and no other conveyance thereof made before said first day of June, shall be controlled or affected by any thing contained in the three preceding sections.
- SECT. 24. Every person in possession of land out of which rent is due, whether it was originally demised in fee or for any other estate of freehold, or for any term of years, shall be liable for the amount or proportion of rent due from the land in his possession, although it is only a part of what was originally demised.
- SECT. 25. Tenants at sufferance in possession of lands or tenements shall be liable to pay rent therefor for such time as they may occupy or detain the same.
- SECT. 26. Such rent may be recovered in an action of contract; and the deed of demise or other instrument in writing, if there is any, showing the provisions of the lease, may be used in evidence by either party to prove the amount of rent due from the defendant.
- SECT. 27. Such action may be brought by or against executors and administrators, for any arrears of rent accrued in the lifetime of the deceased parties respectively, in the same manner as for debts due from or to the same parties in their lifetime on any personal contract.

SECT. 30. Upon neglect or refusal to pay the rent due according to the terms of any written lease, fourteen days' notice to quit, given in writing by the landlord to the tenant, shall be sufficient to determine the lease.

SECT. 31. Estates at will may be determined by either party, by three months' notice in writing for that purpose given to the other party; and when the rent reserved is payable at periods of less than three months, the time of such notice shall be sufficient if it is equal to the interval between the days of payment; and in all cases of neglect or refusal to pay the rent due on a lease at will, fourteen days' notice to quit, given in writing by the landlord to the tenant, shall be sufficient to determine the lease.

8 Cush. 283. 12 Cush. 174. 5 Gray, 308. 7 Gray, 197.

SECT. 32. Whoever has erected or may erect any house or other building near the land of another person, with windows overlooking such land, shall not by the mere continuance of such windows acquire any easements of light or air, so as to prevent the erection of any building thereon.

SECT. 33. No person shall acquire a right or privilege of way, nor any other easement, from, in, upon, or over, the land of another, by the adverse use or enjoyment thereof, unless such use has been continued uninterrupted for twenty years.

SECT. 34. The owner of the land in such case may give notice in writing, to the person claiming or using the privilege, of his intention to dispute the right of way or other easement, and to prevent the other party from acquiring such right; and such notice, being served and recorded as hereafter provided, shall be deemed an interruption of such use, and shall prevent the acquiring of a right thereto by the continuance of the use for any length of time thereafter. Such notice shall be served like an original summons in civil actions on the other party, or his agent, or guardian, if within the state, otherwise on the tenant or occupant of the estate, if there is any, and if not, a copy of the notice shall be affixed to the house or to some other conspicuous part of the premises. The service shall be indorsed and returned on the original paper; and the notice with the return shall be recorded in the registry of deeds for the county or district where the land lies, within three months after the service. Every such notice given by the guardian or agent of the owner of the land shall have like effect as if given by himself.

SECT. 35. The notice under the preceding section, when an owner of the adjoining land to be notified is unknown, may be given by conspicuously affixing to or posting on the premises a copy thereof, and serving the same on the person to whom the premises were last assessed for taxes in the place where they lie, and recording the same as required in said section.

SECT. 36. All lands held in fee tail shall be liable for the debts of the tenant in tail, both in his lifetime and after his decease, like estates in fee simple; and when taken on execution, or sold by executors, administrators, or guardians, the creditor or purchaser shall hold the same in fee simple; but this shall not extend to lands in which the debtor has only an estate tail in remainder.

SECT. 37. When any contingent remainder, executory devise, or other estate in expectancy, is so granted or limited to any person that in case of his death before the happening of the contingency the estate would descend to his heirs in fee simple, such person may, before the happening of the contingency, sell, assign, or devise, the premises, subject to the contingency.

SECT. 38. Aliens may take, hold, transmit, and convey, real estate; and no title to real estate shall be invalid on account of the alienage of any former owner; but nothing contained in this section shall defeat the title to any real estate heretofore released or conveyed by the commonwealth or by authority thereof.

Aliens may take, &c., real estate, &c. 1857, 29, 86; 15 Pick. 349.

SECT. 39. When woodland is held by one person for life, with remainder or reversion to another in fee simple or fee tail, and the trees thereon have come to an age and growth fit to be felled, and are in such a state that they will probably become of less value by standing, the supreme judicial court may, on the petition of a party interested therein, order the trees or any part thereof to be felled and sold.

S. J. C. may allow tenant for life to cut & grow trees. R. S. 60, § 33. R. S. act of amend. § 7.

SECT. 40. The court in such case shall appoint one or more commissioners to superintend and direct the felling and sale of the trees, and to account to the court for the proceeds thereof.

Commissioners to superintend, &c. R. S. 60, § 31. R. S. act of amend. § 7.

SECT. 41. The court may cause the proceeds of such sale, after deducting therefrom all necessary expenses and charges, to be invested in other real estate, or in public stocks, or other stocks or funds, as shall appear most for the interest of all concerned therein; and may appoint one or more trustees to take and hold such estate or stocks, and to dispose of the same and of the interest or income thereof, under the direction of the court, to and for the use of the persons entitled to the land.

Proceeds may be invested, and trustees appointed. R. S. 60, § 35. R. S. act of amend. § 7.

SECT. 42. The interest and income of the proceeds shall be paid to the tenant for life, so long as he is entitled to the profits of the land, and upon the determination of his estate, the principal shall belong to the person who is entitled to the land in fee simple or fee tail; and the real estate, stocks, or funds, in which the proceeds are invested, shall be conveyed and transferred to such person accordingly.

Income to be paid to tenant for life; principal to owner in fee. R. S. 60, § 36. R. S. act of amend. § 7.

SECT. 43. The court may from time to time remove the trustees and appoint others in their stead; and every trustee shall give bond with sufficient sureties to the clerk of the court, or to such other person as the court shall designate, for the use and benefit of the persons interested in the proceeds, with condition for the faithful discharge of the trust.

Trustees may be removed; shall give bond. R. S. 60, § 37. R. S. act of amend. § 7.

 1857, 298.
 7 Met. 363.
 9 Met. 28.
 4 Gray, 245.

SECTION 1. When a person dies seised of land, tenements, or hereditaments, or of any right thereto, or entitled to any interest therein, in fee simple or for the life of another, not having lawfully devised the same, they shall descend, subject to his debts, (except as provided in chapter one hundred and four,) in manner following:—

First. In equal shares to his children and the issue of any deceased child by right of representation; and if there is no child of the intestate living at his death, then to all his other lineal descendants; if all the descendants are in the same degree of kindred to the intestate, they shall share the estate equally; otherwise they shall take according to the right of representation:

Second. If he leaves no issue, then to his father:

Third. If he leaves no issue nor father, then in equal shares to his mother, brothers, and sisters, and to the children of any deceased brother or sister by right of representation:

Fourth. If he leaves no issue, nor father, and no brother nor sister, living at his death, then to his mother, to the exclusion of the issue, if any, of deceased brothers or sisters:

6 Cush. 156.

Fifth. If he leaves no issue, and no father, mother, brother, nor sister, then to his next of kin in equal degree; except that when there are two or more collateral kindred in equal degree, but claiming through different ancestors, those who claim through the nearest ancestor shall be preferred to those claiming through an ancestor who is more remote: provided,

Sixth. If a person dies leaving several children, or leaving one child and the issue of one or more others, and any such surviving child dies under age and not having been married, all the estate that came to the deceased child by inheritance from such deceased parent, shall descend in equal shares to the other children of the same parent, and to the issue of any such other children who have died, by right of representation:

12 Mass. 490.

Seventh. If at the death of such child who shall have died under age and not having been married, all the other children of his said parent are also dead, and any of them have left issue, the estate that came to such child by inheritance from his said parent shall descend to all the issue of the other children of the same parent; and if all the issue are in the same degree of kindred to the child, they shall share the estate equally; otherwise they shall take according to the right of representation:

1849, 87.

Eighth. If the intestate leaves a widow and no kindred, his estate shall descend to his widow; and if the intestate is a married woman and leaves no kindred, her estate shall descend to her husband:

R. S. 61, § 1.
 1849, 87.

Ninth. If the intestate leaves no kindred, and no widow or husband, his or her estate shall escheat to the commonwealth.

 Advancement

SECT. 4. An illegitimate child whose parents have intermarried and whose father has acknowledged him as his child, shall be considered legitimate.

SECT. 5. The degrees of kindred shall be computed according to the rules of the civil law; and the kindred of the half blood shall inherit equally with those of the whole blood in the same degree.

SECT. 6. Any estate, real or personal, given by the intestate in his lifetime as an advancement to any child or other lineal descendant, shall be considered as part of the intestate's estate, so far as it regards the division and distribution thereof among his issue, and shall be taken by such child or other descendant towards his share of the intestate's estate; but he shall not be required to refund any part thereof, although it exceeds his share.

to child or other descendant.
R. S. 61, §§ 6, 7.
1 Pick. 161.
See Ch. 136, § 66.

SECT. 7. If such advancement is made in real estate, the value thereof shall be considered as part of the real estate to be divided; if it is in personal estate, it shall be considered as part of the personal estate; and if in either case it exceeds the share of real or personal estate respectively that would have come to the heir so advanced, he shall not refund any part of it, but shall receive so much less out of the other part of the estate as will make his whole share equal to those of the other heirs who are in the same degree with him.

Advancement in real or personal estate to be taken as part thereof, &c.
R. S. 61, § 8.
16 Mass. 200.

SECT. 8. All gifts and grants shall be deemed to have been made in advancement, if they are expressed in the gift or grant to be so made, or if charged in writing by the intestate as an advancement, or acknowledged in writing as such by the child or other descendant.

1 Gray, 587.

SECT. 9. If the value of the estate so advanced is expressed in the conveyance, or in the charge thereof made by the intestate, or in the acknowledgment by the party receiving it, it shall be considered as of that value in the division and distribution of the estate; otherwise it shall be estimated according to its value when given.

value of, how ascertained.
R. S. 61, § 10.

SECT. 10. If a child or other lineal descendant so advanced dies before the intestate, leaving issue, the advancement shall be taken into consideration in the division and distribution of the estate; and the amount thereof shall be allowed accordingly by the representatives of the heir so advanced, as so much received towards their share of the estate, in like manner as if the advancement had been made directly to them.

If person receiving advancement dies before intestate.
R. S. 61, § 11.

SECT. 11. Nothing contained in this chapter shall affect the title of a husband as tenant by the curtesy, nor that of a widow as tenant in dower, nor her right to any part of the real estate of her husband given to her by law in lieu of dower.

Estates by curtesy, in dower, &c., not affected.
R. S. 61, § 12.
1851, 406, §§ 1, 2.

SECT. 12. Inheritance or succession, "by right of representation," takes place when the descendants of a deceased heir take the same share or right in the estate of another person that their parent would have taken if living. Posthumous children are considered as living at the death of their parent.

Construction of terms.
R. S. 61, § 13.

SECT. 6. No wills, except such as are mentioned in the three following sections, shall be effectual to pass any estate, real or personal, nor to charge or in any way affect the same, unless it is in writing and signed by the testator, or by some person in his presence and by his express direction, and attested and subscribed in his presence by three or more competent witnesses. If the witnesses are competent at the time of attesting the execution of the will, their subsequent incompetency, from whatever cause it arises, shall not prevent the probate and allowance of the will, if it is otherwise satisfactorily proved.

SECT. 10. All beneficial devises, legacies, and gifts, made or given in any will to a subscribing witness thereto, shall be wholly void unless there are three other competent subscribing witnesses to the same; but a mere charge on the lands of the devisor for the payment of debts shall not prevent his creditors from being competent witnesses to his will.

Devise, &c., to attesting witness to be void, unless, &c.
R. S. c. 62, § 8.

SECT. 11. No will shall be revoked, unless by burning, tearing, cancelling, or obliterating, the same, with the intention of revoking it, by the testator himself, or by some person in his presence and by his direction; or by some other will, codicil, or writing, signed, attested, and subscribed, in the manner provided for making a will; but nothing contained in this section shall prevent the revocation implied by law from subsequent changes in the condition or circumstances of the testator.

SECT. 12. A will may be deposited by the person making the same, or by any person for him, in the registry of probate in the county where the testator lives, to be safely kept until delivered or disposed of as hereinafter provided; and the register, upon being paid the fee of one dollar therefor, shall receive and keep such will and give a certificate of the deposit thereof.

Will may be deposited, for safe keeping, in registry of probate.
R. S. c. 62, § 10.

SECT. 13. Every will intended to be deposited as aforesaid, shall be enclosed in a sealed wrapper, shall have indorsed thereon the name of the testator, his place of residence, the day when, and the person by whom, it was delivered; and may have indorsed thereon the name of any person to whom it is to be delivered after the death of the testator; and it shall not be opened nor read until delivered to a person entitled to receive the same, or otherwise disposed of as hereinafter provided.

Will to be enclosed in sealed wrapper, &c.
R. S. c. 62, § 11.

SECT. 14. Such will shall, during the lifetime of the testator, be delivered only to himself, or to some person authorized by him by an order in writing duly proved by the oath of a subscribing witness; and after his death, it shall be delivered to the person named in the indorsement on the wrapper of the will, if there is a person so named who shall demand it.

Will, to whom to be delivered.
R. S. c. 62, § 12.

SECT. 15. If no person demands the will in pursuance of such appointment, it shall be publicly opened at the first probate court held after notice of the testator's death, and shall be retained in the registry until it is there offered for probate; or if the jurisdiction of the case belongs to another court, it shall be delivered to the executors or other persons entitled to the custody thereof, to be presented for probate in such other court.

When to be opened by probate court.
R. S. c. 62, § 13.

SECT. 16. Every person, other than the register of the probate court, having the custody of a will, shall, within thirty days after notice of the death of the testator, deliver it into the probate court which has jurisdiction of the case, or to the executors named in the will; and if, without reasonable cause, he neglects to do so after being duly cited for that purpose by said court, he may be committed to the jail by warrant of the court, there to be kept in close custody until he delivers the will as above directed; and he shall be further liable to any party aggrieved for the damage sustained by such neglect.

instrument of the deceased, the judge may cite the suspected person to appear before him and be examined on oath upon the matter of the complaint. If the person cited refuses to appear and submit to examination, or to answer such interrogatories as shall be lawfully propounded to him, or to obey any lawful order, the judge may commit him to the jail, there to remain in close custody until he submits to the order of the court. All such interrogatories and answers shall be in writing and signed by the party examined, and shall be filed in the probate court. But nothing in this section shall authorize the judge to require a person to criminate himself.

SECT. 18. On such complaint the judge, in his discretion, may award costs to be paid by either party, and may issue execution therefor.

SECT. 19. When it appears to the probate court, by the consent in writing of the heirs at law, or other satisfactory evidence, that no person interested in the estate intends to object to the probate of a will, the court may grant probate thereof upon the testimony of one only of the subscribing witnesses.

SECT. 20. Upon an appeal from the probate of a will, if it appears from the reasons of appeal that the sanity of the testator or the attestation of the witnesses in his presence is in controversy, the supreme judicial court may for the determination thereof direct a real or feigned issue to be tried by a jury in the same court, at the expense of the appellant if the issue is found against him.

SECT. 21. The executor or any person interested in a will proved and allowed in any other of the United States, or in a foreign country, according to the laws of such state or country, may produce a copy of the will and of the probate thereof, duly authenticated, to the probate court in any county in which there is any estate, real or personal, on which the will may operate; whereupon the court shall assign a time and place for hearing the case, and shall cause notice thereof to all persons interested to be given in some public newspaper three weeks successively, the first publication to be thirty days at least before the time assigned.

SECT. 22. If it appears that the instrument ought to be allowed in this state as the last will and testament of the deceased, the court shall order the copy to be filed and recorded. The will shall then have the same force and effect as if it had been originally proved and allowed in the same court in the usual manner; but nothing in this section shall give effect to a will made in this state by an inhabitant thereof, not executed according to the laws of this commonwealth.

SECT. 23. After allowing and recording a will pursuant to the two preceding sections, the probate court shall grant letters testamentary thereon, or letters of administration with the will annexed, and shall proceed in the settlement of the estate that may be found in this state, in the manner provided in chapter one hundred and one with respect to the estates of persons who were inhabitants of another state or country.

SECT. 24. When a man dies having lawfully disposed of his estate by will and leaving a widow, she may, at any time within six months after the probate of the will, file in the probate office in writing her waiver of the provisions made for her in the will; and shall in such case be entitled to such portion of his real and personal estate as she would have been entitled to if her husband had died intestate. If she makes no such waiver, she shall not be endowed of his lands, unless it plainly appears by the will to have been the intention of the testator that she should have such provisions in addition to her dower.

SECT. 25. When a testator omits to provide in his will for any of his children, or for the issue of a deceased child, they shall take the same share of his estate, both real and personal, that they would have been entitled to if he had died intestate; unless they shall have been provided for by the testator in his lifetime, or unless it appears that such omission was intentional, and not occasioned by accident or mistake.

SECT. 26. When a child of a testator, born after his father's death, has no provision made for him by his father, in his will or otherwise, he shall take the same share of his father's estate, both real and personal, that he would have been entitled to if his father had died intestate.

R. S. 62, § 22.
Devises, &c., to contribute equally to share of posthumous child, &c.
R. S. 62, § 23.

SECT. 27. When a portion is assigned to a posthumous child, or to a child or the issue of a child omitted in the will of his parent, as mentioned in the two preceding sections, the same shall be taken equally from all the devisees and legatees, in proportion to the value of what they respectively receive under the will; unless in consequence of a specific devise or bequest, or of some other provision in the will, a different apportionment among the devisees and legatees is found necessary, in order to give effect to the intention of the testator as to that part of his estate which passes by his will.

SECT. 28. When a devise of real or personal estate is made to a child or other relation of the testator, and the devisee dies before the testator, leaving issue who survive the testator, such issue shall take the estate so devised in the same manner as the devisee would have done if he had survived the testator; unless a different disposition thereof is made or required by the will.

SECT. 29. When any estate, real or personal, that is devised, is taken from the devisee for the payment of the debts of the testator, all the other devisees and legatees shall contribute their respective proportions of the loss to the person from whom the estate is taken, so that the loss shall fall equally on all the devisees and legatees according to the value of the property received by each; except as provided in the following section.

When estate devised is taken for debts, other devisees to contribute.
R. S. 62, § 25.
1 Cush. 107.

SECT. 30. If in such case the testator, by making a specific devise or bequest, has virtually exempted any devisee or legatee from liability to contribute with the others for the payment of the debts, or if by any other provisions in his will he has prescribed or required any appropriation of his estate for the payment of his debts different from that prescribed in the preceding section, the estate shall be appropriated and applied in conformity with the will.

Unless a different appropriation is made by the will.
R. S. 62, § 26.

SECT. 31. Nothing contained in the two preceding sections shall impair or in any way affect the liability of the whole estate of the testator for the payment of his debts; but the provisions in these sections shall apply only to the marshalling of the assets, as between those who hold or claim under the will.

Whole estate liable for debts.
R. S. 62, § 27.

SECT. 32. When part of the estate of a testator descends to a child or other descendant by reason of his having no provision made for him in the will, or when it descends to a posthumous child, such estate shall, for all the purposes of the three preceding sections, be considered as if it had been devised to such child or other descendant; and he shall be bound to contribute with the devisees and legatees, and entitled to claim contribution from them, as before provided.

Child, &c., omitted in will, liable and entitled to contribution, as devisee.
R. S. 62, § 28.

SECT. 33. When any person liable to contribute towards the discharge of such debt according to the provisions of the four preceding sections, is insolvent or unable to pay his just proportion thereof, the others shall be severally liable for the loss occasioned by such insolvency, each one in proportion to the value of the property received by him from the estate of the deceased; and if any person so liable dies without having paid his proportion of such debt, his executors and administrators shall be liable therefor, in like manner as if it had been his proper debt, to the extent to which he would have been liable if living.

SECT. 34. When part of the real estate of a testator descends to his heirs, by reason of its not being devised or disposed of by his will, and his personal estate is insufficient for the payment of his debts, the undevised real estate shall be first chargeable with the debts, in exoneration as far as it will go of the real estate devised; unless it appears from the will that a different arrangement of his assets for the payment of his debts was made by the testator; in which case they shall be applied for that purpose in conformity to the will.

Proceedings in suits for contribution.

SECT. 35. All cases arising under the preceding provisions of this chapter, in which devisees or legatees may be required to contribute to make up the share of a child of the testator, or of the issue of a child, or in which contribution is to be made among devisees, legatees, and heirs, or any of them, may be decided in an action at law, when the case is such as to allow of that course of proceeding; or may be heard and determined in the probate court, allowing an appeal to the supreme court of probate as in other cases; or they may be originally brought and finally determined in the supreme judicial court as a court of equity.

When the estate of one or more devisees under a will is taken and assigned by the probate court for the dower of the widow of the testator, or for the portion given to her by law in lieu of dower, or is set out to her upon a judgment or decree of any other court therefor, all the other devisees and legatees shall contribute their respective proportions of the loss to the person from whom the estate is so taken or set out, so as to make the loss fall equally upon all the devisees and legatees in proportion to the value of property received by them under the will; but no devisee or legatee shall be held to contribute who is exempted therefrom by the provisions of the will.

1839, 96, § 2.

SECT. 37. All cases arising under the preceding section may be decided in an action at law when the case is such as to allow of that course of proceeding, or they may be originally brought and determined in the supreme judicial court as a court of equity.

7. Administration during minority of executor.
8. Bond of administrator with will annexed.
9. Executor of executor, &c.

SECTION 1. When a will has been duly proved and allowed, the probate court shall issue letters testamentary thereon to the executor named therein, if he is legally competent, and if he accepts the trust and gives bond to discharge the same; otherwise the probate court shall grant letters of administration on the estate as hereinafter provided.

Letters testamentary to be issued.

SECT. 2. Every executor, before entering upon the execution of his trust, shall give bond with sufficient surety or sureties in such sum as the judge of the probate court shall order, payable to said judge and his successor, with condition substantially as follows, (except as provided in chapter one hundred and one :—

First. To make and return to the probate court, within three months, a true inventory of all the real estate, and all the goods, chattels, rights, and credits, of the testator, which are by law to be administered, and which shall have come to his possession or knowledge :

Second. To administer according to law, and the will of the testator, all his goods, chattels, rights, and credits, and the proceeds of all his real estate that may be sold for the payment of his debts or legacies, which come to the possession of the executor, or of any other person for him : and Third. To render upon oath a just and true account of his administration, within one year, and at any other times when required by said court.

When two or more persons are appointed executors, none shall intermeddle or act as such but those who give bond as before prescribed.

SECT. 3. If it appears to the judge, that the bond prescribed by the preceding section is not necessary for the protection of any person interested in the estate, he may permit an executor who is residuary legatee, instead of giving such bond, to give bond in a sum and with sureties to the satisfaction of the judge, with condition to pay all debts and legacies of the testator, and such sums as may be allowed by the probate court for necessities to the widow or minor children; and in such case the executor shall not be required to return an inventory.

ties on his bond, when the testator has ordered or requested such exemption, or that no bond should be taken, or when all the persons interested in the estate who are of full age and legal capacity, other than creditors, certify to the court their consent thereto; but not until all creditors of the estate, and the guardian of any minor interested therein, have been notified, and had opportunity to show cause against the same: provided, that the judge may, at or after the granting of letters testamentary, require bond with sufficient surety or sureties, if he is of opinion that the same is required by a change in the situation or circumstances of the executor, or for other sufficient cause.

Executor renouncing, or not named, &c., administration to be granted. R. S. 63, § 5. 1853, 111, § 1.

SECT. 6. If a person appointed executor refuses to accept the trust, or, after being duly cited for that purpose, neglects to appear and accept the same, or neglects for twenty days after probate of the will to give bond as before prescribed, the probate court shall grant letters testamentary to the other executors, if there are any capable and willing to accept the trust; and if there are none, or if, in any case, the executors are dead, or none are named in the will, the court shall commit administration of the estate, with the will annexed, to the widow of the deceased, or to his next of kin, or to such other person as would have been entitled thereto if the deceased had died intestate: provided, that after the expiration of said twenty days, and before letters testamentary or of administration with the will annexed are granted, the court may grant letters testamentary to any person appointed executor who shall give the bond prescribed by law.

Administration during minority of executor. R. S. 63, § 6.

SECT. 7. When a person appointed executor is at the time of proving the will under the age of twenty-one years, administration with the will annexed may be granted during his minority, unless there is another executor who accepts the trust, in which case the estate shall be administered by such other executor until the minor arrives at full age, when upon giving bond as before provided he may be admitted as joint executor with the former.

Bond of administrator, with will annexed. R. S. 63, § 8.

SECT. 8. Whoever is appointed administrator with the will annexed, shall, before entering on the execution of his trust, give bond to the judge of the probate court in like manner and with like condition as is required of an executor.

Executor of executor, &c. R. S. 63, § 10.

SECT. 9. The executor of an executor shall not, as such, administer the estate of the first testator.

ADMINISTRATION.

SECTION 1. Administration of the estate of an intestate shall be granted to some one or more of the persons hereinafter mentioned; and they shall be entitled thereto as follows:—

Administration, to whom granted.
R. S. 64, § 4.
18 Pick. 24.
19 Pick. 336.
1 Cush. 525.
2 Gray, 228.

First. His widow, or next of kin, or both, as the probate court shall deem fit; and if they do not either take or renounce the administration, they shall, if resident within the county, be cited by the court for that purpose:

4 Cush. 412.

Second. If the persons so entitled are incompetent, or evidently unsuitable for the discharge of the trust, or if they neglect without sufficient cause for thirty days after the death of the intestate to take administration of his estate, the probate court shall commit administration to one or more of the principal creditors, if there is any competent and willing to undertake the trust:—

Third. If there is no such creditor, administration shall be granted to such other person as the court shall deem fit: provided,

Fourth. That if the deceased was a married woman, administration of her estate shall in all cases be granted to her husband, if competent and willing to undertake the trust, unless by force of a marriage settlement or otherwise she has made some testamentary disposition of her separate estate, or some other provision, which renders it necessary or proper to appoint some other person to administer her estate; and Fifth. If the deceased leaves no widow, husband, or next of kin, in this state, administration shall be granted to a public administrator in preference to creditors.

R. S. 64, § 4, clause 5.
1853, 419.

SECT. 2. Every administrator, before entering on the execution of his trust, shall give bond, with sufficient sureties in such sum as the judge of the probate court shall order, payable to said judge and his successors, with condition substantially as follows, (except as provided in chapter one hundred and one):—

Administrator's bond.
R. S. 64, § 5.
1860, 196.
1 Mass. 35.

First. To make and return into the probate court, within three months, a true inventory of all the real estate, and all the goods, chattels, rights, and credits, of the deceased, which have or shall come to his possession or knowledge:

Second. To administer according to law all the goods, chattels, rights, and credits, of the deceased, and the proceeds of all his real estate that may be sold for the payment of his debts, which shall at any time come to the possession of the administrator or of any other person for him:

Third. To render upon oath a true account of his administration within one year, and at any other times when required by the probate court:

Fourth. To pay any balance remaining in his hands, upon the settlement of his accounts, to such persons as the probate court shall direct:

Fifth. To deliver the letters of administration into the probate court, in case any will of the deceased is thereafter duly proved and allowed.

SECT. 3. Administration shall not be originally granted after the expiration of twenty years from the death of the testator or intestate, except in cases expressly authorized by law.

Administration not to be granted after twenty years.

SECT. 4. When administration has not been taken on the estate of a person deceased intestate within twenty years after his decease, if thereafter any property real or personal accrues to said estate, or belonging thereto first comes to the knowledge of any person interested therein, original administration may be granted on such property at any time within five years next after it so accrues or becomes known, but such administration shall affect no other property.

R. S. 64, § 13.
1844, 115, § 2.
1 Cush. 493.
See Ch. 99, § 28.

SECT. 5. If, after granting letters of administration as of an intestate estate, a will of the person deceased is duly proved and allowed, the first administration shall be revoked; and the executor, or administrator with the will annexed, may demand, collect, and sue for, all the goods, chattels, rights, and credits, of the deceased, remaining unadministered.

Special administrator during suit, &c.
R. S. 64, § 6.
21 Pick. 101.
22 Pick. 597.

SECT. 6. When by reason of a suit concerning the proof of a will, or from other cause, there is delay in granting letters testamentary or of administration, the probate court may appoint a special administrator to collect and preserve the effects of the deceased; and in case of an appeal from the decree appointing such special administrator, he shall nevertheless proceed in the execution of his duties until it is otherwise ordered by the supreme court of probate.

bond of.
R. S. 64, § 7.

SECT. 7. Every such administrator, before entering on the duties of his trust, shall give bond, with sufficient surety or sureties in such sum as the court shall order, payable to the judge and his successors, with condition that he will make and return into the probate court within three months, a true inventory of all the goods, chattels, rights, and credits, of the deceased, which have or shall come to his possession or knowledge, and that he will truly account on oath for all the goods, chattels, debts, and effects, of the deceased, that shall be received by him as such special administrator, whenever required by the probate court, and will deliver the same to whoever shall be appointed executor or administrator of the deceased, or to such other person as shall be lawfully authorized to receive the same.

powers and duties of.
1558, 122.

SECT. 8. He shall collect all the goods, chattels, and credits, of the deceased, and preserve the same for the executor or administrator when appointed, and for that purpose may commence and maintain suits; and may sell such perishable and other goods as the judge shall order to be sold. If he is appointed by reason of a suit concerning the probate of a will, or delay for any cause in granting letters testamentary, the judge may authorize him to take charge of the real estate of the deceased or any part thereof, and to collect the rents, make necessary repairs, and do all other things which the judge may deem needful for the preservation thereof, and as a charge thereon. He shall be allowed such compensation for his services as the judge shall deem reasonable.

Allowance to widow, &c., from income.
1859, 143, §§ 1, 2, 3.

SECT. 9. Upon the petition of the widow or children, or either of them, the probate court may, after notice to all parties interested, make a reasonable allowance out of the income of the estate, real or personal, in the hands of a special administrator appointed on account of the pendency of a suit concerning the probate of a will, as an advancement for their support, not exceeding such portion of the income of the estate as they would be entitled to whether the will is finally proved or not.

appeal not to prevent, &c.
1859, 143, §§ 4, 5.

SECT. 10. An appeal from the decree concerning such allowance shall not prevent the payment of the sum decreed, if the petitioner gives bond to the special administrator, with sureties approved by the judge, conditioned to repay the same, if the decree is reversed.

Expense of last sickness, &c.
1859, 143, § 6.

SECT. 11. A special administrator may, by leave of the probate court, pay from the personal estate in his hands, the expenses of the last sickness and funeral of the deceased.

Special administrator to cease to act, &c., on appointment of executor, &c.
R. S. 64, § 9.

SECT. 12. Upon granting letters testamentary or of administration, the powers of the special administrator shall cease, and he shall forthwith deliver to the executor or administrator all goods, chattels, money, and effects, of the deceased, in his hands; and the executor or administrator may be admitted to prosecute any suit commenced by the special administrator, in like manner as an administrator de bonis non is authorized to prosecute a suit commenced by a former executor or administrator.

not liable to creditors, &c.
R. S. 64, § 10.

SECT. 13. Such special administrator shall not be liable to an action by any creditor of the deceased; and the time of limitation for all suits against the estate shall begin to run after granting letters testamentary or of administration in the usual form, in like manner as if such special administration had not been granted.

EXECUTORS IN THEIR OWN WRONG.

SECT. 14. Whoever injuriously intermeddles with any goods or effects of a deceased person without being thereto authorized by law, shall be liable to the persons aggrieved, as an executor in his own wrong.

Executors in their own wrong.
R. S. 64, § 11.

SECT. 15. Every executor in his own wrong shall be liable to the rightful executor or administrator for the full value of the goods or effects of the deceased taken by him, and for all damages caused by his acts to the estate of the deceased; and he shall not be allowed to retain or deduct any part of the goods or effects, except for such funeral expenses or debts of the deceased or other charges actually paid by him as the rightful executor or administrator might have been compelled to pay.

accountable to rightful executor, &c.
R. S. 64, § 12.

DISTRIBUTION.

SECT. 16. When a person dies possessed of personal estate, or any right or interest therein, not lawfully disposed of by will, it shall be applied and distributed as follows:—

Distribution of personal estate.
R. S. 64, § 1.
1838, 143.
1842, 15.
1845, 208, § 7.
9 Met. 37.
10 Met. 170.

First. The widow and minor children shall be entitled to such parts thereof as may be allowed to them under the provisions of chapter ninety-six:

4 Met. 319.

Second. The personal estate remaining after such allowance shall be applied to the payment of the debts of the deceased, with the charges of his funeral and settling his estate:

Third. The residue shall be distributed among the same persons who would be entitled to the real estate by chapter ninety-one, and in the same proportion as there prescribed, except as is herein provided:

1852, 29.
23 Pick. 163.
1 Met. 204.
6 Cush. 156.

Fourth. If the intestate was a married woman, her husband shall be entitled to the whole of the residue:

Fifth. If the intestate leaves a widow and issue, the widow shall be entitled to one-third of the residue:

Sixth. If there is no issue, the widow shall be entitled to the residue to the amount of five thousand dollars, and to one-half the excess of such residue above ten thousand dollars: and 1854, 466, § 3.

Seventh. If there is no husband, widow, or kindred, of the intestate, the whole shall escheat to the commonwealth.

SECT. 17. If the intestate leaves a widow and issue, and any of the issue have received an advancement from the intestate in his lifetime, the value of such advancement shall not be taken into consideration in computing the one-third part to be assigned to the widow; but she shall be entitled only to the third part of said residue after deducting the value of the advancement.

Advancements to issue not computed in distribution to widow.
R. S. 64, § 2.
1 Pick. 161.

to administer according to law.

to render account in one year, and annually at least.

SECTION 1. The governor, with the advice and consent of the council, shall appoint one or more suitable persons in each county to be public administrators therein, who, with those now in office, shall hold their offices during the pleasure of the executive.

SECT. 2. Such administrator shall within his county take out letters of administration and faithfully administer upon the estate of any person who dies intestate therein or elsewhere leaving property in such county to be administered, and not leaving a known husband, widow, or heir, in this state.

SECT. 3. Administration shall not be granted to a public administrator when the husband, widow, or any heir, of the deceased, in writing claims the right of administration, or requests the appointment of some other suitable person to the trust, if such husband, widow, heir, or other person, accepts the trust and gives the bond required.

SECT. 4. After granting letters of administration to a public administrator, and before the final settlement of the estate, if the husband, widow, or any heir, of the deceased, in writing claims the right of administration or requests the appointment of some other suitable person to the trust, the probate court shall grant letters of administration accordingly. Upon the appointment of a successor and his giving the bond required, the powers of the public administrator over the estate shall cease.

SECT. 5. Every public administrator shall deliver into the probate court his letters of administration upon the estate of any person deceased, if a will of such person is thereafter proved and allowed. Upon the appointment of an executor or administrator as his successor in any case, he shall surrender his letters of administration into the probate court with an account upon oath of his doings therein; and upon a just settlement of his account, shall pay over and deliver to his successor all sums of money remaining in his hands, and all property, effects, and credits, of the deceased, not administered.

SECT. 6. Every public administrator shall give bond to the judge of the probate court, for the faithful performance of his duties, in like manner as required of other administrators, with the further condition to comply with the provisions of the preceding section.

SECT. 7. Instead of a separate bond for each estate, he may give a general bond for the faithful administration of all estates on which letters of administration shall be granted to him, as public administrator. Such bond shall be given with sufficient surety or sureties in such sum as the judge of the probate court shall order, payable to said judge and his successors, with condition substantially as follows, (except as provided in chapter one hundred and one: ) —

First. To make and return into the probate court, within three months from the time of granting to him as public administrator, letters of administration on the estate of any person deceased, a true inventory of all the real estate, goods, chattels, rights, and credits, of such person, which shall come to his possession or knowledge:

Second. To administer according to law all goods, chattels, rights, and credits, of every such person, and the proceeds of all his real estate that may be sold for payment of his debts, which shall come to the possession of said administrator, or any person for him:

Third. To render upon oath a true account of his administration of every such estate within one year from the date of his letters of administration thereon, and at least once in each year until the trust is fulfilled; and at any other times when required by the probate court:

Fourth. To pay the balance of every such estate, remaining in his hands upon the settlement of his accounts, to such persons as the probate court shall direct; and, when such estate has been fully administered, to deposit the whole amount remaining in his hands with the treasurer of the commonwealth:

Public administrator to pay over balance in his hands.

Fifth. To deliver the letters of administration on the estate of any person into the probate court, in case a will of such person is thereafter proved and allowed; and, upon the appointment of a successor as administrator of any estate, to surrender his letters of administration into said court, with an account under oath of his doings therein, and upon a just settlement of his account, to pay over and deliver to his successor all sums of money remaining in his hands, and all property, effects, and credits, of the deceased, not administered.

To return letters of administration if will is proved or successor appointed.

SECT. 8. Every public administrator who has given such general bond shall, at the probate court first held in his county after the first day of January in each year, render an account under oath of all balances of estates then remaining in his hands; and the judge may at any time require additional sureties to be furnished upon the bond, or a new bond to be given.

Administrators under such bond, to account annually, and judge may require further sureties, &c. 1839, 123, § 3.

SECT. 9. All periods of time which by law begin to run in other cases from the time of giving bond by the administrator, shall when such general bond is given, begin to run, as to each estate, from the date of letters of administration.

When limitation begins in such cases. 1839, 123, § 3.

SECT. 10. Public administrators may be licensed to sell real estate for the payment of debts, and shall administer estates and render their accounts, in the same manner as other administrators, except as herein otherwise provided.

Public administrators may sell &c., as others. 1839, 142, §§ 1, 3. 1839, 123, §§ 2, 3.

SECT. 11. After three years from the date of letters of administration to a public administrator, he may sell the real estate, although not necessary for the payment of debts, upon obtaining a license from the probate court if it appears to the judge to be for the interest of all concerned. In such case he shall take the oath, give the bond, and otherwise proceed, as required of administrators licensed to sell real estate more than is necessary for the payment of debts.

may sell all real estate, in certain cases. 1839, 142, § 4.

SECT. 12. When an estate has been fully administered by a public administrator, and the debts paid according to law, he shall deposit the balance of such estate remaining in his hands with the treasurer of the commonwealth; who shall receive and hold it for the benefit of those who may have lawful claims thereon.

balance in hands of, to be deposited with state treasurer. 1839, 142, §§ 1, 4.

SECT. 13. The probate courts shall require public administrators in their respective counties to render an account of their proceedings under any letters of administration, at least once in each year until the trust has been fulfilled. And when upon a final settlement of any estate it appears that moneys remain in the hands of such administrator, which by law should have been deposited with the treasurer of the commonwealth, the court shall certify that fact and a statement of the amount so withheld to said treasurer, who, unless such deposit is made within one month after the receipt of such notice, shall cause the probate bond of the administrator to be prosecuted for the recovery thereof.

SECT. 14. If at any time within six years after such deposit is made with the treasurer, any person applies to the probate court which granted said letters of administration, and makes it appear that he is legally entitled by the will of the deceased or otherwise to the administration of said estate, the court shall grant administration thereof, or upon probate of such will, shall grant letters testamentary to such applicant, or at his request to some other suitable person: provided, that before granting such administration, the court shall order personal notice of the application to be served at least fourteen days before the hearing, upon a public administrator of the county, who shall appear in behalf of the commonwealth; and either party may appeal from any decree therein.

Heirs, &c., may take administration after property is paid into state treasury. 1839, 142, § 6.

Treasurer to pay to such executor, &c., money belonging to estate, &c.
1839, 142, § 6.

Proceedings on death, &c., of public administrator.
1843, 123, § 1.

Public administrators, neglecting duties district-attorneys to prosecute, &c.
1846, 211.

SECT. 15. After the expiration of thirty days from the appointment of an executor or administrator as provided in the preceding section, if no appeal is claimed by any person interested, the treasurer shall pay over to such executor or administrator all money deposited in the state treasury to the credit of such estate, to be administered in like manner as the estates of other deceased persons.

SECT. 16. Upon the death, resignation, or removal, of a public administrator, the probate court shall issue a warrant to some other public administrator in the same county on his application therefor, requiring him to examine the accounts of such late public administrator, touching the estates on which he has taken out letters of administration, and to return into the probate court a statement of all such estates, not fully administered, and of the balance of each estate remaining in his hands at the time of his death, resignation, or removal. And thereupon the court shall issue to the public administrator making the return, upon his giving the requisite bond, letters of administration upon such of said estates as are not already administered, although the personal estate remaining may not amount to twenty dollars.

SECT. 17. When a public administrator neglects to return an inventory, settle an account, or perform any other duty incumbent on him, in relation to any estate, and there appears to be no heir entitled thereto, the district-attorney for the district within which the administrator received his letters, shall, in behalf of the commonwealth, prosecute all suits and do all acts necessary and proper to insure a prompt and faithful administration of the estate, and the payment of the proceeds thereof into the treasury.

INVENTORIES.

Inventory to be returned within three months, except, &c.
R. S. 65, § 1.
1857, 88.

SECTION 1. Every executor and administrator shall within three months after his appointment, make and return upon oath into the probate court, a true inventory of the real estate, and all the goods, chattels, rights, and credits, of the deceased, which are by law to be administered, and which shall have come to his possession or knowledge; except that an executor who gives bond to pay all the debts and legacies and the allowance to the widow and minor children as provided in chapter ninety-three, need not return an inventory.

Appraisers,

SECT. 2. The estate and effects comprised in the inventory shall be appraised in any county by three suitable disinterested persons appointed by the probate court; or any disinterested justice of the peace may appoint such appraisers of any part of the estate which may be in his county. The appraisers shall be sworn to the faithful discharge of their duties.

how appointed and sworn.
R. S. 65, § 2.

SECT. 3. When appraisers are appointed by a justice of the peace, he shall issue an order to them, in substance as follows:—

Justice's order to appraisers.
R. S. 65, § 3.

To _____ of _____ ss. _____, in said county. You are hereby appointed to appraise, on oath, the estate and effects of _____, late of _____, deceased, which may be in said county. When you have performed that service, you will deliver this order, and your doings in pursuance thereof, to _____, (executor or administrator, as the case may be) of said deceased, that he may return the same to the probate court for the county of _____. Given under my hand, this _____ day of _____, in the year _____, Justice of the Peace.

ALLOWANCES TO WIDOWS AND CHILDREN.

SECT. 4. The articles of apparel and ornament of the widow and minor children of a deceased person, shall belong to them respectively.

Apparel, &c., of widows, &c.
1838, 145, § 1.

SECT. 5. Such parts of the personal estate of a person deceased as the probate court, having regard to all the circumstances of the case, may allow as necessaries to his widow, for herself and family under her care, or if there is no widow, to his minor children, not exceeding fifty dollars to any child; and also such provisions and other articles as are necessary for the reasonable sustenance of his family, and the use of his house and the furniture therein, for forty days after his death, shall not be taken as assets for the payment of debts, legacies, or charges of administration.

Necessaries, &c., allowed to widow, &c.

COLLECTION OF THE EFFECTS, &C.

SECT. 6. Upon complaint made to the probate court by an executor, administrator, heir, legatee, creditor, or other person, interested in the estate of a person deceased, against any one suspected of having fraudulently received, concealed, embezzled, or conveyed away, any money, goods, effects, or other estate, real or personal, of the deceased, the court may cite such suspected person, though he is executor or administrator, to appear and be examined on oath, upon the matter of the complaint. If the person so cited refuses to appear and submit to examination, or to answer such interrogatories as are lawfully propounded to him, the court may commit him to the jail, there to remain in close custody until he submits to the order of the court. The interrogatories and answers shall be in writing, signed by the party examined, and filed in the probate court.

Persons suspected of concealing effects may be examined on oath.

SECT. 7. When the goods and chattels, rights and credits, in the hands of an executor or administrator, are not sufficient to pay the debts of the deceased, with the charges of administration, his real estate, or as much thereof as may be necessary, shall be sold for that purpose by the executor or administrator, upon obtaining a license therefor in the manner provided in chapter one hundred and two.

When personal estate insufficient, real estate may be sold, &c.
R. S. 65, § 8.
7 Gray, 169.

SECT. 8. The proceeds of real estate so sold shall be considered as assets in the hands of the executor or administrator in like manner as if the same had originally been part of the goods and chattels of the deceased; and the executor or administrator, and the sureties in his administration bond, shall be accountable and chargeable therefor.

Proceeds of sale to be assets, &c.
R. S. 65, § 9.

SECT. 9. When a mortgagee of real estate, or an assignee of such mortgagee, dies without having foreclosed the right of redemption, the mortgaged premises and the debt secured thereby shall be considered as personal assets in the hands of his executor or administrator, and shall be administered and accounted for as such; and if the mortgagee or assignee has not in his lifetime obtained possession of the mortgaged premises, his executor or administrator may take possession thereof, by open and peaceable entry or by action, in like manner as the deceased might have done if living.

In case of redemption, executor, &c., to release; meantime to hold in trust, &c.
R. S. 65, § 12.
4 Mass. 598.

SECT. 10. Upon the redemption of such mortgage, the money paid thereon shall be received by the executor or administrator, and he shall thereupon release and discharge the mortgage; and until such redemption the executor or administrator, if possession has been taken either by himself or the deceased, shall be seised of the mortgaged premises, in trust for the persons who would be entitled to the money if the premises had been redeemed.

Lands taken on execution by executor, &c., considered personal assets.
R. S. 65, § 13.
6 Greenl. 133.
4 Mass. 598.

SECT. 11. When an executor or administrator recovers judgment for a debt due to the deceased, and levies the execution on real estate, he shall be seised of such real estate in trust for the persons who would have been entitled to the money, if the judgment had been satisfied in money; and the estate so taken on execution shall be considered as personal assets in his hands; and if redeemed, the money shall be received by the executor or administrator, who shall thereupon release the estate.

Real estate held in mortgage, &c., by executor, &c., may be sold, &c.
1849, 47, § 1.
1 Pick. 81.
13 Met. 126.

SECT. 12. Real estate held by an executor or administrator in mortgage, or taken on execution by him, may be sold, subject to the right of redemption, at any time before the right of redemption is foreclosed, in the same manner as personal estate of a person deceased.

may be sold after foreclosure, upon obtaining license.
R. S. 65, § 11.
1849, 47, §§ 1, 2.

SECT. 13. Real estate held by an executor or administrator in mortgage, or taken on execution by him, may, after the right of redemption is foreclosed, be sold for the payment of debts, legacies, and charges of administration, in the same manner as real estate of which the deceased died seised, upon obtaining a license therefor in the manner provided in chapter one hundred and two.

if not so sold, how distributed.

8 Cush. 225.
3 Gray, 504.

SECT. 14. If land so held by an executor or administrator in mortgage or on execution, is not redeemed or sold as before provided, it shall be assigned and distributed to the same persons, and in the same proportions, as if it had been part of the personal estate of the deceased. If upon such distribution the estate comes to two or more persons, the probate court may cause partition thereof to be made between them, in like manner as if it had been real estate held by the deceased in his lifetime.

Public notice to be given of taking administration.
R. S. 66, § 1.

SECT. 2. An affidavit of the executor or administrator, or of the person employed by him to give such notice, being made before the judge or a justice of the peace, and filed and recorded with a copy of the notice in the probate office, within one year after giving bond as aforesaid, or at any time afterwards by permission of the court upon petition of the executor or administrator and satisfactory evidence furnished that the notice was given as ordered, shall be admitted as evidence of the time, place, and manner, in which the notice was given.

perpetuating evidence of.
1855, 132.

SECT. 3. If, by accident or mistake, notice is not given, or the evidence thereof fails to be perpetuated as provided in the preceding sections, the probate court may, on the petition of the executor or administrator, order such notice to be given at any time afterwards; in which case, the periods of time which are herein limited for the commencement of actions against executors and administrators and for other purposes, and which begin to run from the date of the administration bond, shall begin to run respectively from the time of passing such order.

when omitted by accident, &c., and when evidence is not perpetuated.
R. S. 66, § 25.

SECT. 4. No order under the preceding section shall exempt the executor or administrator, and his sureties, from any liability for damages incurred by reason of the omission to give notice within three months.

Liability for damage.
R. S. 66, § 26.

SECT. 5. No executor or administrator, after having given notice of his appointment as provided in section one, shall be held to answer to the suit of any creditor of the deceased, unless it is commenced within two years from the time of his giving bond as aforesaid, except in the cases hereinafter mentioned.

SECT. 6. When assets come to the hands of an executor or administrator after the expiration of two years, he shall account for and apply the same in like manner as if they had been received within that time, and shall be liable to an action at law, or to any suit or process in the probate court, on account of such new assets, by or for the benefit of any creditor, in like manner as if the assets had been received within the two years, if such action or proceeding is commenced within one year after the creditor has notice of the receipt of such new assets, and not more than two years after the same is actually received.

when assets are received after two years.
R. S. 66, § 4.
1852, 291, § 1.
3 Pick, 566.

SECT. 7. If an action commenced against an executor or administrator before the expiration of the two years limited in this chapter, fails of a sufficient service or return by an unavoidable accident; or if the writ in such action is abated or defeated in consequence of a defect in the form of the writ, or of a mistake in the form of the proceeding; or if, after a verdict for the plaintiff, the judgment is arrested; or, if a judgment for the plaintiff is reversed on a writ of error, the plaintiff may commence a new action for the same cause at any time within one year after the abatement or other determination of the original suit, or after the reversal of the judgment therein.

When action fails from defect in form, new action may be commenced.

SECT. 8. A creditor of the deceased, whose right of action does not accrue within two years after the giving of the administration bond, may present his claim to the probate court at any time before the estate is fully administered; and if, on examination thereof, it appears to the court that the same is justly due from the estate, he shall order the executor or administrator to retain in his hands sufficient to satisfy the same. But if a person interested in the estate offers to give bond to the alleged creditor with sufficient surety or sureties for the payment of the demand in case the same is proved to be due, the court may order such bond to be taken, instead of requiring assets to be retained as aforesaid.

Further proceedings in such case.
R. S. 66, § 6.

SECT. 9. The decision of the probate court upon the claim of such creditor shall not be conclusive against the executor or administrator, or other person interested to oppose the allowance thereof; and they shall not be compelled to pay the same, unless it is proved to be due in an action commenced by the claimant within one year after the same becomes payable.

Same subject.
R. S. 66, § 7.

SECT. 10. The action shall be brought against the executor or administrator, if he has been required to retain assets therefor; otherwise, upon the bond given by the persons interested in the estate.

Same subject.
R. S. 66, § 8.
1852, 312.

SECT. 11. If the action is brought on the bond, the plaintiff shall set forth his original cause of action against the deceased, in like manner as would be required in a declaration for the same demand against executors or administrators, and may allege the non-payment thereof as a breach of the condition of the bond; and the defendant may answer any matter of defence that would be available in law against the demand if prosecuted in the usual manner against the executor or administrator.

Administrator de bonis non liable to actions for two years.
R. S. 66, §§ 20, 21, 22.
1852, 294, § 2.

SECT. 12. When an executor or administrator dies, resigns, or is removed, without having fully administered the estate of the deceased, and a new administrator is appointed, such new administrator shall be liable to the actions of creditors for two years after he has given bond for the discharge of his trust, unless the same were barred prior to the termination of the previous administration.

to give notice of appointment.
R. S. 66, § 23.

SECT. 13. The new administrator shall give notice of his appointment in the manner prescribed in this chapter with respect to an original administrator; and if he fails so to do he shall have no benefit of the limitations herein provided.

to be further liable, in case new assets are received.
R. S. 66, § 24.

SECT. 14. When assets come to the hands of such new administrator after the time above limited for the commencement of actions against him, he shall account for the same, and shall be liable to an action at law, and to any suit or process in the probate court, on account of such new assets, by or in behalf of any creditor, in like manner as is provided in this chapter with respect to an original executor or administrator.

Action against heirs, &c., not barred.
R. S. 66, § 9.

SECT. 15. Nothing herein contained shall prevent or bar the action of any creditor against the heirs, next of kin, devisees, or legatees, of the deceased, as provided in chapter one hundred and one.

No action against executor, &c., within one year, except, &c.
R. S. 66, § 10.
4 Gray, 511.

SECT. 16. No executor or administrator shall be held to answer to the suit of a creditor of the deceased, if commenced within one year after his giving bond for the discharge of his trust, unless it is for the recovery of a demand that would not be affected by the insolvency of the estate, or unless it is brought after the estate has been represented insolvent, for the purpose of ascertaining a contested claim.

Executors, &c., not liable for deficiency of assets, in case, &c.
R. S. 66, § 11.

SECT. 17. If an executor or administrator who has given notice of his appointment as prescribed in this chapter, does not within one year thereafter have notice of demands against the estate of the deceased which will authorize him to represent it insolvent, he may after the expiration of said year proceed to pay the debts due from the estate; and he shall not be personally liable to any creditor in consequence of any such payments made before notice of his demand.

SECT. 18. If an executor or administrator pays away in manner aforesaid the whole of the estate and effects of the deceased, before notice of the demand of any other creditor, he shall not be required in consequence of such notice to represent the estate insolvent, but in an action against him he shall be discharged upon proving such payments.

SECT. 19. If an executor or administrator pays away in manner aforsaid so much of the estate and effects of the deceased that the remainder is insufficient to satisfy a demand of which he afterwards has notice, he shall be liable to pay on such last mentioned demand only so much as may then remain. If there are two or more such demands exhibited, which together exceed the amount of assets remaining in his hands, he may represent the estate insolvent, and shall divide and pay over what remains in his hands among such creditors as prove their debts under the commission of insolvency, pursuant to such decree as the probate court shall make in that behalf; but the creditors of the deceased who have been previously paid shall not be liable to refund any part of the amount received by them.

R. S. 66, § 13.

SECT. 20. If it appears upon the settlement of the administration account in the probate court, that the whole estate and effects which have come to the hands of the executor or administrator have been exhausted in paying the charges of administration, the allowance to the widow or minor children of the deceased, and the charges of his last sickness and funeral, or any other debts or claims entitled by law to a preference over the common creditors of the deceased, such settlement shall be a sufficient bar to any action brought against the executor or administrator by a creditor who is not entitled to such preference, although the estate has not been represented insolvent.

If assets are exhausted in paying preferred debts, action against executor barred.
R. S. 66, § 14-18; 15, 9 Met. 180, 4 Gray, 514, 7 Gray, 169.

SECT. 21. When an executor or administrator, within two years after having given bond for the discharge of his trust, is required by a legatee or next of kin to make payment, in whole or in part of his legacy or distributive share, the probate court may require that the legatee or next of kin shall first give bond to the executor or administrator, with surety or sureties to be approved by the judge, conditioned to refund the amount so to be paid, or as much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy any demands that may be afterwards recovered against the estate of the deceased, and to indemnify the executor or administrator against all loss and damage on account of such payment.

When executor, &c., may demand security from legatee or next of kin, to refund.
R. S. 66, § 15.

SECT. 22. Every legatee may recover his legacy in an action at common law; and nothing contained in this chapter shall bar an action brought at any time against an executor, or an administrator with the will annexed, for the recovery of any legacy, annuity, or bequest.

Legatee may sue.
R. S. 66, § 16, 11 Pick. 563, 5 Met. 249, 5 Gray, 67.

SECT. 23. When by a last will and testament, or an instrument in the nature thereof, an annuity, or the use, rent, income, or interest, of any property, real or personal, or the income of any fund is given to, or in trust for the benefit of, a person for life, or until the happening of a contingent event, he shall be entitled to demand, receive, have, and enjoy, the same, from and after the decease of the testator, unless it is otherwise provided in such will or instrument; or unless the same is required for the payment of debts and other allowances having legal preference out of the estate.

Annuity given by will, when payable.

SECT. 24. If a person entitled to such annuity, rent, interest or income, dies, or if such contingent event happens at any intermediate time before the termination of a year from the time when the whole of the annual amount for the preceding year has become due, such annuity, rent, interest, or income, for the then current year, shall be apportioned, and he or his representatives shall be entitled to receive a proportional part thereof, unless it is otherwise provided in such will or instrument; but no suit shall be brought against an executor for the recovery of such annuity or interest, until the expiration of one year after he has assumed his trust by giving bonds.

Apportionment of annuity in certain cases

SECT. 25. If an executor or administrator unreasonably delays to raise money by collecting the debts and effects of the deceased, or selling the real estate if necessary, and he can obtain a license therefor, or neglects to pay what he has in his hands; and in consequence of such delay or neglect the estate of the deceased is taken on execution by any of his creditors, it shall be deemed unfaithful administration, and he shall be liable in an action on his administration bond for all damages occasioned thereby.

Claims of executors, &c., may be submitted to arbitration.
R. S. 66, § 18,
9 Met. 330.

SECT. 26. If a debt claimed by an executor or administrator as due to him from the deceased, is disputed by any person interested in the estate, the claimant shall file in the probate [court] a statement of his claim in writing, setting forth distinctly and fully the nature and grounds thereof; and the same may then be submitted under an order of the court to one or more arbitrators, to be agreed on by the claimant and the party objecting. The court shall have like power to discharge the rule by which the claim is referred, and to reject and disallow the award, or to recommit it to the arbitrators, as might be exercised by the courts of common law with regard to cases referred by a rule of those courts. The award of such arbitrators if accepted by the probate court shall be final and conclusive.

decided by court or jury, on appeal.
R. S. 66, § 19.

SECT. 27. If parties do not agree in the appointment of arbitrators, or if the award is not confirmed by the probate court, the judge shall decide on the claim, upon such evidence as shall be adduced before him. On appeal to the supreme court of probate, either party or the court may have the claim submitted to a jury, and thereupon an issue shall be made up, under the direction of the court, and tried by a jury as other issues in civil actions are tried; and the verdict thereon, being duly allowed and recorded, shall be conclusive.

Executors, &c., to be charged for increase, and allowed for decrease.
R. S. 67, § 2.

Probate court may order sale.
R. S. 67, § 3.

SECTION 1. Executors and administrators shall account for the personal estate at its appraisal, except as hereinafter provided.

SECT. 2. They shall make no profit by the increase, and sustain no loss by the decrease or destruction without their fault, of any part of the estate; if they sell any of the personal estate for more than the appraised value, they shall account for the excess; and if they sell any for less than the appraised value, they shall be allowed for the loss, if it appears to the probate court that the sale was expedient and for the interest of all concerned in the estate.

SECT. 3. The probate court, on application made by the executor, administrator, or any person interested in the estate, after the return of the inventory, may order any part or all of the personal estate to be sold by public auction or private sale, as shall be deemed most for the interest of all concerned; and the executor or administrator shall account therefor at the price for which it sells.

SECT. 4. The probate court upon petition of the executor or administrator, and after such notice thereof to the parties interested as the court may order, and a hearing thereon, may for the purpose of closing the settlement of an estate, license the executor or administrator to sell and assign any outstanding debts, claims, and assets, which cannot be collected, received, or determined, without inconvenient delay. The sale shall be conducted in such manner as the court, having regard as far as it may be thought advisable or prudent to the law in relation to sales of real estate by executors and administrators, shall order.

Probate court may license sale of outstanding claims, which cannot be collected without delay.
1851, 136, § 1.

SECT. 5. Nothing in the preceding section shall deprive executors and administrators of the right to transfer at pleasure deeds of mortgage, and the real estate conveyed, and the debts secured, thereby, either before or after possession taken for foreclosure; and all such transfers heretofore made, and all titles to real estate held under such transfers, are ratified and confirmed.

23. Surplus, how divided.
24. Administrator liable only for assets in his hands.
25. Creditor may sue after eighteen months, in case, &c.
26. Penalty on executor, &c., neglecting to settle accounts.
27. Dividends unclaimed for twenty years, to be distributed among creditors, &c.
28. Administration on estates of creditors entitled to such dividend.

Debts entitled to preference. R. S. 68, § 4. 1852, 139. 16 Mass. 308. 4 Met. 317. 9 Met. 389, 507. See § 18. Ch. 127, § 4.

SECTION 1. When the estate of a person deceased is insolvent or insufficient to pay all his debts, it shall, after discharging the necessary expenses of his funeral, last sickness, and administration, be applied to the payment of his debts in the following order:—

First. Debts entitled to a preference under the laws of the United States:

Second. Public rates, taxes, and excise duties:

Third. Debts due to all other persons.

If there is not enough to pay all the debts of any class, the creditors of that class shall be paid ratably upon their respective debts; and no payment shall be made to creditors of any class until all those of the preceding class or classes, of whose claims the executor or administrator has notice, are fully paid.

Representation of insolvency, and appointment of commissioners. R. S. 68, § 2. 16 Mass. 308. 6 Pick. 481.

SECT. 2. When it appears to the probate court from the representation of an executor or administrator, that the estate of the deceased will probably be insufficient for the payment of his debts, the court shall appoint two or more fit persons to be commissioners to receive and examine all claims of creditors against the estate, and to return a list of all claims laid before them, with the sum allowed on each claim. The commissioners shall be sworn before entering on the duties of their office.

Commissioners

SECT. 3. They shall appoint convenient times and places for their meetings to receive and examine claims of creditors, and shall by mail or otherwise give to all known creditors at least seven days' written notice of the time and place of each meeting, and also such other notice thereof as the court shall order; and the executor or administrator shall, fourteen days at least before the first meeting, furnish to the commissioners the names and residences of all known creditors.

to give notice of meetings.
1834, 92.

SECT. 4. Six months after the appointment of the commissioners shall be allowed for the creditors to present and prove their claims; and the court may allow such further time for this purpose, not exceeding eighteen months from the date of the commission, as shall be deemed necessary; and at the expiration of the time for the proof of debts, the commissioners shall make their return to the probate court.

Commissioners to make report.
R. S. 68, § 4.
6 Pick. 458.
See § 18.

SECT. 5. If at the return of the commission any person is liable as a surety for the deceased, or has any other contingent claim against his estate which could not be proved as a debt under the commission, the court upon proof thereof shall, in ordering a dividend, leave in the hands of the executor or administrator a sum sufficient to pay to such contingent creditor a proportion equal to what shall then be paid to the other creditors.

Provision for contingent debts.
R. S. 68, § 5.
7 Met. 132.

SECT. 6. If such contingent debt becomes absolute within four years after the date of the administration bond, it may be allowed by the probate court if not disputed by the executor or administrator; and if disputed, it may be proved before the commissioners already appointed or others to be appointed by the judge, in like manner as if presented before the first return of the commissioners.

Same subject.
R. S. 68, § 6.

SECT. 7. Upon the allowance of such claim, the creditor shall be entitled to a dividend thereon equal to what has been paid to the other creditors, so far as the same can be paid without disturbing the former dividend; and if his claim is not finally established, or if the dividend due to him does not exhaust the assets in the hands of the executor or administrator, the residue of the assets shall be divided among all creditors who have proved their debts.

Same subject.
R. S. 68, § 7.

SECT. 8. Any person whose claim is disallowed in whole or in part, and any executor or administrator who is dissatisfied with the allowance of a claim, may appeal from the decision of the commissioners, and the claim shall thereupon be determined at common law in the county in which the probate or administration is granted. If the demand exceeds the sum of three thousand dollars in the county of Suffolk, or one thousand dollars in any other county, the appeal shall be directly to the supreme judicial court; otherwise to the superior court; and in either case it shall be tried and determined in like manner as if an action had been brought therefor by the supposed creditor against the executor or administrator.

Claims to be decided at common law, upon appeal.
R. S. 68, § 8.
18-30, 308.
18-39, 196.
6 Met. 271.
8 Met. 132.

SECT. 9. Such appeal shall be claimed and notice thereof given at the probate office within thirty days after the return of the commissioners. If the appeal is by an executor or administrator, he shall give notice thereof to the creditor within said thirty days. The appeal shall be entered at the court appealed to, held next after the expiration of said thirty days.

Notice to be given on appeal, and when.
R. S. 68, § 9.

SECT. 10. At the term of the court at which the appeal is entered, the supposed creditor shall file a statement in writing of his claim, setting forth briefly and distinctly all the material facts which would be necessary in a declaration for the same cause of action; and like proceedings shall be thereupon had in the pleadings, trial, and determination, of the cause, as in an action at law prosecuted in the usual manner; except that no execution shall be awarded against the executor or administrator for a debt found due to the claimant. The final judgment shall be conclusive, and the list of debts allowed by the commissioners shall be altered, if necessary to conform thereto.

Trial and judgment, but no execution thereon.
R. S. 68, § 10.

Claim may be submitted to arbitration.
R. S. 68, § 11.
12 Cush. 320.

SECT. 11. After the claiming of such appeal, the parties may waive a trial at law and submit the claim to the determination of arbitrators to be agreed on between them, and appointed accordingly by a rule of the probate court; in which case the appeal shall not be entered at the court appealed to; and the award of such arbitrators, if accepted by the court, shall be conclusive in like manner as is provided in the preceding section with regard to a judgment in a court of common law.

Costs upon appeal.
R. S. 68, § 12.

SECT. 12. The party prevailing upon such appeal shall be entitled to costs, which if recovered against the executor or administrator may be allowed to him in his administration account.

Remedy when appeal is omitted by accident, &c.
R. S. 68, § 13.
7 Met. 211.

SECT. 13. Any person whose claim is disallowed by the commissioners, and who, for other cause than his own neglect, omits to claim or prosecute his appeal as before provided, may, upon his petition therefor to the supreme judicial court holden in any county, be allowed to claim and prosecute an appeal in manner aforesaid, upon such terms as the court imposes, if it appears that justice requires a further examination of his claim; but no such petition shall be sustained unless presented within two years after the return of the commissioners, and within four years after the date of the administration bond.

Allowance of appeal not to disturb prior dividends.
R. S. 68, § 14.

SECT. 14. The allowance of such appeal and the judgment thereon shall not disturb any distribution ordered before notice of the petition, or notice of the intention to present the same has been given in writing at the probate office or to the executor or administrator; but the debts thus proved and allowed shall be paid only out of such assets as remain in or come to the hands of the executor or administrator after payment of the sums due on such prior decree of distribution.

Commissioners, &c., may examine claimant on oath.
R. S. 68, § 15.

SECT. 15. The commissioners may require the claimant to make true answers under oath to all questions relating to his claim; and if he refuses to take such oath or to answer fully all questions, they may disallow his claim. On appeal from their award, the court shall have like power to examine the claimant and disallow his claim.

may administer oaths.
R. S. 68, § 16.

SECT. 16. Either of the commissioners may administer oaths to claimants and to witnesses.

Distribution among creditors, after commissioners' return.
R. S. 68, § 17.
1 Greenl. 531.
4 Met. 317.

SECT. 17. After the expiration of thirty days from the return of the commissioners, the probate court shall make such decree for the distribution of the effects among the creditors, as the case according to the provisions of this chapter requires. If before making the decree the court has notice of an appeal from the commissioners, then claimed or pending, the decree may be suspended until the determination of the appeal, or a distribution may be ordered among the creditors whose debts are allowed, leaving in the hands of the executor or administrator a sum sufficient to pay the claimant whose demand is disputed a proportion equal to that of the other creditors.

Copartnership and individual claims to be separate.
10 Met. 305.
See Ch. 118, § 109.

SECT. 18. If the deceased had been a member of a copartnership, and copartnership and individual claims are proved against his estate, the commissioners shall make separate lists of said claims. In making a dividend the court shall order the joint and separate estate to be distributed in the same manner, and among the same classes of creditors, as provided in the case of insolvent debtors under chapter one hundred and eighteen.

Further distribution.
R. S. 68, § 10.
3 Pick. 365.

SECT. 19. If the whole assets are not distributed upon the first decree, or if further assets come to the hands of the executor or administrator, the probate court shall make such further decrees for distribution as the case requires.

Actions by creditors after representation of insolvency.
R. S. 68, § 19.
1 Mass. 502.
1 Mass. 624.

SECT. 20. No action shall be maintained against an executor or administrator after an estate is represented insolvent, unless for a demand entitled to a preference and which would not be affected by the insolvency of the estate, or unless the assets prove more than sufficient to pay all the debts allowed by the commissioners. If the estate is represented insolvent while an action is pending for any demand that is not entitled to such preference, the action may be discontinued without payment of costs; or, if the demand is disputed, the action may be tried and determined and judgment rendered thereon in the same manner and with the same effect as is provided in the case of an appeal from the award of commissioners; or the action may be continued without costs until it appears whether the estate is insolvent, and if not insolvent the plaintiff may prosecute the action as if no such representation had been made.

9 Met. 159.

SECT. 21. Every creditor of an insolvent estate who does not present his claim for allowance in the manner herein prescribed, shall be barred from recovering the same unless further assets of the deceased come to the hands of the executor or administrator after the decree of distribution; in which case his claim may be proved, allowed, and paid, in the manner and with the limitations provided in this chapter for contingent debts.

Claims not proved to be barred, unless, &c.
R. S. 68, § 20.
15 Mass. 140,
148, 264,
1 Cushi. 401,
3 Cushi. 465.

SECT. 22. If after the report of the commissioners, the assets prove sufficient to pay all debts allowed, the executor or administrator shall pay them in full; and if any other debt is afterwards recovered against him, he shall be liable therefor only to the extent of the assets then remaining.

If assets sufficient, debts paid in full. Surplus.
R. S. 68, § 21

SECT. 23. If there are two or more such creditors, the assets, if insufficient to pay their demands in full, shall be divided among them in proportion to their debts.

Surplus, how divided.
R. S. 68, § 22.

SECT. 24. The executor or administrator, in an action brought against him on such demand, may prove the amount of assets in his hands, and thereupon judgment shall be rendered in the usual form; but execution shall not issue for more than the amount of such assets; and if there are two or more judgments, the court shall apportion the amount between them.

Administrator liable only for assets in his hands.
R. S. 68, § 23.

SECT. 25. If it is not ascertained, at the end of eighteen months after the granting of letters testamentary or of administration, whether an estate represented insolvent is or is not so in fact, any creditor whose claim has not been presented before the commissioners may commence an action therefor against the executor or administrator, which may be continued without costs for the defendant until it appears whether the estate is insolvent. If it appears solvent, the plaintiff may prosecute the action as if no such representation had been made.

Creditor may sue after eight months, in case, &c.
1853, 291, § 1.

SECT. 26. If an executor or administrator neglects to render and settle his accounts in the probate court within six months after the return made by the commissioners or the final liquidation of the demands of the creditors, or within such further time as the court shall allow, and thereby delays a decree of distribution, such neglect shall be deemed unfaithful administration; and he may be forthwith removed, and shall be liable in a suit on his bond for all damages occasioned by his default.

Penalty on executor, &c., neglecting to settle accounts.
R. S. 68, § 25.
6 Girard, 28.
3 Met. 109.

SECT. 27. After twenty years from the decree of distribution of an insolvent estate, the probate court, upon application by any creditor whose claim was proved and allowed, and after notice of such application published for not less than two years on such days as the court shall direct, in one or more newspapers of the county, may order any unclaimed dividends, with the interest received thereon, after deducting all expenses and charges of administration since the decree of distribution, to be distributed anew among the creditors who have received their dividends. If there is a surplus after satisfying the claims of such creditors with interest, it shall be distributed to the heirs of the deceased.

Dividends unclaimed for twenty years, to be distributed among creditors, &c.
1844, 115, § 1.

SECT. 28. If a creditor who has failed to receive his dividend as aforesaid has deceased, the probate court for the county in which added to such dividends. 1844, 115, § 2.

Administration on estates of creditors enti-

ministration on his estate might have been granted, shall, at any time before passing a decree to distribute the unclaimed dividends, grant administration upon his estate, although more than twenty years may have elapsed since his death, and the administrator may receive and administer such dividend.

Testamentary trustees to give bond. R. S. 69, § 1. 1850, 196. 22 Pick. 215. 9 Met. 335.

SECTION 1. Every trustee under a will, except such as are exempted as hereinafter provided, shall before entering on the duties of his trust give bond with sufficient surety or sureties to the judge of the probate court for the county in which the will is proved, and in such sum as the judge orders, with condition substantially as follows, (except as provided in chapter one hundred and one: ) —

First. To make a true inventory of all the real estate, goods, chattels, rights, and credits, belonging to him as trustee, and which shall come to his possession or knowledge, and to return the same into the probate court at such time as the court directs :

Second. To dispose of and manage all such estate and effects, and faithfully discharge his trust in relation thereto, according to law and the will of the testator :

Third. To render an account on oath of the property in his hands and of the management and disposition thereof, within one year and at any other times when required by the probate court : and Fourth. At the expiration of his trust, to settle his accounts with the probate court, and pay over and deliver all the estate and effects remaining in his hands or due from him on such settlement, to the person or persons entitled thereto according to law and the will of the testator.

except in certain cases. R. S. 69, § 2.

SECT. 2. He shall be exempt from giving bond when the testator in the will appointing him has so ordered or requested, unless from a change in his situation or circumstances, or other sufficient cause, the court deems it proper to require a bond ; and he shall also be exempted when all persons interested in the trust fund, being of full age and legal capacity, certify to the court their consent that such bond shall not be required.

further exception. R. S. 69, § 3.

SECT. 3. No trustee who has heretofore undertaken a trust, shall be required to give bond in any case in which it was not required by laws in force at the time of his undertaking the trust, unless, from a change in his situation or circumstances, or other sufficient cause, the probate court deems it proper to require a bond.

SECT. 4. Every trustee under a will who neglects to give bond as aforesaid within such time as the probate court allows, shall be considered as having declined the trust.

Trustee neglecting, &c.
R. S. 69, § 1.

SECT. 5. Every such trustee may, upon his own request, be allowed to resign his trust, when it appears to the probate court proper to allow the same.

may resign.
R. S. 69, § 5.

SECT. 6. No person succeeding to such trust as executor or administrator of a former trustee, shall be required to accept the same against his will.

executor of, not bound to accept.
R. S. 69, § 6.

SECT. 7. If in a will the testator has omitted to appoint a trustee in this commonwealth, and if such appointment is necessary to carry into effect the provisions of the will, the probate court may, after notice to all persons interested, appoint a trustee who shall have the same powers, rights, and duties, and in whom the estate shall vest in like manner as if he had been originally appointed by the testator.

Probate courts may appoint trustee when necessary.

SECT. 8. The probate courts in the several counties, as well as the supreme judicial court, upon application of the parties, (other than the trustee,) beneficially interested in a trust estate created by will, deed, indenture, or other instrument, may, if it appears essential to the interests of the applicants, remove the trustee after he has had notice of the application, and an opportunity to be heard and show cause why the removal should not be made. The probate court, after notice to the trustee and all other persons interested, may also remove any such trustee who becomes insane, or otherwise incapable of discharging his trust, or evidently unsuitable therefor.

Trustee may be removed and new appointed in certain cases.

1 Gray, 229.

SECT. 9. When a trustee under a written instrument, declines, resigns, dies, or is removed, before the objects thereof are accomplished, if no adequate provision is made therein for supplying the vacancy, the probate court or supreme judicial court shall, after notice to all persons interested, appoint a new trustee, to act alone or jointly with the others as the case may be. Such new trustee, upon giving the bonds and security required, shall have and exercise the same powers, rights, and duties, whether as a sole or joint trustee, as if he had been originally appointed, and the trust estate shall vest in him in like manner as it had or would have vested in the trustee in whose place he is substituted.

5 Gray, 336.

SECT. 10. Upon the appointment of a trustee under the preceding section, the court may order such conveyances to be made by the former trustee or his representatives, or by the other remaining trustees, as may be proper or convenient to vest in such trustee, either alone or jointly with the others, the estate and effects to be held in trust.

Court may order conveyances to new trustee.
R. S. 69, § 8.
1843, 19.

SECT. 11. Every trustee appointed by the probate court under a will, shall, before entering on the duties of his trust, give bond as prescribed in section one; except that the court may dispense with the making and returning of an inventory by a new trustee when it appears unnecessary; in which case the condition of the bond shall be altered accordingly.

Trustee appointed by court, to give bond.
R. S. 69, § 9.

SECT. 12. Bonds given by trustees under this chapter may be put in suit by order of the probate court for the use and benefit of any person interested in the trust estate; and the proceedings in such suit shall be conducted as provided in chapter one hundred and one with respect to bonds given by executors or administrators.

proceedings in suits on bonds of.
R. S. 69, § 13.

SECT. 13. When an inventory is required to be returned by a trustee, the estate and effects shall be appraised by three suitable persons, to be appointed and sworn as prescribed by law with respect to the estate of a deceased person.

Appraisers, when appointed.
R. S. 69, § 10.

SECT. 14. The probate courts, in the several counties, and the supreme judicial court, may, on application of the trustee under a will or of any person interested in the trust estate, after notice to all other persons interested therein, authorize or require such trustee to sell any 1853, 371, § 1.

1856, 35, § 2.

SECT. 15. When a person seised or possessed of an estate, real or personal, or any interest therein, upon a trust, express or implied, is under the age of twenty-one years, insane, feme covert, or out of the commonwealth, or not amenable to the process of any court therein having equity powers, and in the opinion of the supreme judicial court it is fit that a sale be made of such estate, or of any interest therein, or that a conveyance be made thereof, in order to carry into effect the objects of the trusts; the court may by decree direct such sale or conveyance, and appoint some suitable person in the place of the trustee to sell or convey the same in such manner as it may require. If a person so seised or possessed of an estate, or entitled thereto upon a trust, is within the jurisdiction of the court, he or his guardian may be ordered to make such conveyances as the court may deem proper.

Power, &c., of S. J. C. as to sale, &c., of trust estates.

1856, 35, § 2.

SECT. 16. The supreme judicial court, when a sale and conveyance of any trust estate have become necessary or expedient, upon a suit in equity brought by a party interested therein, may decree such sale and conveyance, and the investment, reinvestment, and application, of the proceeds thereof, upon such security and in such manner as shall best effect the objects of the trust, and be most safe and beneficial for all interested therein.

Probate courts may terminate trusts created by persons deceased for benefit of creditors.

SECT. 17. When it appears upon petition or otherwise to the probate court of the county where letters testamentary or of administration have been granted on the estate of a person deceased, that such person in his lifetime made a conveyance of real estate in this state in trust for the benefit of his creditors, and the trustee certifies that all the debts secured thereby (due to other persons than himself) have been paid, or otherwise adjusted to the satisfaction of the creditors so far as known, and that he is desirous to settle his trust account and terminate the trust, the court shall appoint a time and place for hearing all persons interested therein; notice of which shall be given by advertisement in some newspaper printed in the county or otherwise as the court may order. Upon such hearing the court may terminate the trust so far as the creditors and persons claiming under them are concerned, and discharge such real estate therefrom; and may settle the trust account, and make any further order as to the disposition, distribution, or partition, of the remaining trust estate, not inconsistent with the provisions of the original instrument creating the trust.

Preceding section not to apply in certain cases.

1859, 241, § 3.

SECT. 18. The preceding section shall not apply to any case where the instrument creating the trust does not bear date more than six years previous to the time appointed for the hearing. Nor shall it affect the operation of the insolvent laws of this state.

Certain trusts to be in writing.

not to affect purchasers without notice.

R. S. 59, § 31.

SECT. 20. No such trust, whether implied by law or created or declared by the parties, shall defeat the title of a purchaser for a valuable consideration and without notice of the trust, nor prevent a creditor who has no notice of the trust from attaching the premises or taking them on execution, in like manner as if no such trust had existed.

Recording declaration of trust equivalent to notice.

SECT. 21. When a trust is created or declared by any such instrument in writing, the recording thereof in the registry of deeds for the county or district where the lands lie, shall be deemed equivalent to actual notice to every person claiming under a conveyance, attachment, or execution, made or levied after such record. R. S. 59, § 32.

SECT. 22. The probate courts in the several counties, concurrently with the supreme judicial court, may hear and determine in equity all matters in relation to trusts created by will, not particularly mentioned in this chapter. Trusts under wills.
Equity powers, &c.

DEATH, REMOVAL, &c., OF EXECUTOR, &c.

SECTION 1. When a sole or surviving executor or administrator dies without having fully administered an estate, if there is personal estate of the deceased not administered to the amount of twenty dollars, or debts to that amount remaining due from the estate, or any thing remaining to be performed in execution of the will, the probate court shall grant letters of administration, with the will annexed or otherwise as the case may require, to some suitable person to administer the goods and estate of the deceased not already administered. When executor, &c., dies, administration de bonis non granted.
R. S. 63, § 10.
R. S. 64, § 14.
2 Pick. 351.
3 Met. 187.
See Ch. 95, § 16.

SECT. 2. When an executor or administrator residing out of this state, having been duly cited by the probate court, neglects to render his accounts and settle the estate; or when an executor or administrator becomes insane or otherwise incapable of discharging the trust, or evidently unsuitable therefor; the probate court may remove him; and thereupon the other executor or administrator, if there is any, may Executor, &c., removable for cause, &c.
R. S. 63, § 7.
R. S. 64, § 15.

proceed in discharging the trust as if the one removed were dead. If there is no other executor or administrator, the court may commit administration of the estate not already administered, to such person as shall be deemed fit, in like manner as if the executor or administrator removed were dead.

Executor's acts before removal, valid.
R. S. 70, § 20.

SECT. 3. When an executor or administrator is removed, or letters of administration are revoked, all previous sales, whether of real or personal estate, made lawfully by the executor or administrator, and with good faith on the part of the purchaser, and all other lawful acts done by such executor or administrator, shall remain valid and effectual.

SECT. 4. When an unmarried woman who is executrix or administratrix, either alone or with another person, marries, her husband shall not be executor or administrator in her right, but the marriage shall operate as an extinguishment of her authority; and the other executor or administrator, if there is any, may proceed in discharging the trust as if she were dead. If there is no other executor or administrator, administration may be granted of the estate not already administered.

Executor, &c., may resign, &c.
1843, 97.
11 Met. 194.

SECT. 5. An executor or administrator may upon his request be allowed to resign his trust, when it appears to the probate court to be proper; and upon such resignation the court shall grant letters of administration, with the will annexed or otherwise as the case may require, to some suitable person, to administer the goods and estate not already administered.

ACCOUNTS, DISCHARGES, COMPROMISES, RELEASES.

Accounts of joint executors, &c.
R. S. 70, § 31.
R. S. 70, § 33.

SECT. 6. Probate courts may allow the account of two or more joint executors, administrators, guardians, or trustees, upon the oath of one of them.

Final discharge of executor, &c.; and evidence thereof perpetuated.
R. S. 70, § 32.
See Ch. 98.

SECT. 7. When an executor, administrator, guardian, or trustee, has paid or delivered over to the persons entitled thereto, the money or other property in his hands, as required by a decree of a probate court, he may perpetuate the evidence thereof by presenting to said court, within one year after the decree is made, an account of such payments or of the delivery over of such property; which being proved to the satisfaction of the court, and verified by the oath of the party, shall be allowed as his final discharge and ordered to be recorded. Such discharge shall forever exonerate the party and his sureties from all liability under such decree, unless his account is impeached for fraud or manifest error.

Money due, if not claimed, to be deposited, &c.
R. S. 70, § 33.

SECT. 8. If any sum of money directed by a decree of the probate court to be paid over, remains for six months unclaimed, the executor, administrator, guardian, or trustee, who was ordered to pay over the same, may deposit it in some savings bank or other like institution, or invest it in bank stock or other stocks, as the probate court directs, to accumulate for the benefit of the person entitled thereto. Such deposit or investment shall be made in the name of the judge of the probate court for the time being, and shall be subject to the order of the judge and his successors in office as hereinafter provided. The person making such deposit or investment shall file in the probate court a memorandum thereof, with the original certificates or other evidence of title thereto, which shall be allowed as a sufficient voucher for such payment.

How paid afterwards.
R. S. 70, § 34.

SECT. 9. When the person entitled to the money deposited satisfies the judge of his right to receive the same, the judge shall cause it to be paid over and transferred to him.

Executors, &c., may compromise claims, &c.
1855, 432.

SECT. 10. Probate courts may authorize executors, administrators, guardians, and trustees, to adjust by arbitration or compromise, any demands in favor of or against the estates by them represented.

to release cer-

SECT. 11. They may authorize executors, administrators, guardians, and trustees to release and discharge, upon such terms and conditions as appear proper, any vested, contingent, or possible right or interest belonging to the persons or estates by them represented, in or to any real or personal estate, whenever it appears to be for the benefit of the persons or estates in trust.

tain interests in real or personal estates, &c. 1853, 367, § 2.

BONDS.

SECT. 12. The sureties in every bond given to the judge of a probate court shall be inhabitants of this state, and such as the judge approves; and no bond required to be given to the judge of the probate court, or filed in the probate office, shall be sufficient, unless examined and approved by the judge, and his approval thereof under his official signature is written thereon.

Sureties in bonds to be inhabitants of state, &c. Bonds to be approved. R. S. 79, § 2. R. S. 85, § 32.

SECT. 13. Executors, administrators, guardians, trustees, and other persons, may be exempted by the probate court from giving bond for the proceeds of sales of real estate, except when authorized to make such sales.

Executors, &c., when exempt from giving bond, &c. 1850, 196.

SECT. 14. When two or more persons are appointed executors, administrators, or testamentary trustees, the probate court may take a separate bond with sureties from each, or a joint bond with sureties from all.

Bonds of, may be joint or several. R. S. 79, § 2.

SECT. 15. When the sureties or the penal sum in any bond given to the judge of a probate court are insufficient, the supreme judicial court or the probate court, on the petition of any person interested and after notice to the principal in the bond, may require a new bond, with such surety or sureties, and in such penal sum, as the court shall direct.

When sureties or penalty insufficient, new bond required. R. S. 79, § 25. 1851, 31. 3 Cush. 465.

SECT. 16. Any surety in a bond given to the judge of a probate court may, upon his petition to the supreme judicial court or the probate court, be discharged from all further responsibility, if the court, after due notice to all persons interested, deems it reasonable and proper; and the principal shall thereupon give a new bond, with such surety or sureties as the court shall order.

Surety may be discharged upon petition, &c. R. S. 79, § 28. 1853, 56, § 1.

SECT. 17. If, in the cases specified in the two preceding sections, the principal does not give such new bond within such time as is ordered by the court, he shall be removed from his trust, and some other person appointed in his stead.

Principal to give new bond. R. S. 79, § 29. 1843, 56, § 2. 1851, 31.

SECT. 18. When a new bond is required as above provided, the sureties in the prior bond shall be liable for all breaches of the condition committed before the new bond is approved by the judge.

Prior sureties liable until, &c. R. S. 79, § 30. 1843, 56, § 3.

SECT. 19. The bond given by executors or administrators for the discharge of their trust may be put in suit by any creditor of the deceased for his own benefit, when he has recovered judgment for his debt against the executors or administrators, and they have neglected upon demand made by the creditor to pay the same, or show sufficient goods or estate of the deceased to be taken on execution for that purpose.

When bond may be put in suit by creditor. R. S. 79, § 3. 29 Pick. 53. 21 Pick. 58. 1 Met. 333. 9 Met. 625. 1 Gray. 365.

SECT. 20. If the estate is insolvent, a suit on the bond may be brought by a creditor, when the amount due to him has been ascertained by the decree of distribution, if the executor or administrator neglects to pay the same when demanded.

When estate is insolvent. R. S. 79, § 4.

SECT. 21. A suit may be so brought by a person who is next of kin, to recover his share of the personal estate, after a decree of the probate court ascertaining the amount due to him, if the executor or administrator neglects to pay the same when demanded.

When for benefit of next of kin. R. S. 79, § 5.

SECT. 22. When it appears to the probate court, on the representation of any person interested in an estate, that the executor or administrator has failed to perform his duty in any particular not before specified, the court may authorize any creditor, next of kin, legatee, or or of any other person interested. R. S. 79, § 6. 16 Mass. 324. 9 Met. 535.

other person, aggrieved by such maladministration, to bring an action on the bond.

How bond sued, when judge is obligor.
1838, 184, § 1.

SECT. 23. When the judge of a probate court is obligor as principal or surety in a bond given to a former judge of the court, any suit authorized by this chapter may be brought upon such bond in the name of the judge mentioned therein, his executors or administrators.

Register may authorize suit.
1838, 184, § 2.

SECT. 24. The register of the probate court for the county in which such bond was given may authorize a suit thereon in like manner and upon the same conditions as the court may in other cases.

Writ, how indorsed, and who liable for costs
of suit.
R. S. 79, § 7.

SECT. 25. In all the preceding cases the writ shall be indorsed by the persons for whose benefit or at whose request the action is brought, or by their attorney, and the indorsers shall be liable for the costs of suit, and execution therefor shall be issued against them, and not against the judge. When the action is brought for the benefit of any persons as creditors or next of kin as before provided, there shall be a further indorsement on the writ, specifying that it is brought for the use or benefit of such creditors or next of kin.

Process to bring in principal obligor.
R. S. 79, § 8.

SECT. 26. If the principal in such bond is resident within this state at the commencement of the action, and is not made a defendant therein, or is not served with process, the court may, at the request of any of the sureties, continue or postpone the action so long as may be necessary to summon or bring in the principal as provided in the following section.

Same subject.
R. S. 79, § 9.

SECT. 27. The sureties may thereupon take out a writ, in such form as the court prescribes, to arrest the principal or to attach his goods or estate, and summon him to appear and answer as defendant in the original action. If, after being served with such process fourteen days at least before the time appointed for him to appear and answer to the suit, he neglects so to do, and judgment is for the plaintiff, it shall be rendered against the principal obligor with the other defendants, in the same manner as if he had been originally a party to the suit. Any attachment or bail on such process shall be liable to respond to the judgment in like manner as if made or taken in the original suit.

Proceedings in suit on bond.
Judgment and execution.
R. S. 79, § 10,
8 Cush. 291.

SECT. 28. Every suit on an administration bond shall be brought in the supreme judicial court held for the county in which the bond is taken; and when it appears that the condition of the bond has been broken, the court upon a hearing in equity shall award execution in the name of the plaintiff as follows:—

for the benefit of creditor.

First. If the action is brought for the benefit of a creditor, execution shall be awarded for the use of the creditor, for the amount due to him upon the judgment that he has recovered, or upon the order of distribution in his favor:

of next of kin.

Second. If for the benefit of a person who is next of kin, it shall be awarded for the use of such person, for the amount due to him according to the decree of the probate court:

for breach in not accounting.

Third. If for a breach of the condition in not accounting for the estate as required in chapter ninety-eight, it shall be awarded without expressing that it is for the use of any person:

for other breach.

Fourth. If for any other breach of the condition of the bond, it shall be awarded without expressing that it is for the use of any particular person, for the full value of all the estate of the deceased that has come to the hands of the executor or administrator, and for which he shall not satisfactorily account, and for all damages occasioned by his neglect or maladministration:

for use of two or more persons.

Fifth. If there are two or more persons for whose use execution is to be awarded as provided in this section, a separate execution shall be issued for the sum due to each of them:

for costs as well as damages;

Sixth. The execution shall include the costs of suit, as well as debt or damages; and if there is more than one execution, the costs shall be equally divided between them:

Seventh. The person for whose use the execution is expressed to be awarded, shall be considered as the judgment creditor, and may cause it to be levied in his name and for his benefit, as if the action had been brought and the judgment recovered in his name.

Execution, how served.

SECT. 29. All money received on such execution (unless it is awarded for the use of a creditor or person next of kin as provided in the first and second subdivisions of the preceding section) shall be paid to the co-executor or co-administrator, if there is any, or to whomsoever is then the rightful executor or administrator, and shall be assets in his hands, to be administered according to law.

Moneys received thereon, how disposed of.
R. S. 70, § 11.
6 Met. 198.

SECT. 30. If the executor or administrator commits a new breach of the condition of the bond, or if a creditor, next of kin, legatee, or other person interested in the estate, has a claim for further damages on account of any neglect or maladministration of the executor or administrator, a writ of scire facias on the original judgment may be sued out in like manner as is provided for the commencement of the original suit; and the court shall thereupon proceed to award a new execution in like manner as might have been done in the original suit.

Scire facias to recover further damages.
R. S. 70, § 12.

LIABILITY OF HEIRS, &c., FOR DEBTS OF DECEASED.

SECT. 31. After the settlement of an estate by an executor or administrator, and after the expiration of the time limited for the commencement of actions against him by the creditors of the deceased, the heirs, next of kin, devisees, and legatees, of the deceased, shall be liable, in the manner provided in the following sections, for all debts which could not have been sued for against the executor or administrator, and for which provision is not made in chapter ninety-seven.

Estate of deceased in hands of heirs, &c., liable for certain debts.
R. S. 70, § 13.
13 Mass. 384.

SECT. 32. A creditor whose right of action accrues after the expiration of said time of limitation, and whose claim has not been presented to the probate court, or if presented has not been allowed as provided in chapter ninety-seven, may by action commenced within one year next after the time when such right of action accrues, recover the same against the heirs and next of kin of the deceased, and the devisees and legatees under his will; each one of whom shall be liable to the creditor to an amount not exceeding the value of real or personal estate that he has received from the deceased. But if by the will of the deceased, any part of his estate, or any one or more of the devisees or legatees, is made exclusively liable for the debt in exoneration of the residue of the estate, or the other devisees or legatees, such provisions of the will shall be complied with; and the persons and estate so exempted shall be liable for only so much of the debt as cannot be recovered from those who are first chargeable therewith.

Mode of proceeding in such case.
R. S. 70, § 14.
1 Met. 387.

SECT. 33. If any heir, next of kin, devisee, or legatee, dies without having paid his just proportion of such debt, his executors and administrators shall be liable therefor as for his proper debt, to the extent to which he would have been liable if living.

Estate of heir, &c., liable after death.
R. S. 70, § 15.

SECT. 34. If in the case specified in the two preceding sections more than one person is liable for the debt, the creditor may recover the same by a suit in equity in the supreme judicial court against all persons so liable, or as many of them as are within reach of process. The court shall determine, by the verdict of a jury if either party requires it, what sum is due to the plaintiff, and shall decide according to the course of proceedings in equity, how much each one of the defendants is liable to pay towards the debt, and may award execution and other proper process therefor.

When two or more liable, creditor may proceed in equity.

SECT. 35. If any heir, devisee, or other person, who was originally liable for the debt, is insolvent, or unable to pay his proportion thereof, or beyond reach of process, the others shall be liable to the creditor

Case of insolvency, &c., of heir or devisee.
R. S. 70, § 17.

for the whole amount of his debt: but no one shall be compelled to pay more than the amount received by him from the estate of the deceased.

New defendants may be summoned in, and amendments allowed.
R. S. 70, § 18.

SECT. 36. Such suit shall not be dismissed or barred for want of including as defendants all the persons who might have been so included; but in any stage of the cause the court may, upon such terms as shall be deemed reasonable, award proper process to bring in other parties, and allow such amendments as may be necessary to charge them as defendants.

Heirs, &c., liable to contribute between themselves.
R. S. 70, § 19.

SECT. 37. If in consequence of insolvency, absence, or any other cause, any person liable for such debt fails to pay his just proportion thereof to the creditor, he shall be liable to indemnify all who by reason of such failure on his part pay more than their just proportion of the debt. Such indemnity may be recovered at their election, by all of them jointly or in separate actions by any one or more of them for his or their parts respectively.

ESTATES OF PERSONS NOT INHABITANTS OF THIS STATE.

SECT. 38. When administration is taken in this state on the estate of any person who was an inhabitant of any other state or country, his estate found here, after payment of his debts, shall be disposed of according to his last will, if he left any duly executed according to law; otherwise his real estate shall descend according to the laws of this state, and his personal estate shall be distributed and disposed of according to the laws of the state or country of which he was an inhabitant.

Settlement of such estate.
R. S. 70, § 22.

SECT. 39. Upon the settlement of such estate, and after the payment of all debts for which the same is liable in this state, the residue of the personal estate may be distributed and disposed of in manner aforesaid by the probate court; or in the discretion of the court it may be transmitted to the executor or administrator, if there is any, in the state or country where the deceased had his domicile, to be disposed of according to the laws thereof.

if estate is insolvent.

6 Pick. 481.
8 Pick. 475.
Same subject.
R. S. 70, §§ 24, 25.

SECT. 40. If such person died insolvent, his estate found in this state shall as far as practicable be so disposed of that all his creditors here and elsewhere may receive each an equal share in proportion to their respective debts.

SECT. 41. To this end, his estate shall not be transmitted to the foreign executor or administrator until all his creditors who are citizens of this state have received the just proportion that would be due to them if the whole estate of the deceased wherever found, that is applicable to the payment of common creditors, were divided among all the creditors in proportion to their respective debts, without preferring any one species of debt to another; in which case no creditor who is not a citizen of this state shall be paid out of the assets found here, until all those who are citizens have received their just proportion as provided in the preceding section.

Same subject.
R. S. 70, § 26.

SECT. 42. If there is any residue after such payment to the citizens of this state, it may be paid to any other creditors who have duly proved their debts here, in proportion to the amount due to each of them, but no one shall receive more than would be due to him if the whole estate were divided ratably among all the creditors as before provided. The balance may be transmitted to the foreign executor or administrator; or if there is none, it shall, after the expiration of four years from the appointment of the administrator, be distributed ratably among all creditors, both citizens and others, who have proved their debts in this state.

R. S. 71, § 9.
2 Gray, 160.

SECTION 1. When the personal estate of a deceased person is insufficient to pay his debts with the charges of administration, his executor or administrator may sell his real estate for that purpose, upon obtaining a license therefor and proceeding as herein provided.

SECT. 2. The license may be granted by the supreme judicial court or superior court in any county, or by the probate court in which the letters testamentary or of administration issued.

SECT. 3. To obtain such license, the executor or administrator shall present to the court a petition, setting forth the amount of debts due from the deceased as nearly as they can be ascertained, the amount of charges of administration, and the value of the personal estate in his hands. If it is necessary to sell only part of the real estate, he may also set forth the value, description, and condition, of the estate, or of such part thereof as he proposes to sell; and the court may direct what specific part shall be sold.

SECT. 4. If it is represented in the petition and appears to the court, that it is necessary to sell some part of the real estate, and that by such partial sale the residue of the estate or of some specific part or piece thereof would be greatly injured, the court may license a sale of the whole of the estate, or of such part thereof as it deems necessary and most for the interest of all concerned.

SECT. 5. The petition, when made to the supreme judicial court or superior court in any county, shall be accompanied by a certificate from the probate court of the county where the executor or administrator was appointed, setting forth the amount of debts due from the deceased so far as they are ascertained, and the value of his real and personal estate; and when the petitioner prays for the sale of more than is necessary for the payment of debts, the probate court shall further certify whether it is necessary that the whole or a part of the estate should be sold, and if part only, what part.

SECT. 6. When the executor or administrator is licensed to sell more than is necessary for the payment of debts, he shall before the sale give bond with sufficient surety or sureties to the judge of the probate court for the county in which he was appointed, conditioned to account for and dispose of according to law all proceeds of the sale remaining after payment of the debts and charges.

SECT. 7. If there is in the last will of the deceased any disposition of his estate for the payment of debts, or any provision which may require or induce the court to marshal the assets in any manner different from that which the law would otherwise prescribe, such devises or parts of the will shall be set forth in the petition, and a copy of the will shall be exhibited to the court; and the assets shall be marshalled accordingly, so far as can be done consistently with the rights of the creditors.

SECT. 8. License shall not be granted until notice of the petition and of the time and place appointed for hearing the same has been served personally on all persons interested in the estate, at least fourteen days before the time appointed for the hearing, or by publication three weeks successively in such newspaper as the court shall order, that they may appear and show cause why the same should not be granted; but if all persons interested signify in writing their assent to the sale, notice may be dispensed with.

SECT. 9. License shall not be granted if any of the persons interested in the estate give bond to the executor or administrator, in a sum and with sureties approved by the court, with condition to pay all debts mentioned in the petition that shall eventually be found due from the estate, with the charges of administering the same, so far as the goods, chattels, rights, and credits, of the deceased shall be insufficient therefor.

SECT. 10. If the facts set forth in the petition are proved, and no sufficient cause is shown to the contrary, the court shall grant the license; and the executor or administrator shall be thereupon authorized to execute conveyances which shall be effectual to pass to the purchaser all the estate, right, title, and interest, in the granted premises, which the deceased had therein at the time of his death, or which was then chargeable with the payment of his debts.

Upon obtaining license, executor or administrator may convey. R. S. 71, § 10. 5 Greenl. 220.

SECT. 11. The real estate so liable to be sold shall include all lands of the deceased, and all rights of entry and of action, and all other rights and interests in lands, which by law would descend to his heirs, or which would have been liable to attachment or execution by a creditor of the deceased in his lifetime. No claim to such lands by entry or action shall be made more than five years after the decease of the grantor.

What real estate may be sold. R. S. 71, § 11. 1841, 107, § 1. 1853, 433, § 1. 11 Mass. 370. 14 Mass. 137. 5 Cush. 324. See Ch. 104, § 1.

SECT. 12. An executor or administrator, licensed to sell lands fraudulently conveyed by the deceased, or fraudulently held by another person for him, or to which he had a right of entry or of action, or a right to a conveyance, may first obtain possession thereof by entry or by action, and may sell the same at any time within one year after so obtaining possession.

Lands fraudulently conveyed may be first recovered by executor, &c. R. S. 71, § 12. 1841, 107, § 1. 1853, 433, § 1. 8 Met. 51.

SECT. 13. He may make a formal entry upon the premises and bring the action on his own seisin acquired by such entry, demanding the land as executor or administrator.

Action therefor, how brought. R. S. 71, § 13.

SECT. 14. An executor or administrator licensed to sell real estate shall, before fixing on the time and place of sale, take and subscribe an oath in substance as follows: that in disposing of the estate which he is licensed to sell he will use his best judgment in fixing on the time and place of sale, and will exert his utmost endeavors to dispose of the same in such manner as will be most for the advantage of all persons interested therein.

Oath to be taken by executor, &c., before sale. R. S. 71, § 14. 4 Cush. 51.

SECT. 15. He shall give public notice of the time and place of such sale, by causing notifications thereof to be posted, thirty days at least before the sale, in some public place in the city or town where the deceased last dwelt, and in two adjoining cities or towns, if there are so many in the county, and also in the city or town where the lands lie; or by publishing the same three weeks successively in a newspaper; as the court granting the license may order.

Notice of sale, how given. R. S. 71, § 15.

SECT. 16. An affidavit of the executor or administrator, or person employed by him to give such notice, being made and filed and recorded with a copy of the notice in the probate office within one year after the sale, or at any time afterwards by permission of the court upon petition of the executor or administrator and satisfactory evidence furnished that the notice was given as ordered, shall be admitted as evidence of the time, place, and manner, of giving the notice. And it shall be the duty of the several registers to record such affidavits, filed as provided in this section.

Evidence thereof, how perpetuated. R. S. 71, § 16. 1853, 323.

SECT. 17. The sale shall be made by public auction; and if at the time appointed therefor the executor or administrator deems it for the interest of all persons concerned therein that the sale be postponed, he may adjourn it for any time not exceeding fourteen days.

Sale by public auction, &c. R. S. 71, § 17. 5 Greenl. 240. 4 Cush. 54.

SECT. 18. Notice of such adjournment shall be given by a public declaration at the time and place first appointed for the sale; and if the adjournment is for more than one day, further notice thereof shall be given by posting or publishing, as time and circumstances may admit.

Notice of adjournment, how given. R. S. 71, § 18.

SECT. 19. When a testator has given a legacy, which with his debts and the charges of administration, his goods, chattels, rights, and credits, are insufficient to pay, the executor, or administrator with the will

3 Mass. 514.

SECT. 20. An executor or administrator appointed in another state or in a foreign country on the estate of a person dying out of this state, upon whose estate there is no executor or administrator appointed in this state, may file an authenticated copy of his appointment in the probate court for any county in which there is real estate of the deceased; after which he may be licensed by the same probate court, or the supreme judicial court or superior court in any county, to sell real estate for the payment of debts, legacies, and charges of administration, in the same manner and upon the same terms and conditions as are prescribed in the case of an executor or administrator appointed in this state, except as hereinafter provided.

to give bond, unless already bound.
R. S. 71, § 22.

SECT. 21. When it appears to the court granting the license, that such foreign executor or administrator is bound with sufficient surety or sureties, in the state or country in which he was appointed, to account for the proceeds of such sale, and a copy of such bond duly authenticated is filed in the probate court where the copy of his appointment is filed, no further bond for that purpose shall be required of him here; otherwise, before making such sale he shall give bond, with sufficient surety or sureties to the judge of the probate court for the same county, with condition to account for and dispose of said proceeds in the payment of debts, legacies, and charges of administration, according to the law of the state or country in which he was appointed.

to give further bond to account for surplus, &c.
R. S. 71, § 23.

SECT. 22. When such foreign executor or administrator is licensed to sell more than is necessary for the payment of debts, legacies, and charges of administration, he shall before making the sale give bond with sufficient surety or sureties to the judge of the probate court conditioned to account before the same court for all proceeds of the sale remaining after payment of said debts, legacies, and charges, and to dispose of the same according to law.

Oath, notice of sale, and perpetuating evidence of notice.
R. S. 71, § 24.

SECT. 23. Every foreign executor or administrator licensed to sell real estate shall, before fixing on the time and place of sale, be sworn and give notice of the time and place of sale, and otherwise proceed as is prescribed for an administrator appointed here when making such sale; and the evidence of such notice may be perpetuated in the same manner.

BY GUARDIANS FOR THE PAYMENT OF DEBTS.

Real estate of ward may be sold by guardian, for payment of debts.
R. S. 71, § 25.
5 Pick. 182.

SECT. 24. When the goods, chattels, rights, and credits, in the hands of a guardian are insufficient to pay all the debts of the ward, with the charges of managing the estate, the guardian may be licensed to sell his real estate for that purpose, in like manner and upon like terms and conditions as are prescribed in this chapter in the case of a sale by executors or administrators, except as hereinafter provided.

Whole sold, when partial sale would injure residue.
R. S. 71, § 27.

SECT. 25. If it is represented in the petition and appears necessary to sell some part of the real estate of the ward, and that by such partial sale the residue of the estate, or of some specific piece or part thereof, would be greatly injured, the court may license a sale of the whole of the estate, or of such part thereof as it deems necessary and most for the interest of all concerned; the guardian giving bond to account for the surplus of the proceeds of the sale in like manner as is prescribed in this chapter in case of a like sale by an executor or administrator.

FOR MAINTENANCE AND INVESTMENT.

SECT. 26. When the income of the estate of a ward is insufficient to maintain him and his family, or when it appears that it would be for the benefit of a ward that his real estate or any part thereof be sold and the proceeds put out on interest or invested in some productive stock, his guardian may sell the same accordingly, upon obtaining a license therefor and proceeding therein as hereinafter provided.

Real estate of wards may be sold for maintenance, &c.
R. S. 72, § 1, 2.

SECT. 27. To obtain such license, the guardian shall present to the court a petition setting forth the condition of the estate and the facts and circumstances on which the petition is founded. If after a full examination, on the oath of the petitioner or otherwise, it appears either that it is necessary or that it would be for the benefit of the ward that the real estate or any part of it should be sold, the court may grant a license therefor, specifying therein whether the sale is to be made for the maintenance of the ward and his family, or that the proceeds may be put out or invested as aforesaid.

License to be granted on petition of guardian, and to specify purpose of sale.
R. S. 72, § 7.

SECT. 28. Guardians licensed to sell real estate for maintenance of a ward or investment, shall before the sale give bond, with sufficient surety or sureties to the judge of the probate court for the county in which they are appointed, with condition to sell the same in the manner prescribed for sales of real estate by executors and administrators, and to account for and dispose of the proceeds in the manner provided by law.

Guardian to give bond.
R. S. 72, § 10.
11 Met. 529.
11 Cush. 18.

SECT. 29. If the estate is sold for the maintenance of the ward and his family, the guardian shall apply the proceeds so far as necessary to that purpose, and shall put out the residue on interest, or invest it in the best manner in his power, until the capital is wanted for such maintenance; in which case the capital may be used for that purpose in like manner as if it had been personal estate.

When sold for maintenance, proceeds, how disposed of.
R. S. 72, § 5.

SECT. 30. If the estate is sold in order to put out and invest the proceeds, the guardian shall make the investment according to his best judgment, or in pursuance of any order that may be made relating thereto by the probate or supreme judicial court, as provided in chapter one hundred and nine.

How, when sold for investment.
R. S. 72, § 1.
See Ch. 109, § 22.

SECT. 31. The estate of a minor may be sold for the purpose of investing the proceeds as provided in this chapter, upon the petition and representation of any friend of the minor; and in such case the court may authorize the guardian or any other suitable person to convey the estate. When a sale for such purpose is ordered on the petition of the guardian of a minor, the court may authorize any suitable person other than the guardian to sell and convey the estate. The provisions of this chapter in relation to licenses and sales on the petitions of guardians, except as provided in the following section, shall apply to licenses and sales under this section.

Minor's real estate may be sold for investment on petition of, or by, any friend in certain cases.
1838, 190, § 1.

SECT. 32. Upon a sale by a person other than the guardian, the proceeds shall be forthwith paid to the guardian upon his giving bond, with sufficient sureties, to the judge of the probate court for the county where the real estate is situate, conditioned to account therefor. If there is no guardian, the proceeds shall be put out and invested by the person authorized to sell the estate, in like manner as is required of a guardian.

How proceeds of sale disposed of.
1838, 190, § 2.
1850, 43.

BY FOREIGN GUARDIANS.

SECT. 33. When a minor, insane person, or spendthrift, residing out of this state, is under guardianship in the state or country in which he resides, and has no guardian appointed in this state, the foreign guardian may file an authenticated copy of his appointment in the probate court for any county in which there is real estate of the ward; after which he may be licensed to sell the real estate of the ward in any county, in the same manner and upon the same terms and conditions as are prescribed in this chapter in the case of a guardian appointed in this state, except as hereinafter provided.

Guardian to give bond, unless already bound, upon license to sell for payment of debts.
R. S. 71, § 32.

SECT. 34. When it appears to the probate court that a foreign guardian, licensed to sell real estate for the payment of the debts of his ward, is bound with sufficient surety or sureties, in the state or country where he was appointed, to account for the proceeds of such sale, and an authenticated copy of such bond is filed in said court, no further bond shall be required; otherwise he shall give bond in like manner as is prescribed in this chapter in case of sales by foreign executors or administrators.

to give further bond when he sells more than necessary.
R. S. 71, § 33.

SECT. 35. When such foreign guardian is licensed to sell more than is necessary to pay debts and charges, he shall, before making the sale, give bond with sufficient surety or sureties to the judge of the probate court, conditioned to account before the same court for all proceeds of the sale remaining after payment of said debts and charges, and to dispose of the same according to law.

to give additional bond upon license to sell for maintenance, &c.
R. S. 72, § 17,
11 Met. 529,
11 Cush. 18.

SECT. 36. Every foreign guardian licensed to sell real estate for the maintenance of his ward or investment, shall before making the sale give bond with sufficient surety or sureties to the judge of the probate court, conditioned, in addition to the condition required in the bond of other guardians in such case, that he will account for and dispose of the proceeds or so much thereof as may remain upon the final settlement of his accounts, to such persons, and in such proportions, as the real estate would have descended or been disposed of according to the laws of this state if it had not been sold.

PROVISIONS COMMON TO SALES BY GUARDIANS.

What courts may license sales by guardians.
R. S. 71, § 30,
R. S. 72, § 6.

SECT. 37. The license to a guardian may be granted by the supreme judicial court, or the superior court in any county, or by the probate court for the county in which he is appointed. The application when not made to the probate court shall be accompanied by a certificate of that court as to the necessity or expediency of making the sale.

When overseers of poor to assent.
R. S. 71, § 28,
R. S. 72, § 9.

SECT. 38. No license shall be granted to a guardian except in case of minors, unless the overseers of the poor of the place where the ward is an inhabitant or resides certify in writing their approbation thereof.

Notice to persons interested.
R. S. 71, §§ 8, 29,
R. S. 72, § 8,
7 Met. 437,
8 Met. 31, 353,
2 Gray, 190.

SECT. 39. No license shall be granted to a guardian until after notice, by public advertisement or otherwise as the court shall order, to the next of kin of the ward and all persons interested in the estate, to appear and show cause why the same should not be granted; but such notice may be dispensed with if all persons interested signify in writing their assent to the sale.

Who entitled to notice.
R. S. 71, § 29.

SECT. 40. All who are next of kin, and heirs apparent or presumptive, of the ward, shall be considered as interested in the estate, and may appear as such, and answer to the petition of the guardian.

Oath by guardian, notice of sale, and perpetuating evidence.
R. S. 71, § 35,
R. S. 72, §§ 11,
12, 13.

SECT. 41. Guardians appointed in this state or elsewhere, when licensed to sell real estate, shall, before fixing on the time and place of sale, take and subscribe the oath, give notice of the time and place of sale, and otherwise proceed therein, as prescribed in like cases for executors and administrators; and the evidence of giving notice may be perpetuated in the same manner.

PROVISIONS COMMON TO SALES BY EXECUTORS, ADMINISTRATORS, AND GUARDIANS.

Proceedings by foreign executors, &c., where had.
R. S. 71, § 25,
R. S. 72, § 16.

SECT. 42. All proceedings in probate courts respecting sales by a foreign executor, administrator, or guardian, shall be had in the court for the county in which an authenticated copy of his appointment is first filed.

SECT. 43. No license shall be in force for more than one year after the granting thereof, except when a sale is made of land recovered by an executor or administrator as provided in sections twelve and thirteen.

License, how long in force.
R. S. 71, § 19.
R. S. 72, § 13.
2 Cush. 181.

SECT. 44. In all sales by executors, administrators, or guardians, appointed in this state or elsewhere, of part or the whole of the real estate of a deceased person or ward, the surplus of the proceeds remaining on the final settlement of the accounts shall be considered as real estate, and be disposed of to the same persons and in the same proportions as the real estate would descend or be disposed of by the laws of this state if not sold.

Surplus of sales considered real estate.
R. S. 71, § 34.
R. S. 72, §§ 5, 17.
3 Mass. 518.
9 Pick. 130.

SECT. 45. If a person appears and objects to the granting of a license to sell real estate, and it appears to the court that either the petition or the objection thereto is unreasonable, they may award costs to the prevailing party.

When costs may be awarded.
R. S. 71, § 35.
R. S. 72, § 18.

SECT. 46. No action for the recovery of any estate sold by an executor or administrator under this chapter shall be maintained by any heir or other person claiming under the deceased, unless it is commenced within five years next after the sale; and no action for any estate so sold by a guardian shall be maintained by the ward or by any person claiming under him, unless commenced within five years next after the termination of the guardianship; except that persons out of the state, and minors and others under legal disability to sue at the time when the right of action first accrues, may commence such action at any time within five years after the removal of the disability or their return to the state. No entry, unless by judgment of law, shall be made upon lands so sold, with a view to avoid the sale, unless within the times of limitation before prescribed for the commencement of an action.

Actions for lands sold by executor, administrator, or guardian, limited to five years, unless, &c.
R. S. 71, § 47.
R. S. 72, § 19.
9 Cush. 228.

SECT. 47. No action relating to an estate sold under this chapter, in which an heir or other person claiming under the deceased, or in which the ward or a person claiming under him, contests the validity of the sale, shall be avoided on account of the deed not having been executed and delivered within one year after the granting of the license, nor on account of any irregularity in the proceedings, provided it appears:—

First. That the executor, administrator, guardian, or other person, was licensed to make the sale by a court of competent jurisdiction:

Second. That he gave a bond which was approved by the judge of the probate court, in case a bond was required upon granting the license:

Third. That he took the oath prescribed in this chapter:

Fourth. That he gave notice of the time and place of sale as prescribed herein: and,

Fifth. That the premises were sold accordingly by public auction, and are held by one who purchased them in good faith.

SECT. 48. If the validity of a sale is drawn in question by a person claiming adversely to the title of the deceased or the ward, or claiming under a title that is not derived from or through the deceased or ward, the sale shall not be void on account of any irregularity in the proceedings, if it appears that the executor, administrator, or guardian, was licensed to make the sale by a court of competent jurisdiction, and that he accordingly executed and acknowledged in legal form a deed for the conveyance of the premises.

as against claimants adverse to heir or ward.
R. S. 71, § 40.
R. S. 72, § 22.

SECT. 49. Every person authorized to make sale of lands under this chapter shall be required upon application to the probate court by an heir, creditor, ward, or other person, interested in the estate, to make answer upon oath to all matters touching his exercise and fulfilment of said license, including all proceedings under it from its first grant, as fully as he is liable to account and be examined in reference to personal estate. If, in relation to the exercise of such license or a sale under it, there is

LEVY AND SET-OFF.

SECTION 1. All the lands of the debtor in possession, remainder, or reversion, all his rights of entry into lands and of redeeming mortgaged lands, and all lands and rights above described fraudulently conveyed by him with intent to defeat, delay, or defraud his creditors, or purchased, or directly or indirectly paid for by him, the record title to which is retained in the vendor, or is conveyed to a third person with intent to defeat, delay, or defraud the creditors of the debtor or on a trust for him, express or implied, whereby he is entitled to a present conveyance, may, except as provided in chapter one hundred and four, be taken on execution for his debts in the manner hereinafter provided.

Lands and rights thereto may be taken on execution. R. S. 73, § 1. 1843, 107, § 1.

SECT. 2. Estates tail which could be lawfully barred by the person entitled thereto, may be taken on execution in the same manner as estates in fee simple; and whoever lawfully holds such premises under the execution shall have an estate in fee simple therein.

SECT. 3. Upon the levy of an execution on the debtor's land, the officer shall cause the estate to be appraised by three disinterested and discreet men, of whom one shall be appointed by the creditor, one by the debtor whose land is taken, or, if the debtor is absent from or not resident in the state, by his agent or attorney if he has any known to the officer, and the third by the officer. If the debtor is absent from or not resident in this state, and has no agent or attorney known to the officer, or neglects to appoint an appraiser, the officer shall appoint one for him. The persons thus appointed shall be sworn before a justice of the peace or the officer, faithfully and impartially to appraise the real estate shown to them as taken on the execution.

SECT. 4. The appraisers shall proceed with the officer to view the land, and shall examine it so far as is necessary to form a just estimate of its value; and a certificate of their appraisement shall be indorsed on the execution and signed by them.

SECT. 5. The land levied upon, whether it is an entire piece or an undivided part thereof, and whether the debtor's estate therein is a fee simple or any less estate, and whether it is in possession, reversion, or remainder, shall be described by metes and bounds, or otherwise, with as much precision as is necessary in a common conveyance of land, and in such manner that the premises may be known and identified. Such description may be contained in the certificate of the appraisers or return of the officer, and in either of them may be referred to and adopted in the other.

SECT. 6. If the execution is levied at the same time upon several pieces of land, each piece may be separately appraised, or all may be appraised together. When several pieces are taken successively on the same execution, a distinct set of appraisers may be appointed for each piece, or all may be appraised by the appraisers first appointed.

SECT. 7. The dissent of one appraiser and his refusal to sign the certificate of appraisement, if he was sworn and acted with the others, shall not vitiate the levy of the execution; but in such case the certificate of the other two shall be sufficient.

SECT. 8. In estimating the value of the estate of the debtor, the appraisers shall value it as an estate in fee simple in possession, unless it is expressly stated in the description indorsed on the execution to be a less estate; and in every case all the freehold estate and interest which the debtor has in the premises, shall be taken and pass by the levy, unless it is a larger estate than is mentioned in said description.

SECT. 9. When land is held by a debtor in joint tenancy or in common, the part or share thereof belonging to the debtor may be taken on execution and shall be thereafter held in common with the co-tenant. If the whole share of the debtor is more than sufficient to satisfy the execution, the levy shall be made upon an undivided portion of that share, to be determined by the appraisers and to contain as much as they deem sufficient to satisfy the execution; the portion thus taken to be held in common with the debtor and the other co-tenant.

SECT. 10. When the premises levied upon consist of a mill, mill-privilege, or other real estate, which cannot be divided without damage

SECT. 11. When the execution is levied on an estate for life, the value thereof may be estimated by the appraisers, and the same may be taken and set off to the creditor at the appraised value, like other real estate; or the execution may be levied on the rents and profits of the premises, at the election of the creditor.

Proceedings, when levied on rents and profits of estates for life.
R. S. 73, § 12.

SECT. 12. In the latter case, the annual value of the rents and profits shall be estimated by the appraisers, and the premises shall be set off to the creditor for such length of time as is sufficient to satisfy the execution at the rate of rents and profits as estimated by the appraisers, if the life estate endures so long; computing interest on the sum due on the execution, and deducting the rents and profits as so much paid from time to time as the rents and profits fall due. If the life estate expires before the end of the term so fixed by the appraisers, the creditor may have a new action on the judgment to recover the sum then remaining due thereon.

Lessee to pay rent to creditor after notice.
R. S. 73, § 13.

SECT. 13. When the premises levied upon are under lease to a third person, and the reversion of the whole is taken on the execution, the lessee shall be bound to pay to the creditor the rent accruing from the time of the levy, except such part thereof as he has paid before notice of the levy.

When part is taken, rent apportioned.
R. S. 73, § 14.
17 Mass. 449.

SECT. 14. When the premises are under lease as aforesaid, and the reversion of a part of them only is taken, it shall be ascertained and determined by the appraisers what portion of the whole annual rent shall be paid to the creditor in consequence of the levy; and the lessee shall be bound to pay the same accordingly.

Seisin to be delivered to creditor, or right assigned to him.
R. S. 73, § 15.
14 Mass. 27.

SECT. 15. The officer who serves the execution shall deliver to the creditor, or his attorney, seisin and possession of the premises so taken, so far as the nature of the estate and the title of the debtor will admit; but when the estate so taken consists of a remainder, reversion, or right of redemption, the officer shall not oust the person who is lawfully in possession of the land, but shall only assign to the creditor the right which the debtor had therein, and may make his return accordingly.

Momentary seisin, when debtor has right of entry only.
R. S. 73, § 16.
3 Mass. 538.

SECT. 16. When the execution is levied on land of which any person other than the debtor is actually seised, the officer shall deliver to the creditor or his attorney a momentary seisin and possession of the land, so far as to enable the creditor to maintain an action therefor upon his own seisin; but he shall not actually expel and keep out the tenant then in possession, against his will.

Execution and return to be recorded in registry of deeds.

SECT. 17. The officer shall return the execution, with a certificate of his doings indorsed thereon, into the clerk's office, or court to which the same is returnable, or, if a justice's execution, to the justice who issued the same; and shall also, within three months after the levy is completed, cause the execution and return to be recorded in the registry of deeds for the county or district in which the land lies; the expense of which shall be added to the charge of levying the execution.

Record of justice's execution, &c., prima facie evidence of regularity.
1853, 269, § 2.

SECT. 18. Such record in the registry of deeds of an execution issued by a justice of the peace or police court, and of the levy thereon, shall be prima facie evidence of the regularity of the judgment and prior proceedings in the case in which the execution issued.

Levy not recorded, how effectual.

SECT. 19. If the levy of an execution is not recorded in the registry of deeds within three months as aforesaid, it shall be void as against a creditor who has attached the same premises, or taken them on execution, without notice of such levy, and also as against any person who has purchased them in good faith and for a valuable consideration, without such notice; but if the levy is recorded, although after the expiration of the three months, it shall be valid and effectual as against any conveyance, attachment, or levy made after such recording.

SECT. 20. The levy of the execution, although neither returned nor recorded as aforesaid, shall be so far valid and effectual as against the creditor, that he shall not be permitted to waive the levy and have a new execution of his judgment, except as is provided in the following section.

Levy not returned, &c., valid against creditor, except, &c.
R. S. 73, § 19.

SECT. 21. If, before the execution is returned and recorded, it appears that there is a defect or error in the proceedings that would defeat and render void the levy, or that the estate levied upon cannot for any reason be held thereby, the creditor may waive the levy, and it shall thereupon be null and void, and he may resort to any other remedy for the satisfaction of his judgment.

if void, creditor may waive it, if not returned and recorded.
R. S. 73, § 20.
10 Met. 82.

SECT. 22. If, after the execution is returned or recorded, it appears to the creditor that the estate levied on, or any part thereof, cannot be held thereby, the creditor may sue out of the clerk's office of the court from which the execution issued a writ of scire facias to the debtor, requiring him to appear and show cause why another execution should not be issued on the same judgment, and the writ may be sued out though there is a subsequent judgment for a part thereof not satisfied by the levy. If the debtor, after being duly summoned, does not show sufficient cause to the contrary, the levy of the former execution may be set aside and another execution issued for the amount then due on the original judgment, and not included in a subsequent judgment, without interest or further costs.

if not effectual, creditor may have alias execution scire facias.

SECT. 23. If it appears at the hearing, that a part only of the estate levied on is held thereby, and the creditor desires it, a warrant may be issued to the officer who made the levy, or to the sheriff or his deputy, requiring him to cause the part not held thereby to be appraised at a sum which, if added to the value at the time it was taken, according to the best judgment of the appraisers, of the part held by the levy separate from the part not held thereby, would make the amount of the former appraisement; and the officer shall cause appraisers to be appointed, and such appraisement made, as required on the levy of the former execution; and on return thereof, the levy may be set aside so far as relates to the part not held thereby, and if duly recorded, be valid as respects the remaining part; and another execution may be issued for the amount of the appraisement returned by the officer, without further interest or costs. If, in either case, it appears to the court that the creditor had no just cause for such suit, the debtor shall recover costs.

Proceedings, Costs.

SECT. 24. The officer, after taking the land on execution, shall give notice thereof to the debtor, if found within his precinct, allow him a reasonable time to appoint an appraiser, and then proceed without unnecessary delay to have the estate appraised and complete the levy thereon. The levy shall be considered as made at the time when the land is taken; and the subsequent proceedings and officer's return shall be valid, although made and done after the return day, or after the removal or other disability of the officer.

SECT. 25. The officer in the return or certificate of his doings indorsed on the execution, shall set forth substantially the following facts and circumstances, to wit:—

Officer's return, contents thereof.

First. The time when the premises were taken on execution:

Second. That the appraisers were appointed by himself and the creditor and debtor; or that the debtor was absent from or not resident in this state, and had no agent or attorney known to the officer, or neglected to appoint an appraiser, and the officer appointed one for him, as the case may be:

Third. That the appraisers were duly sworn, unless a certificate of the oath is indorsed on the execution and signed by the justice or officer who administered it:

Fourth. That they appraised and set off the premises at the price specified:

Fifth. That the officer delivered seisin thereof to the creditor or some person as his attorney, or assigned the same to him, as prescribed in case of a remainder or incorporeal estate:

Sixth. The description of the premises; unless they are sufficiently described in the certificate of the appraisers, in which case the officer may refer to and adopt that description: and Seventh. If the appraisement is signed by only two of the appraisers, the return shall show that all three of them were present and acted therein.

SECT. 26. When lands are taken and set off to a creditor on execution, the debtor may redeem the same at any time within one year after the levy, by paying or tendering to the creditor the sum for which the premises were set off, with interest thereon from the time of the levy, all sums paid for lawful taxes and assessments, such reasonable expenses as have been incurred in repairing and improving the premises, and all sums lawfully paid on account of any mortgage or other lien recoverable under section thirty-four; deducting from the amount of the debt, interest, and expenses, the rents and profits received by the creditor, or the rents and profits which he might have received, and with which he is justly chargeable. The creditor shall thereupon execute, acknowledge, and deliver, to the debtor, a good and sufficient deed of release of the estate taken on execution, which deed shall be prepared by the debtor, or at his expense.

SECT. 27. The debtor may in all cases, at his own expense, cause the amount due for redemption to be ascertained by three justices of the peace for the county where the land lies, in the manner following: one of the justices shall be chosen by the debtor, one by the creditor, and the third by the two first chosen; or if the creditor neglects to choose one, the justice chosen by the debtor shall appoint the other two. After a hearing and examination of the case before the three justices, they or any two of them shall make and sign a certificate of the sum which they adjudge to be due for the redemption of the premises, which certificate shall be final and conclusive between the parties. The debtor may then make a tender of the sum so adjudged to be due, which shall be valid and effectual notwithstanding he has made a previous tender of a different sum.

SECT. 28. If the debtor tenders the sum justly due for redemption, whether there has been such an adjudication by three justices or not, and the creditor does not within seven days after the tender release the premises as before provided, the debtor may recover them with costs of suit, in a writ of entry on his own seisin against the creditor as a disseisor; in which case he shall before the judgment is entered bring into court for the use of the creditor the sum so tendered.

SECT. 29. The debtor within one year after the levy of the execution, whether he has made a previous tender or not, may, instead of a writ of entry, bring a suit in equity for redemption in the county where the land lies, either in the supreme judicial court, or superior court; and it shall be conducted as provided in the two following sections.

SECT. 30. He shall in his bill or writ offer to pay such sum as shall be found due for redemption of the premises, and may set forth any tender he has made. The court shall ascertain and determine the amount due, unless the same has been already ascertained by three justices of the peace as before provided, and shall require the debtor, within such time as they may order, to bring into court, or deposit with the clerk for the use of the creditor, the amount due for redemption. Upon the debtor's complying with the order, he shall be entitled to judgment and execution for seisin of the premises, as at common law.

SECT. 31. The court may upon such suit award costs to either party as equity requires. But the creditor shall not be required to pay costs, unless it appears that he has unreasonably neglected to render, when requested, a just and true account of the amount due on the judgment, and of the money expended in repairing and improving the premises, and also of the rents and profits thereof; or unless it appears that a sufficient sum was tendered to him for the redemption of the premises, and he neglected for seven days thereafter to execute and deliver a release thereof as before required. And if the creditor has, before the commencement of the suit, tendered such a deed of release, and alleges such tender and brings the deed into court to be delivered to the debtor, he shall recover costs.

SECT. 32. When an execution is levied on the rents and profits of an estate for life, the debtor may redeem the same at any time before the debt with interest thereon is fully satisfied, by paying or tendering to the creditor the sum then remaining due to him; and the proceedings with regard to such redemption shall be in all other respects the same as are prescribed for the redemption of other real estate.

SET-OFF, &C., OF MORTGAGED LANDS.

SECT. 33. When any rights mentioned in section one of redeeming mortgaged lands, are taken and set off on execution, the appraisers shall deduct the value of the encumbrance, or the amount of the mortgage debt, when known, from the estimated value of the premises, and the sum so deducted shall be stated in the return of the execution.

SECT. 34. If, after an execution is levied in the common form, there proves to be a mortgage or any other lien on the premises, or a right or estate of homestead therein, not known, or allowed for, or not fully allowed for, by the appraisers, the creditor shall nevertheless be entitled to hold the premises, except the right or estate of homestead, by force of the execution as against the debtor, and may recover, in a new action against the debtor, the amount of the homestead right or estate and the amount which he shall lawfully pay on account of such mortgage or other lien or so much thereof as has not been deducted and allowed for in the estimate of the appraisers.

SECT. 35. An estate taken and set off as mentioned in the two preceding sections, may be redeemed at any time within one year after the levy of the execution, in the same manner, and the debtor shall have the same remedies in that behalf, as provided in this chapter for the redemption of lands not mortgaged.

SECT. 36. If the creditor pays the debt due on the mortgage, the judgment debtor may redeem the mortgage from the creditor, at the time and upon the terms prescribed for redeeming the same from the mortgagee if no execution had been levied thereon.

SECT. 37. If the debtor does not redeem the mortgage from the creditor as provided in the preceding section, the creditor shall hold the premises as an assignee of the mortgage and free from any right of redemption, notwithstanding the debtor has redeemed or offered to redeem the right that was taken under the execution.

SECT. 38. If the debtor does not within one year after the levy redeem the right that was taken on the execution, the creditor shall hold the premises against the debtor, notwithstanding the debtor may have redeemed or offered to redeem the mortgage.

SECT. 39. All rights of redeeming mortgaged lands mentioned in section one, may, if the creditor prefers it, be sold on the execution in the manner hereinafter prescribed, instead of being appraised and set off to the creditor; and the surplus of the proceeds of the sale, after satisfying the execution with the costs and charges, shall be applied and disposed of in like manner as is provided in the case of sale of goods on execution by chapter one hundred and thirty-three.

SECT. 40. When the creditor elects to have the right of redemption sold, the officer authorized to serve the execution shall sell it by public auction to the highest bidder, and shall execute, acknowledge, and deliver, to the purchaser, a sufficient deed thereof; which, being recorded in the registry of deeds for the county or district where the land lies, within three months after the sale, shall give to the purchaser all the debtor's right of redemption.

SECT. 41. The officer shall give notice in writing of the time and place of sale to the debtor, if found within his precinct, and shall also cause notifications thereof to be posted up in some public place in the city or town where the land lies, and also in two adjoining cities or towns, if there be so many in the county; all which notices shall be given thirty days at least before the sale. The officer shall also cause an advertisement of the time and place of sale to be published three weeks successively before the sale, in some public newspaper printed in the county where the land lies, if any such paper is there printed.

Officers may adjourn sale.

R. S. 73, § 40.
4 Pick. 351.

SECT. 42. If at the time appointed for the sale the officer deems it expedient and for the interest of all persons concerned therein to postpone the sale, either for want of purchasers or for other sufficient cause, he may adjourn it for any time not exceeding seven days, and so from time to time for like good cause, until the sale is completed, giving notice of every such adjournment by a public proclamation thereof at the time and place previously appointed for the sale.

Levy when to take effect, return may be completed afterwards.

R. S. 73, § 41.
2 Cush. 141.

SECT. 43. The levy shall be considered as made at the time of first giving the notice, whether given to the debtor, or by posting up a notification thereof in any city or town, or by publishing the same as before prescribed; and shall hold the estate by force of the attachment made thereon, although the levy is not completed within thirty days after the judgment; and the subsequent proceedings and officer's return thereof shall be valid, although made and done after the return day, or after the removal or other disability of the officer.

Mortgaged estates sold on execution may be redeemed within one year.

R. S. 73, § 42.
1 Pick. 185.
2 Cush. 141.

SECT. 44. Rights of redemption taken and sold as before provided, may be redeemed by the judgment debtor from the purchaser or the person holding under him at any time within one year after such sale, by paying or tendering to the purchaser, or the person holding under him, the sum for which the premises were sold, with the same allowance for interest, repairs, improvements, and taxes, and the same deduction for rents and profits, as are provided in case of the redemption of land set off on execution; and the purchaser or person holding under him shall thereupon execute, acknowledge, and deliver, to the debtor, a sufficient deed of release of the right of redemption so taken and sold; such deed to be prepared by the debtor, or at his expense.

Mortgage, if paid by purchaser, how redeemed by debtor.

R. S. 73, § 43.

SECT. 45. If the purchaser pays the debt due on the mortgage, the judgment debtor may redeem the mortgage, and also the estate or right of redemption sold under the execution, in the same manner and upon the same terms as are before prescribed for redemption from the judgment creditor when the right is set off to him and the mortgage debt paid by him, and not otherwise.

Estate, if not released, may be recovered.

SECT. 46. If the purchaser, or the person holding under him, does not within seven days after a tender by the debtor release the right of redemption as before provided, or if there has been no tender, the debtor may have like remedies for recovering the right of redemption as are before provided in like cases for the redemption of land that is not under mortgage.

R. S. 73, § H.
19 Pick. 467.
2 Cush. 141.

SECT. 47. When the right of redemption is of lands in different counties, the same may be taken and set off or sold on execution by an officer of either county; and for that purpose executions issued by justices of the peace and police courts may run into any county.

Right of redemption of land in different counties.
See Ch. 133, § 21.

SPECIAL PROVISIONS.

SECT. 48. When the execution is levied on lands or rights, the record title to which fraudulently stands in the name of a person other than the debtor, in either manner mentioned in section one, and such other person is in possession claiming title thereto, the levy shall be void unless the judgment creditor to whom the land is set off or the purchaser of the right of redemption, as the case may be, commences his suit to recover possession thereof, within one year after the return of the execution.

If levy is on land the record title to which is in name of other than debtor, Acc. action for possession to be brought, Ac. 1841, c. 67, § 4.
1553, 1554.

SECT. 49. The lawful fees and charges of levying an execution in any of the modes before provided, shall in all cases be added to the amount due on the execution and considered as part thereof, in the setting off and sale of estates on execution, and also in the redemption thereof, and in every thing relating to the proceedings under the execution.

Fees and charges of levy to be added to debt.
R. S. 73, § 45.

SECT. 50. Every thing required in this chapter to be done by a debtor in relation to the redemption of an estate taken and set off or sold on execution, may be done by his heirs or assigns, or his executors or administrators, or by any person lawfully claiming under him or them, in like manner and with like effect as if done by himself; except that in case of a recovery of the premises by an executor or administrator, the recovery shall operate only as a discharge of the lien or encumbrance on the land, and the heir or other person entitled thereto shall be deemed to be seised thereof accordingly.

Proceedings by heirs, executors, administrators, Ac., of debtor.
R. S. 73, § 46.
19 Pick. 467.

SECT. 51. Every thing required in this chapter to be done by or to a creditor in relation to such redemption, shall and may be done by or to his heirs or assigns, or his executors or administrators, as the case may be, or by or to any person lawfully claiming under him or them, in like manner and with like effect as if done by or to such creditor.

By heirs, Ac., of creditor.
R. S. 73, § 47.

SECT. 52. All rights of redeeming land taken and set off on execution may be taken and sold on another execution, in like manner as the right of redeeming mortgaged land may be taken and sold; and the debtor and those claiming under him may redeem the right sold under such second execution, in like manner as if it had been a right of redeeming mortgaged land. All proceedings in levying such second execution, and the redemption of the right sold under it, and all the rights and obligations of the several parties in relation to such levy and redemption, shall be substantially the same as if the property so taken had been a right of redeeming mortgaged land.

Right of redeeming land, set off on execution, may be taken and sold on another execution.
Proceedings.
R. S. 73, § 48.
12 Mass. 387.
1 Pick. 493.

SECT. 53. The real estate of a deceased testator or intestate may be taken on execution on a judgment recovered against his executor or administrator for the proper debt of the deceased, with costs of suit and the fees and charges of levying the execution, and shall be appraised and set off, or sold, in like manner as it might have been if the judgment had been rendered and the execution issued and served against the testator or intestate in his lifetime.

Land of deceased persons may be taken on execution.
R. S. 73, § 49.

SECT. 54. An estate taken as provided in the preceding section may be redeemed by the executor or administrator, or by the heir of the deceased, or by any person lawfully claiming under him or them, in like may be redeemed as if taken during life.

R. S. 73, § 50.

manner as if the estate had been taken on an execution against the deceased in his lifetime.

After redemption, not to be taken for other debts of deceased.
R. S. 73, § 51.
3 Mass. 512.

SECT. 55. If any real estate of a deceased person taken on execution as provided in section fifty-three, is redeemed by his heir or devisee, or by the assigns of either of them, as provided in the preceding section, the same estate shall not be again taken on execution for any other debts of the deceased, nor be in any way liable therefor.

Land may be taken on execution in favor of executor, &c.
R. S. 73, § 42.

SECT. 56. When an executor or administrator recovers judgment in right of his testator or intestate, the execution may be levied on the land of the debtor; and in such case the executor or administrator shall be seised of the estate set off to him, upon the trusts in that behalf expressed in chapter ninety-six.

Dower in lands taken on execution.
R. S. 73, § 53.

SECT. 57. Every widow shall be entitled to her dower in lands taken by execution from her husband, or by execution upon a judgment against his executor or administrator, in like manner as if the same had been conveyed by the husband in his lifetime without release of dower by her.

Executions in favor of State, how served.
R. S. 73, § 55.

SECT. 58. When land is taken to satisfy an execution in favor of the commonwealth, it shall not be appraised and set off, but shall be sold by public auction in like manner as the right to redeem mortgaged lands is sold; and the officer who serves the execution shall proceed in all respects in the manner prescribed for the sale of such right of redemption.

Redemption of lands so taken.
R. S. 73, § 56.

SECT. 59. All lands sold by force of the preceding section may be redeemed within one year, in like manner and upon the same terms as are prescribed in the case of a sale on execution of the right of redeeming mortgaged lands.

CHAPTER 104.

OF HOMESTEADS.

SECTION

1. Estates of homesteads, to value of $800, exempt from levy on execution, sale, &c.
2. how acquired.
3. Rights of homestead under former laws saved.
4. Mortgaged property subject to rights of homestead, except, &c.
5. Homestead property not exempt from levy for taxes, ground rent, &c.
6. Previous liens, &c., not defeated.
7. Homestead and rights may be conveyed and released.
8. Same subject.

SECTION

9. Partition of property subject to homestead.
10. Homestead estate may be set off in case of insolvency of owner.
11. Mode of levying execution upon property above value of $800 in which homestead exists.
12. Homestead to continue after death of householder, for benefit of widow and minor children.
13. may be set off in same manner as dower.
14. Rights of widow and children may be sold.
15. Confirmation of conveyances under repealed laws.

Estates of homestead to value of $800 exempt from levy on execution, sale, &c.
1857, 298, § 1.

SECTION 1. Every householder having a family shall be entitled to an estate of homestead, to the extent in value of eight hundred dollars, in the farm or lot of land and buildings thereon owned, or rightly possessed by lease or otherwise, and occupied by him as a residence, and such homestead and all right and title therein shall be exempt from attachment, levy on execution, sale for the payment of his debts or other purposes, and from the laws of conveyance, descent, and devise, except as hereinafter provided.

SECT. 2. To constitute such estate of homestead and to entitle property to such exemption, it shall be set forth in the deed of conveyance by which the property is acquired, that it is designed to be held as a homestead; or after the title has been acquired such design shall be declared by writing duly signed, sealed, acknowledged, and recorded, in the registry of deeds for the county or district where the property is situated. But the acquisition of a new estate of homestead in either of said modes, shall operate to defeat and discharge any estate or right of homestead previously existing.

SECT. 3. All existing estates or rights of homestead which have been acquired under any law heretofore in force, shall continue to be held and enjoyed notwithstanding the repeal of such law; and the preceding section shall not require the design so to hold the same to be declared and recorded anew. But no person shall hold exempted as a homestead, property to the value of more than eight hundred dollars.

Rights of homestead under former laws saved. 1851, 340. 1855, 238. 1857, 298, §§ 1, 48. 13 Gray, 21.

SECT. 4. Property which is subject to a mortgage executed before an estate or right of homestead was acquired therein, or executed afterwards and containing a release thereof, shall be subject to any estate or right of homestead provided for in this chapter, except against the mortgagee and those claiming under him, in the same manner as if the property were unencumbered: provided, that when in such case a party becoming the owner of the residue above an estate of homestead and a mortgagee, redeems the mortgage, he shall not be allowed to set up the same against the owner of the estate of homestead, his widow, heirs, or assigns, unless such owner of the estate of homestead, his widow, heirs, or assigns, offer to redeem such residue in case of set-off or sale on execution.

Mortgaged property subject to rights of homestead, except, &c.

SECT. 5. No property shall by virtue of this chapter be exempt from levy for taxes, or for a debt contracted for the purchase thereof, or for a debt contracted before the deed or writing required by section two is recorded, or before the rights of homestead mentioned in section three were acquired; nor shall buildings on land not owned by the householder be exempt from sale or levy for the ground rent of the lot of land whereon they stand.

Homestead property not exempt from levy for taxes, ground rent, &c. 1857, 298, § 4.

SECT. 6. Such estates and rights of homestead shall not defeat or otherwise affect any mortgage, or other encumbrance, or lien, previously existing by virtue of any deed, attachment, policy of insurance, or otherwise.

Previous liens, &c., not defeated. 1857, 298, § 5.

SECT. 7. The property in which an estate or right of homestead exists may be conveyed or released by a deed duly acknowledged and recorded, in which the wife of the householder, or her guardian under a license from the probate court if she is insane, joins for the purpose of releasing the right of homestead, in the same manner as she may join in releasing dower.

Homestead and rights may be conveyed and released. 1857, 298, §§ 1, 7, 10. See Ch. 90, § 8; Ch. 108, § 19, 20.

SECT. 8. No conveyance of property in which an estate or right of homestead exists, and no release or waiver thereof, shall operate to convey that part so held and exempted, or to defeat the right of the owner or his wife and children to have a homestead therein, except by deed acknowledged and recorded, in which the wife of the owner, if he has any, joins for the purpose of releasing the same in the manner in which she may release her dower, or unless the same is released as provided in chapter one hundred and eight. But any deed duly executed without such release, shall be valid to pass according to the terms of the instrument any title or interest in the property beyond the estate or right of homestead and the wife's right of dower.

Same subject. 1857, 298, §§ 1, 3, 6, 7, 10, 12. 2 Gray, 383. See Ch. 90, § 8.

SECT. 9. When an estate or right of homestead exists in property in which other parties have an interest, the party entitled to the homestead, or any other party interested, may upon petition have partition thereof like tenants in common.

Partition of property subject to homestead. 1857, 298, § 14.

SECT. 10. When the property of a debtor is assigned under the laws in relation to insolvent debtors, and such debtor claims, and it appears to the court wherein the proceedings in insolvency are pending, that he is entitled to hold any part thereof as a homestead, and that the property in which such estate of homestead exists is of greater value than eight hundred dollars, the court shall cause the property to be appraised by three impartial and discreet men, one of whom shall be appointed by the insolvent, one by the assignee, and the third by the court; or in case either the assignee or insolvent neglects to appoint, the court shall appoint for him. The persons appointed shall be duly sworn faithfully and impartially to appraise the property, and shall proceed to appraise and set off an estate of homestead in the same to the insolvent debtor, in the manner prescribed in the following section in case of a judgment debtor; and the residue shall vest in and be disposed of by the assignee in the same manner as property not exempt by law from levy on execution. The appraisers shall be entitled to the same fees, to be paid out of the estate in insolvency, as are allowed to appraisers of real estate seized upon execution.

1857, 298, § 16.

1858, 62.

SECT. 11. If a judgment creditor requires an execution to be levied on property claimed by the debtor to be exempt from levy as a homestead, and the officer holding such execution is of opinion that the premises are of greater value than eight hundred dollars, appraisers shall be appointed to appraise the property in the manner provided by law for the levy of executions on real estate. If in their judgment the premises are of greater value than eight hundred dollars, they shall set off to the judgment debtor so much of the premises, including the dwelling-house in whole or in part, as shall appear to them to be of the value of eight hundred dollars; and the residue of the property shall be levied upon and disposed of in like manner as real estate not exempt from levy on execution; provided, that if the property is subject to a mortgage, it may be set off or sold subject to the mortgage and the estate of homestead, in like manner as land subject to mortgage.

Homestead to continue after death of householder, for benefit of widow and minor children.

SECT. 12. The estate or right of homestead of any householder, existing at his death, shall continue for the benefit of his widow and minor children, and be held and enjoyed by them, if some one of them occupies the premises, until the youngest child is twenty-one years of age, and until the marriage or death of the widow, and shall upon the death of such householder be limited to that period. But all the right, title, and interest of the deceased in the premises in which such estate or right exists, except the estate of homestead thus continued, shall be subject to the laws relating to devise, descent, dower, and sale for payment of debts against the estate of the deceased.

1857, 298, § 14.

SECT. 13. When a widow or minor children are entitled to an estate or right of homestead as provided in the preceding section, the same may be set off to the parties entitled thereto in the same manner as dower may be set off to a widow.

Rights of widow and children may be sold.

SECT. 14. The widow, and the guardian of the minor children, when he has obtained a license therefor from the probate court as in the case of sales of real estate of minors, may join in a sale of such estate of homestead; or, if there is no widow entitled to such rights therein, the guardian upon such license may make sale thereof; and the widow may make such sale if there are no minor children. The purchaser shall have the right to enjoy and possess the premises for the full time that the widow and children or either of them might have continued to hold and enjoy the same if no sale had been made. The probate court may apportion the proceeds of the sale among the parties entitled thereto.

Confirmation of conveyances under repealed laws.
1857, 298, §§ 7, 13.

SECT. 15. The conveyances and titles confirmed and established by the seventh and thirteenth sections of chapter two hundred and ninety-eight of the acts of eighteen hundred and fifty-seven, shall not be impaired or affected by the repeal of that act.

CHAPTER 105.

OF THE PREVENTION OF FRAUDS AND PERJURIES.

SECTION

1. No action to be brought on certain contracts, unless in writing.
2. Consideration need not be in writing.
3. New promise by debtor discharged in insolvency, &c., not binding unless in writing, &c.

SECTION

4. No action on representation of another's credit, &c., unless in writing.
5. on contract for goods of value of $50, unless, &c.
6. Contracts for sale of certain stocks void, unless vendor is owner, &c., at time of contracting.

SECTION 1. No action shall be brought in any of the following cases, that is to say:—

First. To charge an executor, administrator, or assignee under any insolvent law of this commonwealth, upon a special promise to answer damages out of his own estate:

Second. To charge a person upon a special promise to answer for the debt, default, or misdoings of another:

Third. Upon an agreement made upon consideration of marriage:

Fourth. Upon a contract for the sale of lands, tenements, or hereditaments, or of any interest in or concerning them: or Fifth. Upon an agreement that is not to be performed within one year from the making thereof:

Unless the promise, contract, or agreement, upon which such action is brought, or some memorandum or note thereof, is in writing and signed by the party to be charged therewith, or by some person thereunto by him lawfully authorized.

SECT. 2. The consideration of such promise, contract, or agreement, need not be set forth or expressed in the writing signed by the party to be charged therewith, but may be proved by any other legal evidence.

SECT. 3. No promise for the payment of any debt made by an insolvent debtor who has obtained his discharge from said debt under proceedings in bankruptcy or insolvency, shall be evidence of a new or continuing contract, whereby to deprive a party of the benefit of relying upon such discharge in bar of the recovery of a judgment upon such debt, unless such promise is made by or contained in some writing signed by the party sought to be charged, or by some person thereunto by him lawfully authorized: but this section shall not apply to such promise made prior to the fifteenth day of March in the year eighteen hundred and fifty-six.

SECT. 4. No action shall be brought to charge a person upon or by reason of any representation or assurance made concerning the character, conduct, credit, ability, trade, or dealings, of any other person, unless such representation or assurance is made in writing and signed by the party to be charged thereby, or by some person thereunto by him lawfully authorized.

SECT. 5. No contract for the sale of goods, wares, or merchandise, for the price of fifty dollars or more, shall be good or valid, unless the purchaser accepts and receives part of the goods so sold, or gives something in earnest to bind the bargain, or in part payment; or unless some

SECTION 1. No man shall marry his mother, grandmother, daughter, granddaughter, step-mother, sister, grandfather's wife, son's wife, grand-relations prohibited. R. S. 75, § 1. See Ch. 165, § 7.

SECT. 2. No woman shall marry her father, grandfather, son, grandson, step-father, brother, grandmother's husband, daughter's husband, granddaughter's husband, husband's father, husband's grandfather, husband's son, husband's grandson, brother's son, sister's son, father's brother, or mother's brother.

Same subject. R. S. 75, § 2. See Ch. 165, § 7.

SECT. 3. In all cases mentioned in the two preceding sections in which the relationship is founded on marriage, the prohibition shall continue notwithstanding the dissolution of such marriage by death or divorce, unless the divorce is for a cause which shows the marriage to have been originally unlawful or void.

Same subject. R. S. 75, § 3.

SECT. 4. All marriages contracted while either of the parties has a former wife or husband living, except as is provided in chapter one hundred and seven, shall be void.

Polygamy forbidden. R. S. 75, § 4. 1841, 83. 1853, 436, § 1.

1 Pick. 136. 8 Pick. 433. 4 Cush. 51. 8 Cush. 380.

SECT. 5. No insane person or idiot shall be capable of contracting marriage.

Marriages of idiots, &c., void.

SECT. 6. When persons resident in this state, in order to evade the preceding provisions and with an intention of returning to reside in this state, go into another state or country and there have their marriage solemnized, and afterwards return and reside here, the marriage shall be deemed void in this state.

of persons marrying out of state to evade, &c. R. S. 75, § 6. 16 Mass. 157. 1 Pick. 596.

SECT. 7. Persons intending to be joined in marriage shall before their marriage cause notice thereof to be entered in the office of the clerk or registrar of the city or town in which they respectively dwell, if within the state. If there is no such clerk or registrar in the place of their residence, the entry shall be made in an adjoining city or town.

Intention of marriage to be entered with town clerk, &c. 1849, 202, §§ 1, 2. 1850, 121, § 1.

SECT. 8. The clerk or registrar shall deliver to the parties a certificate under his hand, specifying the time when notice of the intention of marriage was entered with him, together with all facts in relation to the marriage required by law to be ascertained and recorded, except those respecting the person by whom the marriage is to be solemnized. Such certificate shall be delivered to the minister or magistrate in whose presence the marriage is to be contracted, before he proceeds to solemnize the same.

Certificate to be given to parties by clerk, &c. 1844, 150, § 1. 1849, 202, § 1. 1850, 121, § 2. See Ch. 21.

SECT. 9. If a clerk or registrar issues such certificate to a male under the age of twenty-one years, or a female under the age of eighteen years, having reasonable cause to suppose the person to be under such age, except upon the application or consent in writing of the parent, master, or guardian, of such person, he shall forfeit a sum not exceeding one hundred dollars; but if there is no parent, master, or guardian, in this state competent to act, a certificate may be issued without such application or consent.

not to issue to certain minors except on application of parent, &c. 1853, 335, § 1.

SECT. 10. The clerk or registrar may require of any person applying for such certificate, an affidavit sworn to before a justice of the peace for the county where the application is made, setting forth the age of the parties; which affidavit shall be sufficient proof of age to authorize the issuing of the certificate.

Clerk may require affidavit of age. 1853, 335, § 2.

SECT. 11. Whoever applying for such certificate wilfully makes a false statement in relation to the age or residence, parent, master, or guardian, of either of the parties intending marriage, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding two hundred dollars.

Penalty for wilful deception. 1857, 34.

SECT. 12. When a marriage is solemnized in another state between parties living in this state, and they return to dwell here, they shall within seven days after their return file with the clerk or registrar of the city or town where either of them lived at the time, a certificate or declaration of their marriage, including the facts concerning marriages required by law, and for every neglect they shall forfeit ten dollars.

SECT. 13. No magistrate or minister shall solemnize a marriage, having reasonable cause to suppose either of the parties to be under the age mentioned in section nine, without the consent of the parent or guardian having the custody of the minor, if there is any in the state competent to act.

SECT. 14. Marriages may be solemnized by a justice of the peace in the county for which he is appointed, when either of the parties resides in the same county; and throughout the state by any minister of the gospel ordained according to the usage of his denomination, who resides within the state and continues to perform the functions of his office; but all marriages shall be solemnized in the city or town in which the person solemnizing them resides, or in which one or both of the persons to be married reside.

SECT. 15. Marriages among the people called Friends or Quakers may be solemnized in the manner heretofore used and practised in their societies.

SECT. 16. Every justice of the peace, minister, and clerk, or keeper of the records of the meeting wherein any marriages among the Friends or Quakers are solemnized, shall make a record of each marriage solemnized before him, together with all facts relating to the marriage required by law to be recorded. He shall also between the first and tenth days of each month return a copy of the record for the month next preceding, to the clerk or registrar of the city or town in which the marriage was solemnized, and shall, when neither of the parties to a marriage resides in the city or town in which the marriage is solemnized, return a copy of the record of such marriage to the clerk or registrar of the city or town in which one or both of said parties reside. All marriages so returned shall be recorded by the clerk or registrar.

SECT. 17. Every person neglecting to make the returns required by the preceding section shall forfeit for each neglect not less than twenty nor more than one hundred dollars.

SECT. 18. A justice of the peace or minister who joins persons in marriage contrary to the provisions of this chapter, knowing that the marriage is not duly authorized, shall forfeit not less than fifty nor more than one hundred dollars.

SECT. 19. Whoever undertakes to join persons in marriage knowing that he is not authorized so to do, shall be imprisoned in the jail or confined to hard labor for a term not exceeding six months, or pay a fine of not less than fifty nor more than two hundred dollars.

SECT. 20. No marriage solemnized before a person professing to be a justice of the peace or minister of the gospel, shall be deemed or adjudged to be void, nor shall the validity thereof be in any way affected, by want of jurisdiction or authority in such person, or by an omission or informality in the manner of entering the intention of marriage, if the marriage is in other respects lawful, and is consummated with a full belief on the part of the persons so married, or either of them, that they have been lawfully joined in marriage.

SECT. 21. The record of a marriage, made and kept as prescribed by law by the person before whom the marriage is solemnized, or by the clerk or registrar of any city or town, or a copy of such record duly certified, shall be received in all courts and places as presumptive evidence of such marriage.

SECT. 22. When the fact of marriage is required or offered to be proved before any court, evidence of the admission of such fact by the party against whom the process is instituted, or of general repute, or of cohabitation as married persons, or any other circumstantial or presumptive evidence from which the fact may be inferred, shall be competent.

When a marriage is supposed to be void, or the validity thereof is doubted, for fraud or other cause, either party may file a libel for annulling the same, in the manner hereinafter prescribed in the case of a libel for divorce. Upon proof of the fraud or other cause of nullity, the marriage shall be declared void by a sentence of divorce or nullity, notwithstanding such marriage was solemnized out of this state, if the libellant had his domicile here when the marriage was so solemnized and when the libel was filed.

SECT. 5. When the validity of a marriage is denied or doubted by either [party,] the other party may file a libel in manner aforesaid for affirming the marriage, and upon due proof of its validity, it shall be affirmed and declared valid by a decree of the court; and such decree shall be conclusive upon all persons concerned.

SECT. 6. A divorce from the bond of matrimony may be decreed for adultery or impotency of either party; or when either party has separated from the other without his or her consent and united with a religious sect or society that professes to believe the relation of husband and wife void or unlawful, and has continued united with such sect or society for three years, refusing during that term to cohabit with the party who has not united with such sect or society; or when either party is sentenced to confinement to hard labor in the state prison, or in any jail or house of correction, for the term of life, or for five years or more; and no pardon granted after a divorce for that cause to the party so sentenced shall restore such party to his or her conjugal rights.

SECT. 7. A divorce from the bond of matrimony may be decreed in favor of either party when one party has deserted the other for five years consecutively: provided, that when the libel is filed by the party deserting, it appears that the desertion was caused by extreme cruelty of the other party, or that the desertion by the wife was caused by the gross or wanton and cruel neglect of the husband to provide suitable maintenance for her, he being of sufficient ability so to do.

SECT. 8. No libel brought under the preceding section shall be defeated by a temporary return or other act done by the party deserting, with the intent to defeat the operation of said section, if it appears that such return or other act was not made or done in good faith.

SECT. 9. A divorce from bed and board may be decreed for extreme cruelty, utter desertion, gross and confirmed habits of intoxication contracted after marriage, or cruel and abusive treatment by either of the parties; and on the libel of the wife, when the husband, being of sufficient ability, grossly or wantonly and cruelly refuses or neglects to provide suitable maintenance for her.

SECT. 10. When a divorce from bed and board has been decreed for any cause mentioned in the preceding section, and the parties have lived separately for five consecutive years next after the decree, a divorce from the bonds of matrimony may be decreed upon the petition of the party in whose favor the decree was granted; or after the parties have lived separately for ten consecutive years, a divorce from the bond of matrimony may be decreed in favor of either party.

SECT. 11. When the libellant has resided in this state five consecutive years next preceding the time of filing the libel, a divorce may be decreed for any cause allowed by law, whether it occurred in this commonwealth or elsewhere; unless it appears that the libellant has removed into this state for the purpose of procuring a divorce.

SECT. 12. Except as aforesaid, no divorce shall be decreed for any cause, if the parties have never lived together as husband and wife in this state; nor for any cause occurring in any other state or country, unless before such cause occurred the parties had lived together as husband and wife in this state, and one of them lived in this state when the cause occurred. R. S. 76, §§ 9, 10, 11, 5 Met. 233.

SECT. 13. Libels for divorce shall be heard and determined in the supreme judicial court held for the county in which, or for two or more counties in either of which, the parties or one of them live. When heard before a single judge, either party may take exceptions in the same manner and with the same effect as in suits at common law. Libels for divorce, in what courts to be brought, R. S. 76, § 7, 1851, 82, § 2.

SECT. 14. When the libellant has left the county in which the parties have lived together, the adverse party still living therein, the libel shall be heard and determined in the court held for that county. Same subject, R. S. 76, § 8.

SECT. 15. Either party to a libel for divorce, at any time before the trial is commenced, and if at a jury term, before the jurors are dismissed, may make and file with the clerk of the court a demand in writing for a trial by jury; and the questions of fact arising upon such libel, shall be so tried under the direction of the court. In such case the proceedings shall be conducted as nearly as may be in the manner of conducting suits at common law; and a decree may be entered in conformity with the verdict. Either party may have trial by jury, 1855, 56, §§ 2, 3, 4, 5, 1857, 255.

SECT. 16. Every libel shall be signed by the libellant, if of sound mind and of legal age to consent to marriage; otherwise it may be signed by his or her guardian, or by any person admitted by the court to prosecute the same as next friend of the libellant. Libel, how to be signed, R. S. 76, § 12, 4 Mass. 506, 7 Mass. 96, 13 Mass. 412, 1 Met. 382.

SECT. 17. When the party complained of is within the state, the libel may be filed in the office of the clerk of the court in vacation, and a summons to appear and answer thereto issued by the clerk and served on the adverse party fourteen days at least before the sitting of the court. how to be filed, and notice served, R. S. 76, § 13.

SECT. 18. The service shall be made by delivering to the adverse party an attested copy of the libel and summons, or by leaving such copy at the place of his or her abode; but the service by leaving a copy at the place of abode shall not be deemed sufficient, if it appears that the party had not been there after the same was left, unless it also appears that such party had personal notice of the suit. Same subject, R. S. 76, § 14, 7 Mass. 502, 8 Mass. 383.

SECT. 19. The libel, whether the adverse party is within or without the state, may be presented to the supreme judicial court in any county; and the adverse party shall be summoned to appear and answer at the court having jurisdiction of the cause, either by a publication of the libel or the substance thereof with the order of the court thereon in one or more newspapers to be designated in the order, or by delivering to the party an attested copy of the libel and summons, or in such other manner as the court shall consider to be most proper and effectual. Same subject, R. S. 76, §§ 15, 16, 12 Mass. 312.

SECT. 20. When the adverse party does not appear, and the notice of the pendency of the libel is considered by the court defective or insufficient, it may order such further notice as it considers proper. Court may order further notice, R. S. 76, § 17.

SECT. 21. If, at any time during the pendency of the suit, the respondent is insane, the court shall appoint some suitable person as guardian to appear and answer in like manner as a guardian is appointed for an infant defendant in a suit at law. Guardian for insane respondent, R. S. 76, § 18, 13 Mass. 412.

SECT. 22. In all cases of libel, the court may require the husband to pay into court, for the use of the wife during the pendency of the libel, such sum of money as may enable her to maintain or defend the libel, although exceeding the taxable costs; and in every case of libel for divorce, the wife, when it is just and equitable, shall be entitled to alimony during the pendency of the suit. Allowance to wife pending suit, 1851, 82, § 1, 1855, 65, 1855, 137, § 6, 8 Cush. 405, 2 Gray, 282, 6 Gray, 341.

SECT. 23. The court, upon granting to a woman a divorce from the bond of matrimony, may allow her to resume her maiden name, or the name of any former husband. Woman divorced may resume former name, 1849, 141.

1842, 83, § 1.

Infant children of divorced persons, natives of this state, not to be removed as husband and wife or live together in the same house, they shall be liable to all penalties against adultery.

SECT. 25. In cases of divorce from the bond of matrimony, the innocent party may marry again as if the other party were dead. Any marriage contracted by the guilty party, during the life of the other party, except as provided in the following section, shall be void, and such party shall be adjudged guilty of polygamy.

SECT. 26. When a divorce from the bond of matrimony, except for the cause of adultery, has been granted under the laws of this state or any state or territory in the United States, the justices of the supreme judicial court, or either of them, upon petition filed by the party against whom the divorce was granted, (if the party resided within this state at the time of granting the divorce,) and upon such [notice] as the court shall order, may authorize such party to marry again.

SECT. 27. A divorce for adultery committed by the wife shall not affect the legitimacy of the issue of the marriage, but such legitimacy, if questioned, shall be tried and determined according to the course of the common law.

SECT. 28. The issue of a marriage dissolved by a divorce or sentence of nullity on account of consanguinity or affinity between the parties, shall be deemed to be illegitimate.

SECT. 29. The issue of a marriage dissolved on account of the nonage, insanity, or idiocy, of either party, shall be deemed to be the legitimate issue of the parent who was capable of contracting the marriage.

SECT. 30. When a marriage is dissolved on account of a prior marriage of either party, and it appears that the second marriage was contracted in good faith and with the full belief of the parties that the former husband or wife was dead, that fact shall be stated in the decree of divorce or nullity; and the issue of the second marriage, born or begotten before the commencement of the suit, shall be deemed to be the legitimate issue of the parent capable of contracting the marriage.

SECT. 31. The supreme judicial court sitting in any county may, on the petition of the wife, prohibit the husband from imposing any restraint on her personal liberty during the pendency of a libel.

SECT. 32. The court may in like manner, on the application of either party, make such order concerning the care and custody of the minor children of the parties during the pendency of the libel, as shall be deemed expedient and for the benefit of the children.

SECT. 33. Upon a decree of nullity or divorce, the court may make such further decree as it deems expedient, concerning the care, custody, and maintenance of the minor children of the parties, and determine with which of the parents the children or any of them shall remain; and the court may, from time to time afterwards, on the petition of either of the parents, revise and alter such decree, and make a new decree, as the circumstances of the parents and the benefit of the children require.

SECT. 34. After a divorce decreed in any other state or country, if minor children of the marriage are inhabitants of this state, the justices of the supreme judicial court, on the petition of either parent or of a next friend in behalf of the children, such notice being given to both parents as the court shall direct, may make like decrees concerning their care, custody, education, and maintenance, as if the divorce had been decreed in this state.

SECT. 35. When the justices of the supreme judicial court have jurisdiction over the custody and maintenance of the infant children of divorced persons, and such children are natives of this state, or have resided five years within its limits, they shall not be removed out of the jurisdiction, against their own consent, if of suitable age to signify the same, nor while under that age, without the consent of both parents, unless the court upon cause shown otherwise orders. The court, upon application of any person in behalf of such infants, may require such security and issue such writs and processes as they shall deem proper to effect the purposes of this and the preceding section.

SECT. 36. Where the parents of minor children live separately, the justices of said court, upon the petition of either parent, shall have the same power to make decrees concerning their care, custody, education, and maintenance, as concerning children whose parents are divorced.

Children of parents living separately. R. S. 76, § 26. 1856, 24.

SECT. 37. In making an order or decree relative to the custody of children pending a controversy between their parents, or in regard to their final possession, the rights of the parents in the absence of misconduct shall be held to be equal, and the happiness and welfare of the children shall determine the custody or possession. The court may make the necessary orders and decrees from time to time in relation to such custody or possession.

Rules as to custody of children. 1853, 137, § 7.

SECT. 38. When a divorce is decreed for the cause of adultery committed by the husband, or because of his sentence to confinement at hard labor, the wife shall be entitled to her dower in his lands in the same manner as if he were dead; but she shall not be entitled to dower in any other case of divorce from the bond of matrimony. A divorce from bed and board shall not bar her claim to dower.

In what cases wife entitled to dower. R. S. 76, § 32. 13 Mass. 231.

SECT. 39. When a divorce is decreed for the cause of adultery committed by the wife, the husband shall hold her personal estate forever, and her real estate so long as they both live; and if he survives her and there has been issue of the marriage born alive, he shall hold her real estate for his own life, as tenant by the curtesy; but the court may decree to the wife, for her subsistence, as much of her personal or real estate, or of the income thereof, as it deems necessary.

Upon divorce for adultery of wife, husband to hold her estate, &c. R. S. 76, §§ 33, 34.

SECT. 40. Upon the dissolution of a marriage by a decree of nullity or divorce, for any cause except that of adultery committed by the wife, and upon every divorce from bed and board, the wife shall be entitled to the immediate possession of all her real estate in like manner as if her husband were dead; and the court may make a decree restoring to the wife the whole or any part of the personal estate that has come to the husband by reason of the marriage, or awarding to her the value thereof in money to be paid by the husband.

Upon divorce, except for adultery of wife, she shall hold her real estate, &c. R. S. 76, §§ 27, 28.

SECT. 41. When personal estate of the wife, or money in lieu thereof, is awarded to her under the preceding section, the court in its discretion may order it to be delivered or paid to a trustee appointed by the court, upon trust, to invest the same and apply the income thereof in such manner as the court directs to the support and maintenance of the wife and minor children of the marriage, or any of them; and also to pay over the principal sum to the wife and children, in such proportions and at such times as shall be ordered by the final decree of the court. The trustee shall give such bonds for the faithful performance of his trust as the court shall require.

Court may appoint trustee of property awarded to wife. R. S. 76, § 29.

SECT. 42. When the court deems it proper to award to the wife any personal estate, or money in lieu thereof, it may require the husband to disclose on oath what personal estate has come to him by reason of the marriage, and how it has been disposed of, and what portion thereof remains in his hands.

Husband may be examined on oath as to personal estate of wife. R. S. 76, § 30.

SECT. 43. Upon every divorce for adultery committed by the husband, or for impotency on his part, or for his uniting with any sect or society that believes or professes to believe the relation between husband and wife void or unlawful, or because of his sentence to confinement at hard labor; and upon every divorce from bed and board, if the estate and effects restored and assigned to the wife are insufficient for

In certain cases wife may be allowed alimony, upon decree of divorce, &c. R. S. 76, § 31. 1844, 129. 1850, 100, § 3.

the suitable support and maintenance of herself and such children of the marriage as are committed to her care and custody; the court may further decree to her such part of the personal estate of the husband and such alimony out of his estate as it deems just and reasonable.

Alimony, &c.,
in certain cases.
1857, 228, § 3.

SECT. 44. When a divorce is decreed for any of the causes mentioned in sections seven and ten, the court granting it may decree alimony to the wife, or any share of her estate in the nature of alimony to the husband.

Court may in equity enforce decrees of.
1858, 47.

SECT. 45. The court may enforce decrees made for allowance, alimony, or allowance in the nature of alimony pending libels, or upon or after final decrees of divorce, in the same manner as decrees are enforced in equity.

Security for payment of.
R. S. 76, § 33.

SECT. 46. When alimony or other annual allowance is decreed for the wife or children, the court may require sufficient security to be given for its payment according to the terms of the decree.

Decree respecting alimony,
&c., may be revised and altered.
R. S. 76, § 36.

SECT. 47. After a decree for alimony or other annual allowance for the wife or children, and also after a decree for the appointment of trustees to receive and hold any property in trust for the use of the wife or children as before provided, the court may, from time to time, on the petition of either party, revise and alter its decree respecting the amount of such alimony or other annual allowance, and the payment thereof, and also respecting the appropriation and payment of the principal and income of the property so held in trust, and may make any decree respecting said matters which it might have made in the original suit.

May be made or revised at any time after decree of divorce.
1853, 23, § 1.

SECT. 48. The supreme judicial court, after a decree of divorce has been granted on the libel of a married woman, may at any time, upon petition therefor, make such decree respecting alimony, or other provision for her maintenance, or for the benefit of the children of the parties, as it might have made in the original suit; although no such decree of alimony or other provision was made in the original decree of divorce, or prayed for in such libel; and it may from time to time revise and alter such decree, as the circumstances of the parties and the benefit of the children may require.

Costs on petitions, &c.
R. S. 76, § 27.
1853, 23, § 2.

SECT. 49. Upon petitions for a decree under the preceding section, and upon petitions to revise and alter a decree under this chapter, the court may award costs to either party as justice and equity require.

On certain libels for divorce, husband's property may be attached.
1855, 137, § 1.

SECT. 50. Upon libels for divorce for adultery committed by the husband, or because of his sentence to confinement at hard labor, and upon libels for divorce from bed and board, in order to secure a suitable support and maintenance to the wife and such children as may be committed to her care and custody, an attachment of the husband's real and personal estate may be made by the officer serving the libel.

Attachment may be made on summons or order of notice,
&c.
1855, 137, §§ 2,
3, 5.

SECT. 51. When the libel is filed in vacation in the office of the clerk of the court, such attachment may be made upon the summons issued thereon, in the same manner as attachments are made upon writs in actions at common law. When the libel is in the first instance presented to the court, the attachment may be made in like manner upon the order of notice issued thereon. The amount for which the attachment may be made, shall be expressed in the summons or order of notice.

Laws relating to attachments
to apply.
1855, 137, § 4.

SECT. 52. All laws relating to attachments of real or personal estate, shall apply to attachments herein provided for, so far as the same are not inconsistent with the two preceding sections.

Course of proceedings in suits under this chapter.
R. S. 76, § 38.

SECT. 53. The supreme judicial court may in all cases where the course of proceeding is not specially prescribed, hear and determine all matters coming within the purview of this chapter, according to the course of proceeding in ecclesiastical courts and in courts of equity, and may issue process of attachment and of execution, and all other proper and necessary processes.

SECT. 54. When an inhabitant of this state goes into another state or country to obtain a divorce for any cause occurring here, and whilst the parties resided here, or for any cause which would not authorize a divorce by the laws of this state, a divorce so obtained shall be of no force or effect in this state.

SECT. 2. A husband and wife may, by their joint deed, convey the real estate of the wife which is not her separate property, in like manner as she might do by her separate deed if she were unmarried; but the wife shall not be bound by any covenant contained in such joint deed.

SECT. 3. A married woman may bargain, sell, and convey, her separate real and personal property, enter into any contracts in reference to the same, carry on any trade or business, and perform any labor or services on her sole and separate account, and sue and be sued in all matters having relation to her separate property, business, trade, services, labor, and earnings, in the same manner as if she were sole. But no conveyance by her of shares in a corporation or of any real property, except a lease for a term not exceeding one year, and a release of dower executed subsequently to a conveyance of the estate of her husband, shall be valid, without the assent of her husband in writing, or his joining with her in the conveyance, or the consent of one of the judges of the supreme judicial court, superior court, or the probate court, granted on her petition in any county on account of the sickness, insanity, or absence from the state, of her husband, or other good cause; and the husband if within the state shall have such notice of the petition as the judge may order.

SECT. 4. A trustee may be appointed by the supreme judicial court on the petition of a married woman having separate property, to hold the same in trust for her, and she may thereupon convey the same to the trustee upon such trusts and to such uses as she may declare. The trustee may prosecute and defend all actions in relation to such property brought by or against her, founded on any cause of action relating to the same; and the property in his hands shall be liable to be attached or taken on execution in any such action.

SECT. 5. The contracts made by a married woman in respect to her separate property, trade, business, labor, or services, shall not be binding on her husband, nor render him or his property liable therefor; but she and her separate property shall be liable for such contracts in the same manner as if she were sole.

SECT. 6. Payment may be made to a married woman for wages earned by her labor, and her receipt for the income of property held in trust for her, or for the principal when the same is payable to her, or for the payment to her of money deposited by or due to her, before or after marriage, shall be a valid receipt and discharge, although her husband does not join therein.

SECT. 7. The real estate and shares in any corporation standing in the name of a married woman, which were her property at the time of her marriage, or which become her property by devise, bequest, or gift, of any person except her husband, shall not be liable to be taken on execution against her husband for any debt contracted or cause of action arising after the third day of June in the year eighteen hundred and fifty-five.

SECT. 8. A married woman having separate property may be sued for any cause of action which originated against her before marriage, and her property may be attached and taken on execution in the same manner and with the same effect as if she were sole. The husband of a woman married in this state after the third day of June in the year eighteen hundred and fifty-five shall not be liable to be sued for any cause of action which originated against her before marriage; but she shall be liable to be sued for the same in the manner aforesaid.

SECT. 9. A married woman may make a will of her real and separate personal estate, in the same manner as if she were sole, but such will shall not operate to deprive her husband of more than one-half of her personal property, without his consent in writing.

SECT. 10. Nothing contained in the preceding sections shall invalidate any marriage settlement or contract, or authorize the husband to convey or give property to his wife, or destroy or impair his rights as tenant by the curtesy, or enable a married woman to destroy or impair the same by any will or conveyance without his written assent.

rights by curtesy. Husband not to convey, &c., to wife, R. S. 301, §§ 1, 9, 1867, 249, § 5.

SECT. 11. When the guardian of a married man is licensed to sell real estate of his ward, the wife of the ward may join with the guardian in the conveyance, and thereby release her right of dower and the estate or right of homestead in the granted premises, in like manner as she might have done by joining in a conveyance thereof made by her husband if he had been under no legal disability.

Wife may release dower, &c., on sale by guardian of husband, R. S. 77, § 14, 1857, 298.

SECT. 12. When such guardian is licensed to sell the interest of the ward in any real estate of his wife, the wife may join with the guardian in the conveyance, and thereby sell and convey all her estate and interest in the granted premises, in like manner as she might have done by a conveyance thereof made jointly with her husband, if he had been under no legal disability.

may join with guardian in sale of her real estate, R. S. 77, § 15, 1857, 298.

SECT. 13. In case of such release by the wife of her right of dower, or the estate or right of homestead, or of such conveyance of her own estate, the proceeds of the sale may be so invested and disposed of as to secure to her and the minor children of the owner, if it is an estate or right of homestead, the same right, use, and benefit, of and in the principal sum and the income thereof, that she or they would have had therein if it had not been sold. Any agreement made between her and the guardian for securing and disposing of the proceeds or any part thereof for the purpose aforesaid, approved by the probate court for the county in which the guardian was appointed, or by the supreme court of probate, or any order therefor made by either of said courts, if she and the guardian cannot agree, shall be valid and binding on all persons interested in the estate, and may be enforced in either of said courts, or by an action at common law, as the case may require.

Proceeds of such sales, how disposed of, R. S. 77, § 16, 1857, 298.

SECT. 14. When the real estate of a married woman is taken for a railroad, turnpike, way, or other public use, or is damaged by the laying out of a railroad, turnpike, way, or by any other public works, the damages or compensation awarded therefor may be so invested and disposed of as to secure to her the same right, use, and benefit, of and in the sum so awarded and the income thereof, that she would have had of and in the real [estate] and the income thereof if it had not been so taken or damaged; and the supreme judicial court shall, on the application of such woman, hear and determine the case according to the course of proceedings in equity, and shall make such decrees and orders therein as may be necessary and proper to enforce and secure her rights and interests.

Damages awarded when land of married woman is taken for railroad, &c., how disposed of, R. S. 77, § 17.

SECT. 15. The wife of a man who is under guardianship may join with the guardian, and the guardian of a woman may join with her husband, in making partition of her real estate held in joint tenancy or in common, and they may make any release or other conveyance necessary or proper for that purpose, in like manner as the parties might if neither of them were under legal disability.

Wife or husband of ward may join with guardian in making partition of real estate, R. S. 77, § 20.

SECT. 16. When a married woman owns property, real or personal, a guardian may be appointed to her for the same causes, and in the same manner, and with the same powers and duties, as if she were sole, except as hereinafter provided. But no guardian shall be so appointed without such notice to the husband as the court may order.

Married woman, when may be put under guardianship, R. S. 79, §§ 1, 9, 11. See Ch. 109.

SECT. 17. Such guardian shall not have the care, custody, or education, of his ward, except in case of the insanity of her husband, or of his abandoning his wife by absenting himself from the state, and making no sufficient provision for her.

guardian of, not to have custody, &c., of ward, except, &c.

SECT. 18. Such guardian shall not apply the property of his ward to the maintenance of herself and family while she is married, unless not to apply property to her support without leave of probate court. 1855, 233.

Guardian may be appointed to insane married woman, having right of dower, &c. 1856, 169, §§ 1, 2. 1857, 208, §§ 8, 9.

authorized by the probate court on account of the inability of her husband suitably to maintain her or them, or for other cause which the court deems sufficient.

SECT. 19. When a married woman is by reason of insanity incompetent to release her right of dower or right of homestead, a guardian may be appointed for her in the same manner as if she were sole, with the powers and duties given to guardians of married women owning property, and the husband or any suitable person may be appointed guardian.

SECT. 20. When the husband of an insane woman is desirous of conveying any of his real estate, whether absolutely or by way of mortgage, he may by petition, describing the same, ask leave of the probate court that the dower of his wife or any estate of homestead therein may be released, setting forth the facts and reasons why his prayer should be granted. After notice in some newspaper to all persons interested and a hearing thereon, the court, if satisfied that such dower or estate of homestead ought to be released, shall authorize her guardian to make such release, by joining in any deed of conveyance, to be made within five years thereafter, either by the husband or any trustee for him, and whether such deed pass the whole or only separate parcels or lots of said real estate.

SECT. 21. If the guardian is so authorized to release the dower of his ward, and the probate court deems it proper that some portion of the proceeds of such real estate, or of any sum loaned on mortgage thereof, should be reserved for the use of such married woman, the court may order that a certain sum, not exceeding thirty-three and one-third per cent. of the net amount of such proceeds or sum actually to be realized from such sale or mortgage, exclusive of any encumbrance then existing on the estate, shall be set aside and paid over to such guardian to be invested and held by him for her benefit if she survives her husband; the income of such sum to be received and enjoyed by the husband during the life of his wife, or until otherwise ordered by the court upon good cause shown; and the principal to be his, and to be paid over to him, if he survives her.

SECT. 22. If the guardian is so authorized to release the estate of homestead, and the probate court deems it proper that some portion of the proceeds of such real estate, or of any sum loaned on mortgage thereof, should be reserved for the use of such married woman, the court may order that a certain sum, not exceeding eight hundred dollars, be set aside and paid over to such guardian to be invested in a homestead, and held by him for the benefit of such married woman, if she survives her husband; the rent or use thereof to be received and enjoyed by the husband during the life of his wife, or until otherwise ordered by the court upon good cause shown; and the homestead to be his, and to be conveyed to him by said guardian, if he survives her.

SECT. 23. When the husband of an insane woman has conveyed any real estate in trust, without the power of revocation, and in such conveyance provision is made for his wife, which in the opinion of the probate court, to be certified on petition, notice, and hearing, is sufficient in lieu of dower therein, the trustee in such conveyance shall be authorized to pass title to such real estate free from all right of dower.

SECT. 24. If, in the opinion of the probate court, certified as aforesaid, such provision is sufficient in lieu of dower of such insane woman in all the real estate owned by her husband at the date of the petition, or in any particular portions thereof, her guardian shall be authorized to release her dower in all such real estate, or such particular portions, by joining in a deed of conveyance of the same.

SECT. 25. All proceedings in the probate court under the five preceding sections shall be had in the county where the husband of the insane woman resides, if an inhabitant of this state, and if not, then in some county where any of his real estate is situated; and a certified copy of all final orders or decrees therein shall be recorded in the registry of deeds in every county or district in which such real estate is situated.

In what county proceedings are to be had, and where orders and decrees are to be recorded. 1856, 169, § 7.

SECT. 26. The wife of a person under guardianship for insanity, may apply to the probate court for the county in which the guardian was appointed, for an allowance for her support out of the estate of her husband, to be paid to her by the guardian during the continuance of the guardianship. The amount of the allowance, if made, shall be determined by commissioners appointed by the court upon her petition.

MARRIAGE CONTRACTS.

SECT. 27. At any time before a marriage the parties may enter into a contract in writing, agreeing and providing that, after the marriage is solemnized, the whole or any designated part of the real or personal estate, or any right of action of which either party may be seised or possessed at the time of the marriage, shall remain or become the property of the husband or wife, according to the terms of the contract. Such contract may limit to the husband or wife an estate in fee or for life in the whole or any part of the property, and designate any other lawful limitations. All such limitations shall take effect at the time of the marriage, in like manner as if they had been contained in a deed conveying the property limited.

Marriage contracts may be made by parties before marriage. Nature of such contracts. 1845, 208, § 1.

SECT. 28. There shall be annexed to such contract a schedule of the property intended to be affected thereby, containing a sufficiently clear description of the property to enable any creditor of the husband or wife to distinguish it from all other property; and such contract and schedule shall, either before the marriage or within ninety days thereafter, be recorded in the registry of deeds for the county or district in which the husband resides at the time of the record, or if he is not a resident within this state, then in the registry of deeds for the county or district in which the wife resides at the time of the record, if it is made before the marriage, or in which she last resided if made after the marriage. If not so recorded the contract shall be void. It shall also be recorded in every county or district in which there are lands to which it relates.

Schedule and description of property to be recorded with contract in registry of deeds, &c. 1845, 208, § 2.

MARRIED WOMEN COMING FROM OTHER STATES, &c.

SECT. 29. When a married woman comes from another state or country into this state without her husband, he never having lived with her in this state, she shall have all the rights and powers given to married women by the preceding provisions of this chapter, and may also transact business, make contracts, and commence, prosecute, and defend, suits, in her own name, and dispose of her property which may be found here, in like manner as if she were unmarried. She shall also be liable to be sued as if she were unmarried, upon all contracts and for all other acts made or done by her after her arrival in this state. She may make and execute deeds and other instruments in her own name, and do all other lawful acts that may be proper to carry such powers into effect.

MARRIED WOMEN ABANDONED BY THEIR HUSBANDS, &C.

Wife, if abandoned by husband, or he is sent to state prison, may be authorized to convey property.
R. S. 77, §§ 1, 2, 3, 12, 13.

SECT. 31. A wife whose husband has absented himself from the state, abandoning and not sufficiently maintaining her, or whose husband has been sentenced to confinement in the state prison, may upon her petition be authorized by the supreme judicial court to sell, convey, and receipt for, her real and personal estate, and any personal estate which may have come to her husband by reason of the marriage, and which remains in this state undisposed of by him, or to which he is entitled in her right; and to use and dispose of such property or the proceeds thereof during the absence or imprisonment of her husband, as if she were unmarried.

to make contracts, &c.
R. S. 77, §§ 4, 7, 8.

SECT. 32. The court may further authorize such wife to make contracts in her own name, and to sue and be sued in law or equity, as if she were sole.

Continuance of such authority, &c.
R. S. 77, §§ 5, 6, 12, 13.

SECT. 33. The authority so granted shall continue until the husband returns into the state and claims his marital rights, or is discharged from prison, and during its continuance the wife may do all acts necessary for its full exercise.

Suits in which she is party not to abate by his return, &c.
R. S. 77, §§ 9, 10, 12, 13.

SECT. 34. No suit wherein such woman is a party shall be abated by the return of her husband into the state or his discharge from prison, but he may, on his application, be admitted to prosecute or defend the same jointly with her in like manner as if they had intermarried after the commencement of the suit. If he is not admitted as a party, the suit shall proceed to judgment and execution as if he had not returned or been discharged from prison, and any judgment recovered against the wife may be afterwards enforced against him in like manner as if it had been rendered against her before their intermarriage.

Proceedings on petition, &c., by married woman abandoned, &c.
R. S. 77, § 11.

SECT. 35. Every petition for any of the purposes mentioned in sections thirty-one and thirty-two, may be filed, heard, and determined, in the supreme judicial court in any county. The petition shall be presented and notice thereon given in the manner prescribed for presenting and giving notice of libels for divorce when the adverse party is without the state.

GUARDIANS.

SECTION 1. The probate court in each county, when it appears necessary or convenient, may appoint guardians to minors and others being inhabitants of or residents in the same county, and to such as reside out of this state and have any estate within the same.

Guardians to be appointed by probate court R. S. 79, § 1.

OF MINORS.

SECT. 2. If a minor is under the age of fourteen years, the probate court may nominate and appoint his guardian. If he is above that age, he may nominate his own guardian, who, if approved by the court, shall be appointed accordingly; if not approved by the court, or if the minor resides without this state, or if after being cited he neglects to nominate a suitable person, the court may nominate and appoint his guardian in the same manner as if he were under the age of fourteen years.

of minors, by whom to be nominated, &c. R. S. 79, § 2. 2 Doug. 433. See Ch. 108, §§ 16, 25.

SECT. 3. A minor above the age of fourteen years may nominate his guardian before a justice of the peace or the city or town clerk, who shall certify the fact to the probate court.

same subject. R. S. 79, § 3. 1837, 171, § 2.

SECT. 4. The guardian of a minor shall have the custody and tuition of his ward, and the care and management of all his estate; and unless sooner discharged according to law, shall continue in office until the minor arrives at the age of twenty-one years. But the father of the minor, if living, and in case of his death, the mother, while she remains unmarried, they being respectively competent to transact their own business, shall be entitled to the custody of the person of the minor and the care of his education.

power and duty of. R. S. 79, § 4.

SECT. 5. A father may by his last will in writing appoint guardians for his children, whether born at the time of making the will or afterwards, to continue during the minority of the child or a less time. Such testamentary guardian shall have the same powers and perform the same duties with regard to the person and estate of the ward, as a guardian appointed by the probate court.

may be appointed by will of father. R. S. 79, § 6. 8 Met. 127.

SECT. 6. The guardian so appointed shall give the bond prescribed in section sixteen, except that when the testator has ordered or requested in his will that a bond be not given, it shall not be required, unless from a change in the situation or circumstances of the guardian or for other sufficient cause the probate court deems it proper to require it.

such to give bond, unless, &c. R. S. 79, § 7.

SECT. 7. Nothing contained in this chapter shall impair or affect the power of any court or justice of the peace to appoint a guardian to defend the interests of a minor impleaded in such court, or interested in a suit or matter there pending; nor their power to appoint or allow any person, as next friend for a minor, to commence, prosecute, or defend, any suit in his behalf.

ad litem, &c., how appointed. R. S. 79, § 8.

OF INSANE PERSONS AND SPENDTHRIFTS.

SECT. 8. When the relations or friends of an insane person, or the mayor and aldermen or selectmen of the city or town of which such

SECT. 9. When a person by excessive drinking, gaming, idleness, or debauchery of any kind, so spends, wastes, or lessens, his estate, as to expose himself or his family to want or suffering, or any place to charge or expense for the support of himself or his family, the mayor and aldermen or selectmen of the city or town of which such spendthrift is an inhabitant or resident, or upon which he is or may become chargeable, may present a complaint to the probate court, setting forth the facts and circumstances of the case and praying to have a guardian appointed. The court shall cause notice of not less than fourteen days to be given to the supposed spendthrift, of the time and place appointed for the hearing; and if after a full hearing it appears that he comes within the above description, the court shall appoint a guardian of his person and estate.

Contracts of spendthrift, pending proceedings, when void.
R. S. 79, § 13.
3 Pick. 229.

SECT. 10. The complainants under the preceding section may cause a copy of the complaint, with the order of notice, to be filed in the registry of deeds for the county or district; and if a guardian is appointed upon such complaint, all contracts, except for necessities, and all gifts, sales, or transfers, of real or personal estate, made by the spendthrift after such filing of the complaint and order, and before the termination of the guardianship, shall be void.

Expenses of defence of insane person, &c.
R. S. 79, § 14.

SECT. 11. When a guardian is appointed for an insane person or spendthrift, the court shall make an allowance, to be paid by the guardian, for all reasonable expenses incurred by the ward in defending himself against the complaint.

SECT. 12. The guardian of an insane person or spendthrift shall have the care and custody of the person of his ward and the management of all his estate; and shall give the bond prescribed in section sixteen, except that the provisions relating to the education of the ward shall be omitted.

OF PERSONS OUT OF THE STATE.

Guardians of persons out of state.
R. S. 79, § 23.

SECT. 13. When a person liable to be put under guardianship according to the provisions of this chapter, resides without this state and has any estate therein, any friend of such person, or any one interested in his estate, in expectancy or otherwise, may apply to the probate court for any county in which there is any estate of such absent person, and after such notice to all persons interested as the court shall order and a full hearing and examination, a guardian may be appointed for such absent person.

powers and duties of.
R. S. 79, § 29.

SECT. 14. Such guardians shall have the same powers and duties with respect to any estate of the ward found within this state, and also with respect to the person of the ward if he comes to reside therein, as are prescribed with respect to other guardians appointed under this chapter.

bond of.
R. S. 79, § 28.

SECT. 15. They shall give the bond prescribed in section sixteen, except that the provisions respecting the inventory, the disposal of the estate and effects, and the account to be rendered by the guardian, shall be confined to such estate and effects as come to his hands in this state; and that the provisions respecting the custody of the ward shall not be applicable, unless he comes to reside within this state.

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

SECT. 16. Every guardian shall give bond with surety or sureties to the judge of the probate court, in such sum as he shall order, with condition substantially as follows, (except as is provided in sections six, twelve, and fifteen, of this chapter, and section thirteen of chapter one hundred and one:) —

Guardians to give bond; condition thereof. R. S. 79, § 5. 1850, 196. 1855, 280. 38 Maine, 48. 2 Doug. 433. 1 Pick. 198. 11 Met. 529. 3 Cush. 465. 4 Cush. 510. 11 Cush. 18.

First. To make a true inventory of all the real estate and all the goods, chattels, rights and credits, of the ward, that shall come to his possession or knowledge, and to return the same into the probate court at such time as the court shall order;

Second. To dispose of and manage all such estate and effects according to law and for the best interests of the ward, and faithfully to discharge his trust in relation thereto, and to the custody, education, and maintenance, of the ward;

Third. To render an account on oath of the property in his hands, including the proceeds of all real estate sold by him, and of the management and disposition of all such property, within one year after his appointment, and as often as once in three years thereafter, and at such other times as the probate court shall direct; and Fourth. At the expiration of his trust to settle his accounts in the probate court, or with the ward or his legal representatives, and to pay over and deliver all the estate and effects remaining in his hands or due from him on such settlement to the person or persons lawfully entitled thereto.

SECT. 17. Upon taking an inventory, the estate and effects comprised therein shall be appraised by three suitable persons appointed and sworn as is required with respect to the inventory of the estate of a deceased person; and every guardian shall account for and dispose of the personal estate of the ward as is directed with respect to executors and administrators in sections one, two, three, six, and seven, of chapter ninety-eight.

Of inventory of estate, and accounting therefor. R. S. 79, § 29. 4 Cush. 519.

SECT. 18. Every guardian shall pay all just debts due from his ward, out of the personal estate if sufficient, and if not, out of the real estate upon obtaining a license for the sale thereof as provided in chapter one hundred and two. He shall settle all accounts of the ward, and demand, sue for, and receive, all debts due to him, or, with the approbation of the probate court, compound for the same and give a discharge to the debtor upon receiving a fair and just dividend of his estate and effects; and he shall appear for and represent his ward in all legal suits and proceedings, unless another person is appointed for that purpose as guardian or next friend.

Guardians, powers and duties of. R. S. 79, § 17. 21 Pick. 36.

SECT. 19. He shall manage the estate of the ward frugally and without waste, and apply the income and profits thereof, so far as may be necessary, to the comfortable and suitable maintenance and support of the ward and his family. If the income and profits are insufficient for that purpose, the guardian may sell the real estate, upon obtaining a license therefor as provided by law, and apply the proceeds thereof, so far as may be necessary, for the maintenance and support of the ward and his family.

Same subject. R. S. 79, § 18. See Ch. 108, § 18.

SECT. 20. He may, except when he has an interest adverse to that of the ward in the estate to be divided, make partition of the real estate of his ward when lying in common and undivided, either upon petition for partition or otherwise, as fully and in like manner as the ward could do if he were under no disability; may assign and set out dower in his ward's estate to any widow entitled thereto, and may appoint an appraiser of real estate on an execution either against or in favor of his ward.

may make partition of real estate of ward, set off dower, &c. R. S. 79, § 19. 1852, 248, §§ E, 2.

SECT. 21. If a minor who has a father living, has property sufficient for his maintenance and education in a manner more expensive than the father can reasonably afford, regard being had to the situation of the father's family and to all the circumstances of the case, the expenses of the maintenance and education of such child may be defrayed out of his own property, in whole or in part, as shall be deemed reasonable by the probate court; and when necessary, his real estate may be sold for that purpose by the guardian, upon obtaining license therefor as provided in other cases of sales by guardians. The charges for such expenses may be allowed in the settlement of the accounts of the guardian.

Courts may authorize sales of stocks, &c., and investments.
R. S. 79, § 21.

SECT. 22. The probate courts in the several counties, or the supreme judicial court, on the application of a guardian or any person interested in the estate of a ward, after notice to all other persons interested therein, may authorize or require the guardian to sell and transfer any stock in the public funds, or in any corporation, or any other personal estate or effects held by him as guardian, and invest the proceeds thereof and all other moneys in his hands, in real estate, or in any other manner that shall be most for the interest of all concerned. Said courts respectively may make such further order and give such directions as the case may require, for managing, investing, and disposing of, the estate and effects in the hands of the guardian.

By order of S. J. C. guardian may transfer property of ward removing from state.
1858, 117.

SECT. 23. When a person under guardianship removes out of this state, his guardian may pay over and transfer the whole or any part of his property to any guardian or trustee, appointed by competent authority in the state to which the residence of the ward is removed, upon such terms and in such manner as the supreme judicial court, sitting in any county, upon bill or petition filed therefor, shall decree.

Removal, resignation, and death, of guardian.
R. S. 79, § 22.
11 Met. 104.
4 Gray, 63.

SECT. 24. When a guardian, appointed either by a testator or by the probate court, becomes insane or otherwise incapable of discharging his trust, or evidently unsuitable therefor, the court, after notice to him and all others interested, may remove him. Upon the request of a guardian, the probate court in its discretion may allow him to resign his trust. Upon such removal or resignation, and upon the death of a guardian, another may be appointed in his stead.

Marriage of female guardian extinguishes authority.
1837, 174, § 1.

SECT. 25. When a female guardian marries, her husband shall not be guardian in her right, but the marriage shall extinguish her authority, and the other guardian, if there is any, may proceed in discharging the trust. If there is no other guardian, the probate court may appoint one or make such other order in the premises as the case requires.

Wards, when and how discharged from guardianship.
R. S. 79, § 23.

SECT. 26. The marriage of a female under guardianship as a minor, shall discharge her guardian from all right to her custody and education, but not to her property; and the guardian of an insane person or spendthrift may be discharged by the probate court, on the application of the ward or otherwise, when it appears that such guardianship is no longer necessary.

Sureties may be discharged and new bond required.
R. S. 79, § 24.
See Ch. 101, §§ 15-18.

SECT. 27. The supreme judicial court and the probate court may require a new bond to be given by a guardian, and may discharge sureties from future responsibility, in like cases and upon like terms and conditions as are prescribed in chapter one hundred and one with regard to bonds and sureties of executors and administrators.

Bonds may be sued. Proceedings.
R. S. 79, § 25.
19 Pick. 104.
21 Pick. 36.
See Ch. 101.

SECT. 28. Bonds given by guardians may be put in suit by order of the probate court, for the use and benefit of the ward or any person interested in his estate. The proceedings in such suit shall be conducted in like manner as is provided with respect to suits on the bonds of executors or administrators.

Action against surety limited, &c.
R. S. 79, § 26.
9 Cush. 69.

SECT. 29. No action shall be maintained against the sureties in a bond given by a guardian, unless commenced within four years from the time the guardian is discharged; but if at the time of such discharge the person entitled to bring such action is out of the state, it may be commenced at any time within four years after his return.

Proceedings for recovering of-

SECT. 30. Upon complaint to the probate court by a guardian, ward, creditor, or other person interested in the estate of a ward, or by a person having claims thereto in expectancy as heir or otherwise, against any one suspected of having fraudulently received, concealed, embezzled, or conveyed away, any of the money, goods, effects, or other estate, as well real as personal, of the ward, the court may cite and examine such suspected person, although he is the guardian, and proceed with him, as to such charge, in the manner provided respecting persons suspected of fraudulently receiving, concealing, or embezzling, the estate of a deceased person.

effects concealed, &c.
R. S. 79, § 27.
1857, 71, § 2.
4 Cush. 46.
See Ch. 96 § 6.

SECT. 31. Every guardian shall be allowed his reasonable expenses incurred in the execution of his trust, and shall have such compensation for his services as the court deems just and reasonable.

Compensation of guardians.
R. S. 79, § 32.

3. when either parent is insane, &c.
4. Proceedings if parent does not consent.
5. Consent by child.
6. Proceedings, and decree of adoption.
7. Relation and rights between child and parents by adoption.

SECTION

8. Rights of natural parents taken away, &c.
9. Appeals.
10. When decree may be reversed.

CHANGE OF NAMES.

11. Change of names, how lawfully made.
12. Notice and certificate.
13. Change of child's name in case of adoption.
14. Returns of changes of names, to be made &c.

ADOPTION OF CHILDREN.

SECTION 1. Any inhabitant of this state may petition the probate court in the county of his residence for leave to adopt a child not his own, and, if desired, for a change of the child's name; but the prayer of such petition by a person having a husband or wife shall not be granted unless the husband or wife joins therein.

Petition for adoption of a child.
1841, 324, §§ 1, 4.
1854, 24.
See § 13.

SECT. 2. The parents of the child, or the survivor of them, shall, except as herein provided, consent in writing to such adoption. If neither parent is living, the guardian of the child, or if there is no guardian, the next of kin in this state, may give such consent; or if there is no next of kin, the court may appoint some suitable person to act in the proceedings as next friend of the child, and to give or withhold such consent.

Consent thereto must be given by parents, &c.
1851, 324, § 2.
1852, 262.
1853, 31.

SECT. 3. If either parent is insane, or imprisoned in the state prison or a house of correction under a sentence for a term not less than three years, or has wilfully deserted and neglected to provide proper care and maintenance for the child, for one year next preceding the time of filing the petition, the court shall proceed as if such parent were dead, and in its discretion may appoint some suitable person to act in the proceedings as next friend of the child, and give or withhold the consent aforesaid.

1859, 61, § 1

SECT. 4. If a parent does not consent to the adoption of his child, the court shall order a copy of the petition and order thereon to be served on him personally, if found in the state, and if not, to be published once a week for three successive weeks, in such newspaper printed in the county as the court directs, the last publication to be at least four weeks before the time appointed for the hearing. Like notice shall also be published when a child has no parent living, and no guardian nor next of kin in this state. The court may order such further notice as it deems necessary or proper.

Proceedings if parent does not consent.
1859, 61, § 2.

Consent by child.
1851, 324, § 3.

SECT. 5. If the child is of the age of fourteen years or upwards, the adoption shall not be made without his consent.

Proceedings, and decree of adoption.
1851, 324, § 5.

SECT. 6. If, upon such petition so presented and consented to, the court is satisfied of the identity and relations of the persons, and that the petitioner is of sufficient ability to bring up the child, and furnish suitable nurture and education, having reference to the degree and condition of its parents, and that it is fit and proper that such adoption should take effect, a decree shall be made setting forth the facts, and ordering, that from the date of the decree the child shall to all legal intents and purposes be the child of the petitioner.

Relation and rights between child and parents by adoption.
1851, 324, § 6.

SECT. 7. A child so adopted shall be deemed, for the purposes of inheritance by such child and all other legal consequences and incidents of the natural relation of parents and children, the child of the parents by adoption, the same as if he had been born to them in lawful wedlock; except that he shall not be capable of taking property expressly limited to the heirs of the body or bodies of the parents by adoption, nor property from the lineal or collateral kindred of such parents by right of representation.

Rights of natural parents taken away, &c.
1851, 324, § 7.

SECT. 8. The parents of such child shall be deprived by the decree of all legal rights as respects the child; and the child shall be freed from all obligations of maintenance and obedience as respects his parents.

Appeals.
1851, 324, § 8.

SECT. 9. Any petitioner may appeal to the supreme judicial court from the decree of the probate court on such petition, in like manner as appeals may be taken from other decrees of that court; and any child made the subject of such petition may by a next friend appeal in like manner; but no bond shall be required or costs awarded against such child or next friend.

When decree may be reversed.
1859, 61, § 2.

SECT. 10. A parent who has not before the hearing upon a petition for the adoption of his child had personal notice thereof, may, at any time within one year after actual notice, apply to the supreme judicial court to reverse the decree. Said court, after due notice, may in its discretion reverse the same, if it appears that any of the material allegations in the petition were not true.

CHANGE OF NAMES.

Change of names, how lawfully made.
1851, 256, § 1.
See Ch. 107, § 23.

SECT. 11. Applications for change of names of persons may be heard and determined by the probate courts in the several counties. No lawful change of the name of a person, except a woman upon her marriage or divorce, shall be made in this state, unless for sufficient reason consistent with the public interest and satisfactory to said court in the county where the party resides.

Notice and certificate.

SECT. 12. Before decreeing a change of name, except as is provided in the following section, the court shall require public notice of the application therefor to be given, that all persons may appear and show cause, if any they have, why the same should not be granted. The court shall also require public notice to be given of the change decreed, and on return of proof thereof may grant a certificate, under the seal of the court, of the name the party is to bear, and which shall thereafter be his legal name.

Change of child's name in case of adoption.
1854, 24.

SECT. 13. If in a petition for the adoption of a child, a change of the child's name is requested, the court, upon decreeing the adoption, may also decree such change of name and grant a certificate thereof, without the notices required by the preceding section.

SECT. 14. Each judge shall annually in the month of December make a return to the office of the secretary of the commonwealth, of all changes of names made in his court under this chapter; and the same shall be published in a tabular form with the statutes of the following year.

Returns of changes of names to be made, &c. 1851, 256, § 4. Sec Ch. 3, § 1.

CHAPTER 111.

OF MASTERS, APPRENTICES, AND SERVANTS.

SECTION

1. Minors may be bound as apprentices or servants.
2. how bound when under fourteen years.
3. when above fourteen.
4. overseers of poor may bind.
5. until what age and upon what terms.
6. Indenture to be of two parts, &c.
7. one part to be kept for minor.
8. Money, &c., to be for use of apprentice.
9. Parents, selectmen, &c., to inquire into treatment of children.
10. Complaint for misconduct of master or servant may be filed in superior court, &c.
11. Court may discharge apprentice, &c.
12. may award costs.
13. Master liable to action on indenture.

SECTION

14. By whom action may be brought.
15. Proceedings therein when brought by overseers.
16. Limitation of action by apprentice.
17. If judgment for plaintiff, court may discharge apprentice.
18. Apprentice absconding may be arrested and returned or imprisoned.
19. Proceedings in such case.
20. Costs therein, of whom recoverable.
21. Apprenticeship discharged by death of master.
22. Mistresses.
23. Common law right.
24. Powers and duties, in whom vested in cities.

SECTION 1. Children under the age of fourteen years may be bound as apprentices or servants until that age; and minors above the age of fourteen years may be bound as apprentices or servants, females to the age of eighteen years or to the time of their marriage within that age, and males to the age of twenty-one years.

Minors may be bound as apprentices or servants. R. S. 80, § 1.

SECT. 2. Children under the age of fourteen years may be bound by their father, or in case of his death or incompetency, by their mother or legal guardian. If illegitimate, they may be bound by their mother during the lifetime of the putative father as well as after his decease. If they have no parent competent to act, and no guardian, they may with the approbation of the selectmen of the town where they reside, bind themselves. The power of a mother to bind her children shall cease upon her subsequent marriage, and shall not be exercised by herself or husband during the continuance of such marriage.

how bound when under fourteen years. R. S. 78, §§ 4, 5, 6. R. S. 80, § 2. 2 Mass. 109, 387, 433.

SECT. 3. Minors above the age of fourteen years may be bound in the same manner, but when bound by their parent or guardian, the minor's consent shall be expressed in the indenture and testified by his signing the same.

when above fourteen. R. S. 80, § 3. 5 Cush. 417.

SECT. 4. A minor child who is, or either of whose parents is, chargeable to a town as having a lawful settlement therein, or supported there at the expense of the state, may be bound as an apprentice or servant by the overseers of the poor.

overseers of poor may bind. R. S. 80, § 6. 7 Greenl. 457. 4 N. H. R. 139. 2 Pick. 451.

SECT. 5. Such children, whether under or above the age of fourteen years, may be so bound, females to the age of eighteen years or to the time of their marriage within that age, and males to the age of twenty-one years; and provision shall be made in the contract for teaching them to read, write, and cipher, and for such other instruction, benefit, and allowance, either within or at the end of the term, as the overseers may deem reasonable.

until what age, and upon what terms. R. S. 80, § 7. 5 Pick. 250.

SECT. 6. No minor shall be so bound unless by an indenture of two Indenture to be of two parts,

&c.
R. S. 80, §§ 4, 8.

parts sealed and delivered by both parties; and when made with the approbation of the selectmen, they shall certify such approbation in writing upon each part of the indenture.

One part of indenture to be kept for minor.
R. S. 80, §§ 5, 8.

SECT. 7. One part of the indenture shall be kept by the parent or guardian executing it, for the use of the minor; and when made with the approbation of the selectmen or by the overseers of the poor, shall be deposited with the town clerk, and safely kept in his office for the use of the minor.

Money, &c., to be for use of apprentice.
R. S. 80, § 9.

SECT. 8. All considerations of money or other things paid or allowed by the master upon a contract of service or apprenticeship made in pursuance of this chapter, shall be paid or secured to the sole use of the minor bound thereby.

Parents, selectmen, &c., to inquire into treatment of children.
R. S. 80, § 10.

SECT. 9. Parents, guardians, selectmen, and overseers, shall inquire into the treatment of all children bound by them respectively or with their approbation, and of all bound by or with the approbation of the predecessors in office of any of them, and defend them from all cruelty, neglect, and breach of contract, on the part of masters.

Complaint for misconduct of master or servant may be filed in superior court, &c.
R. S. 80, §§ 11, 22.
1859, 196,
2 Pick. 451.

SECT. 10. Complaints by parents, guardians, selectmen, or overseers, for misconduct or neglect of the master, and by the master, for gross misbehavior, or refusal to do his duty, or wilful neglect thereof, on the part of the apprentice or servant, may be filed in the superior court in the county where the master resides, setting forth the facts and circumstances of the case. The court shall order notice to the adverse party, and if the complaint is by the master, to all persons who have covenanted in behalf of the apprentice or servant, and to the selectmen who approved of the indenture, or their successors in office, and shall hear and determine the case with or without a jury, as the allegations of the parties may require.

Court may discharge apprentice, &c.
R. S. 80, §§ 12, 23.

SECT. 11. The court may render a judgment or decree, that the minor be discharged from his apprenticeship or service, or the master from his contract, and the minor thus discharged may be bound out anew.

may award costs.
R. S. 80, §§ 12, 13, 23.

SECT. 12. Costs may be awarded to the prevailing party and execution issued therefor; but no costs shall be awarded against selectmen or overseers, unless it appears that the complaint was made without just and reasonable cause. Costs in favor of the master may be recovered of the parent or guardian who executed the indenture, or if there is no parent or guardian liable therefor, such costs may be recovered in an action against the minor when he arrives at full age.

Master liable to action on indenture.
R. S. 80, § 14.

SECT. 13. Every master shall be liable to an action on the indenture for the breach of any covenant on his part therein contained. All damages recovered in such action, after deducting the necessary charges in prosecuting the same, shall be the property of the minor, and may be applied and appropriated to his use by the person who recovers the same, and the residue shall be paid to the minor, if a male, at the age of twenty-one years, and if a female, at the age of eighteen years, or at the time of her marriage within that age.

By whom action may be brought.
R. S. 80, § 15.

SECT. 14. Such action may be brought by the parent or his executors or administrators, the guardian, or any one who succeeds him in that trust, or the overseers or their successors in office; or it may be brought in the name of the minor by his guardian or next friend, as the case requires; or by himself after the expiration of the term of apprenticeship or service.

Proceedings therein when brought by overseers.
R. S. 80, § 16.

SECT. 15. If the action is brought by the overseers, it shall not abate by the death of any of them, or by their being succeeded in office; but shall proceed in the names of the original plaintiffs, or the survivor of them, or the executors or administrators of the survivor; and the money recovered therein shall be deposited in the city or town treasury to be applied and disposed of as provided in section thirteen.

- SECT. 16. No such action shall be maintained, unless commenced during the term of apprenticeship or service, or within two years after the expiration thereof. Limitation of action by apprentice. R. S. 80, § 17.
- SECT. 17. If judgment in such action is rendered for the plaintiff, the court may upon motion of the plaintiff discharge the minor from his apprenticeship or service, if not already done as before provided, and the minor may be bound out anew. If judgment for plaintiff, court may discharge apprentice. R. S. 80, § 18.
- SECT. 18. If an apprentice or servant, bound as aforesaid, unlawfully departs from the service of his master, any police court or justice of the peace, upon complaint on oath made by the master or any one in his behalf, may issue a warrant to apprehend the apprentice or servant and bring him before the court or justice. If the complaint is supported, the court or justice may order the offender to be returned to his master, or commit him to the jail or house of correction for a term not exceeding twenty days, unless sooner discharged by his master. Apprentice absconding may be arrested, and returned or imprisoned. R. S. 80, § 19.
- SECT. 19. The warrant when directed to an officer or other person by name, shall authorize him to convey the offender to the place of residence of the master in any county in the state. Proceedings in such case. R. S. 80, § 20.
- SECT. 20. All costs incurred in such process against a servant or apprentice, shall be paid in the first instance by the complainant. If the complaint is supported, the costs may be recovered by the master in an action on the indenture, if executed by a parent or guardian, and if recovered against a guardian, he may charge the amount paid by him in his guardianship account. If the indenture was executed by overseers of the poor, or the minor with the approbation of the selectmen, the costs may be recovered in an action against the minor after he arrives at full age. Costs therein, of whom recoverable. R. S. 80, § 21.
- SECT. 21. No indenture of apprenticeship or service made in pursuance of this chapter shall bind the minor after the death of his master, but the apprenticeship or service shall be thenceforth discharged, and the minor may be bound out anew. Apprenticeship discharged by death of master. R. S. 80, § 24.
- SECT. 22. All the foregoing provisions shall apply as well to mistresses as to masters. Mistresses. R. S. 80, § 25.
- SECT. 23. Nothing contained in this chapter shall affect the father's right at common law to assign or contract for the services of his children during their minority. 8 Johns. R. 328. 3 B. & A. 586. 1 Ashm. 267. 7 Mass. 147. Common law right. R. S. 80, § 26. 1 Mason, 78.
- SECT. 24. Every thing prescribed in this chapter to be done by the selectmen of a town, shall and may be done by the mayor and aldermen of a city; and every thing prescribed to be done by the overseers of the poor of a town, shall and may be done by the overseers of the poor of a city, or the directors of the house of industry, or such other officers as have charge of the poor therein. Powers and duties, in whom vested in cities. R. S. 80, § 27.

SECT. 11. Cases reported by the superior court for determination by the supreme judicial court, questions arising upon appeals from the decisions of the superior court in matters of law, and upon exceptions to the opinions, rulings, orders, and decisions, of the court, whether allowed by that court or by the supreme judicial court upon petition, shall in those counties in which there is a law term, be entered at the term next to be holden for the county, unless otherwise agreed by the parties or ordered by the superior court upon the allowance of exceptions under the provisions of section thirteen of chapter one hundred and fifteen. Upon exceptions allowed or questions reserved in any of the modes provided, the same shall be heard and determined by the full court; and such judgment or other proceedings shall be had therein as law and justice require. And the full court shall, as soon as may be after the decision of the questions submitted to it, make such order, direction, judgment, or decree, as is fit and proper for the further disposition of the case, and enter the same, or cause a rescript, containing a brief statement of the grounds and reason of the decision, to be filed therein.

 tions are frivolous.
 R. S. 81, § 31,
 R. S. 84, § 16.

SECT. 13. If, upon the hearing of a case brought before the court upon exceptions alleged, it appears that the exceptions are frivolous, immaterial, or intended for delay, the court may award against the party taking the exceptions double costs from the time when the same were alleged, and also interest from the same time, at the rate of twelve per cent. a year on any sum found due for debt or damages; or may award any part of such additional costs and interest.

Judgment,
 when exceptions are allowed, may be vacated.
 R. S. 81, § 32.

SECT. 14. If judgment has been rendered in any case in which exceptions are allowed, the judgment may be vacated by the full court without a writ of error, and as if it had been entered by mistake at the same term at which it is so vacated, and thereupon such further proceedings shall be had in the case as law and justice require.

SECT. 15. In cases where questions are entered in the court upon appeal, or other issue of law, the court may affirm the former judgment with additional damages, at the rate of six per cent. a year, or reverse the same in whole or in part, or order the case to be brought up, entered, and a new trial had, and may enter such judgment, order, or decree, and take such other order therein as the superior court ought to have done, and shall cause such other proceedings to be had in the case as law and justice require.

If appeal is not entered, adverse

SECT. 16. If a party who has taken an appeal, or an exception which has been allowed, neglects to enter the question in the supreme judicial court, the adverse party may enter a complaint and have the judgment, opinion, ruling, or order, affirmed.

SECT. 17. If by mistake or accident a question arising upon an appeal, or upon exceptions in the superior court, is not duly entered in the supreme judicial court, or if for a like reason, a complaint founded on an omission to enter such question has not been entered by the adverse party, the court, upon petition filed within one year after the question or complaint should have been entered, and upon such terms as it deems just and reasonable, may allow the party taking the appeal or exception to enter the question, or the adverse party to enter his complaint, as the case may be; and when so entered the court shall proceed therein as if it had been entered at the proper term. But no security by bond, attachment, or otherwise, discharged by the omission of either party to enter the question or complaint, shall be revived and continued in force by the entry of such question or complaint.

SECT. 18. Four or more justices present at a jury term shall have and exercise the powers of a full court; a single justice present at a law term shall have and exercise the same authority as at a jury term.

SECT. 19. If an indictment for a capital offence is pending and for trial in a county in which there is no law term established, the justices shall hold a session in such county for the trial thereof.

SECT. 20. The chief justice upon receiving notice of the pendency of such an indictment shall take measures for convening a quorum of the justices for the trial at the stated term of the court in the county, or at an adjournment of such term; which trial shall be had as soon after the finding of the indictment as the other official duties of the justices admit, and the circumstances of the case require.

SECT. 21. If a session of the court is not to be held in the county within six months after the finding of the indictment, a special term may be held for the purpose by the full court at such time and place as a majority of the justices may, by an order in writing under their hands, directed to the sheriff of the county, determine.

SECT. 22. The sheriff shall give notice of the intended special term, by posting a copy of the order on the door of the court house, or by publishing the same in such other manner as therein directed; and the clerk for the county shall issue venire for jurors, and he and all other officers shall do all things necessary or proper in relation to such term, as at a stated term.

SECT. 23. The court assembled at such special term shall have and exercise the same powers as at a stated term, except that no party in any civil action pending in the court shall be required to attend at such terms, be defaulted or suffer any other penalty for not attending thereat.

SECT. 24. An indictment for a capital offence found in the county of Dukes County, shall be tried at a court to be held in the county of Barnstable; and the court for that purpose shall be convened and held and all the proceedings in relation thereto conducted as when held in the county where an indictment is found.

SECT. 25. If a special term is required to be held in the county of Barnstable for the trial of an indictment found in the county of Dukes County, a written order shall be sent to the sheriff of each of said counties, and each of them required to do in his county whatever is necessary or proper in relation to such term.

SECT. 26. A law term of the court for the commonwealth shall be held at Boston on the first Wednesday of January of each year, which may be adjourned from time to time to places and times most conducive to the despatch of business and the interests of the public; and there shall be entered and determined therein questions of law arising in the counties of Barnstable, Bristol, Dukes County, Essex, Middlesex, Nantucket, Norfolk, Plymouth, and Suffolk; and also all questions of law arising in other counties where special provisions are not made therefor.

SECT. 27. For entering and hearing questions of law arising in the following counties, law terms shall be held as follows:—

For the county of Berkshire, at Lenox, on the first Tuesday of September:

For the county of Franklin, at Greenfield, on the first Monday after the first Tuesday of September:

For the county of Hampden, at Springfield, on the third Monday after the first Tuesday of September:

For the county of Hampshire, at Northampton, on the second Monday after the first Tuesday of September:

For the county of Worcester, at Worcester, on the fourth Tuesday after the first Tuesday of September.

These terms shall be taken to be terms for the return of process, entry of appeals, trials, and for all purposes for which a court may be held by a single justice in the county in which the court is held; but no jury shall be summoned for such terms unless an order therefor shall be issued by the justices of said court, or one of them, directed to the clerk of said county. Cases which may have arisen or which may be pending in the counties of Berkshire and Franklin, when the provisions of this chapter take effect, shall have day and be cognizable in said counties respectively at the aforesaid terms: persons, processes, and matters, shall be held and answerable accordingly.

SECT. 28. Jury terms of the court shall be held by a single justice every year at the times and places following, and the presiding judge thereat shall have and exercise all the powers not expressly reserved to the full court:—

For the county of Barnstable and Dukes County, at Barnstable, on the first Tuesday of May:

For the county of Berkshire, at Lenox, on the second Tuesday of May:

For the county of Bristol, in alternate years at New Bedford and Taunton, beginning at New Bedford on the second Tuesday of November:

For the county of Essex, at Salem, on the third Tuesday of April:

For the county of Franklin, at Greenfield, on the second Tuesday of April:

For the county of Hampden, at Springfield, on the fourth Tuesday of April:

For the county of Hampshire, at Northampton, on the third Tuesday of April:

For the county of Middlesex, at Lowell, on the third Tuesday of April:

For the county of Nantucket, at Nantucket, on the first Tuesday of July:

For the county of Norfolk, at Dedham, on the third Tuesday of February:

For the county of Plymouth, at Plymouth, on the second Tuesday of May:

For the county of Suffolk, at Boston, on the first Tuesdays of October and April:

For the county of Worcester, at Worcester, on the second Tuesday of April.

SECT. 29. Writs and processes in suits cognizable by the full court, except original writs ordered by the court, shall be sued out of the clerk's office of the county in which the matter is pending, and be returnable to the full court.

SECT. 34. At the law term held in Boston, all questions of law shall be in order for argument within five days after their entry upon the docket of the full court, and be argued when reached, in their order, by either party ready to do so, unless the court, for good cause shown, postpones the same.

At law term in Boston, questions of law to be in order for argument within five days after entry. 1839, 196, § 45.

SECT. 35. Questions arising upon appeals and exceptions in the superior court in criminal cases, and all processes and other proceedings in such cases, which may lawfully come before the court at the law term aforesaid, shall be entered upon the criminal docket, and be proceeded in and determined, and such judgment, order, or decision, made, as to law shall appertain. And such rescript, writ, or process, shall be issued thereon as the case may require.

Questions on appeals, &c., in superior court in criminal cases, how entered, &c.

SECT. 36. At any time after five days from the entry thereof, all such criminal cases shall be in order and have precedence for argument on such day in every month in which the court shall be in session, as the court may designate; and the arguments shall be continued till such cases are disposed of, and shall not be postponed except for special cause shown.

to be entered on separate docket.
1859, 237, § 11.
Justice may reserve questions for full court.
1859, 237, § 11.

Decree, &c., to bear date of entry.
1859, 237, § 8.

Execution on final decree not to issue for thirty days, unless, &c.

SECT. 7. For hearings, and making, entering, and modifying orders and decrees in equity causes, by a single justice, and issuing writs in such causes, the court shall be always open in each county, except on holidays established by law. And the court shall establish rule days for the transaction of the business pertaining to the jurisdiction in equity.

SECT. 8. From final decrees made by such justice, any party aggrieved may, within thirty days after the entry thereof, claim an appeal, to be entered on the clerk's docket; and thereupon all proceedings under such decree shall be stayed, and such appeal be thereupon pending before the full court, who shall hear and determine the same, and affirm, reverse, or modify, the decree appealed from, as circumstances may require. On the reversal of any final decree, the court may remand the cause, with such directions as are necessary and proper, to a single justice, further to proceed therein, or may refer it to a master, or take such other order respecting future proceedings therein as equity requires, and as shall be most conducive to the just and speedy determination of the case.

SECT. 9. If an appeal is taken from a final decree, the justice by whom such decree was made may make such orders for the appointment of receivers, and of injunction or prohibition, or for continuing the same in force, as are needful for the protection of the rights of parties, until the appeal is heard by the full court; subject, however, to be modified or annulled, by the order of that court on motion, after the appeal is taken.

SECT. 10. From all interlocutory decrees made by a single justice, any party aggrieved may appeal, in like manner, to the full court; but such appeal shall not suspend the execution of the decree of the single justice, nor transfer to the full court the entire cause, or any matter therein, except the question whether the interlocutory decree appealed from, shall be affirmed, reversed, or modified.

SECT. 11. All interlocutory decrees not appealed from shall be open to revision on appeals from final decrees, so far only as it appears to the full court that such final decrees are erroneously affected thereby.

SECT. 12. If upon making any interlocutory decree or order the justice is of opinion that it so affects the merits of the controversy that the matter ought to be determined by the court of law before further proceedings are had, he may report the question for that purpose, and stay all further proceedings except such as are necessary to preserve the rights of the parties.

SECT. 13. A party having by accident or mistake omitted to claim an appeal from any final decree, within the time allowed for that purpose, may, at any time within one year after the entry of the decree from which he desires to appeal, apply to the full court, by petition for leave to appeal; which may be granted upon such terms as appear to the court just and equitable.

SECT. 14. All appeals in equity and probate matters shall be entered on a separate docket in the supreme judicial court.

SECT. 15. The justice by whom a case is heard for final decree may reserve and report the evidence and all questions of law therein, for the consideration of the full court; and thereupon like proceedings shall be had as in appeals from final decrees.

SECT. 16. Every order and decree shall bear date as of the day when the same is actually entered by the clerk, and the date be noted upon the order or decree and upon the docket by the clerk at the time of entering the same.

SECT. 17. No process for the execution of a final decree, made by a single justice, shall issue until after the lapse of thirty days from the date of the entry thereof, unless all parties against whom such decree is made waive an appeal by an entry on the clerk's docket, or by a writing filed in the cause. 1859, 237, § 9.

SECT. 18. A single justice or the full court, sitting in one county, may when needful hear and determine cases pending in another county, and any motion therein. And all orders and decrees made on such hearings shall be transmitted to the clerk in the proper county, to be by him entered. Court may hear cases pending in another county. Decrees, &c., to be transmitted. R. S. 81, § 24. 1839, 237, § 7.

SECT. 19. A motion shall not be heard nor a decree or order made under the preceding section, until reasonable notice thereof has been given to the adverse party or his counsel. Notice to adverse party in such case. R. S. 81, § 22.

SECT. 20. Either party in such case may transmit to the court his reasons in writing for or against the application, and the justice shall examine the same and proceed thereon as if the parties were present. Motion, &c., may be argued in writing. R. S. 81, § 23.

SECT. 21. The testimony of witnesses examined orally before a single justice, upon any matter pending before him, in which an appeal is taken, shall be reported to the full court. And the court shall provide by general rules for some convenient and effectual means of having the same reported, by the justice before whom the hearing is had, or by some person designated by him for that purpose. No oral evidence shall be exhibited to the full court, but the cause be heard, on appeal, upon the same evidence as on the original hearing; but the full court may grant leave to parties, in special cases of accident or mistake, to exhibit further evidence, and may provide by general rules, or special order, for the conditions under, and modes by which, such evidence shall be taken. Upon appeal, testimony to be reported to full court. Rules therefor. 1859, 237, § 6. Sec Ch. 131, § 60.

SECT. 22. The court may frame issues of fact to be tried by a jury, in an equity cause, when requested by a party, and direct the same to be tried in the county where such cause is pending, at the bar of the supreme judicial court, or the superior court. Court may frame issues for jury, when, &c. 1859, 237, § 13. 6 Pick. 376.

SECT. 23. The court may issue writs of seisin and execution in common form when such process appears to be an appropriate method of enforcing a decree in equity. may issue writs, &c., to enforce decree. R. S. 74, § 12. R. S. 118, § 43.

SECT. 24. The justices of the court shall, from time to time, by arrangement among themselves, designate some one of their number to attend at some convenient place in Boston, at all convenient times, for the purpose of hearing matters in equity, who by his rescript may make decrees and orders in equity suits in any county. Justice to hear equity cases at all times in Boston. 1859, 196, § 50.

SECT. 25. The original papers, in any suit in equity, may be taken from the files in any county by the counsel of record of either party, for use before the court, upon leaving a memorandum and receipt on such files, containing a short description of the papers so taken. Counsel may take papers from files upon leaving receipt. 1859, 196, § 50.

SECT. 26. The court may make rules regulating the practice and conducting the business of the court in matters of equity, so as to simplify the proceedings, discourage delays, lessen the expenses and burdens of litigation, and expedite the decision of causes. Court may make rules regulating practice, &c. 1859, 196, § 49.

SECTION 1. There shall be one chief justice and nine associate justices of the superior court.

SECT. 2. The court may be held by one or more of the justices, and when so held shall have and exercise all the power and jurisdiction committed to said court.

SECT. 3. The court shall have exclusive original jurisdiction of complaints for flowing land, and original jurisdiction of all civil actions except those of which the supreme judicial court, police courts, or justices of the peace have original and exclusive jurisdiction.

SECT. 4. The court shall have original and concurrent jurisdiction with the supreme judicial court, of petitions for partition, of writs of entry for the foreclosure of mortgages, and of all civil actions except in the county of Suffolk, in which the sum demanded in damages exceeds one thousand dollars; and the like jurisdiction in the county of Suffolk, where the sum demanded as aforesaid exceeds four thousand dollars; and original and concurrent jurisdiction with police courts and justices of the peace, where the debt or damages demanded, or the value of the property alleged to be detained, exceeds twenty dollars in cases where police courts and justices of the peace have jurisdiction, except actions of replevin of beasts distrained for the recovery of any penalty or forfeiture, or to obtain satisfaction for damages.

SECT. 5. The court shall have jurisdiction of all civil actions and proceedings legally brought before it by appeal or otherwise from justices of the peace, police courts, or courts of insolvency, and from the decisions of commissioners on insolvent estates of deceased persons.

SECT. 6. The court shall have original jurisdiction of all crimes, offences, and misdemeanors, and appellate jurisdiction of all offences tried and determined before a police court or justice of the peace; and in criminal cases legally brought before it its jurisdiction shall be final, except as otherwise provided.

SECT. 7. Actions and petitions for partition entered in the court in the several counties, except the county of Suffolk, where the ad damnum in the writ or property claimed, or value of the estate in controversy, exceeds one thousand dollars, and in the county of Suffolk four thousand dollars, may, before the trial is commenced, be carried, by consent of parties, to the supreme judicial court; the plaintiff shall enter the same at the next term of that court, and the cause proceed as if the action or petition was originally brought therein.

SECT. 8. If the defendant in such action, or the respondent in petition for partition, or any person in behalf of either of them, at the first term at which such defendant or respondent is held by law to appear, makes oath or affirmation before the clerk or a justice of the peace, that he verily believes he has a substantial defence; that the amount in controversy exceeds the amount or value mentioned in the preceding section; that he intends to bring the cause to trial, and requests that the same may be removed to the supreme judicial court, it shall be immediately transferred, with the papers therein, to the clerk of that court, and by him forthwith entered at the charge of the party removing the same, and the cause proceed as if originally brought in that court.

SECT. 9. No action shall be commenced in the court wherein the debt or damages demanded do not exceed twenty dollars.

SECT. 12. Orders or decrees of the supreme judicial court issued on questions arising in a case pending in the superior court shall be entered of record in that court, and such disposition be made of the case as law and justice require, conformably to the rescript or order of the supreme judicial court.

Decrees of S. J. C. in cases in superior court to be entered of record.

SECT. 13. Parties in an action submitted to the determination of the court may agree that the judgment therein shall be final.

Judgment may be final by agreement.
R. S. 82, § 11.
Clerk to transmit copies to S. J. C. at expense of appellant, &c.
1859, 196, §§ 33, 34.

SECT. 14. The clerks shall, at the expense of the party appealing or taking exceptions, or of the plaintiff if a case is reserved or reported, or of the commonwealth in all criminal cases, prepare and transmit to the supreme judicial court sitting for the proper county, one copy of every paper on file in the case, except papers used in evidence only, and also one copy of all papers made part of the case or referred to in the bill of exceptions or report, or so much thereof as necessary fully to present the question of law, for the use of the chief justice, and like copies for the clerk of the supreme judicial court, to be kept on file in said court; and one copy of the bill of exceptions, or report, or papers upon which the question of law arises on appeal, for each associate justice, and a like copy for each party and the reporter. And in case any original papers used in the trial of the cause, are needed in the supreme judicial court, they shall be transmitted to the clerk of said court, to be by him kept on file until the rescript in such action is sent. And the expense of such copies and transmission shall be taxed in the bill of costs of the prevailing party, if he has paid the same.

original papers in case, &c.

SECT. 15. If by reason of mistake or accident an appeal to the superior court is not duly entered therein, or if for a like reason a complaint founded on an omission to enter an appeal has not been entered by the appellee, the court upon petition may allow said appeal or complaint to be entered in the same manner, and upon the same terms, as questions or complaints are allowed in like cases to be entered in the supreme judicial court under section seventeen of chapter one hundred and twelve; and when so entered, the case shall proceed as if the complaint or appeal had been duly entered. Attachments made and security given in the original action shall not be revived or continued in force by the entry of an appeal or complaint of the original plaintiffs, allowed under this section, but shall remain discharged.

Entry of appeal, &c., omitted, allowed on petition.

- Plymouth. For the county of Plymouth, at Plymouth, on the second Mondays of February and June and third Monday of October:
- Suffolk. For the county of Suffolk, at Boston, for civil business, on the first Tuesdays of January, April, July, and October; for criminal business on the first Monday of every month:
- Worcester. For the county of Worcester, for civil business, at Worcester, on the first Monday of March, the Monday next after the fourth Monday of August, and the second Monday of December; and at Fitchburg on the second Mondays of June and November; for criminal business, at Worcester, on the third Monday of January, the second Monday of May, and the third Monday of October; and at Fitchburg on the second Monday of August.

Civil and criminal business to be transacted at respective terms therefor. 1859, 196, § 11.

SECT. 17. In the counties where both civil and criminal terms are established, civil business exclusively shall be transacted at civil terms, and criminal at criminal terms; and continuances of civil and criminal cases shall be to civil and criminal terms respectively without any special order therefor, except as provided in the following section.

Suits on recognizances in criminal matters. R. S., § 43.

SECT. 18. In such counties civil suits on recognizances entered into in criminal prosecutions cognizable by this court, shall be returnable to and have day in criminal terms. 1841, 111, § 3. 1859, 196, § 12.

SECT. 19. No justice shall hold in any one year more than four terms for the transaction of criminal business only.

No justice to hold more than four criminal terms a year. 1859, 196, § 22. Certain actions to have precedence. 1859, 196, § 51.

SECT. 20. At any term of the court wherein criminal business may be transacted, causes arising under the provisions of chapters one hundred and forty-four, eighty-six, and eighty-seven, shall have precedence in the order said chapters are herein named, next after the causes of persons actually confined in prison and awaiting trial.

SECT. 21. The records of courts transferred to the superior court shall remain in the custody of its clerks. In the county of Suffolk the clerk of said court, for civil business, shall have the custody of said records in civil cases, and the clerk for criminal business shall have the custody of said records in criminal cases. Copies of said records may be certified by said clerks respectively. Judicial writs and processes founded upon such records shall issue under the seal of the superior court, in like manner and with the same effect as similar writs and processes founded upon its own records.

Records transferred, custody of, &c. 1859, 196, § 4.

SECT. 22. The chief justice of the court shall receive an annual salary of three thousand seven hundred dollars, and each of the other justices an annual salary of three thousand five hundred dollars, from the treasury of the commonwealth.

Salaries of justices. 1859, 196, § 17. See Ch. 15, § 1.

them, and when no form for any such writ or process is prescribed, the court shall frame one in conformity with the principles of law and the usual course of proceedings in the courts of this commonwealth.

SECT. 4. The courts shall respectively from time to time make and promulgate uniform codes of rules for regulating the practice and conducting the business of such courts in cases not expressly provided for by law; for the purpose of—

First. Simplifying and shortening the pleadings and other proceedings:

Second. Prescribing the terms upon which amendments will be allowed by the court, or upon which unnecessary counts and statements will be stricken out of the record; discouraging negligence and deceit; preventing delay; securing parties from being misled; placing the party not in fault as nearly as possible in the condition in which he would have been if no mistake had been made; distinguishing between form and substance; and affording known, fixed, and certain requisitions, in place of the discretion of the court:

Third. For conducting trials:

Fourth. Presenting more distinctly the questions to be tried by the jury:

Fifth. Giving each party notice of matters intended to be given in evidence by the other party so as to prevent surprise and enable suitors to prepare for trial:

Sixth. Respecting the forms of verdicts so as to place upon record the finding of the jury in matters of fact:

Seventh. Expediting the decision of causes:

Eighth. SECT. 5. The courts shall not charge juries with respect to matters of fact, but may state the testimony and the law.

SECT. 6. The courts may, at any time before judgment in a civil action, set aside the verdict and order a new trial, for any cause for which a new trial may by law be granted; or after verdict may report the case for determination by the supreme judicial court.

SECT. 7. Decisions of a justice of either court, upon pleas in abatement or on motions to dismiss for defect of form in process, shall be final on the question raised. On motions for a new trial, and in all cases, civil or criminal, whether according to the course of the common law or otherwise, a party aggrieved by an opinion, ruling, direction, or judgment, of the court in matters of law, may allege exceptions thereto; such exceptions, being reduced to writing in a summary mode and filed with the clerk, and notice thereof given to the adverse party, may be presented to the court before the adjournment without day of the term in which the exceptions are taken, and within three days after the verdict in the case, or after the opinion, ruling, direction, or judgment, excepted to is given. For good cause shown, a further time, not exceeding five days, unless by consent of the adverse party, may be allowed by the court. The exceptions being examined and found conformable to the truth shall be allowed by the presiding judge. In all cases the adverse party shall have an opportunity to be heard concerning the allowance of such exceptions.

SECT. 8. The exceptions shall be restored to the files of the court within five days after the same are presented to the judge, with a certificate under his hand either allowing or disallowing the same, unless the judge finds that further time is necessary for the examination or hearing upon the same, not exceeding ten days, unless for reasons rendering more delay necessary, which shall be certified by the judge on restoring the papers.

SECT. 9. The trial of questions of fact shall not be prevented or delayed by the filing or allowance of exceptions, but the court shall proceed to the determination of such questions as if exceptions had not been taken, and such further proceedings be had as the court orders; but no judgment shall be entered unless the exceptions are adjudged immaterial, frivolous, or intended for delay.

Trials not to be delayed by allowance of exceptions.
R. S. 81, §§ 29, 33.
R. S. 82, § 13.
1859, 196, § 28.

SECT. 10. If the exceptions appear to the justice before whom the trial is had, to be frivolous, immaterial, or intended for delay, judgment may be entered, and execution awarded or stayed on such terms as the court deems reasonable, and in criminal cases sentence passed, notwithstanding the allowance of the exceptions. If execution is not awarded, any security which has been taken in the case, whether by bond, attachment, or otherwise, shall stand as if no judgment had been entered, until an order is made for final judgment.

If exceptions are frivolous, judgment may be entered, &c.
R. S. 81, § 29.
10 Pick. 252.

SECT. 11. If the justice disallows or fails to sign and return the exceptions, or alters any statement therein, and either party is aggrieved, the truth of the exceptions presented may be established before the supreme judicial court upon petition setting forth the grievance, and thereupon, the truth thereof being established, the exceptions shall be heard, and the same proceedings had as if they had been duly signed and brought up to said court with the petition. The supreme judicial court shall make and promulgate rules for settling the truth of exceptions alleged and not allowed.

If disallowed, may be proved, on petition.
R. S. 81, §§ 28, 29, 30.
1841, 261.
1859, 196, § 29.
10 Pick. 252.
4 Gray, 166, 573.

SECT. 12. Copies and papers relating to a question of law arising in either court upon appeal, by bill of exception, reserved case, or otherwise, shall within twenty days from the adjournment of the court for that term without day, be transmitted to and entered in the law docket of the supreme judicial court for the proper county; but the entry thereof shall not transfer the case, but only the question to be determined.

Copies of exceptions, &c., to be sent up within 20 days.
1859, 196, §§ 26, 27, 31.

SECT. 13. Questions of law arising in the supreme judicial court or superior court, when sitting for the counties of Berkshire, Hampshire, Franklin, Hampden, or Worcester, may, by consent of all the parties filed in the case, be entered and heard at the law term of the supreme judicial court at Boston. And if the judge before whom any action or proceeding is tried in the courts in said counties in which a question of law is saved or arises for the determination of the full court, deems the exception or appeal frivolous, or intended for delay merely, or that the interests of the parties or the public require a more speedy determination thereof than can be attained in the terms established for the county in which the trial is had, he shall so certify and order the questions of law to be entered and heard at the term aforesaid in Boston; and all the other proceedings shall be the same as if the questions had arisen in any other county.

Questions of law in Berkshire, &c., may, by consent of parties, be heard in Boston.
1859, 196, § 36.

SECT. 14. The courts may at their discretion, whenever justice requires it, enter any judgment as of any day of a former term.

Judgment may be entered as of former term.

SECT. 15. In writs, processes, records, and judicial proceedings, civil and criminal, the day on which any term is to commence may be designated as the first, second, or other Monday, or other day in the week, in the month in which the same happens.

First day of term, how designated.
1859, 196, § 18.

SECT. 16. Two or more sessions of the court may be held in the same county at any term for the transaction of business, when the public convenience requires; and such division of the business may be made as may conduce to its more speedy and convenient disposal.

Two or more sessions may be held at same term.
1851, 236, § 2.
1859, 196, § 13.

SECT. 17. The courts shall respectively receive, examine and allow accounts for services and expenses incident thereto in the several counties, and order payment thereof out of the respective county treasuries.

Courts to allow, &c., accounts.
1859, 4, § 10.
1859, 196, § 20.

SECT. 18. The justices of said courts respectively, or a majority of Justices to make convenient arrangements for holding courts.

R. S. 82, § 38.

them, shall, from time to time, make such arrangements for the attendance of some one of them at the several times and places appointed for holding the courts, as will be most convenient, and insure a punctual and prompt discharge of their duties.

SECT. 19. If the public business demands, either court may adjourn an established term in one shire town to another in the same county.
Persons, recognizances, and processes required to appear at or to be returned to the established term, shall appear at, be returnable to, and have day in, the adjourned term.

SECT. 20. When no justice is present at the time and place appointed for holding a court, whether at the beginning of a term or any adjournment thereof, the sheriff of the county or either of his deputies may adjourn the court from day to day, or from time to time, as circumstances require, or as ordered by any of the justices, and shall give notice of such adjournment by making public proclamation in the court house, and by a notification posted on the door of the court house, or published in some newspaper.

SECT. 21. In such case any justice may, by a written order, require the sheriff or his deputy to adjourn the court without day, or to the time expressed in the order; and the officer shall adjourn the court accordingly by public proclamation in the court house.

SECT. 22. Each court shall have power to establish a seal, and to appoint all officers necessary for the transaction of its business.

SECT. 2. No police court shall hereafter be established in any town having less than ten thousand inhabitants.

where not to be established.

JUSTICES AND CLERKS.

SECT. 3. There shall be one justice and two special justices of each of said courts, except in the city of Boston. The justices now appointed shall continue to hold their offices according to the tenor of their commissions, and as vacancies occur, others shall be appointed in the manner provided by the constitution.

Appointment of the justices, Const. Ch. 3, art. 1.
R. S. 87, § 30.
1847, 270.

SECT. 4. The clerks now in office shall hold their offices until successors are chosen and qualified under the provisions of this chapter; and in every city or town containing, according to the next preceding state or national census, fourteen thousand inhabitants, in which a police court is established, and where the office of clerk is not established by law, a clerk of the court shall be chosen at the municipal election of the year in which clerks of other police courts shall next thereafter be elected. At the annual municipal election in the year eighteen hundred and sixty-one, and every fifth year thereafter, clerks of the several police courts, where the office of clerk shall then exist by law, shall be chosen by the districts, and shall hold office until their successors are chosen and qualified. If a clerk is removed, or otherwise vacates his office, another shall be chosen at the annual municipal election, for the remainder of the term.

Clerks, how chosen, &c. Amend. const. art. 19.
Sec. Ch. 112, § 4.

SECT. 5. The justice of a police court, when no clerk is required by law, may appoint a clerk, to be paid by him, and for whose official acts and doings he shall be responsible, and who shall hold his office during the pleasure of such justice.

Jurisdiction, civil, when exclusive.

SECT. 12. They shall in their respective counties have the same jurisdiction as any justice of the peace in all matters relating to crimes and offences; and in relation to crimes and offences committed in their respective districts such jurisdiction shall exclude the jurisdiction of other police courts and of justices of the peace, except as provided in section seventeen, and section thirty-two of chapter one hundred and twenty.

SECT. 13. They shall in their respective counties, concurrently with the superior court, have jurisdiction of cases of assault and battery, (except where committed with intent to commit some other offence, or with a weapon dangerous to life, or where the life of the person assaulted is in danger, or such person is maimed,) and in such cases may punish by imprisonment in the jail or house of correction not exceeding six months or by fine not exceeding thirty dollars. They shall also concurrently as aforesaid have jurisdiction of offences punishable by fine or forfeiture not exceeding one hundred dollars, or imprisonment in the jail or house of correction not exceeding one year, or both said punishments.

SECT. 14. They shall also have concurrent jurisdiction, as aforesaid, of larcenies; and offences of obtaining property by any false pretence, or privy or false token, or by the game of three-card monte, or any other game, device, sleight of hand, pretended fortune telling, trick, or other means, by the use of cards or other implements or instruments; and offences of buying, receiving, or aiding in the concealment of stolen goods or other property; where the property alleged to be stolen, or so obtained, bought, received, or the concealment of which is so aided, is not alleged to exceed the value of fifty dollars; and in such cases may punish by imprisonment in the jail or house of correction not exceeding two years, or by fine not exceeding one hundred dollars.

SECT. 15. They may in their discretion decline to exercise final jurisdiction of any case in which the superior court has concurrent jurisdiction.

SECT. 16. The justice may receive complaints and issue warrants when the court is not in session.

SECT. 17. All warrants issued by said courts, or a justice thereof, or by a justice of the peace in any district, in a criminal suit or prosecution, or under the provisions of chapter seventy-two, shall be returnable before the police court of the district. Warrants issued by justices of the peace of any county for offences committed out of the district, may be made returnable before the nearest police court in the county. No fees shall be allowed to a justice of the peace for any such warrant, but all fees therefor shall be payable to the court to which the warrant is returnable.

Civil.

SECT. 18. The courts in their respective counties shall each have the same jurisdiction as justices of the peace of all civil actions and proceedings, and such jurisdiction shall, when the plaintiff and defendant both reside in the district, exclude the jurisdiction of other police courts and justices of the peace.

SECT. 19. When there are two or more plaintiffs or defendants, or one or more trustees, the jurisdiction of the court shall not be exclusive, unless all the parties reside in the district.

R. S. 87, §§ 11, 34.
1848, 32, § 24.
1849, 137.
1 Met. 148.
Jurisdiction when two or more are plaintiffs, &c.
R. S. 87, § 35.

SESSIONS, PROCEEDINGS, &C.

SECT. 20. Each court shall be held as often as necessary for civil and criminal business within the district for which it is established, in the court house, or in any other suitable place to be provided by the district, and may be adjourned from time to time to the same or any other place in the same district, as occasion requires. Separate terms of the court for civil and criminal business, and the times of holding the same, shall be fixed by the justice or justices by general rule.

Terms of court; separate civil and criminal.
R. S. 87, § 42.

SECT. 21. The reasonable expenses of such courts for rent and care of court rooms, fuel, record books, blanks and stationery, and otherwise incidental to maintaining such courts, shall be certified by the justices thereof, and audited, allowed, and paid out of the county treasury to the parties entitled thereto, like costs in criminal cases, and two-thirds of such expenses shall be repaid to the county out of the treasury of the commonwealth.

Expenses, how paid.

SECT. 22. Each court, except in Boston, shall be held by the justice; but in case of his sickness, interest, absence, or other disability, and in case of a vacancy in the office of justice, the special justice holding the oldest commission shall have the powers and perform the duties of the justice; and at any time upon request of the justice either special justice may hold a session of the court, and two or more sessions may be held at the same time, the fact being stated upon the record. For every day occupied by a special justice, he shall receive the same rate of compensation as the justice, by whom he shall be paid, but such compensation shall not exceed the fees taxable by law for the services performed.

R. S. 87, § 37.

SECT. 24. The courts may issue summons and other process to procure the attendance of witnesses in the trial and examination of criminal cases, to run into any county to be served by the sheriff of any county or his deputies, or any constable of the city or town in which any witness may be.

Courts may issue summons, to run into any county.
1838, 147, § 1.

SECT. 25. Complaints made to a police court shall be entered on a docket to be kept for the purpose, and all warrants issued upon any complaint shall be returned to the court specified in the warrant, with the return of the officer who had the same for service indorsed thereon.

Complaints to be entered on docket.
Warrants, where returnable.
1839, 236, § 1.

SECT. 26. Processes issuing from a police court having a clerk, shall be under the seal of the court, signed by the clerk or an assistant-clerk, and shall bear test of the justice or first justice who is not a party thereto; and in case of the death, absence, or disability of the justice, then of one of the special justices. In other respects the processes of said courts shall be substantially like the processes issued by justices of the peace.

Processes, how to bear test, &c.

SECTION 1. The judge and register of probate and insolvency for each county shall continue to be judge and register of the probate court of such county, and shall have all the jurisdiction, power, and authority, given to judges and registers of probate respectively.

SECT. 2. The probate court for each county shall have jurisdiction of the probate of wills, granting administration of the estates of persons who at the time of their decease were inhabitants of or resident in the county, and of persons who die without the state leaving estate to be administered within such county ; of the appointment of guardians to minors and others, and of all matters relating to the estates of such deceased persons and wards ; and of petitions for the adoption of children and the change of names.

SECT. 3. When a case is within the jurisdiction of the probate court in two or more counties, the court which first takes cognizance thereof by the commencement of proceedings, shall retain the same ; and administration or guardianship first granted shall extend to all the estate of the deceased or ward in this state, and exclude the jurisdiction of the probate court of every other county.

SECT. 4. The jurisdiction assumed in any case by the court, so far as it depends on the place of residence of a person, shall not be contested in any suit or proceeding, except in an appeal in the original case, or when the want of jurisdiction appears on the same record.

SECT. 5. When a person who has entered into a written agreement for the conveyance of real estate dies or is put under guardianship before making such conveyance, the probate court shall have jurisdiction concurrent with the supreme judicial court to enforce a specific performance, and upon a petition therefor presented by any person interested in the conveyance, shall order the petitioner to give notice to all persons interested, that they may appear and show cause either for or against the prayer of the petition.

Court may enforce specific performance of contracts of deceased persons to convey lands. R. S., 374, § 1. 1829, 36, § 1. 7 Gray, 533.

SECT. 6. If upon the hearing it appears that the deceased, if living, or the ward, if not under guardianship, would be required to make the conveyance, the court shall order the executor or administrator of the deceased or the guardian of the ward to make the same; and when so made it shall have like force and effect as if made by the person who entered into the agreement to convey.

Who to convey; effect of conveyance. R. S., 374, § 2. 1839, 36.

APPEALS.

SECT. 7. The supreme judicial court shall be the supreme court of probate, and have appellate jurisdiction of all matters determinable by the probate courts and the judges thereof, except in cases in which other provisions are specially made.

S. J. C. to be supreme court of probate, &c. R. S., 83, § 33.

SECT. 8. Any person aggrieved by an order, sentence, decree, or denial, of the court or judge, except in cases otherwise provided for, may appeal therefrom to the supreme judicial court. — Cash. 529. 6 Gray, 137.

Appeal. R. S., 83, § 34. 6 Met. 194. 11 Met. 390. 4 Cush. 408.

SECT. 9. The appeal shall be claimed and notice thereof given at the probate office within thirty days after the date of the act appealed from, and be entered in the supreme judicial court at the rule day appointed by said court for the same county, next after the expiration of fifty days from the date of the act so appealed from.

When to be claimed and entered. R. S., 83, §§ 34, 35. 1859, 196, § 6. 1869, 27, § 12.

SECT. 10. The appellant shall file in the probate office his reasons of appeal, and cause an attested copy thereof to be served on the adverse party fourteen days at least before the time when the appeal is to be entered.

Reasons of to be filed, &c. R. S., 83, § 37.

SECT. 11. If a person aggrieved omits to claim or prosecute his appeal, without default on his part, the supreme court of probate, if it appears that justice requires a revision of the case, may on the petition of the party aggrieved, and upon such terms as it deems reasonable, allow an appeal to be entered and prosecuted with the same effect as if it had been done seasonably. Such petition may be entered in the clerk's office at any time, and the order of notice thereon may be made returnable at a rule day.

Omitted by mistake, &c., allowed on petition. R. S., 83, § 39. 1 Gray, 522.

SECT. 12. Such appeal shall not be allowed without due notice to the party adversely interested, nor unless the petition therefor be filed within one year after passing the decree or order complained of, except as provided in the following section.

Proceedings on petition for. R. S., 83, § 40.

SECT. 13. If the petitioner was without the United States at the time of passing the decree or order, he may file his petition at any time within three months after his return, and within two years after the act complained of.

Same subject. R. S., 83, § 41.

SECT. 14. Appeals and petitions for appeal shall be entered on a docket with cases in equity, and shall have the same rights as to hearing and determination as such cases.

Entry of, &c.

SECT. 15. After an appeal is claimed, and notice given at the probate office, all proceedings in pursuance of the order, sentence, decree, or denial appealed from, shall cease until the determination of the supreme court of probate is had; but if the appellant in writing waives his appeal before the entry thereof, proceedings may be had in the probate court as if no appeal had been taken.

Proceedings in probate court suspended by, &c. — may be waived. R. S., 83, § 43. 4 Cush. 46.

SECT. 16. The supreme court of probate may reverse or affirm, in whole or in part, the sentence or act appealed from, and may pass such decree thereon as the probate court or judge ought to have passed, and remit the case for further proceedings, or take any other order therein, as law and justice shall require.

Proceedings when appellant fails to enter his appeal.
R. S. 83, § 45.

SECT. 17. If the appellant fails to enter and prosecute his appeal, the supreme court of probate may, upon the complaint of any person interested, affirm the former sentence or take such other order as law and justice shall require.

Jury trial in supreme court.
R. S. 83, § 46.

SECT. 18. If, upon the hearing of an appeal in the supreme court of probate, any question of fact occurs proper for trial by jury, the court may cause it to be so tried upon an issue formed for the purpose under the direction of the court.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.

Rules of practice, how and by whom established.
R. S. 83, § 8.

SECT. 19. The several judges shall from time to time make rules for regulating the practice and conducting the business in their courts in all cases not expressly provided for by law; and shall return a statement of their rules and course of proceedings to the supreme judicial court, as soon as conveniently may be after making the same. The supreme judicial court may alter and amend the same, and make other and further rules from time to time for regulating the proceeding in the probate courts as it deems necessary, in order to secure regularity and uniformity in the proceedings.

Judge may frame and issue necessary warrants, &c.
R. S. 83, § 9.

SECT. 20. The judge shall make and issue all warrants and processes necessary or proper to carry into effect the powers granted to him; and when no form for a warrant or process is prescribed by statute or the rules of the court, he shall frame one in conformity with the principles of law, and the usual course of proceedings in this state.

Decrees, &c., to be in writing, and what papers to be recorded.
R. S. 83, § 7.
6 Met. 369.

SECT. 21. All his decrees and orders shall be made in writing, and the register shall record, in books to be kept for the purpose, all decrees and orders, wills proved in the court, with the probate thereof, letters testamentary and of administration, warrants, returns, reports, accounts, and bonds; and all other acts and proceedings required to be recorded by the rules of the court or a special order of the judge.

Regularity of proceedings presumed in certain cases.
R. S. 83, § 13.

SECT. 22. When the validity of a decree is drawn in question in another suit or proceeding, every thing necessary to have been done or proved in order to render the decree valid, which might have been proved by parol evidence at the time of making the decree, and was not required to be recorded, shall after twenty years from such time be presumed to have been done or proved, unless the contrary appears on the same record.

Acts in vacation.
R. S. 83, § 4.

SECT. 23. Orders of notice and other official acts which are passed as matters of course and do not require a previous notice to an adverse party, may be made and done in vacation as well as in court.

Court may revoke commissions, &c.
R. S. 83, § 31.

SECT. 24. Any warrant or commission for the appraisement of an estate, for examining the claims on insolvent estates, for the partition of real estate, or for the assignment of dower or other interests in real estate, may be revoked by the judge for sufficient cause; and he may thereupon issue a new commission, or proceed otherwise as the circumstances of the case shall require.

Power of court, as to costs.
R. S. 83, § 47.
7 Gray, 472.

SECT. 25. In cases contested either before the probate court or supreme court of probate, costs in the discretion of the court may be awarded to either party, to be paid by the other, or to either or both parties to be paid out of the estate which is the subject of the controversy, as justice and equity shall require.

Executions therefor.
R. S. 83, § 48.

SECT. 26. When costs are awarded to be paid by one party to the other, said courts may issue execution therefor in like manner as is practised in the courts of common law.

Accountants

SECT. 27. When an executor, administrator, guardian, or trustee, who is required to make oath to an account, is unable by reason of sickness or otherwise to attend personally in the probate court, the judge may administer the oath to the accountant out of court, or may by his commission authorize a justice of the peace to administer it. And a certificate of the oath with the account and vouchers produced therewith, and the commission, if any, shall be returned into the registry of probate and there filed and recorded.

may be sworn out of court, in case, &c. R. S. 83, § 29.

SECT. 28. All other oaths required of executors, administrators, guardians, and trustees, and all oaths required of commissioners of insolvency, appraisers, dividers of estates, and other persons, in relation to any proceeding in the court, may be administered by the judge or register in or out of court, or by a justice of the peace, or by the city or town clerk where there is no justice of the peace, and a certificate thereof, when administered out of court, shall be returned into the registry of probate and there filed and recorded.

Oaths of other persons, how administered. R. S. 83, § 48. R. S. 83, § 50. 1832, 241.

SECT. 29. Persons having business in the court may select such newspapers as they may prefer for the publication of legal notices ordered upon their applications, but if the judge deems the newspaper thus selected insufficient to give due publicity, he may order the publication in one other newspaper.

Parties may select newspaper for notice. 1851, 138.

SECT. 30. The register shall make, without charge, one copy of all wills proved, inventories returned, and accounts settled; of all partitions of real estate and assignments of dower; and of all orders and decrees of the court; and shall deliver the same when demanded to the executor, administrator, guardian, widow, heir, or other party principally interested. For additional copies of such documents, and copies of other papers, he shall be paid by the person demanding the same at the rate of twelve cents a page.

What copies register shall make, free of charge; and for what he may receive pay. R. S. 83, § 53.

SECT. 31. Each county shall provide all books necessary for keeping the records and all printed blanks and stationery used in probate proceedings.

Books and stationery. R. S. 83, § 54. 7 Gray, 474.

SECT. 32. No clerk or other person employed in the office of a probate court shall be commissioner of insolvency or appraiser or divider of an estate in any case within the jurisdiction of the court, unless his appointment is requested by all parties in interest.

Clerks, &c., not to be commissioners, except, &c. R. S. 83, § 28. 1839, 164, § 2.

SESSIONS OF THE COURTS.

SECT. 33. The judge may keep order in court and punish any contempt of his authority in like manner as such contempt might be punished in the superior court.

Judge may keep order, &c. R. S. 83, § 10.

SECT. 34. He may adjourn the court as occasion requires; and when he is absent at the time appointed for holding a court, the register shall adjourn it as he thinks necessary, or as ordered by the judge; the register may also adjourn the court when there is a vacancy in the office of judge.

Adjournment of court. R. S. 83, § 3. 1836, 41.

SECT. 35. No court shall be held by adjournment or otherwise unless the register, assistant-register, or a temporary register is present.

No court without register. R. S. 83, § 20.

SECT. 36. Probate courts shall be held in each year at the times and within the cities and towns hereinafter mentioned, in such places therein as the several judges shall from time to time appoint; sufficient notice of which appointments shall be given by the respective judges as often as changes take place, by advertisement in some newspaper, or by posting the same in some public places, viz.: —

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

SECTION 1. The courts of insolvency in the several counties shall continue courts of record, and the judges and registers of probate and insolvency in their respective counties shall be judges and registers thereof.

SECT. 2. The courts shall have original jurisdiction in their respective counties of all cases of insolvency arising under the provisions of this chapter.

SECT. 3. Each court shall be held at the shire towns of the county at such times as the judge appoints, and may be held at such other places as will best promote the convenience of the public. The judge may adjourn any court or meeting from time to time as occasion requires, and all things lawfully done at an adjourned meeting shall have like force and effect as if done at the original meeting.

SECT. 4. The judge may in vacation as well as in court approve compositions and assignees' bonds, approve or order sales, receive petitions, issue orders of notice and warrants, and do such other official acts as are done as matters of course and do not require notice to an adverse party.

SECT. 5. The judge may keep order in his court, and punish any contempt of his authority; administer oaths, issue commissions, take testimony, and compel the attendance of witnesses and the giving of testimony, in the same manner and to the same extent as the superior court; and may appoint such officers to attend upon the court as are necessary for the transaction of its business and keeping order therein.

SECT. 6. The proceedings in courts of insolvency shall be deemed matters of record, and the assignment and certificate of discharge shall be recorded in full. The other proceedings need not be recorded at large, but shall be carefully filed, kept, and numbered, in the office of the register. Copies of all parts of the records, and of records of prior proceedings in insolvency deposited in his office, duly certified by the register, shall in all cases be admissible as evidence, prima facie, of the facts therein stated.

SECT. 7. The register shall keep a docket with an alphabetical index of all cases in court, in which he shall enter short memorandums, with the numbers, of all proceedings and papers filed. He [shall] make all computations of dividends and orders of distribution, and shall furnish to the assignee a certified copy of such orders, and of the schedules of creditors and assets filed in each case.

SECT. 8. He may administer all oaths required in the course of proceedings before the court, except the oath described by section seventy-two; and in the absence of the judge or a vacancy in that office he may adjourn a court or meeting.

SECT. 9. For copies of orders for distribution and of schedules, in addition to those required by law, and for copies of other papers, he shall be paid by the person demanding the same, at the rate of fourteen cents a page, and no more.

SECT. 10. The docket, and all books, records, documents, and papers, in his office, relating to insolvency, shall at all reasonable times be open to the inspection of the public.

SECT. 11. All assignments, warrants, orders of notice, and processes, issuing from the court, shall be under the seal thereof, and shall be executed and obeyed throughout the commonwealth; and any officer or person to whom they are legally directed may serve the same in any county. All warrants shall be returnable not less than ten nor more than sixty days from the issuing of the same.

SECT. 12. Persons having business in court may designate the newspapers in which notices under their applications shall be published; but if the newspapers thus selected are deemed by the judge insufficient to give publicity to the notice, he may order publication in one other newspaper.

SECT. 13. Each county shall provide suitable court rooms in the shire towns; and a suitable fire-proof room, in which shall be kept all the records, books, documents, and papers, appertaining to the business of the court, and the records in all cases in insolvency.

SECT. 14. All expenses attending the sessions of the courts, and the transaction of business therein, for blank books for records, and for blank forms and stationery necessary for the business of the courts, shall be paid out of the treasury of the commonwealth.

SECT. 15. The judges or a majority of them shall from time to time make rules in writing for regulating the practice and conducting the business of the courts in all cases not provided for by law. They shall, as soon as conveniently may be after making and adopting such rules, submit a copy thereof to the supreme judicial court for approval, and amendment or alteration.

SECT. 16. The supreme judicial court shall have a general superintendence and jurisdiction of all cases arising under this chapter; and, except when special provision is otherwise made, may, upon the bill, petition, or other proper process, of any party aggrieved, hear and determine the case as a court of equity. It may from time to time make such general rules and forms as it deems necessary to establish and maintain a regular and uniform course of proceedings in all the counties. The powers thus granted may be exercised either by said court or by any justice thereof in term time or vacation, except that general rules and forms shall be made only at a law term.

APPLICATIONS BY THE DEBTOR. FIRST MEETING.

SECT. 17. Any inhabitant of this state owing debts contracted while such inhabitant, may apply by petition to the judge for the county within which he resides, setting forth his inability to pay all his debts, and his willingness to assign all his estate and effects for the benefit of his creditors, and praying that such proceedings may be had in the premises as are provided in this chapter.

SECT. 18. If it appears to the satisfaction of the judge that the debts due from the applicant amount to not less than two hundred dollars, he shall forthwith issue a warrant under his hand to the sheriff of the county or either of his deputies, directing him forthwith as messenger to take possession of all the estate real and personal of the debtor, except such as may be by law exempt from attachment, and of all his deeds, books of account, and papers, and keep the same safely until the appointment of an assignee; to publish notice in such newspapers as the warrant specifies, send written notice by mail or otherwise to all creditors upon the schedule furnished him by the debtor, and to give such personal or other notice to any persons concerned as the warrant prescribes; which notice shall state:—

First. That a warrant has issued against the estate of the debtor:

Second. That the payment of any debts, and the delivery of any property belonging to such debtor, to him or for his use, and the transfer of any property by him, are forbidden by law:

Third. That a meeting of the creditors of the debtor to prove their debts and choose one or more assignees of his estate, will be held at a court of insolvency to be holden at a time and place designated in the warrant, not less than ten nor more than sixty days after the issuing of the same.

SECT. 19. The messenger shall as soon as may be demand and receive from the debtor and other persons all the estate in his or their possession respectively, which is herein ordered to be assigned, with all the deeds, books of account, and papers, of the debtor, relating thereto.

SECT. 20. Upon demand made by the messenger under the preceding section, the debtor shall forthwith deliver to him such part of the estate and other things demanded as is within his possession or power, and shall disclose the situation of such parts thereof as are in the possession of any other person, so as to enable the messenger to demand and receive the same. The debtor shall also within three days after the date of the warrant make and deliver to the messenger a schedule, containing a full and true account of all his creditors, with the place of residence of each creditor, if known to the debtor, and the sum due to each of them. The schedule shall also set forth the nature of each debt, whether founded on written security, account, or otherwise, and also the true cause and consideration thereof, and a statement of any existing mortgage, pledge, or other collateral security, given for the payment of the same.

SECT. 21. When it appears to the satisfaction of the judge that the estate of the debtor or any part thereof is of a perishable nature, or likely to deteriorate in value before an assignee can be appointed, he may order the same to be sold in such manner as he deems expedient, under the direction of the messenger, who shall hold the funds received, in place of the estate disposed of.

Perishable, &c., property may be sold before appointment of assignee.
1848, 304, § 15.

SECT. 22. At the meeting held in pursuance of the notice the messenger shall make return of the warrant and of his doings thereon, and deliver to the register the schedule of creditors received from the debtor; and at the same meeting, or within such further time as the court may, for cause shown, allow therefor, the debtor shall deliver to the register a schedule of all his real and personal estate, giving a description of the same and stating where it is situated.

SECT. 23. If it appears to the judge that the notice to the creditors required by section eighteen has not been given, he shall forthwith adjourn the meeting and order such notice.

If no notice, meeting adjourned.
1848, 304, § 8.

SECT. 24. If the debtor dies after the issuing of the warrant, the proceedings shall be continued and concluded in like manner and with like validity and effect as if he had lived.

If debtor dies, proceedings to continue.

absolutely due; although not payable, may be proved and allowed as if payable, with a discount or rebate of interest when no interest is payable by the contract. Moneys due on any bottomry or respondentia bond or policy of insurance may be proved and allowed, if the contingency or loss happens before the making of the first dividend, in like manner as if the same had happened before the first publication of the notice. If the debtor is liable for any debt in consequence of having made or indorsed a bill of exchange or promissory note before said first publication, or in consequence of the payment by any party to a bill or note of any part of the money secured thereby, or of the payment of any sum by a surety of the debtor in any contract, if the payment is made before the making of the first dividend, such debt may be proved and allowed as if it had been due and payable by the debtor before the first publication. All demands against the debtor for or on account of goods or chattels wrongfully obtained, taken, or withheld, by him, may be proved and allowed as debts, to the amount of the value thereof. No debt other than those above mentioned shall be proved or allowed against the estate.

SECT. 26. If it appears that there has been mutual credit given by the debtor and any other person, or mutual debts between them, the account between them shall be stated, and one debt set off against the other, and the balance shall be allowed or paid on either side.

SECT. 27. When a creditor has a mortgage or pledge of real or personal estate of the debtor, or a lien thereon, for securing the payment of a debt claimed by him, the property so held as security shall, if he requires it, be sold, and the proceeds applied towards the payment of his debt, and he shall be admitted as a creditor for the residue. The sale shall be made in such manner as the judge orders, and the creditor and assignee respectively shall execute all deeds and papers necessary or proper for effecting the conveyance. If the creditor does not require such sale and join in effecting the conveyance, he may release and deliver up to the assignee the premises held as security and be admitted as a creditor for the whole of his debt. If the property is not so sold, or released and delivered up, the creditor shall not be allowed to prove any part of his debt.

SECT. 28. No debt shall be proved or allowed unless the creditor, or if he resides in a foreign country and the debt is founded on a contract made by the debtor with the consignee or agent of the creditor residing in the United States, such consignee or agent, makes oath in substance as follows: —

I, _____, do swear that _____, of _____, by (or against) whom proceedings in insolvency have been instituted, at and before the date of such proceedings, was, and still is, justly and truly indebted to me in the sum of _____, for which sum or any part thereof I have not, nor has any other person to my use, to my knowledge or belief, received any security or satisfaction whatever, beyond what has been disposed of agreeably to law. And I do further swear, that said claim was not procured by me for the purpose of influencing the proceedings in this case. And I do further swear that I have not, directly or indirectly, made or entered into any bargain, arrangement, or agreement, express or implied, to sell, transfer, or dispose of, my claim, or any part of my claim, against said debtor, nor have, directly or indirectly, received or taken, or made or entered into any bargain, arrangement, or agreement, express or implied, to take or receive, directly or indirectly, any money, property, or consideration, whatsoever, to myself, or to any person or persons to my use or benefit, under or with any understanding or agreement, express or implied, whereby my vote for assignee, or my assent to the debtor's discharge, is or shall be in any way affected, influenced, or controlled, or whereby the proceedings in this case are or shall be affected, influenced, or controlled.

No claim shall be allowed unless all the statements set forth in the oath are true.

SECT. 29. If the creditor is disabled by absence from the state, sickness, or other cause, from proving his claim, the above oath may be made by his agent or attorney testifying to the best of his knowledge and belief; in which case the judge may require such further proof of the truth of the statements therein as he deems expedient.

Oath may be made by attorney.

SECT. 30. The oath may be made before a justice of the peace; but the judge may at any time require the personal appearance in court of the party making such affidavit, to be further interrogated on oath. The debtor and any party proving a debt may be examined on oath in presence of the judge on all matters relating thereto.

SECT. 31. When a claim is presented for proof before the election of the assignee, and the judge entertains doubts of its validity or of the right of the creditor to prove it, and is of opinion that such validity or right ought to be investigated by the assignee, he may postpone the proof of the claim till after the assignee is chosen.

SECT. 32. A person who has since the sixth day of July eighteen hundred and fifty-six accepted any preference, having reasonable cause to believe that the same was made or given by the debtor contrary to any provision of this chapter, shall not prove the debt or claim on account of which the preference was made or given, nor receive any dividend thereon.

SECT. 33. The judge shall allow all debts duly proved, and shall cause a list thereof to be made and certified by the register; and any creditor may act at all meetings by his duly constituted attorney the same as though personally present.

SECT. 34. A supposed creditor whose claim is wholly or in part rejected, or an assignee who is dissatisfied with the allowance of a claim, may appeal from the decision to the superior court; but no appeal shall be allowed unless it is claimed and notice thereof given to the register, to be entered with the record of the proceedings, and also to the assignee or creditor, as the case may be, within ten days after the decision appealed from. The appeal shall be entered at the term of the superior court which shall be first held within or for the county next after the expiration of fourteen days from the time of claiming the same. But if the appellant in writing waives his appeal before the entry thereof, proceedings may be had in the court of insolvency as if no appeal had been taken.

SECT. 35. Upon entering the appeal the creditor shall file in court a statement in writing of his claim, setting forth the same substantially as in a declaration for the same cause of action at law, and the assignee shall plead or answer thereto in like manner; and like proceedings shall be thereupon had in the pleadings, trial, and determination of the cause, as in an action at law commenced and prosecuted in the usual manner; except that no execution shall be awarded against the assignee for the amount of a debt found due to the creditor.

SECT. 36. The final judgment of the court shall be conclusive; and the lists of debts shall, if necessary, be altered to conform thereto. The party prevailing in the suit shall be entitled to costs against the adverse party, to be taxed and recovered as in suits at law; if recovered against the assignee they shall be allowed out of the estate.

SECT. 37. A bill of exchange, promissory note, or other instrument, used as evidence upon the proof of a claim and left in court or deposited in the office, may be delivered by the register to the person who used it, upon his filing a copy thereof attested by the register; the register also indorsing upon it the name of the party against whose estate it has been proved, and the date and amount of any dividend declared thereon.

ASSIGNMENT AND ASSIGNEE.

SECT. 39. All elections of assignee shall be subject to the approval of the judge; and when in his judgment it is for any cause needful or expedient he may appoint additional assignees or order a new election.

SECT. 40. The judge at any time may, and upon the request filed in writing of any creditor who has proved his claim shall, require the assignee to give good and sufficient bond to the judge and his successors in office, with a condition for the faithful performance and discharge of his duties. The bond shall be approved by the judge by his indorsement thereon, shall be filed with the record of the case, and inure to the benefit of all creditors proving their claims, and may be prosecuted in the manner provided for the prosecution of administration bonds.

SECT. 41. If the assignee fails to give the bond within such time as the judge orders, not exceeding ten days after notice to him of such order, the judge shall remove him and appoint another in his place.

SECT. 42. The judge shall, by an instrument under his hand, assign and convey to the assignee all the estate real and personal of the debtor, except such as is by law exempt from attachment, with all his deeds, books, and papers relating thereto.

SECT. 43. The assignee shall forthwith cause the assignment to be recorded in the registry of deeds in each district or county in which there may be real estate of the debtor on which it may operate; and shall give such public notice of his appointment as the judge shall order.

SECT. 44. The assignment shall vest in the assignee all the property of the debtor real and personal which he could have lawfully sold, assigned, or conveyed, or which might have been taken on execution upon a judgment against him, at the time of the first publication of the notice of issuing the warrant, although the same is then attached on mesne process as the property of the debtor; and shall be effectual to pass all said estate, and, subject to the provisions of the following section, to dissolve any such attachment. The assignment shall vest in the assignee all debts due to the debtor or any person for his use, and all liens and securities therefor, and all his rights of action for goods or estate real or personal, and all his rights of redeeming such goods or estate. The assignee may redeem all mortgages, conditional contracts, pledges, and liens, of or upon any goods or estate of the debtor, or sell the same subject to such mortgage or other incumbrance.

SECT. 45. If a debtor whose property is attached, conveys before judgment and execution in the suit any part of such property, and subsequently thereto and before execution issues, proceedings are commenced by or against him as an insolvent debtor, or if a dissolution of an attachment under the preceding section might prevent the property attached from passing to the assignee, the judge before whom proceedings in insolvency are pending, or the court to which the process of attachment is returnable, may upon application made on or before the day of the third meeting of creditors by any person interested, and cause shown thereon, order the lien created by the attachment to continue. The action may be continued or execution stayed until the assignee is chosen and takes charge of the action. The assignee may proceed with the action and levy the execution at the cost and expense of the estate; and the amount recovered exclusive of costs due to the original plaintiff shall vest in the assignee.

SECT. 46. The assignee shall demand and receive from the messenger and all other persons, all the estate in his or their possession assigned or intended to be assigned under the provisions of this chapter; and he shall sell all such estate, real and personal, which comes to his hands, on such terms as he thinks most for the interest of the creditors; but upon petition of any person interested and for cause shown, the court may make such order concerning the time, place, or manner of sale, as will in its opinion promote the interests of the creditors; and the assignee shall keep a regular account of all money received by him as assignee, to which every creditor shall at reasonable times have free resort.

SECT. 47. He shall have the like remedy to recover all said estate, debts, and effects, in his own name, as the debtor might have had if no assignment had been made. If at the time of the assignment an action is pending in the name of the debtor for the recovery of a debt or other thing which might or ought to pass to the assignee by the assignment, the assignee shall, if he requires it, be admitted to prosecute the action in his own name, in like manner and with like effect as if it had been originally commenced by him. No suit pending in the name of the assignee shall be abated by his death or removal; but upon the motion of the surviving, remaining, or new assignee, as the case may be, he shall be admitted to prosecute the suit in like manner and with like effect as if it had been originally commenced by him. In suits prosecuted by the assignee, the assignment made by the judge shall be conclusive evidence of his authority to sue.

SECT. 48. Drafts, bills of exchange, promissory notes, claims, demands, and causes of action, which subsequently to the sixth day of July in the year eighteen hundred and fifty-six, and within six months before the filing of the petition by or against a debtor, are assigned, transferred, conveyed, or delivered, to any person indebted or liable to the debtor, shall not be offset or pleadable in defence in any suit by the assignee to recover such debt or liability; but the assignee may recover the same notwithstanding such draft, bill of exchange, promissory note, claim, demand, or cause of action; provided, that the person to whom the same are so assigned, transferred, conveyed, or delivered, had at the time of such assignment, transfer, conveyance, or delivery, reasonable cause to believe the debtor insolvent.

Certain drafts, &c., assigned, not to be offset, &c.
1856, 284, § 28.

SECT. 49. The assignee shall as soon as may be after receiving any money belonging to the estate, deposit the same in some bank, in his name as assignee, or otherwise keep it distinct and apart from all other money in his possession; and shall as far as practicable keep all goods and effects belonging to the estate separate and apart from all other goods in his possession, or designated by appropriate marks; so that they may be easily and clearly distinguished, and may not be exposed or liable to be taken as his property or for the payment of his debts.

Money and property of debtor to be kept separate by assignee.

SECT. 52. He shall be allowed, and may retain out of the money in his hands, all the necessary disbursements made by him in the discharge of his duty, and a reasonable compensation for his services, in the discretion of the judge.

SECT. 53. He may, under the direction of the judge, submit any controversy arising in the settlement of demands against the estate, or of debts due to it, to the determination of arbitrators, to be chosen by him and the other party to the controversy; and may under such direction compound and settle any such controversy by agreement with the other party as he thinks proper and most for the interest of the creditors.

SECT. 54. When it appears to the satisfaction of the judge that the title to any portion of an estate which has come into possession of the assignee is in dispute, and that the property is of a perishable nature, or liable to deteriorate in value, he may on the petition of the assignee, and after such notice to the claimant, his agent, or attorney, as the judge deems reasonable, order it to be sold under the direction of the assignee, who shall hold the funds received, in place of the estate disposed of; and the proceeds of the sale shall be considered the measure of the value of the property in any suit or controversy between the parties. But this provision shall not prevent the recovery of the property from the possession of the assignee by action of replevin commenced at any time before the judge orders the sale.

SECT. 55. When an assignee has received from the estate assets sufficient to pay fifty per cent. of the debts and claims proved against it, he shall certify the fact and render his accounts therefor to the judge; and when he has received twenty-five per cent. more from the assets, he shall in like manner certify and render his accounts therefor. He shall also certify and render his accounts at any time when required by the judge.

SECT. 56. At a meeting called by order of the judge in his discretion for the purpose, and which shall be called upon the application of a majority of the creditors either in number or value, the creditors may with the consent of the judge remove any assignee by such a vote as is provided in section thirty-eight for the choice of assignees.

SECT. 57. The judge after due notice and hearing may remove an assignee if it appears to him upon the complaint of any person interested in the estate that the assignee has fraudulently received, concealed, embezzled, or conveyed away, any of the money, goods, effects, or other estate, of the debtor, or has been interested in any suit at law in relation to said estate for the purpose of securing to himself a preference or priority over the other creditors, or has in his possession or control any portion of the estate with intent to appropriate the same unlawfully to his own use, or has been guilty of any fraudulent act in relation to the same.

SECT. 58. He may also remove an assignee who having removed from the state unreasonably refuses or neglects to obey any lawful order for calling meetings of the creditors, to settle his accounts, or otherwise unreasonably refuses or neglects to discharge his duties; and for any other cause which in his judgment renders such removal necessary or expedient.

SECT. 59. An assignee may with the consent of the judge resign his trust and be discharged therefrom.

SECT. 60. Vacancies caused by death or otherwise in the office of assignee may be filled by appointment of the judge, or at his discretion by an election of the creditors in the manner prescribed in section thirty-eight at a regular meeting, or at a meeting called for the purpose, with such notice thereof in writing to all known creditors, and by such person, as the judge shall direct.

See § 84.

SECT. 72. The judge shall appoint a second meeting of the creditors, to be held at a court not more than three months after the date of the warrant, regard being had to the distance at which the creditors reside. The debtor shall then be allowed to amend and correct his schedule of creditors, and shall take and subscribe an oath before the judge, which shall be certified by him and filed in the case, in substance as follows:—

“I —— do swear that the account of my creditors contained in the schedule made and signed by me and now on file in court is in all respects just and true, according to my best knowledge and belief. And I do further swear, that I have delivered to _____, the messenger, all my estate, (excepting such parts thereof as are by law exempted from attachment, and such as have been necessarily expended for the support of myself and my family,) and all my books of account and papers relating to my said estate, that were within my possession or power when the same were demanded of me by the messenger; that I have delivered to my assignee all such of my said estate, books, and papers, as have since come to my possession; and that if any other estate, effects, or other things, which shall or ought to be assigned and delivered to the assignee, shall hereafter come to my knowledge or possession, I will forthwith disclose or deliver the same to him. And I do further swear, that there is not any part of my estate or effects made over or disposed of in any manner for the future benefit of myself or my family, or in order to defraud my creditors.”

Upon failure to call or hold meeting, court may order.
1851, 329, § 1.

SECT. 73. When a failure to call or hold a second or third meeting within the time prescribed occurs, the court may, upon the petition of an interested party, order such meeting with like effect as to the validity of the proceedings as if the meeting had been duly held.

If meeting liable to be defeated, register may call on order of judge.
1851, 329, § 2.

SECT. 74. Upon the death, resignation, or neglect, of the assignee, or his absence from the county, whereby a meeting to be notified by him is liable to be defeated, such meeting may be notified by the register on the order of the judge, on petition of any interested party, with notice at the discretion of the judge to the assignee if living, and with the like effect as if the meeting had been called and notified by the assignee.

Third meeting.
Certificate of discharge.

SECT. 75. The judge shall appoint a third meeting of the creditors to be held within six months from the time of the appointment of the assignee; at which meeting or some meeting thereafter, if it appears to the satisfaction of the judge that the debtor has made a full disclosure and delivery of all his estate as herein required, and that he has in all things conformed himself to the directions and requirements of the laws relating to insolvent debtors, the judge shall grant him a certificate, which shall state all fiduciary debts specially exempt from discharge, and be in substance as follows:—

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.

ss. Court of Insolvency.

To all people to whom these presents shall come, I, A. B., judge of the court of insolvency for said county of _____, send greeting.

Form of certificate of discharge.

Whereas, it has been made to appear to me, that C. D., of B., in the said county of _____, merchant, whose estate has been assigned for the benefit of his creditors, according to law, has made a full disclosure and delivery of all his estate, and that he has in all things conformed himself to the requirements of law in that behalf made and provided: I do accordingly certify that said C. D. is absolutely and wholly discharged from all his debts which have been or shall be proved against his estate assigned as aforesaid, and from all debts which are provable against his estate, and which are founded on any contract made by him within this state or to be performed within the same, and made since the last day of July in the year eighteen hundred and thirty-eight, and from all debts which are provable as aforesaid, and which are founded on any contract made by him since that date, and due to any persons who were resident within this commonwealth on the _____ day of _____ last, being the day of the first publication of the notice of the warrant issued for the seizure of the estate of said C. D.; and from all demands against him for or on account of any goods or chattels wrongfully obtained, taken, or withheld, by him, according to the provisions of chapter one hundred and eighteen of the General Statutes. And I do further certify that said C. D. is by force of said chapter forever discharged and exempted from arrest or imprisonment in any suit, or upon any proceeding, for or on account of any debt or demand whatever which might have been proved against his estate assigned as aforesaid.

Given under my hand and the seal of said court this _____ day of _____, in the year _____.

SECT. 76. The debtor shall thereupon, except as provided in section seventy-nine, be absolutely and wholly discharged from debts proved against his estate; and from all debts provable under this chapter, and founded on any contract made by him subsequently to the last day of July in the year eighteen hundred and thirty-eight and while an inhabitant of this state, if made within this state, to be performed within the same, or due to any person resident therein at the time of the first publication of the notice of the issuing of the warrant; and from all demands for or on account of any goods or chattels wrongfully obtained, taken, or withheld, by him, as mentioned in section twenty-five, while such inhabitant.

SECT. 77. If the debtor at the time of obtaining his certificate is in jail on any suit or proceeding for or on account of any claim provable against his estate, he shall be discharged from such imprisonment upon producing to the jailer his certificate granted pursuant to the provisions of this chapter.

Debtor imprisoned, &c., to be discharged on certificate.

SECT. 78. The debtor shall also be forever thereafter discharged and exempt from arrest or imprisonment in any suit or upon any proceeding for or on account of any debt or demand which might have been proved against his estate. And the property and estate of the debtor by him acquired subsequently to the time of the first publication of the notice of the issuing of the warrant, shall not be subject to attachment, by trustee process or otherwise, in any suit to recover a debt which may have been so provable and due to any person or persons not resident in this state at the time of such first publication, or founded on any contract existing at the time of said first publication and made or to be performed out of the limits of this state.

Debts from defalcation and for necessities not discharged. 1838, 163, § 7. 1844, 178, § 3. 1848, 304, § 10. 10 Cush. 14. See Ch. 90, § 29.

SECT. 79. A debt created subsequently to the fifteenth day of April in the year eighteen hundred and forty-four by the debtor's defalcation as a public officer, executor, administrator, guardian, receiver, trustee, or assignee of an insolvent estate, shall not be discharged under this chapter, but the dividend declared thereon shall be payment of so much of said debt. A claim for necessities furnished to the debtor or his family shall not be so discharged unless the claim is proved against his estate.

Sureties, &c. 1838, 163, § 7. 5 Cush. 614. 1 Gray, 624.

SECT. 80. A discharge shall not release or discharge any person liable for the same debt as a partner, joint contractor, indorser, surety, or otherwise, for or with the debtor.

Discharge by assent of creditors. 1848, 304, § 9. 8 Cush. 109. 10 Cush. 43. 1 Gray, 623. 2 Gray, 519. 3 Gray, 251.

SECT. 81. A discharge shall not be granted to a debtor whose assets do not pay fifty per cent. of the claims proved against his estate, unless the assent in writing of a majority in number and value of his creditors who have proved their claims is filed in the case within six months after the date of the assignment.

upon second and third insolvency. 1844, 178, §§ 5, 6. 1856, 257. 5 Cush. 83. 8 Cush. 104. 13 Gray, 293.

SECT. 82. A discharge shall not be granted to a debtor a second time insolvent whose assets do not pay fifty per cent. of the claims proved against his estate, unless the assent in writing of three-fourths in value of his creditors who have proved their claims is filed in the case within six months after the date of the assignment. No discharge shall be granted to a debtor a third time insolvent. But a debtor who has paid all the debts owing by him at the time of his previous insolvency, or who has been voluntarily released therefrom by his creditors, shall be entitled to a discharge in the same manner and with the same effect as if he had not been previously insolvent.

Creditors who assent whose claims are appealed, &c. 1852, 293. 3 Gray, 255.

SECT. 83. A creditor may assent to the debtor's discharge under the two preceding sections, notwithstanding an appeal from the allowance of his claim is pending, and such assent shall be valid if the claim is finally allowed.

Debtor failing by accident, &c., to take oath, may be discharged. 1855, 121.

SECT. 84. When a discharge is refused a debtor for the sole reason that the assent of the requisite majority of his creditors has not been seasonably obtained or filed, or for the reason that he has not taken the oath required by section seventy-two, the judge, upon the application of the debtor made within twelve months after the date of the assignment and with the written assent of three-fourths in number and value of the creditors who have proved their claims, may grant his discharge if he satisfies the judge on a hearing had after public notice of said application that the failure to obtain or file the assent was occasioned by accident or mistake, and by no fault of his own; or that the omission to take the oath was owing to his inability by reason of sickness to attend and take the same; and if he is present and takes the oath and abides and performs all lawful orders of the court.

Appeal from decision of judge on question of discharge. 1838, 163, § 8. 1848, 304, § 11. 1850, 196.

SECT. 85. Either the debtor or the assignee may within ten days after the decision of the judge upon the question of granting the certificate of discharge, and not after, upon giving notice to the register to be entered with the record of proceedings, appeal from such decision to the term of the superior court which shall be first held within and for the county next after the expiration of fourteen days from the time of claiming the appeal. But if the appellant in writing waives his appeal before the entry thereof in the superior court, proceedings may be had in the court of insolvency, as if no appeal had been taken.

Proceedings on appeal. 1838, 163, § 8. 1859, 196.

SECT. 86. The appeal may be heard and determined by the superior court or any justice thereof; and the assignee or any creditor may appear and object to the allowance of the certificate. If after a full hearing of the parties it appears to the satisfaction of the court that the debtor has made a full disclosure and delivery of all his estate as herein required, and that he has in all things conformed himself to the directions of this chapter, the court shall cause a certificate thereof in substance like that prescribed in section seventy-five, to be made under the seal of the court, signed by the clerk, and delivered to the debtor.

MATTERS AVOIDING DISCHARGE.

SECT. 87. A discharge shall not be granted, or valid, if the debtor has wilfully sworn falsely as to any material fact in the course of the proceedings, or if he has fraudulently concealed any part of his estate, or effects, or any books or writings relating thereto; or if, being insolvent and having reasonable and sufficient cause to believe himself so, he has, within one year next before the filing of a petition by or against him, paid or secured, either directly or indirectly, in whole or in part, any borrowed money, or preexisting debt, or any liability of his or for him; or if, within six months before the filing the petition by or against him, he has procured his lands, goods, money, or chattels to be attached, sequestered, or seized on execution; or if, subsequently to the sixth day of July eighteen hundred and fifty-six, he has destroyed, altered, mutilated, or falsified any of his books, documents, papers, writings, or securities, or has made or been privy to the making of any false or fraudulent entry in any book of account or other document with intent to defraud his creditors; or has removed himself, or removed or caused to be removed any part of his property, from the state, with intent to defraud his creditors; or has made any fraudulent payment, gift, transfer, conveyance, or assignment of any part of his property, or spent any part thereof in gaming; or if, having knowledge that any person has proved a false debt against his estate, he has not disclosed the same to his assignee within one month after such knowledge; or if, being a merchant or tradesman, he has not subsequently to said date kept proper books of account. And the discharge shall be null and void, if the debtor, or any person in his behalf, shall have procured the assent of any creditor thereto by any pecuniary consideration.

PREFERENCES.

SECT. 89. If any person, being insolvent or in contemplation of insolvency, within six months before the filing of the petition by or against him, with a view to give a preference to any creditor or person having a claim against him, or who is under any liability for him, procures any part of his property to be attached, sequestered, or seized on execution, or makes any payment, pledge, assignment, transfer, or conveyance of any part of his property, either directly or indirectly, absolutely or conditionally, the person receiving such payment, pledge, assignment, transfer, or conveyance, or to be benefited thereby, having reasonable cause to believe such person is insolvent or in contemplation of insolvency, and that such payment, pledge, assignment, or conveyance is made in fraud of the laws relating to insolvency, the same shall be void; and the assignees may recover the property, or the value of it, from the person so receiving it or so to be benefited.

SECT. 90. The provisions of the three preceding sections shall not apply to any payment of money, or transfer of property in payment, not exceeding twenty-five dollars in amount, upon a debt contracted for necessities furnished to the debtor or his family.

SECT. 91. If any person, being insolvent or in contemplation of insolvency, within six months before the filing of the petition by or against him, makes any sale, assignment, transfer, or other conveyance of any description, of any part of his property, to any person who then has reasonable cause to believe such person insolvent or in contemplation of insolvency, and that such sale, assignment, transfer, or other conveyance is made with a view to prevent the property from coming to his assignee in insolvency, or to prevent the same from being distributed under the laws relating to insolvency, or to defeat the object of, or in any way impair, hinder, impede, or delay the operation and effect of, or to evade, any of said provisions, the sale, assignment, transfer, or conveyance shall be void, and the assignee may recover the property or the value thereof as assets of the insolvency. And if such sale, assignment, transfer, or conveyance is not made in the usual and ordinary course of business of the debtor, that fact shall be prima facie evidence of such cause of belief.

ALLOWANCE AND SURPLUS.

Allowance to debtor.
1838, 163, §§ 4, 8.
8 Cush. 199.
See § 111.

SECT. 92. The debtor shall receive from the assignee one dollar a day for his attendance on the judge or the assignee when required under section sixty-six. He shall also be allowed out of his estate, for the necessary support of himself and his family, such sum, not exceeding the rate of three dollars per week for each member of his family, and for such time, not exceeding two months, as the judge may order. And every debtor who is discharged shall be allowed five per cent. on the net produce of all his estate received by the assignee, if such net produce, after such allowance, is sufficient to pay the creditors entitled to a dividend the amount of fifty per cent. on their debts; but the allowance shall not exceed in the whole the sum of five hundred dollars.

in case of death.
1838, 163, § 5.

SECT. 93. If an allowance to the debtor on the net produce of his estate becomes due and is not paid to him in his lifetime, it shall be paid to his executors or administrators, and disposed of and distributed in like manner as any other property of which he may be possessed at the time of his decease.

Surplus to be returned to debtor.
1838, 163, § 13.
6 Met. 203.

SECT. 94. If after the payment of all debts proved any surplus remains in the hands of the assignee, it shall be paid or re-conveyed to, or re-vest in, the debtor or his legal representatives.

ACCOUNTS AND DIVIDENDS.

Assignee to exhibit accounts on oath if required.
Judge to order dividend.
1838, 163, § 12.
10 Cush. 173, 498.

SECT. 95. At the third meeting the assignee shall exhibit to the judge and creditors present, fair and just accounts of all his receipts and payments touching the estate, and shall, if required by the judge, be examined on oath as to the truth of such accounts. The judge shall thereupon order a dividend of the estate and effects, or of such part thereof as he deems fit, among such of the creditors as have proved their claims, in proportion to their respective debts.

Preferred claims.
1838, 163, §§ 12, 21.
1841, 124, § 6.
1850, 218.
1858, 119, §§ 1, 2.
11 Met. 234.
2 Cush. 173, 371.

SECT. 96. In the order for a dividend under the preceding section the following claims shall be entitled to priority or preference, and to be first paid in full in their order:

First. All debts due to the United States, and all debts due to and taxes assessed by this state;

Second. Wages due to any operative to an amount not exceeding fifty dollars for labor performed within one year next preceding the first publication of the notice of insolvency, or for labor for the recovery of payment for which a suit commenced within one year after the performance thereof is pending, or has terminated within one year from said first publication :

Third. All debts due to physicians for medical attendance on the debtor or his family, rendered within six months prior to the institution of proceedings in insolvency, to an amount not exceeding fifty dollars :

Fourth. All debts due to any persons who by the laws of the United States, or of this state, are or may be entitled to a priority or preference in like manner as if this chapter had not been enacted :

Fifth. Legal fees, costs, and expenses, of suit, and for the custody of the property proved as preferred under section one hundred and twenty-seven.

SECT. 97. If at the time of ordering the dividend it appears probable that there are just claims against the estate which by reason of the distant residence of the creditor or for other sufficient reason have not been proved, the judge shall in ordering the dividend leave in the hands of the assignee a sum sufficient to pay every such absent creditor a proportion equal to what shall be then paid to the other creditors, which sum shall remain thus unappropriated in the hands of the assignee until the final dividend is declared, or until the judge orders its distribution.

Reservation for absent creditors.
1838, 163, § 12.
20 Pick. 312.

SECT. 98. The assignee shall, at such time as the judge directs within eighteen months after the appointment of the assignee, make a second dividend of the estate, if the same was not wholly distributed upon the first dividend, and shall give notice of a meeting of all the creditors of the debtor for that purpose. At such meeting the accounts of the assignee shall be produced and examined as provided in section ninety-five, and settled by the judge; and any balance appearing to be in the hands of the assignee, shall, by order of the judge, be divided among all the creditors who have proved their debts, in proportion thereto.

Second dividend. Assignees' accounts.
1838, 163, § 13.
7 Met. 318.
20 Pick. 312.

SECT. 99. If at any time before the final dividend there remain in the hands of the assignee any outstanding debts or other property due or belonging to the estate which cannot in the opinion of the judge be collected and received by the assignee without unreasonable or inconvenient delay, the assignee may, under the direction of the judge, sell and assign such debts or other property in such manner as the court shall order.

Outstanding debts. Ac. may be sold.
1838, 163, § 13.

SECT. 100. Suits upon claims sold by assignees shall be brought in the name of the purchasers. The fact of sale and of purchase by the plaintiff shall be set forth in the writ, and the defendant may avail himself of any matter of defence of which he could have availed himself in a suit upon the claim by the assignee. Costs in such suits shall be recovered by or against the plaintiff, and the assignee shall not be liable therefor.

Suits on claims sold by assignees. Costs.
1839, 194.
12 Cush. 282.

SECT. 101. Such second dividend shall be final unless a suit relating to the estate is then depending, or part of the estate is outstanding, or unless some other estate or effects of the debtor afterwards come to the hands of the assignee; in which cases another dividend shall be made by order of the judge. Further dividends shall be made in like manner as often as occasion requires.

Further dividends if necessary.
1838, 163, § 13.
7 Met. 318.

SECT. 102. No creditor whose debt is proved at the time of the second or any subsequent dividend shall disturb any prior dividend, but he shall be paid so far only as the funds remaining unappropriated in the hands of the assignee are sufficient therefor.

Former dividends not to be disturbed.
1838, 163, § 13.
20 Pick. 312.

APPLICATIONS BY CREDITORS.

Applications by creditors. 1838, 173, § 19. 1844, 178, §§ 19, 21, 23. 1851, 189, § 2. 1856, 284, §§ 25, 29. 2 Met. 513. 4 Met. 292, 504. 6 Met. 518, 521. 9 Met. 292, 459. 11 Met. 233. 1 Cush. 149. 5 Cush. 169. 8 Cush. 101. 1 Gray, 559. 5 Gray, 114. 6 Gray, 329.

SECT. 103. If any person arrested on mesne process in a civil action for the sum of one hundred dollars or upwards, founded upon a demand in its nature provable against the estate of an insolvent debtor, has not given bail therein on or before the return day of such process; or has been actually imprisoned for more than thirty days, in any civil action founded on such contract, for the sum of one hundred dollars or upwards; or if any person whose goods or estate are attached on mesne process in any civil action founded on such contract, for the sum of one hundred dollars or upwards, has not within seven days from the return day of such process dissolved the attachment in the manner provided in chapter one hundred and twenty-three; or if any person has removed himself or any part of his property from the state, with intent to defraud his creditors; or has concealed himself to avoid arrest, or any part of his property to prevent its being attached, or taken on a legal process; or procured himself or his property to be arrested, attached, or taken, on any legal process; or made any fraudulent payment, conveyance, or transfer, of any part of his property; any of his creditors whose claims provable against his estate amount to the sum of one hundred dollars, may, within ninety days thereafter, apply by petition to the judge for the county in which the debtor resides, or, in case the debtor has ceased to reside in this state within one year next before the commencement of proceedings against him, in the county in which he last had his residence, setting forth the facts and the nature of such claims, verified by oath, and praying that his estate may be seized and distributed according to the provisions of this chapter.

Warrant to issue. Proceedings thereon. 1838, 164, § 19. 6 Met. 518. 9 Met. 159. 4 Cush. 121.

SECT. 104. The judge, after notice of the petition given to the debtor by a copy thereof served upon him personally or left at his last and usual place of abode, and a hearing before him of the petitioner and debtor, or a default by the debtor to appear in pursuance of said notice, if the facts set forth in the petition appear to be true, shall forthwith issue his warrant to take possession of the estate of the debtor. The warrant shall be directed, and the property of the debtor shall be thereon taken and distributed, in the same manner and with similar proceedings to those herein provided for the taking possession and distribution of the property of a debtor upon his own petition.

If attachment is not dissolved through accident or mistake, proceedings may be stayed. 1851, 189, § 3.

SECT. 105. When a person by accident or mistake has failed to dissolve an attachment within the time required by section one hundred and three, he may forthwith apply by petition to the judge before whom proceedings against him are pending, for a stay of the proceedings, and after such notice to the petitioning creditor as the judge orders, or without notice if the urgency of the case does not allow notice to be given, the proceedings may be stayed by an order of the judge until a hearing; and if upon the hearing he proves to the satisfaction of the judge that he is in fact solvent, or that for any other cause the proceedings ought to be stayed, the judge shall order the proceedings to be stayed and finally suppressed.

CONCEALMENT OF PROPERTY, &amp;c.

Debtor to be deemed guilty of misfeasance in certain cases. 1856, 284, § 30.

SECT. 106. If a debtor after notice of the filing of a petition by or against him secretes or conceals any property belonging to his estate, or any books, deeds, documents, or writings, relating thereto, or removes or causes to be removed the same or any part thereof out of the state, or otherwise disposes of any part thereof, with a view to prevent it from coming to the possession of the messenger or assignee, or to hinder, impede, or delay either of them in recovering or receiving the same; or makes any payment, gift, sale, assignment, or conveyance of any property belonging to his estate; or spends any part thereof in gaming or otherwise, except such parts as may reasonably be expended for the support of himself and his family, not exceeding the amount allowable by law; he shall be punished by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding five years, or in the jail not exceeding two years.

SECT. 107. A judge before whom proceedings are pending in relation to the estate of a debtor may, upon the complaint under oath of any person interested therein, against any one suspected of having fraudulently received, concealed, embezzled, or conveyed away, any money, goods, effects, or other estate, of the debtor, cite the suspected person to appear before him and be examined on oath upon the matter of the complaint. If the person cited refuses to appear and submit to such examination or to answer such interrogatories as are lawfully propounded to him, the judge may commit him to the jail of the county, there to remain in close custody until he submits to the order of the court. All such interrogatories and answers shall be in writing, signed by the party examined, and filed in court.

Proceedings against persons fraudulently concealing, &c., property, &c. 1846, 168, § 1.
4 Cush. 48.

PARTNERSHIPS.

SECT. 108. When two or more persons who are partners become insolvent, a warrant may be issued as provided in this chapter, by the judge in whose county either of the partners resides, upon the petition of one or more of the partners, (reasonable notice being first given by the judge to the other partners, if within the state, to show cause why its prayer should not be granted,) or upon the petition of any creditor of the partners; upon which warrant all the joint stock and property of the company and the separate estate of each of the partners shall be taken, except such parts as may be by law exempt from attachment; and all the creditors of the company, and the separate creditors of each partner, may prove their respective debts.

SECT. 109. The assignee shall be chosen by the creditors of the company; and shall keep separate accounts of the joint stock, or property of the company, and of the separate estate of each member thereof; and after deducting out of the whole amount received by him the total expenses and disbursements paid, the net proceeds of the joint stock shall be appropriated to pay the creditors of the company, and the net proceeds of the separate estate of each partner shall be appropriated to pay his separate creditors. If there is any balance of the separate estate of a partner after the payment of his separate debts, it shall be added to the joint stock for the payment of the joint creditors. If there is a balance of the joint stock after the payment of the joint debts, it shall be divided and appropriated to and among the separate estates of the several partners according to their respective rights and interests therein, and as it would have been if the partnership had been dissolved without insolvency; and the sum so appropriated to the separate estate of each partner shall be applied to the payment of his separate debts.

SECT. 110. The provisions of the two preceding sections shall apply to limited partnerships formed under chapter fifty-five, or under chapter thirty-four of the Revised Statutes, when such partnerships become insolvent; but the separate estates and separate debts of the special partners shall not be subject to the proceedings against the partnership.

Provision in case of limited partnerships. 1838, 163, § 22.

SECT. 111. In all proceedings against partners each shall be entitled to allowance as herein before provided for the maintenance of himself and his family; and the allowance on the net produce of the estates as provided in section ninety-two, shall be computed on the joint estate, and also on each of the separate estates, as if there had been a separate warrant against each; but neither of the partners shall receive in the whole more than five hundred dollars.

Separate allowance to each partner. 1838, 163, § 21.

INSOLVENT CORPORATIONS.

Corporations may petition by authorized officer. 1851, 327, §§ 1, 2, 13 Met. 594. 3 Gray, 531.

SECT. 113. Any corporation created by authority of this state, except railroad and banking corporations, may apply by petition signed by an officer duly authorized by a vote of a majority of the corporators present and voting at a legal meeting called for the purpose, to the judge for the county where the corporation has its principal place of business, setting forth its inability to pay its debts and its willingness to assign all its estate and effects for the benefit of its creditors, and praying that such proceedings may be had in the premises as are hereinafter provided. The judge shall thereupon forthwith issue a warrant, as in the case of an application by a debtor under section seventeen, but requiring the notice given by the messenger to state further that the making of any contract by the corporation is forbidden by law.

Proceedings similar to those against a person. 1851, 327.

SECT. 114. Thereupon like proceedings shall be had, with like powers, duties, and privileges, of the judge, register, messenger, assignee, and creditors, as are herein before provided upon the petition of a debtor, except as hereinafter mentioned.

Claims before last dividend provable. 1851, 327, § 3.

SECT. 115. Claims on account of bills of exchange, indorsements, money due on bottomry or respondentia bonds, paid upon indorsements, or as surety, may be proved against an insolvent corporation before the making of the last dividend, in like manner as against the estate of an insolvent debtor before the making of the first dividend.

Schedules. Duties, &c., of officers. 1851, 327, §§ 6, 7, 8.

SECT. 116. The schedules to be furnished shall be prepared and furnished by the treasurer or other financial officer of the corporation, with such assistance as he requires from the other officers; and all the provisions of this chapter which apply to the debtor or set forth his duties in regard to executing papers, submitting to examinations, disclosing, making over, secreting, concealing, conveying, assigning, or paying away, his money or property, shall in like manner, and with like force, effect, and penalties, apply to each and every officer of the corporation, in relation to the same matters concerning the corporation, and the money and property thereof. And said officers shall at the second meeting severally make and subscribe an oath in substance as follows:—

Oath.

I, ———, (president, &c., or treasurer, &c.,) do swear that I verily believe the account of the creditors of the corporation, contained in the schedule signed by A. B., and now on file in court, is in all respects just and true; that I do verily believe that all the property and estate of said corporation, and all its books of account and papers, have been delivered to the messenger or the assignee; and that if any goods or estate not so delivered, hereafter come to my knowledge, I will faithfully and diligently apprise the assignee thereof. And I do further swear that, to the best and utmost of my knowledge, information, and belief, there is no part of the estate or effects of said corporation made over or disposed of in any manner in fraud of the laws relating to insolvency or of the creditors of said corporation.

Franchise of corporation authorized to take toll, may be sold. 1851, 327, § 5.

SECT. 117. In the case of a turnpike, canal, bridge, or other corporation authorized by law to take toll, the assignment to the assignee shall empower him to sell and convey the franchise of the corporation, and any and all property and rights connected with the exercise thereof, to such persons as become the purchasers of the same; and by virtue of such sale and conveyance such purchasers and their associates shall be deemed to be so far the owners of all such franchises, that they may have such corporation organized anew by themselves as its sole members, in the manner provided in section three of chapter sixty-eight, and the provisions of law applicable to such corporation. When the corporation has been thus organized anew, it shall be deemed to be lawfully possessed, as of its own property, of all the franchises to such corporation previously granted, and of all the property and rights so sold and conveyed with such franchises; and such purchasers, their associates, successors, and assigns, shall be the only members of the corporation. When such corporation is so organized anew, it shall not be liable to any suit at law or in equity, founded on any contract (performable within this state or made with any citizen thereof) which existed prior to such organization, nor for any claim provable under this chapter.

SECT. 118. When an assignee proceeds to sell the franchises of a corporation under the preceding section, he shall, if the judge has so ordered, expose the property, estate, or assets, of the corporation, for sale in shares, in number equal to the whole number of shares of the capital stock of the corporation, and such shares may thereupon be sold separately, and the purchasers thereof may organize anew in the manner in said section provided.

Property may be sold in shares and purchasers organized. 1851, 327, § 27.

SECT. 119. All claims against any turnpike, canal, or other corporation authorized to take land or materials, for damages for taking land or materials, or laying out such road, canal, or turnpike, shall be preferred debts, next after debts due to the United States and to the commonwealth.

Land damages preferred claims. 1853, 327, § 19.

SECT. 120. All payments, conveyances, and assignments, made fraudulent and void by sections eighty-nine and ninety-one, when made by a debtor, shall in like manner, to the like extent, and with like remedies, be fraudulent and void when made by a corporation which is subject to the provisions of this chapter.

Void preferences. 1851, 327, § 9.

SECT. 121. An allowance or discharge shall not be granted to any corporation, or to any person as officer or member thereof.

No discharge, &c., to corporation, &c.

SECT. 122. If a corporation whose goods or estate are attached on mesne process in a civil action founded on a contract for the sum of one hundred dollars or upwards, which is in its nature provable under this chapter, does not within fourteen days from the return day of the writ, if the term of the court to which the process is returnable so long continues, or on or before the last day of the term if the same sooner ends, dissolve the attachment in the manner provided in chapter one hundred and twenty-three; or if a corporation makes any fraudulent payment, conveyance, or transfer, of its property or any part thereof; any of its creditors whose claims provable against its estate under this chapter amount to the sum of one hundred dollars, may apply by petition, stating the facts and the nature of said claim or claims, verified by oath, to the judge in the county in which the corporation is established, praying that its estate may be seized and distributed according to law; and thereupon, after notice of the presentment of the petition given to the corporation by a copy thereof served on its president, treasurer, or clerk, thirty days at least before the return day of the notice, and a hearing of the petitioners and corporation, or after default of the corporation to appear at the time and place in the notice appointed, if the facts set forth in the petition appear to be true, the judge shall forthwith issue his warrant to take possession of the estate of the corporation; and such further proceedings shall be had thereon as upon a warrant issuing upon the petition of a corporation under section one hundred and thirteen.

Proceedings against a corporation. 1851, 327, § 17. 1856, 324, § 25.

SECT. 123. If a mortgage is foreclosed pending proceedings under the ten preceding sections and before the appointment of an assignee, the assignee when appointed may redeem the same at any time within sixty days after his appointment, with similar remedies to those provided by law for the redemption of mortgages before foreclosure.

Redemption of mortgages. 1851, 327, § 20.

SECT. 124. Nothing in the preceding sections shall give validity to or affect any mortgage made by a corporation for any purpose whatever.

Mortgages not affected. 1851, 327, § 26.

FEES AND COSTS.

Fees for warrant, &c.
1856, 284, § 24.

SECT. 125. In each case there shall be allowed and paid the following fees, and none other, viz.:—

For issuing the warrant, five dollars:

For each day on which a meeting is held, seven dollars:

For each order for a dividend, five dollars.

Such fees shall have priority of payment over all other claims out of the estate, and before a warrant issues the petitioner shall deposit with the register, or with the judge to be delivered to the register, forty dollars, as security for the payment thereof; and if there are not sufficient assets for the payment of the fees, the person upon whose petition the warrant is issued shall pay the same, and the court may issue an execution against him to compel payment to the register.

Before any dividend is ordered, the assignee shall pay out of the estate to the messenger the following fees and no more:—

First. For service of the warrant, two dollars:

Second. For all necessary travel, at the rate of four cents a mile:

Third. For each written notice to creditors named in the schedule, ten cents:

Fourth. For custody of property, publication of notices, and other services, his actual expenses, upon returning the same in specific items, and making oath that they have been actually incurred and paid by him, and are just and reasonable:

For cause shown and upon hearing thereon, such further allowance may be made as the court in its discretion may determine.

1859, 196.

execution may issue for.
1856, 284, § 39.

SECT. 126. The register shall receive all fees, and account for and pay over the same to the treasurer of the commonwealth quarter-yearly, on the first Mondays of January, April, July, and October.

SECT. 127. When an attachment on mesne process has been made and is not dissolved before commencement of proceedings in insolvency, if the claim upon which the suit was commenced is proved against the estate of the debtor, the plaintiff may also prove the legal fees, costs, and expenses, of the suit and of the custody of the property, and the amount thereof shall be a privileged debt.

SECT. 128. In all matters of insolvency contested before a court of insolvency, the superior court, or in the supreme judicial court, said courts may in their discretion award costs to either party to be paid by the other, or to either or both parties to be paid out of the estate which is the subject in controversy, as justice and equity may require.

SECT. 129. When costs are awarded to be paid by one party to the other, said courts respectively may issue execution therefor.

VACATING PROCEEDINGS.

Proceedings may be vacated.
1848, 304, § 13.
3 Gray, 531.
6 Gray, 243.

SECT. 130. When a creditor who has proved his debt petitions the judge to vacate the proceedings in a case, the judge may order the proceedings to be stayed, and after due notice to all persons interested in the estate and a hearing of the matter, if no objection is made by the debtor or any such creditor, pass an order vacating all proceedings therein.

RETURNS.

Judges to make returns. Returns to be recorded and open for inspection.
1846, 168, § 3.
1851, 327, § 24.

SECT. 131. Each judge shall on or before the tenth day of each month make a return to the secretary of the commonwealth of the name, residence, and occupation, of each person by or against whom as an insolvent debtor, and of the name of each corporation, the kind of business for which it was created, the place or places where its business was principally done, by or against which, as an insolvent corporation, a petition has been filed in his court during the next preceding month, with the dates of such petitions. The secretary shall enter such returns, conveniently for reference, in a book which shall be open to the inspection of the public.

CASES BEFORE COMMISSIONERS, &C.

SECT. 132. Nothing in this chapter shall affect the jurisdiction of a commissioner of insolvency or master in chancery in any case pending before him at the time of its enactment; but such jurisdiction shall continue in full with the same fees of such commissioners, masters, and their clerks, as heretofore established.

SECT. 133. If a commissioner of insolvency or master in chancery before whom proceedings upon any case in insolvency mentioned in the preceding section are pending, dies, is removed from the charge of the case, or for any cause is unable to perform the duties required of him, the case and all papers connected therewith shall be transferred to the court of insolvency for the county in which the case is pending. The court shall thereupon have jurisdiction of the case and proceed therein as if it had been originally commenced in said court.

SECT. 134. Upon the closing of proceedings in a case pending before a commissioner of insolvency or master in chancery, all papers and records relating thereto shall be returned to and deposited in the office of the register of probate and insolvency for the county.

Jurisdiction of commissioners, &c., in cases pending. 1844, 478, § 15. 7 Met. 429.

Removal of cases upon death, &c., of commissioner, &c. 1844, 178, § 15. 1850, 297. 1855, 236. 1856, 284, § 2.

Papers, &c., to be deposited in probate office. 1828, 163, § 14. 1856, 284, § 49.

JUDGES.

SECTION 1. The judges of probate and insolvency shall continue to hold their offices according to the tenor of their commissions, and as vacancies occur they shall be filled in the manner provided by the constitution, so that there shall be one judge in each county.

SECT. 2. Each judge, before entering upon the duties of his office, in addition to the oaths prescribed by the constitution, shall take and subscribe an oath that he will faithfully discharge said duties, and that he will not during his continuance in office directly or indirectly be interested in or benefited by the fees or emoluments arising from any suit or matter pending in either of the courts of which he is judge; which oath shall be filed in the probate office.

Appointment. Const. Ch. 2, § 1, art. 9. Ch. 3, art. 1. 1858, 93, § 1.

Oath of judge. Const. Ch. 6, art. 1. Amend. const. art. 6. R. S., 84, § 26. 1855, 284, § 16. 1858, 93, §§ 2, 3.

SECT. 3. The judges may interchange services or perform each other's duties when they find it necessary or convenient.

SECT. 4. If a judge is a party, or interested to the amount claimed of one hundred dollars exclusive of interest, in any case arising in his county, or is absent or unable to perform his duties, and no judge acts for him under the provisions of the preceding section, or if there is a vacancy in the office in any county, the duties shall be performed in the same county by the judge of any other county designated by the register from time to time as necessity or convenience may require.

SECT. 5. The register shall certify on his records the times during which, or the cases in which the judge of another county acts. Bonds required to be given to the judge shall be given to the judge appointed for the county, or in case of vacancy to the acting judge, and his successors in office, and all business shall be done in his name, or the name of the probate court or the court of insolvency for the same county, as the case may be; but bonds may be approved, and other acts required to be done or certified by the judge may be approved, done, or certified, by the acting judge.

SECT. 6. No judge shall be retained or employed as counsel or attorney, either in or out of court, in any suit or matter which may depend on or in any way relate to a sentence, decision, warrant, order, or decree, made or passed by him; nor for or against an executor, administrator, or guardian, appointed within his jurisdiction, in a suit brought by or against the executor, administrator, or guardian, as such; nor in a suit relating to the official conduct of such party; nor for or against a debtor, creditor, or assignee, in a cause or matter arising out of or connected with any proceedings before him; nor in an appeal in such cause or matter.

REGISTERS.

SECT. 7. Every register of probate and insolvency, before entering upon the duties of his office, in addition to the oaths prescribed by the constitution, shall take and subscribe an oath that he will faithfully discharge said duties, and that he will not during his continuance in office directly or indirectly be interested in or benefited by the fees or emoluments arising from any suit or matter pending in either of the courts of which he is register; which oath shall be filed in the probate office.

SECT. 8. He shall give bond, with condition that he will faithfully discharge the duties of his office, to the treasurer of the commonwealth in a sum not less than one thousand and not exceeding ten thousand dollars, as ordered by the judge, with one or more sureties approved by him.

SECT. 9. No register shall be of counsel or attorney either in or out of court, in any suit or matter pending in either of the courts of which he is register; nor in an appeal therefrom; nor shall he be executor, administrator, guardian, commissioner, appraiser, divider, or assignee, of or upon an estate within the jurisdiction of either of the courts of which he is register; nor be interested in the fees or emoluments arising from either of said trusts.

SECT. 10. The register shall have the care and custody of all books, documents, and papers, appertaining to the courts of which he is register, or deposited with the records of insolvency or filed in the probate office; and shall carefully preserve the same to be delivered to his successor. He shall perform such other duties appertaining to his office as may be required by law or prescribed by the judge.

SECT. 11. The judges for the counties of Suffolk, Middlesex, Worcester, Essex, and Norfolk, may each appoint an assistant register of probate and insolvency for his county, who shall hold his office for three years unless sooner removed by the judge. Before entering upon the discharge of his duties the assistant register shall take the oaths prescribed by the constitution, and shall give bond, with condition for the faithful performance of the duties of his office, to the treasurer of the commonwealth in a sum not less than five hundred nor more than five thousand dollars, as ordered by the judge, with one or more sureties approved by him.

sex, and Norfolk Const. Ch. 6, art. 1. Amend. const. art. 6, 1858, 93, §§ 6, 8.

SECT. 12. The assistant register shall perform his duties under the direction of the register, and shall pay over to him all fees and sums received as his assistant, to be accounted for as required by law. He may authenticate papers and perform such other duties as are not performed by the register. In case of the absence, neglect, removal, resignation, or death, of the register, the assistant may complete and attest any records remaining unfinished, and act as register until a new register is qualified, or until the disability is removed.

Assistant register, duties of. 1858, 93, §§ 6, 7.

SECT. 13. If a vacancy occurs in the office of register, the governor with the advice and consent of the council may appoint some person to fill the office until another is elected as provided in chapter ten.

Vacancy in office of register. 1856, 173, § 8. 1858, 93, § 12.

SECT. 14. Upon the death, resignation, removal, or absence, of the register, if there is no assistant register, or if he is also absent, the judge shall appoint a suitable person to act as temporary register until a register is appointed or elected and qualified, or until the disability is removed.

Temporary register. R. S. 83, § 23. 1853, 173, § 8. 1856, 284, § 14. 1858, 93, §§ 2, 3, 5, 6.

SECT. 15. Such temporary register shall be sworn before the judge, and a certificate thereof, with his appointment, shall be recorded with the proceedings of each court in which he acts.

Oath, &c., of. R. S. 83, §§ 21, 25. 1856, 284, §§ 14, 15. 1858, 93.

SALARIES AND FEES.

SECT. 16. Judges, registers, and assistant registers, shall receive from the treasury of the commonwealth annual salaries as follows: —

Salaries of judges, registers, &c. Const. Ch. 11, art. 1. Amend. const. art. 15, § 36. Suffolk. Middlesex.

For the county of Suffolk, the judge and register each three thousand, and the assistant register fifteen hundred, dollars:

SECT. 3. They may issue writs of seire facias against executors and administrators, upon a suggestion of waste after judgment against them, and also against the bail taken in a civil action before them, and proceed herein to judgment and execution in the same manner as the superior court might do in like cases.

Justices may issue seire facias against executors, &c.
R. S. 85, § 16.
See Ch. 128, § 10.

SECT. 4. Such writs shall be served not less than seven nor more than sixty days before the time when they are returnable, and may run into any county in which the defendant may be found.

Within what time to be served.
R. S. 85, § 17.

SECT. 5. It shall be no bar to such suit that the debt and costs on the original judgment together exceed the sum of one hundred dollars; but judgment and execution may be awarded by the justice for the whole sum due to the plaintiff with the costs of the new suit.

Proceedings thereon.
R. S. 85, § 18.

SECT. 6. The original writ in all civil actions commenced before a justice of the peace, shall be a summons or a capias and attachment, and shall be signed by the justice. The forms of such writs shall be regulated as provided in chapter one hundred and twenty-three; but no writ issued by a justice of the peace shall run into any other county than that in which it is returnable, except as provided in the following section and section seventy-seven of chapter one hundred and forty-two.

Writs, forms of, where to run.
R. S. 85, § 7.
See § 4.
See Ch. 103, § 47.
Ch. 133, § 21.

SECT. 7. Writs issued by justices of the peace may be directed to the proper officers in any county for the purpose of causing an attachment of property therein; but no more than one dollar and fifty cents shall be chargeable to or taxed against the defendant for the service of such writ.

may run into any county for attachment.
1878, 121, § 1.

SECT. 8. When an attachment is made upon a writ returnable before a justice of the peace, and the defendant is out of the state, so that no service can be made on him, and he has no agent or attorney residing within the state, the justice may order the action to be continued until notice thereof is given to the defendant in such manner as the justice shall order. Upon proof of such notice having been given, if the defendant fails to appear on the return day of such notice, judgment may be entered and execution issued for the plaintiff, upon his giving bond to the defendant with sufficient surety for double the sum for which execution is to be issued, to repay the amount recovered if within one year from the rendition of the judgment it is reversed.

service of, on absent defendants.
1878, 121, § 2.
See Ch. 126.

SECT. 9. Actions before justices of the peace may be heard and determined at their dwelling-houses or any other convenient and suitable places; and writs and processes may be made returnable accordingly, but not earlier than nine o'clock in the forenoon nor later than five o'clock in the afternoon.

When, &c., causes may be heard.

4 Cr. Ch. 455.

SECT. 10. If a justice fails to attend at the time and place to which a civil process is returnable or continued before him, any other justice for the same county may attend and continue the process not exceeding thirty days, without costs and saving the rights of all parties; and he shall make a certificate thereof, which shall be filed with the papers in the case and entered upon the record by the justice before whom the process was returnable.

On failure of justice to attend, other justice may attend, &c.
1878, 193, §§ 1, 2.

SECT. 11. If any person duly served with process fails to appear and answer thereto, his default shall be recorded and the charge against him in the declaration taken to be true. Upon such default, or when the SECT. 16. In civil actions the trial may be had at the election of the defendant, either upon pleadings in writing as heretofore used, or the defendant without filing any written plea may orally deny the plaintiff's right to maintain his action; in which case an entry shall be made on the record that the defendant appears and denies the plaintiff's right to maintain his action, and puts himself on trial, or in words to that effect. Upon the issue so joined a trial may be had, and any matter may be given in evidence by either party which would have been admissible if the defence had been made under any plea in bar.

Jury in actions over twenty dollars, when, &c.
1853, 314, § 2.
1858, 71.

SECT. 17. Either party to a civil action before a justice of the peace where the debt or damage exceeds twenty dollars, and in actions of replevin where the value of the property alleged to be detained does not exceed one hundred dollars, may on the return day of the writ, upon all parties filing a written waiver of all right of appeal, demand a trial by jury, which shall be granted; and there shall be no right of appeal from the judgment of the justice upon the verdict of the jury.

Summoning attendance, &c., of jury.
Judgment.
1852, 314, § 2.
See Ch. 132.

SECT. 18. Upon granting such trial the justice shall issue a writ of venire facias, directed to the sheriff of the county or either of his deputies, or a constable of the city or town where the court is held, requiring the attendance of six jurors from such city or town at the time and place stated in the warrant, but not more than twenty-one days from its date. The same proceedings shall be had in drawing and summoning such jurors as in other cases, except that it shall be sufficient to summon them two days before the trial. The jury so summoned may try any number of cases before the justice, but shall not be detained more than fourteen days, except to finish a case commenced within that time. Judgment shall be entered according to the verdict of the jury.

Six jurymen.
1852, 314, § 3.

SECT. 19. The jury shall consist of six persons, who shall be sworn and empanelled by the justice.

Proceedings on trial.
1852, 314, §§ 3, 4.

SECT. 20. They shall choose a foreman by ballot, and the trial shall be conducted before the justice in the same manner as nearly as may be as jury trials before the supreme judicial court.

Duty and fees of officer attending.

SECT. 21. A sheriff or constable shall attend such trials and attend on the jury when they retire to make up their verdict. His fees shall be one dollar a day for attendance, and such other sum as he may have to pay, not exceeding two dollars a day, for the use of rooms in which to hold the court, to be allowed by the justice. 1852, 314, § 5.

SECT. 22. The fees of the jurors and of the officer who summons the jury and attends on the court, including the charge for rooms, shall be certified by the justice or his clerk, and paid by the county treasurer. Jurors' fees.
1852, 314, § 8.

SECT. 23. When by reason of challenge or otherwise a sufficient number of jurors cannot be obtained for the trial of a cause, the justice shall cause jurors to complete the panel to be returned by the sheriff or constable from the by-standers, or from the city or town. Deficiency in number of jury, how supplied.
1852, 314, § 6.

SECT. 24. The provision of chapter one hundred and thirty-two, so far as applicable, shall extend to jurors and trials before justices of the peace. Chapter 132 applicable.
1852, 314, § 7.

SECT. 25. A party aggrieved by the judgment of a justice of the peace in a civil action, except upon the verdict of a jury, may within twenty-four hours after the entry of the judgment appeal therefrom to the superior court, then next to be held in the county; in which case no execution shall issue on the judgment appealed from, and the case shall be entered, tried, and determined, in the court appealed to, in like manner as if it had been originally commenced there. SECT. 26. The appellant shall before the allowance of his appeal recognize with sufficient surety or sureties to the adverse party, if required by him, in a reasonable sum with condition to prosecute his appeal with effect, and to pay all such costs as may arise after the appeal. Appellant to recognize.
R. S. 85, § 14.
See Ch. 137, § 9.

SECT. 27. The appellant shall produce at the court appealed to a copy of the record, and of all the papers filed in the case, except that when depositions or other written evidence or documents are so filed the originals shall be produced in the court appealed to instead of copies; and if the appellant fails to produce such copies or papers, or to enter and prosecute his appeal, the court may on the complaint of the adverse party affirm the former judgment or render such other judgment as law and justice may require. to produce

See Ch. 114, § 15.

SECT. 28. Any case so appealed may be tried at the court appealed to upon the issue joined before the justice, or the court may order the defendant to plead in the usual manner, and the case shall then be tried upon such issue as shall be joined therein. Pleadings on appeal.
R. S. 85, § 12.

SECT. 29. When a justice of the peace dies while a judgment rendered by him remains unsatisfied, any other justice in the same county may upon the application of the creditor cause the record of the judgment to be brought before him, and shall thereupon transcribe the same upon his own book of records and deliver the original to the person who produced it, noting on the original that he has so transcribed it. Proceedings on judgment after death of justice.
R. S. 85, § 19.

SECT. 30. The justice applied to in such case shall when necessary issue a summons to the executor or administrator of the deceased justice, or to any other person supposed to have the custody of the records, requiring him to produce the same or to submit to an examination on oath as to the place where they may be found; and the justice may commit such person as for contempt until he submits to such examination if required and produces the record if within his custody or control. Same subject.
R. S. 85, § 20.

SECT. 31. After the record has been so transcribed by the justice, he may issue execution on the judgment as if it had been rendered by himself, changing the form as the circumstances require; and any copy of the record certified by him shall have the same effect as an authenticated copy of the original. Execution, how issued thereon.

CLERKS OF THE COURTS.

Clerk of S. J. C. for commonwealth. Appointment, &c. 1859, 196, § 40.

SECTION 1. The clerk of the supreme judicial court for the commonwealth shall be appointed by the court, and hold his office for five years, unless sooner removed. The clerk of the court for the county of Suffolk shall act as such clerk until one is appointed and qualified.

Assistant clerk. 1859, 196, § 40.

SECT. 2. An assistant clerk of the court may be appointed by the court for the commonwealth, to hold his office for three years from the first day of January next after his appointment, unless sooner removed by the court.

Clerk, duties of. 1859, 196, § 42.

SECT. 3. The clerk shall attend all sessions of the court, preserve all the files and papers thereof, keep a docket record of all questions transferred, and all petitions, complaints, or other process presented to the court, entering thereon the name of the parties in full and the name of the counsel appearing in behalf of either party, with a brief description of the kind of action or proceeding. He shall record thereon accurate minutes of all orders, decrees, or directions of the court in each case, transmit forthwith to the clerks of courts in the several counties all rescripts made or ordered by the court, together with the papers belonging to the supreme and superior court in each case, and receive and keep safely all papers transmitted to him by the clerks of the courts.

SECT. 4. He shall make copies of all papers on file in said court, and of the docket record thereof when desired, and certify the same under the seal of the court; and shall issue such writs or other process as the court directs; he shall charge the fees provided by law for like services for clerks of courts, and when no express sum is fixed receive a fair compensation for the services required of him in analogy to like services for which a compensation is fixed by law: provided, that the fees for entry upon the docket, the record, the transmission of all necessary papers and the rescript in each case, shall not exceed one dollar and fifty cents in the whole.

to account for fees, &c. 1859, 196, § 43. See Ch. 121, § 36.

SECT. 5. The clerk shall annually before the last Wednesday of December, account with and pay over to the treasurer of the commonwealth all fees received by him, and receive from the treasurer an annual salary of three thousand dollars.

Clerks of county commissioners. 1857, 1, 1890, 11.

SECT. 6. The clerks and assistant clerks of the courts of the several counties shall be clerks of the county commissioners.

Clerk of courts, vacancy in office of, how filled. 1856, 173, § 9.

SECT. 7. If a vacancy occurs in the office of clerk of the courts in any county, or of the clerk of the supreme judicial court in the county of Suffolk, the justices of said court, or a majority of them, may appoint a clerk, who shall hold the office until the next annual election, or until another is elected or appointed in his stead. Upon a vacancy in the county of Suffolk in the office of a clerk of the superior court, the justices of that court shall in like manner appoint a clerk for a similar term.

Assistant clerks, tenure of office of. Vacancies, how filled. 1850, 236, 1851, 38, 1855, 419, § 2, 1856, 37, § 1, 1859, 196, § 9, 13 Gray, 74.

SECT. 8. The assistant clerks of the courts in the counties of Middlesex and Worcester, of the supreme judicial and superior courts in the county of Suffolk, shall continue to hold their offices according to the tenor of their respective appointments. As vacancies occur, the justices of the supreme judicial court, or a majority of them, shall appoint an assistant clerk for the counties of Suffolk, Middlesex, and Worcester respectively, who shall hold their offices for the term of three years, subject to removal by the court. Upon the occurrence of a vacancy in the office of assistant clerk of the superior court in the county of Suffolk, the justices of said court shall in like manner appoint an assistant clerk.

SECT. 9. If, by reason of sickness or other cause, the clerk of the courts in any county or of the supreme judicial court is unable to discharge the duties of his office, and there is no assistant clerk or he is also unable, the justices of the supreme judicial court, or a majority of them, may appoint a clerk pro tempore, who shall perform the duties of the office until the clerk or assistant clerk resumes his duties. The justices of the superior court may in like manner appoint a clerk pro tempore, when the clerk and assistant clerk of that court in the county of Suffolk cannot perform the duties of the office. When, after any such temporary appointment, the clerk or assistant clerk resumes his duties, he shall make a record of that fact, with the date, under his signature, in the then latest book of records in each of the courts.

If clerks are unable to perform duties, clerks pro tempore may be appointed. Record to be made. R. S. 158, §§ 1, 3, 1859, 196, § 9.

SECT. 10. If at a term of any court neither the clerk nor assistant clerk is present, the court may appoint a clerk pro tempore, who shall perform the duties of the office during the term or until the clerk or assistant clerk resumes his duties; unless an appointment under some one of the preceding sections or an election pursuant to law is sooner made.

not present at terms, court may appoint clerk pro tempore. R. S. 81, § 14. R. S. 88, § 13.

SECT. 11. The clerk, assistant clerk, and clerk pro tempore of a court shall be sworn before a judge thereof.

SECT. 19. Nothing contained in the preceding sections shall be construed to exempt the clerks from a suit for any other breach of the condition of their bonds, or from their liability in any other way or to any party for neglect or misconduct in their offices.

SECT. 20. The assistant clerks may perform such of the duties of the clerk as are not performed by him.

SECT. 21. Each assistant clerk shall perform his duties under the direction of the clerk, and pay over to him all fees and sums received as such assistant. Upon the absence, resignation, death, or removal of the clerk, the assistant clerk shall perform his duties, under the direction of the court, until a clerk is elected or appointed and qualified. In case of the death, removal, or resignation of the clerk, the assistant clerk shall account with and pay over the money in his hands to the officer with whom the clerk is by law required to account.

SECT. 22. The clerks of the courts in the several counties and of the supreme judicial and superior courts in the county of Suffolk, shall keep an account of all fees received by them for their official acts and services, except fees for copies they are not required by law to furnish; and shall on the first Wednesday of January in every year render to the treasurer of the county their account on oath of all fees so received within the year then past.

SECT. 23. Each clerk of the courts in the several counties, and of the supreme judicial court and superior court in the county of Suffolk, shall retain the sum hereinafter provided for his annual salary; and also one-half of any excess of that sum, for his own use, and pay the residue to the treasurer for the use of the county; and at the same rate for any part of a year.

SECT. 24. The sums which the clerks in the several counties may retain for their annual salaries, shall be as follows, to wit:—

The clerk in the county of Barnstable, one thousand dollars: Berkshire, fourteen hundred dollars: Bristol, sixteen hundred dollars: Dukes County, two hundred and fifty dollars: Essex, two thousand dollars: Franklin, twelve hundred dollars: Hampden, eighteen hundred dollars: Hampshire, twelve hundred dollars: Middlesex, two thousand dollars: Nantucket, four hundred dollars: Norfolk, fifteen hundred dollars: Plymouth, fourteen hundred dollars: Worcester, two thousand dollars: Suffolk, the clerk of supreme judicial court and superior court for civil business, three thousand dollars each; and of the superior court for criminal business, two thousand dollars.

SECT. 25. If the fees received by the several clerks do not amount to the salary above provided, the clerk shall retain what is received in full for his services for the year.

SECT. 26. The assistant clerks shall receive annual salaries, as follows:—

Of the supreme judicial court for the commonwealth, fifteen hundred dollars, to be paid by the commonwealth:

In the county of Suffolk, of the supreme judicial court, fifteen hundred dollars: of the superior court, for civil business, eighteen hundred dollars:

In the county of Middlesex, twelve hundred dollars: and

In the county of Worcester, sixteen hundred dollars; to be paid quarterly by each county respectively.

SECT. 27. The several clerks pro tempore shall receive for their services such compensation as the court appointing them may determine, to be paid by the clerk or from the county treasury, as the court shall direct.

ATTORNEYS AT LAW.

SECT. 28. A citizen of this state, or an alien who has made the primary declaration of his intention to become a citizen of the United States, and who is an inhabitant of this state, of the age of twenty-one years and of good moral character, who has devoted three years to the study of the law in the office of some attorney within this state, shall, on application to the supreme judicial court, or superior court, be admitted to practice as an attorney in any court of this state, on complying with the other requisitions contained in this chapter.

Attorneys at law, how admitted to practice, R. S. SS, § 19, 1852, 151, 1859, 196, 6 Mass. 382, 10 Met. 239.

SECT. 29. Any person having the other qualifications required in the preceding section, although he has not studied the term therein prescribed, may, on the recommendation of an attorney, petition the supreme judicial court, or superior court, to be examined for admission as an attorney, whereupon the court shall assign a time and place for the examination, and if satisfied with his acquirements and qualifications he shall be admitted as if he had studied three full years.

Same subject, R. S. SS, § 20, 1859, 196.

SECT. 30. Whoever is admitted as an attorney shall in open court take and subscribe the oaths to support the constitution of the United States, and of this commonwealth, and the oath of office.

To be sworn, &c. Annul. const. art. 9. R. S. SS, § 21.

SECT. 31. The oath of office is as follows:—

You solemnly swear that you will do no falsehood, nor consent to the doing of any in court; you will not wittingly or willingly promote or sue any false, groundless, or unlawful suit, nor give aid or consent to the same; you will delay no man for lucre or malice; but you will conduct yourself in the office of an attorney within the courts, according to the best of your knowledge and discretion, and with all good fidelity as well to the courts as your clients. So help you, God.

Oath of office of, 1786, 23, § 1. R. S. SS, § 22.

SECT. 32. A person admitted in any court may practise in every other court in the state; and there shall be no distinction of counsellors and attorneys.

No distinction of counsellors and attorneys, &c. R. S. SS, § 23. Attorneys, &c., from other states, R. S. SS, § 24.

SECT. 33. A person admitted an attorney or counsellor of the highest judicial court of any other state of which he was an inhabitant, and who afterwards becomes an inhabitant of this state, may be admitted to practice here upon satisfactory evidence of his good moral character and his professional qualifications.

SECT. 34. An attorney may be removed by the supreme judicial court or superior court for any deceit, malpractice, or other gross misconduct, and shall also be liable in damages to the party injured thereby, and to such other punishment as may be provided by law; and the expenses and costs of the inquiry and proceedings in any court for the removal of an attorney, shall be paid as in criminal prosecutions in the same courts.

Attorneys may be removed for malpractice, &c. Expenses the reof, how paid, R. S. SS, § 25, 1859, 196.

SECT. 35. Parties may manage, prosecute, or defend their own suits personally, and by such counsel or attorneys as they may engage; but no more than two persons for each party shall without permission of the court be allowed to manage any case therein.

Parties may manage their own suits, &c. R. S. SS, § 26.

SECT. 36. Any person of good moral character may manage, prosecute, or defend a suit if he is specially authorized by the party for whom he appears, in writing or by personal nomination in open court.

Persons specially authorized, &c. R. S. SS, § 27.

SECT. 37. An attorney lawfully possessed of an execution, or who has prosecuted a suit to final judgment in favor of his client, shall have a lien thereon for the amount of his fees and disbursements in the cause, but this shall not prevent the payment of the execution or judgment to the judgment creditor without notice of the lien.

Attorney to have lien for fees, &c. R. S. SS, § 28, 3 Greenl. 34, 5 Mass. 309, 11 Mass. 236, 13 Mass. 523, 4 Gray. 358.

SECT. 38. If an attorney at law unreasonably neglects to pay money collected by him for and in behalf of a client, when demanded by the client, he shall forfeit and pay to such client five times the lawful interest of the money, from the time of the demand.

penalty on, for not paying over to client, 1859, 166, § 1.

SECT. 5. Sheriffs, deputy-sheriffs, coroners, constables, and other officers, shall serve all lawful processes legally directed to them, issued by a court, judge, judicial officer, or county commissioners.

SECT. 6. Counsellors, attorneys, justices of the peace, sheriffs, deputy-sheriffs, coroners, or constables, shall not directly or indirectly buy or be interested in buying, or directly or indirectly loan or advance or agree to loan or advance any money or other goods, or give or promise any valuable consideration whatever to any person, as an inducement to place or in consideration of having placed in the hands of any person any bond, note, book debt, or right of action, for collection, with intent to make themselves any gain from the fees arising from such collection by a suit at law.

SECT. 7. Whoever commits either of the offences described in the preceding section shall for each offence forfeit a sum not less than twenty or exceeding five hundred dollars.

SECT. 8. The supreme judicial and superior courts shall respectively have jurisdiction of applications for naturalization.

SECT. 9. Proceedings upon such applications shall be had in open court, recorded and entered upon the docket of the term when the primary declaration is made, and also of the term when the final application is made.

SECT. 10. No other court established by this state shall entertain any primary or final declaration or application made by or in behalf of an alien to become a citizen of the United States, receive any registry of an alien, or entertain jurisdiction of the naturalization of aliens. Nor shall any clerk of such court receive such application or papers.

SECT. 11. If any clerk or other person shall record or file such application or declaration, or issue a certificate of naturalization, in violation of the provisions of the preceding section, he shall be punished by a fine of ten dollars.

SECT. 12. The clerks or assistant clerks of courts, sheriffs, or their deputies, as the court directs, shall perform the duties of criers, without additional compensation. But any officer may adjourn the court by order thereof.

SECT. 13. No person shall be disqualified from acting as judge, magistrate, appraiser, or officer of any kind, in a suit or proceeding in which any city or town is interested, by reason of his interest as an inhabitant thereof. And no juror shall be disqualified by reason of being an inhabitant of the city of Boston.

allow amendments to declarations so as to include the whole tract: this provision shall not apply if a county, the city of Boston, or one of the corporations enumerated in section five, is a party.

SECT. 3. Actions, whether local or transitory, against the inhabitants of a county, shall be brought either in the county where the plaintiff lives or in the defendant county, or in a county adjoining thereto, at the plaintiff's election.

SECT. 4. Such actions by the inhabitants of a county shall be brought in the county in which the defendant lives, or in a county adjoining the plaintiff county; and when the defendant lives in the plaintiff county it shall be brought in an adjoining county.

SECT. 5. When a corporation, other than a county or the city of Boston, is a party to an action, it may be brought as follows, to wit:

First. When both parties are cities or towns, school districts, or parishes; in the county in which either of the cities, towns, school districts, or parishes, is situated:

Second. When it is between a city, town, school district, or parish, and a natural person; either in the county in which such city, town, school district, or parish, is situated, or in that in which the other party lives:

Third. When one of the parties is a corporation of any other description than is before mentioned in this section; in any county in which such corporation has an established or usual place of business, or has held its last annual meeting, or usually holds its meetings; or if the other party is a natural person, in the county where such person lives.

SECT. 6. Actions, suits, and prosecutions by and against the city of Boston may be brought in either of the counties of Suffolk, Essex, Middlesex, or Norfolk, or in the county where the plaintiff lives; but if brought by the city in the county of Suffolk, may be removed to one of the other of said counties, as provided in the following section.

SECT. 7. The defendant or tenant, at the term at which his appearance is entered, may file a motion in writing for the removal of the suit, and the court shall thereupon order it to be removed to the proper court in such one of the other of said counties as the attorney of the city of Boston elects. Said attorney shall enter the same accordingly in the court so designated, at the then next term, and file therein certified copies of the writ or other process and of the order of removal; and the proceedings shall be conducted in like manner as if the suit had been originally commenced in that county.

SECT. 8. Every civil action for the recovery of a forfeiture shall be brought in the county in which the offence was committed, unless a different provision is made in the statute imposing the forfeiture.

FORMS, ISSUING, AND RETURN, OF WRITS.

SECT. 9. Civil actions, except those founded on scire facias or other special writs, shall be commenced by original writs, which shall be signed, sealed, and bear teste, as required by the constitution.

SECT. 10. The original writ may be framed, either,—

To attach the goods or estate of the defendant, and for want thereof, to take his body; or,

It may be an original summons, with or without an order to attach the goods or estate.

SECT. 11. When goods or estates are attached on either of the writs before mentioned, there shall be a separate summons, to be served on the defendant after the attachment, and the service thereof shall be a sufficient service of the original summons.

which goods and estate may be attached, but in which the defendant is not liable to arrest, the writ of attachment and original summons may be combined in one, requiring the officer to attach the goods and estate, and to summon the defendant.

SECT. 13. Original writs in actions before justices of the peace shall be signed by the justice before whom the action is brought, and shall be dated and filled up like the other writs before mentioned.

SECT. 14. The forms of writs in civil actions shall be the same as heretofore established by law and the usage and practice of the courts; but alterations may be made or allowed by the courts, when necessary to adapt them to changes in the law, or for other sufficient reasons.

SECT. 15. All changes in the forms of writs shall be subject to the final control of the supreme judicial court; and said court may by general rules regulate such changes in all the courts.

SECT. 16. When the name of a defendant is not known to the plaintiff, the writ may be issued against him by a fictitious name, and if duly served, shall not be abated for that cause, but may be amended on such terms as the court deems reasonable.

SECT. 17. Original writs in the supreme judicial court and all writs and processes in the superior court shall be signed and may be issued in term time or vacation by the clerk, may be returnable to the same court in any other county, may run into any county, and shall be executed and obeyed throughout the state.

SECT. 18. The subpoena on bills in equity shall be issued from the clerk's office either in term time or vacation, upon a bill there filed, shall bear teste of the first justice of the court who is not a party to the suit, and shall be under the seal of the court and signed by the clerk.

SECT. 19. Original writs issuing from the supreme judicial court, or superior court, if required to be served fourteen days before the return day, shall be made returnable at the court next to be held after the expiration of fourteen days from the date of the writ; and if required to be served thirty days before the return day, shall be made returnable at the court next to be held after the expiration of thirty days from the date of the writ: provided, that writs and processes of the supreme judicial court may be made returnable at any adjourned term, in like manner as at a term established by law.

SECT. 20. Original writs, writs of audita querela, scire facias by private persons on judgment or recognizance, writs of error in civil cases, petitions for certiorari, and bills in equity, in which the plaintiff is not an inhabitant of the state, shall before the entry thereof be indorsed by some sufficient person who is such inhabitant; but if one of the plaintiffs is an inhabitant of the state the process need not be so indorsed. Every indorser, in case of avoidance or inability of the plaintiff, shall be liable to pay all costs awarded against the plaintiff, if the suit therefor is commenced within one year after the original judgment.

R. S. 90, § 55.

SECT. 32. All real estates, goods, and chattels, liable to be taken on execution, (except such goods and chattels as, from their nature or situation, have been considered as exempt according to the principles of the common law as adopted and practised in this state,) may be attached upon the original writ, in any action in which debt or damages are recoverable, and held as security to satisfy such judgment as the plaintiff may recover: provided, that no attachment of lands or tenements shall be made on a writ returnable before a justice of the peace, or police court, unless the debt or damage demanded therein exceed twenty dollars.

Proceeds of property attached and sold may be again attached.
R. S. 90, §§ 71, 72.
See §§ 72, 73.

SECT. 33. Different attachments may be made successively upon the same writ by one or more officers and in one or more counties, at any time before the service of the summons; but no further attachment shall be made after the summons is served.

SECT. 34. When goods are sold or disposed of, by consent of the parties or after an appraisal as hereinafter provided, the proceeds while remaining in the hands of the officer shall be liable to be further attached by him as the property of the original defendant in like manner as the goods themselves would have been liable if they had remained in the possession of the officer; and the proceeds so attached shall be held and disposed of in the same manner as if the attachment had been made on the goods themselves before the sale thereof. But this shall not prevent the officer from paying over to the defendant the surplus of the proceeds of such sale, after retaining enough to satisfy all the attachments actually existing at the time of such payment.

Goods replevied from officer liable to further attachment.
R. S. 90, § 99.

SECT. 35. All goods taken by replevin from an officer who has attached them shall be considered as still remaining in his custody and control so far as to be liable to further successive attachments, in like manner as if the goods themselves had remained in his possession.

Plaintiff in replevin liable for whole value.
R. S. 90, § 100.

SECT. 36. If there is judgment for a return of the goods so replevied, the plaintiff in the replevin and his sureties shall be liable for the whole of the goods, or the value thereof, although the attachment for which they are eventually held was made after the taking of the goods by the replevin.

Goods may be further attached, after death, &c., of first attaching officer.
R. S. 90, § 101.

SECT. 37. If an officer after making an attachment of goods dies or is removed from office while the attachment remains in force, the same goods, whether replevied or remaining in possession of the officer or of his executors or administrators, may be further attached by any other officer so as to bind the goods or the proceeds thereof, in like manner as if the latter attachment had been made by the first-mentioned officer.

Proceedings in such case.
R. S. 90, §§ 102, 103.

SECT. 38. The officer making the latter attachment in such case shall not take the goods themselves, but the attachment shall be made by a return setting forth an attachment in the common form and stating by whom the goods were previously attached, and, if the goods have not been replevied, by leaving a certified copy of the writ, (without the declaration,) and of the return of that attachment, with the former officer if living, or if he is dead with his executor or administrator, or whoever else then has possession of the goods; or if the goods have been replevied and the officer who made the original attachment is dead, such copy shall be left with the plaintiff in replevin, or his executors or administrators, and the attachment shall be considered as made when such copy is delivered in either of the modes before provided.

SECT. 39. Goods taken by replevin from an attaching officer shall not be further attached as the property of the original defendant, in any other manner than that provided in the four preceding sections, so long as they are held by the person who replevied them, or by any one holding under him, unless the original defendant has acquired a new title to the goods.

Mode of attaching goods replevied.
R. S. 90, § 104.

SECT. 40. Goods and chattels attached by an officer, whether remaining in his custody at the time of his death or taken from him by replevin or otherwise, and also all claims for damages to goods so taken from him, shall remain subject to the attachment in like manner as if the officer had lived, and shall not be considered as assets in the hands of his executors or administrators.

Attachment to continue, though attaching officer dies.
R. S. 90, § 95.

SECT. 41. If real estate that is attached is subject to a mortgage or other encumbrance, and the mortgage is redeemed or the encumbrance removed before the levy of the execution, the attachment shall hold the premises discharged of the mortgage or encumbrance, and the execution may be levied in the same manner and with the same effect as if the mortgage or other encumbrance had never existed.

SECT. 42. If final judgment in any case is rendered for the plaintiff, the goods and estate attached shall be held for thirty days after the judgment, in order to their being taken on execution; and if the attachment is made in the county of Nantucket and the judgment is rendered in any other county, or if the judgment is rendered in Nantucket and the attachment is made in any other county, the goods and estate shall be held for sixty days after final judgment, unless in either case the attachment has been dissolved as hereinafter provided.

Goods, &c., attached held for thirty days after judgment. In Nantucket, &c., for sixty days, in certain cases.
R. S. 90, § 25.

SECT. 43. If the final judgment is for the defendant, the attachment shall be forthwith dissolved.

Attachment dissolved by judgment for defendant.
R. S. 90, § 26.

SECT. 44. The final judgment intended in the two preceding sections is that which is rendered in the original action, whether upon appeal or otherwise, and not such as may be rendered upon a writ of error or writ of review.

SECT. 45. When real estate, goods, chattels, or effects, are attached, and the debtor dies before they are taken or seized on execution, the attachment shall be dissolved if administration of the estate of the deceased is granted in this state within one year after his decease, or if application therefor is made within said year and administration is afterwards granted upon such application. If no such administration is granted, the property attached shall continue bound by the attachment in like manner as if the debtor were still living.

SECT. 46. When the attachment is of goods, the officer shall upon demand deliver them to the executor or administrator, if any is appointed in this state within the time limited in the preceding section, upon receiving from the executor or administrator his legal fees and charges for attaching and keeping the goods.

SECT. 47. If the officer has sold the goods on execution before such demand, or if he has sold in like manner any other chattel interest, or any right of redeeming real estate attached as aforesaid, he shall not be considered a trespasser for so doing; but he shall be liable only for the proceeds of the sale after deducting his legal fees and charges for attaching, keeping, and selling, the goods, and such proceeds may be recovered by the executor or administrator in an action of contract for money had and received.

Officer liable only for net proceeds.
R. S. 90, § 107.
1852, 312.

SECT. 48. If the officer in such case has paid over the proceeds of the sale to the judgment creditor before such demand, he shall be exempt from all further liability therefor, and the executor or administrator, if appointed as before provided, may recover from the judgment creditor the amount so paid to him, in an action of contract for money had and received.

SECT. 49. The defendant, in an action founded on either of the three preceding sections, shall not be allowed in any manner to set off a demand against the executor or administrator, or against the estate of the deceased.

ATTACHMENT OF REAL ESTATE AND LEASEHOLD ESTATES.

SECT. 50. In attaching real estate or any right or interest in land, it shall not be deemed necessary that the officer should enter upon the land or be within view of it. In attaching leasehold estates the officer shall state in his return in general terms the leasehold property attached.

SECT. 51. No attachment of real estate or of any leasehold estates on mesne process shall be valid against a subsequent attaching creditor, or against a person who afterwards purchases the same for a valuable consideration and in good faith, unless the original writ or a copy thereof, and so much of the officer's return thereon as relates to the attachment of the estate, is deposited in the office of the clerk of the courts for the county in which the lands lie, or in the office of the clerk of the supreme judicial court if the lands lie in the county of Suffolk, which copy shall be certified by the officer, but need not contain the declaration in the writ.

SECT. 52. Every officer making such attachment shall deposit the writ or copy in the clerk's office according to the provisions of the preceding section; and he shall be entitled to receive four cents a mile for his travel from the place of service to the office of the clerk, together with his fee for the copy.

SECT. 53. The clerk shall note on every such writ or copy the day, hour, and minute, when he receives it, and shall file the same in his office. He shall also enter in a book to be kept for that purpose the name of the plaintiff and name of each defendant whose estate is attached, the time when the attachment was made, and the time when the writ or copy was deposited. His fee in each case shall be twenty-five cents, for which he shall not be holden to render any account, and which shall be paid on the delivery of the writ or copy, and may be taxed for the plaintiff in his bill of costs.

SECT. 54. If the writ or copy is deposited as aforesaid within three days after the day on which the attachment is made, the attachment shall take effect from the time it was made, otherwise from the time when the writ or copy is so deposited.

SECT. 55. When an attachment on mesne process is made of real estate or any right or interest therein which has been fraudulently conveyed by the debtor to a third person; or which has been purchased or the purchase money of which has been directly or indirectly paid by the debtor and the title thereto retained in the vendor or conveyed to another person, with the design and for the purpose of fraudulently securing the same from attachment by a creditor of such debtor, or with the intent and for the purpose of delaying, defeating, or defrauding, creditors; it shall not be valid against a subsequent attaching creditor, or against a person who afterwards purchases the estate for a valuable consideration and in good faith, unless the officer in addition to the return required by the preceding sections also returns a brief description of the estate attached, by its locality, situation, boundaries, or otherwise, as known to him, and the name or names of the person or persons in whom the record or legal title stands.

SECT. 56. The clerk in such case, in addition to the names of the parties to the writ which he is required to enter as provided in section fifty-three, shall also enter in his book of attachments the names of the

ATTACHMENT OF GOODS, &C., WHICH CANNOT BE REMOVED.

SECT. 57. When an attachment is made of articles of personal estate which by reason of their bulk or other cause cannot be immediately removed, a certified copy of the writ, (without the declaration,) and of the return of the attachment, may at any time within three days thereafter be deposited in the office of the clerk of the city or town in which it is made; and such attachment shall be equally valid and effectual as if the articles had been retained in the possession and custody of the officer. Attachment of goods too bulky to be removed. R. S. 90, §§ 33, 34. 8 Pick. 402. 2 Met. 36. 4 Cush. 425. See Ch. 133, § 42.

SECT. 58. The clerk shall receive and file all such copies, noting thereon the time when received, and keep them safely in his office, and also enter a note thereof, in the order in which they are received, in the books kept for recording mortgages of personal property; which entry shall contain the names of the parties to the suit and the date of the entry. The clerk's fee for this service shall be twenty-five cents, to be paid by the officer and included in his charge for the service of the writ. Same subject. R. S. 90, § 35.

ATTACHMENT OF SHARES IN CORPORATIONS.

SECT. 59. The share or interest of a stockholder in any corporation organized under authority of this state may be attached by leaving an attested copy of the writ, (without the declaration,) and of the return of the attachment, with the clerk, treasurer, or cashier, of the company, if there is such officer; otherwise with any officer or person who has at the time the custody of the books and papers of the corporation. Shares in corporations, how to be attached. R. S. 40, § 13. R. S. 90, § 36. See Ch. 133, § 42.

SECT. 60. Any share or interest so attached, with all the dividends thereafter accruing thereon, shall be held as security to satisfy the final judgment in the suit, in like manner as any other personal estate is held. Same subject. R. S. 90, § 37. See Ch. 133, § 42.

SECT. 61. If the officer having a writ of attachment against such stockholder exhibits the writ to the officer of the company who is appointed to keep a record or account of the shares or interest of the stockholders therein, and requests a certificate of the number of shares or amount of the interest held by the defendant in the suit, such officer of the company shall give such certificate to the officer holding the writ. If he unreasonably refuses to do so, or if he wilfully gives a false certificate thereof, he shall be liable for double the amount of all damages occasioned by such refusal or false certificate, to be recovered in an action of tort, unless the judgment is satisfied by the original defendant. Penalty on recording officer for refusal or false certificate. R. S. 90, § 38. 1852, 312. See Ch. 133, § 42.

ATTACHMENT, &C., OF PERSONAL PROPERTY MORTGAGED OR PLEDGED.

SECT. 62. Personal property of a debtor that is subject to a mortgage, pledge, or lien, and of which the debtor has the right of redemption, may be attached and held in like manner as if it were unencumbered: provided, the attaching creditor pays or tenders to the mortgagee, pawnee, or holder, of the property, the amount for which it is so liable, within ten days after the same is demanded. 1 Cush. 278. 6 Cush. 106. 4 Gray. 550. SECT. 63. Every such mortgagee, pawnee, or holder, shall, when demanding payment of the money due to him, state in writing a just and true account of the debt or demand for which the property is liable to him, and deliver it to the attaching creditor or officer. If the same is not paid or tendered to him within ten days thereafter, the attachment shall be dissolved and the property shall be restored to him; and the attaching creditor shall moreover be liable to him for any damages he has sustained by the attachment. Mortgagee to state amount due him, &c. R. S. 90, § 79. 1844, 148, § 1. 23 Pick. 321. 1 Met. 172, 294. 325, 515. 3 Met. 144. 10 Met. 7, 481. 3 Cush. 306, 575. 1 Gray, 254. 3 Gray, 490.

not recovering judgment to hold property until repaid, &c.
1844, 118, § 6.

SECT. 64. If he demands and receives more than the amount due to him, he shall be liable for the excess, with interest thereon at the rate of twelve per cent. a year, to be recovered by the attaching creditor in an action of contract for money had and received.

SECT. 65. When property attached and redeemed as aforesaid is sold on mesne process or on execution, the proceeds thereof, after deducting the charges of the sale, shall be first applied to repay the attaching creditor the amount so paid by him, with interest.

SECT. 66. If the plaintiff after having redeemed the goods does not recover judgment in the suit, he shall nevertheless be entitled to hold the goods until the defendant repays to him the sum which he paid for the redemption, or as much thereof as the defendant would have been obliged to pay to the mortgagee, pawnee, or holder, of the goods, if they had not been attached, with interest from the time when the same is demanded of the defendant.

SECT. 67. Personal property of a debtor subject to a mortgage, and being in the possession of the mortgagor, may be attached in the same manner as if it was unencumbered; and the mortgagee or his assigns may be summoned in the same action in which the property is attached, as the trustee of the mortgagor or his assigns, to answer such questions as may be put to him or them by the court or their order touching the consideration of the mortgage and the amount due thereon.

SECT. 68. If upon such examination, or verdict of a jury as hereinafter provided, it appears to the court that the mortgage is bona fide, the court, having first ascertained the amount justly due upon it, may direct the attaching creditor to pay the same to the mortgagee or his assigns within such time as it orders; and if the attaching creditor does not pay or tender the sum within the time prescribed, the attachment shall be void and the property be restored.

SECT. 69. If the attaching creditor denies the validity of the mortgage and moves that the same may be tried by a jury, the court shall order such trial on an issue to be framed under the direction of the court, and if upon such examination or verdict the mortgage is adjudged valid, the mortgagee or his assigns shall recover his costs.

SECT. 70. When the creditor has paid to the mortgagee or his assigns the sum directed by the court, he shall be entitled to retain out of the proceeds of the property attached, when sold, the sum so paid with interest, and the balance shall be applied to the payment of his debt.

SECT. 71. If the attaching creditor after having paid the sum directed by the court does not recover judgment in the suit, he shall nevertheless be entitled to hold the property until the debtor has repaid the sum so paid by order of court, with interest.

SALE BY CONSENT OF PERSONAL PROPERTY ATTACHED.

Goods attached may be sold by consent.

See § 34.
Ch. 133, §§ 34-42.

SECT. 72. When personal property is attached, whether on one or more writs, and the debtor and all the attaching creditors consent in writing to the sale, the attaching officer shall sell it in the manner prescribed by law for selling like property on execution; and the proceeds of the sale, after deducting the necessary charges, shall be held by the officer subject to the attachments, and shall be disposed of in like manner as the property would have been held and disposed of if it had remained unsold.

PERISHABLE PROPERTY ATTACHED.

Property attached if perishable, &c., may value by keeping, or which cannot be kept without great and disproportionate expense, and the parties do not consent to a sale thereof as before provided, the property so attached shall upon the request of either of the parties interested be examined, appraised, and sold or otherwise disposed of, in the manner following.

be appraised and sold.
R. S. 90, § 58.
18 Prob. 407.
See § 34.

SECT. 74. Upon such application made by either party to the attaching officer, he shall give notice to all the other parties or their attorneys, prepare a schedule of the goods, and cause three disinterested persons acquainted with the nature and value of such goods to be appointed and sworn before a magistrate, or the attaching officer, to the faithful discharge of their duty as appraisers.

Proceedings upon application for appraisement.
R. S. 90, § 59.
1852, 1, § 3.

SECT. 75. If the defendant is not within the state and has no attorney therein, the notice shall be left in writing at his last and usual place of abode in the state if he has any, otherwise it shall be delivered to, or left at the dwelling-house or place of business of the person who had possession of the property at the time of the attachment.

Notice to defendant when out of the state.
1857, 185.

SECT. 76. The appraisers shall be appointed, one by the creditor or creditors in the several suits, one by the debtor or debtors, and one by the officer; and if the debtors or creditors respectively neglect to appoint such appraiser, or do not agree in the nomination, the officer shall appoint one in their behalf.

Appraisers, how appointed.
R. S. 90, § 60.

SECT. 77. The appraisers shall examine the attached property, and if they are of opinion that the same or any part thereof is liable to perish or waste, or to be greatly reduced in value by keeping, or that it cannot be kept without great and disproportionate expense, they shall proceed to appraise the same according to the best of their skill and judgment at the value thereof in money; and the goods shall thereupon be sold by the officer and the proceeds held and disposed of in the manner before provided in the case of a sale by consent of parties, unless the goods are taken by the debtor as provided in the following section.

Upon decision of appraisers, goods may be sold.
R. S. 90, § 61.
4 Cush. 393.
See § 74.

SECT. 78. The goods so appraised shall be delivered to the debtor, if he requires it, upon his depositing with the attaching officer the appraised value thereof in money, or giving bond to him in a sufficient penalty and with two sufficient sureties, conditioned to pay to him the appraised value of the goods or satisfy all such judgments as may be recovered in the suits in which the goods were attached, if demanded within the time during which the goods would have been held by the respective attachments, or within thirty days after the time when the creditors respectively would have been entitled to demand payment out of the proceeds of the goods if they had been sold as before provided.

or delivered to defendant upon his depositing money or giving bond, &c.
R. S. 90, § 62.

SECT. 79. The officer taking such bond shall return the same with the writ on which the first attachment is made, in like manner as bail bonds are returned, with a certificate of his doings in relation thereto, and if the bond is forfeited, the creditors or any of them may bring an action of contract thereon in the name of the officer.

Bond to be returned with the writ.
R. S. 90, § 63.
1852, 312.

SECT. 80. The writ in such action shall in addition to the usual indorsement have also indorsed on it the names of the creditors by whom the action is brought; and if judgment is rendered for the defendants, executions for the costs shall be issued against all the creditors whose names are so indorsed.

Action thereon to be brought by creditors.
R. S. 90, § 64.

SECT. 81. If judgment is rendered for the plaintiff, the money recovered shall be first applied, under the order of the court, to pay the reasonable expenses of prosecuting the suit, so far as the same are not reimbursed by the costs recovered of the defendant; and the residue shall belong to all the attaching creditors according to their respective rights.

Money recovered, to belong to them.
R. S. 90, § 65.

SECT. 82. The court may upon a hearing in equity determine the rights of the several attaching creditors, and award a separate execution to be distributed by court.

R. S. 90, § 66.

for the amount due or payable to each, to be served and levied to his own use in the manner provided when a judgment is rendered on an administration bond; or they may award one execution for the whole sum due on the bond, and cause the money received to be distributed among the creditors according to their respective rights.

Prior attachments to be protected.
R. S. 90, § 67.

SECT. 83. No judgment or execution shall be awarded for the use of a creditor without reserving as much as may be due upon any prior attachment, whether the creditor in such prior suit is or is not one of those by whom the action is brought on the bond.

Creditor not joining in suit on the bond, &c.
R. S. 90, § 68.

SECT. 84. Any creditor entitled to the benefit of the bond who has not joined in bringing the action thereon, may bring a writ of scire facias, on the judgment, and recover any sum due to him upon the bond; or he may upon motion, at any time before final judgment, be allowed upon such terms as the court prescribes to become a party to the action, as if he had been one of those by whom it was originally brought.

Limitation of action on bond, and of scire facias on judgment.
R. S. 90, § 69.

SECT. 85. No creditor whose cause of action on such bond accrued more than one year before the commencement of the action, shall have judgment or execution in such action, and no creditor shall sue out a writ of scire facias on the judgment, unless within one year after his cause of action accrues.

Creditor may be paid, leaving enough for prior attachments.
R. S. 90, § 70.

SECT. 86. When goods which are sold or appraised and delivered to the debtor in the manner before provided are attached by several creditors, any one of them may demand and receive satisfaction of his judgment notwithstanding a prior attachment, if he is otherwise entitled to demand the money, and if a sufficient sum of the proceeds of the goods, or of the appraised value, is left to satisfy all prior attachments.

JOINT PERSONAL PROPERTY ATTACHED ON A WRIT AGAINST PART OWNER.

Goods attached may be appraised at request of part owner not a defendant.
R. S. 90, § 73.
1 Met. 36.
7 Gray, 416.

SECT. 87. When personal property belonging to two or more persons is attached in a suit against one or more of the part owners thereof, it shall, upon the request of any other of the part owners, be examined and appraised in the manner before provided for an appraisement when made at the request of a party in the suit; except that the part owner who makes the application shall appoint one of the appraisers, and the debtor shall not appoint any.

and delivered to such part owner upon his giving bond, &c.
R. S. 90, § 74.

SECT. 88. The property so appraised shall be delivered to the part owner at whose request it was appraised, upon his giving bond to the attaching officer, in a sufficient penalty and with two sufficient sureties, conditioned to restore the same in like good order, or to pay the officer the appraised value of the defendant's share or interest therein, or satisfy all such judgments as may be recovered in the suit in which it is attached, if demanded within the time during which the property would have been held by the respective attachments.

If such part owner pays, the goods become pledged.
R. S. 90, § 75.

SECT. 89. If such appraised value or any part thereof is so paid, the defendant's share of the property shall thereby become pledged to the party to whom it was delivered, and he may sell it, if not redeemed, and shall account to the defendant for the balance of the proceeds of the sale.

To be restored on dissolution of attachment.
R. S. 90, § 76.

SECT. 90. If the attachment is dissolved, the party to whom the defendant's share was delivered shall restore the same to the defendant, or to the officer to be by him delivered to the defendant.

Return of officer, and proceedings in suit upon bond.
R. S. 90, § 77.

SECT. 91. The doings of the officer, together with the bond, shall be returned by him in the manner before provided in the case of a bond given by a debtor upon the delivery to him of property attached; and upon the forfeiture of such bond like proceedings may be had as are provided upon the forfeiture of the bond given by a debtor.

ATTACHMENTS DISPUTED BY PERSONS HAVING SUBSEQUENT LIENS, &c.

SECT. 92. When a person claims title or interest by force of a subsequent attachment, purchase, or mortgage, or in any other manner, in any estate real or personal that is attached in a suit between other persons, he may dispute the validity and effect of the prior attachment, on the ground that the sum demanded in the first suit was not justly due, or was not payable when the action was commenced.

SECT. 93. The person objecting to the attachment may file his petition in the court in which the first suit is pending, at any time before final judgment therein, praying that the prior attachment may be dissolved, and setting forth the facts and circumstances on which his petition is founded, and the grounds of his own claim.

Petition by the person objecting thereto.
R. S. 90, § 84.

SECT. 94. The petitioner or some person in his behalf shall make oath that his claim is just and legal, and that all the other facts set forth in the petition are true, or are believed by the deponent to be so.

to be supported by affidavit.
R. S. 90, § 85.

SECT. 95. The court upon the hearing of the petition shall at the motion of either party direct a trial by jury of any question of fact arising in the inquiry, and if it appears to the court that any part of the sum demanded in the prior suit is not justly due, or was not payable when the action was commenced, it shall order the attachment therein made to be dissolved in whole or in part as justice requires; but such order shall have no other effect on the prior suit.

Prior attachment may be dissolved in case, &c.

SECT. 96. The proceedings between the two adverse claimants or plaintiffs shall not be affected by any answer, plea, or other act, of the defendant in the prior suit, nor by the judgment rendered therein.

Proceedings not affected by answer, &c., of defendant.
R. S. 90, § 88.
Grounds of defence in such case.
R. S. 90, § 89.

SECT. 97. No attachment shall be dissolved in manner aforesaid by reason of any defence to the action founded on the laws for the limitation of actions, restraining usury, requiring certain contracts to be made in writing, or of any other like defence, if it appears to the court that the demand is otherwise well founded, and is justly and equitably due.

SECT. 98. The court may upon such inquiry award to either party reasonable costs; and if the prior attachment is maintained, the courts may award to the attaching creditor reasonable damages, and execution may be issued for such costs and damages.

Damages and costs may be awarded.
R. S. 90, § 90.
2 Met. 229.

SECT. 99. The court shall also, upon the filing of the petition, require a bond or recognizance of the petitioner, or of some person in his behalf, with sufficient surety or sureties, conditioned to pay to the adverse party all such damages and costs as may be awarded to him in the proceedings upon the petition.

Petitioner to give security for damages and costs.
R. S. 90, § 91.

SECT. 100. If, during the pendency of the proceedings, the action in which the attachment is made is carried to a higher court, the inquiry concerning the attachment shall be carried to the same court, and there heard and determined as if the action had been originally commenced there.

Proceedings upon appeal.
R. S. 90, § 92.

SECT. 101. The decision or judgment of the court upon such an inquiry, whether the attachment is thereby vacated or held to be valid and effectual, shall be a bar to any action brought by the petitioner against the party who made the attachment, for any supposed fraud or deceit therein.

Decision to bar action against prior attaching creditor for fraud.
R. S. 90, § 93.

SECT. 104. Any person or corporation whose goods or estate are attached on mesne process in a civil action may, at any time before final judgment, dissolve such attachment, by giving bond, with sufficient sureties, to be approved by the plaintiff or his attorney in writing, or by a master in chancery, with condition to pay to the plaintiff the amount, if any, that he may recover within thirty days after the final judgment in such action. No sureties shall be deemed sufficient unless satisfactory to the plaintiff, or it is made clearly to appear to the master that each one, if there are only two, is worth, above what will pay his debts, a sum equal to that for which the attachment is laid; or, if there are more than two, that they are together worth twice such sum.

SECT. 105. Before such bond is approved by a master, the party whose goods or estate are attached, or some one in his behalf, shall make application in writing to a master, specifying therein the names and places of residence of the persons proposed as sureties. The same notice of the time and place of the hearing thereon shall be given to the plaintiff or his attorney, as is required in taking depositions; but the plaintiff or his attorney may in writing waive such notice, or may approve the bond at any time.

SECT. 106. The fees of the master for approving a bond shall be one dollar for the hearing and decision, and fifty cents for the citation. If the attachment is dissolved, such fees shall be taxed in the defendant's costs, if he prevails in the suit.

WHEN OFFICER TO ATTACH OR ARREST.

SECT. 107. When the writ requires the officer to attach the goods or estate of the defendant, and for want thereof to take his body, the plaintiff or his attorney may by written or verbal directions require the officer to serve the writ, by an attachment of goods or estate or by arresting the defendant, and the officer shall serve the writ according to such directions, if it is in his power to do so.

ARREST ON MESNE PROCESS AND EXECUTION.

SECTION 1. No person shall be arrested on mesne process in an action of contract, unless the plaintiff or some person in his behalf makes affidavit and proves to the satisfaction of some justice of a court of record, police court, judge of a probate court, master in chancery, commissioner of insolvency, and except in the county of Suffolk, trial justice, or of any justice of the peace: —

First. That he has a good cause of action, and reasonable expectation of recovering a sum amounting to twenty dollars, exclusive of all costs which have accrued in any former action:

Second. That he believes, and has reason to believe, the defendant has property not exempt from being taken on execution, which he does not intend to apply to the payment of the plaintiff's claim: and

Third. That he believes, and has reason to believe, that the defendant intends to leave the state, so that execution if obtained cannot be served upon him:

Or, (instead of the second and third,) that the defendant is an attorney at law: that the debt sought to be recovered is for money collected by the defendant for the plaintiff, and that the defendant unreasonably neglects to pay the same to the plaintiff.

And such affidavit and the certificate of the magistrate that he is satisfied the same is true shall be annexed to the writ.

Arrest on mesne process in actions of contract. 1857, 441, § 17. 1859, 466, § 3. See Ch. 17, § 60. Ch. 52, § 26; Ch. 18, § 78; Ch. 469, § 36.

1857, 141, § 30.

SECT. 2. No person shall be arrested on mesne process in an action of tort unless the plaintiff or some person in his behalf makes oath to the satisfaction of some magistrate named in section one, that he believes, and has reason to believe, that he has a good cause of action against the defendant, that he has a reasonable expectation of recovering a sum equal at least to one-third the damages claimed in the writ, and that he has reason to believe that the defendant is likely to remove beyond the jurisdiction of the court to which the writ is returnable, so that execution, if obtained, cannot be served upon him; and such affidavit with a certificate of the magistrate that he is satisfied the same is true shall be annexed to the writ.

SECT. 3. No person shall be arrested on mesne process in a civil action for slander or libel.

SECT. 4. The officer who serves an original writ shall not be liable for not having arrested the defendant unless he has been expressly required by the plaintiff or his attorney to make the arrest.

SECT. 5. No person shall be arrested on an execution issued for debt or damages in a civil action, except in actions of tort, unless the judgment creditor or some person in his behalf, after execution is issued amounting to twenty dollars exclusive of all costs, which make part of said judgment, whether the same have accrued in the last action or any former action on the same original cause of action, and while so much as that amount remains uncollected, makes affidavit and proves to the satisfaction of some magistrate named in section one; or if the execution was issued by a justice of the peace the affidavit may be made before him:

First. That the debtor has property not exempt from being taken on execution, which he does not intend to apply to the payment of the plaintiff's claim; or,

Second. That since the debt was contracted, or the cause of action accrued, the debtor has fraudulently conveyed, concealed, or otherwise disposed of some part of his estate, with a design to secure the same to his own use or defraud his creditors; or,

Third. That since the debt was contracted, or the cause of action accrued, the debtor has hazarded and paid money or other property to the value of one hundred dollars or more in some kind of gaming prohibited by the laws of this state; or,

Fourth. That since the debt was contracted the debtor has wilfully expended and misused his goods or estate, or some part thereof, for the purpose of enabling himself to swear that he has not any estate to the amount of twenty dollars except such as is exempt from being taken on execution; or,

Fifth, (if the action was founded on contract.) That the debtor contracted the debt with an intention not to pay the same; or,

Sixth. That the debtor is an attorney at law; that the debt upon which the judgment on which the execution issued was for money collected by the debtor for the creditor, and that said attorney unreasonably neglects to pay the same. And such affidavit and the certificate of the magistrate that he is satisfied there is reasonable cause to believe the charges therein contained, or some one of them, are true, shall be annexed to the execution.

SECT. 6. No affidavit shall be required to authorize arrest upon an execution issued for costs only, but the debtor arrested shall be committed thereon, unless he requires the officer to take him before some magistrate authorized by this act, and all other proceedings in relation to such debtor so arrested shall be in conformity with the provisions of this chapter relative to arrests on other executions.

SECT. 7. No woman shall be arrested on any civil process except for tort.

SECT. 8. No arrest shall be made after sunset, unless specially authorized by the magistrate making the certificate, upon satisfactory cause shown.

No arrest after sunset.
1837, 141, § 30.

DISCHARGE OF PERSONS ARRESTED ON MESNE PROCESS AND EXECUTION.

SECT. 9. When arrested on mesne process the defendant shall be allowed reasonable time to procure bail, and when arrested on such process in an action of contract, or on execution, he shall be allowed reasonable time to procure sureties for his recognizance hereinafter mentioned. When arrested on mesne process in an action of contract, if he does not give bail, and when arrested on execution in any case, he shall be taken before some justice of a court of record, police court, judge of a probate court, master in chancery, commissioner of insolvency, and except in the county of Suffolk, trial justice or two justices of the quorum.

When arrested, to be allowed time to procure bail, &c.
To be carried before magistrate.
1837, 141, §§ 4, 18, 22.
1837, 258, § 1.
7 Gray, 581.

SECT. 10. When taken before the magistrate, if the defendant or debtor desires to take an oath as hereinafter mentioned, but does not desire any time fixed for his examination, the magistrate may take his recognizance with surety or sureties in a sum not less than double the amount of the execution, or of the ad damnum in the writ, if he is arrested on mesne process, that within thirty days from the day of his arrest he will deliver himself up for examination before some magistrate authorized to act, giving notice of the time and place thereof as herein provided, and appear at the time fixed for his examination, and from time to time until the same is concluded, and not depart without leave of the magistrate, making no default at any time fixed for his examination, and abide the final order of the magistrate thereon: provided, that if he is arrested on mesne process and the writ is returnable within thirty days, the number of days within which he shall deliver himself up shall be limited by the magistrate so as not to extend beyond the return day of the writ.

If defendant or debtor desires to take oath, but does not wish time fixed, &c., magistrate may take recognizance, &c.
1837, 141, §§ 10, 18.
7 Gray, 548.

SECT. 11. A person taken on execution and recognizing for his appearance to take the oath for the relief of poor debtors, may if surrendered by his surety recognize anew for such appearance at the time, place, and upon the conditions, expressed in the first recognizance.

A person surrendered, &c., may recognize anew.

SECT. 12. If the defendant or debtor when taken before the magistrate or at any time when entitled thereto desires to take an oath as hereinafter provided and to have a time fixed therefor, the magistrate shall appoint a time and place for his examination and issue notice thereof to the plaintiff or creditor, signed by him and designating his official capacity, substantially in the following form:—

When defendant or debtor desires to take oath, notice to be given.
1837, 141, §§ 4, 5, 17, 20.
8 Cush. 289.
1 Gray, 170.

To A—— B——: C—— D——, arrested on mesne process (or execution) in your favor, desires to take the oath for the relief of poor debtors, (or, if arrested on mesne process in an action of contract, the oath that he does not intend to leave the state,) at (naming the day and hour and place.)

E—— F——, (Magistrate.)

Notice may be given that the defendant arrested on mesne process as aforesaid desires to take both of said oaths, and the form of notice be varied accordingly.

SECT. 13. The notice shall be served by any officer qualified to serve civil process, by giving to the plaintiff or creditor, his agent or attorney, an attested copy thereof, or by leaving such copy at the last and usual place of abode of the plaintiff or creditor, his agent or attorney, allowing not less than one hour before the time appointed for the examination, and time for travel at the rate of not less than one day for every twenty-four miles' travel. When there is more than one person plaintiff or creditor, or more than one agent or attorney, service on one shall be sufficient. When the plaintiff or creditor is dead or not a resident in the county where the arrest is made, the notice shall be served upon the agent or attorney if he lives in the county or has his usual place of business therein; but if no such agent or attorney is found within the county, the notice may be served on the officer who made the arrest. The person who made the writ may always be regarded as the attorney of the plaintiff or creditor when an arrest is made on the writ or any execution issued thereon.

New notice not to be given until after seven days, unless, &c.
1857, 141, § 27.

SECT. 14. When a defendant or debtor has given notice of his desire to take the oath for the relief of poor debtors, no new notice of the same shall be given until the expiration of seven days from the service of the former notice, unless the former notice was insufficient in form or service.

Defendant or debtor to be examined.
1857, 141, §§ 6, 7.
6 Gray, 251.

SECT. 15. When the notice mentioned in section twelve has been duly served, the magistrate who issued it, or any other magistrate named in section one, shall attend at the time and place therein specified and examine the defendant or debtor as herein provided.

Examination may be adjourned, &c.
1857, 141, § 7.

SECT. 16. The magistrate may adjourn the case from time to time, and shall have the same powers with respect to all other incidents thereto, as justices of the peace or other courts have in civil actions; and witnesses duly summoned shall attend as required in civil cases.

Pending examination, recognizance may be taken, &c. No recognizance after oath has been refused.
1857, 141, §§ 10, 18.

SECT. 17. Pending the examination and at any time after the defendant or debtor is carried before a magistrate, the magistrate may accept his recognizance with surety or sureties in a sum not less than double the amount of the execution, or of the ad damnum in the writ if he is arrested on mesne process, that he will appear at the time fixed for his examination, and from time to time until the same is concluded, and not depart without leave of the magistrate, making no default at any time fixed for his examination, and abide the final order of the magistrate thereon. No recognizance under this chapter, except in case of appeal under section thirty-three, shall be accepted at any time after the oath has been once refused to the debtor.

Defendant may be discharged if he was not intending to leave the state. Proceedings.
1857, 141, § 20.

SECT. 18. If the defendant, arrested on mesne process in an action of contract, has given notice that he desires to take an oath that he does not intend to leave the state, he shall be examined in relation thereto, and any legal and pertinent evidence may be introduced by either party. If the magistrate is satisfied that the defendant did not, when arrested, and does not at the time of examination, intend to leave the state, he shall make certificate thereof, and discharge the defendant from arrest.

Examination concerning ability to pay, &c.
1857, 141, §§ 6, 18.

SECT. 19. If the defendant or debtor has given notice that he desires to take the oath for the relief of poor debtors, the magistrate shall examine him on oath concerning his estate and effects, the disposal thereof, and his ability to pay the debt or satisfy the cause of action for which he is arrested; and shall hear any legal and pertinent evidence that may be introduced by either party. The plaintiff or creditor may upon such examination propose to the defendant or debtor any interrogatories pertinent to the inquiry, and the examination shall, if required by either party, be in writing, in which case it shall be signed and sworn to by the defendant or debtor and preserved by the magistrate.

Debtor not entitled to oath if he mispends his property, &c.
1857, 141, § 16.

SECT. 20. If any person, arrested on execution, after such arrest, mispends or misuses his goods, effects, or credits, to the amount of forty dollars, not exempt from being taken on execution, but which cannot be attached by ordinary process of law, or so much as is equal to the sum for which he is arrested or committed, without having first offered the same to the arresting creditor in satisfaction or part satisfaction of his debts, he shall not be entitled to the benefit of the oath for the relief of poor debtors.

If magistrate is satisfied, &c., he may administer oath.

SECT. 21. If, upon the examination, the magistrate is satisfied of the truth of the facts set forth in the oath to be taken by the defendant or debtor, and in the certificate to be made by the magistrate, and it appears to him that the defendant or debtor is entitled to his discharge under the provisions of this chapter, the magistrate shall administer to him the following

Oath for the Relief of Poor Debtors.

I (here repeat the name) do solemnly swear that I have not any estate, real or personal, to the amount of twenty dollars, except the estate, goods, and chattels, which are by law exempt from being taken on execution; and that I have not any other estate now conveyed, concealed, or in any way disposed of, with the design to secure the same to my own use or to defraud my creditors: So help me, God.

Form of oath.

SECT. 22. After administering the oath the magistrate shall make a certificate thereof under his hand, as follows, to wit:—

S——, ss. I hereby certify, that A—— B——, a poor prisoner, arrested upon execution, (or on mesne process in an action of contract,) has caused E—— F——, the creditor (or plaintiff) at whose suit he is arrested, to be notified according to law of his desire to take the benefit of the law for the relief of poor debtors; that in my opinion said A—— B—— has not any estate, real or personal, to the amount of twenty dollars, except the estate, goods, and chattels, which are by law exempt from being taken in execution; and has not any other estate now conveyed, concealed, or in any way disposed of, with design to secure the same to his own use or defraud his creditors. And I have after due examination of said A—— B——, administered to him the oath for the relief of poor debtors.

Certificate of magistrate and effect of discharge. Death of creditor not to affect proceedings. 1857, 141, §§ 8, 19.

Witness my hand, this —— day of ——, in the year ——.

A—— B——, (Magistrate.)

Upon taking the oath, the defendant or debtor shall be discharged from arrest or imprisonment, and shall be forever exempt from arrest on the same execution, or any process founded on the judgment, or on the same cause of action, unless convicted of having wilfully sworn falsely on his examination. If he is arrested or committed on execution, the judgment shall remain in full force against his estate, and the creditor may take out a new execution against his goods and estate as if he had not been committed; and if he is committed on mesne process, any execution which may afterwards issue on a judgment for the same cause of action, shall issue against his goods and estate, and not against his body. The death of the execution creditor shall not affect any proceedings instituted under the provisions of this chapter.

SECT. 23. When a person has given bail or is imprisoned on mesne process in an action of contract, or is arrested or imprisoned on any execution, he may be discharged in the same manner, and subject to the same provisions of law, so far as applicable, as a person arrested on an execution mentioned in section five.

Debtor on bail, &c., may be discharged, &c. 1857, 141, § 23. 1857, 258.

SECT. 24. No debtor shall be entitled to the benefit of the oath for the relief of poor debtors after a writ of scire facias on the bail bond given by him in the original action has been served upon his bail, unless he pays all costs which have accrued on such scire facias.

Not entitled to oath, after scire facias, until payment of costs. 1857, 141, § 23.

IMPRISONMENT.

SECT. 25. If the defendant when arrested on mesne process in an action of tort shall not give bail; or when arrested on mesne process in an action of contract and carried before the magistrate, does not desire to take an oath, or fails to recognize to the satisfaction of the magistrate as before provided, and does not give bail; or if on his examination he does not swear to the satisfaction of the magistrate that he does not intend to leave the state, and the oath for the relief of poor debtors is refused him, the magistrate shall make a certificate thereof, and the defendant shall be conveyed to jail and there kept until final judgment in the suit in which he was arrested. If the final judgment is against him, he shall be held for thirty days thereafter, in order that he may be taken on execution; unless (if the oath for the relief of poor debtors has not been refused him) he recognizes as aforesaid or gives bail, or bond as provided in section forty, or takes the oath for the relief of poor debtors, or an oath that he does not intend to leave the state, or is discharged by the plaintiff.

A debtor arrested on execution, &c., may be committed, &c. 1857, 141, § 11.

SECT. 26. If the debtor arrested on execution and taken before the magistrate does not desire to take the oath for the relief of poor debtors, or fails to procure surety or sureties to the satisfaction of the magistrate as before provided, or if upon his examination said oath is refused to him, of which refusal a certificate shall be annexed to the execution and signed by the magistrate, he shall be conveyed to jail, and there kept until he has recognized as herein provided, (if the oath for the relief of poor debtors has not been refused him,) or the execution is satisfied, or until he is released by the creditor, or has given notice as before provided and taken the oath for the relief of poor debtors.

support of, in jail. 1857, 141, § 25.

SECT. 27. When a person confined in close prison on mesne process or execution in any civil action claims support as a pauper, the jailer shall furnish his support at the rate of one dollar and seventy-five cents a week, to be paid by the creditor. The plaintiff or creditor in such case shall, if required by the jailer, either from time to time advance the money necessary for the support of the prisoner, or give the jailer satisfactory security therefor. If the plaintiff or creditor neglects so to do for twenty-four hours after demand, the jailer may discharge the prisoner. Such demand may be made of the officer who made the commitment, or of the plaintiff or creditor or his attorney, at any time after the prisoner has claimed such support.

creditor may discharge. R. S. 97, § 58.

SECT. 28. If a debtor committed on execution claims support as a pauper, the creditor may at any time thereafter order him to be discharged.

goods and estate of, to remain liable. R. S. 97, § 59. 9 Cush. 290.

SECT. 29. When a debtor is so discharged by order of the creditor, or by the jailer for want of security or an advance of money as before provided, the debt and costs with all sums paid by the creditor for his support in prison shall remain a legal claim against his goods and estate, and may be enforced accordingly in the same manner as if he had not been committed on the execution; but his body shall never thereafter be liable to arrest or imprisonment for the same debt, costs, or charges.

liable for all sums paid for support. R. S. 97, § 60.

SECT. 30. If the debtor undertakes to satisfy the execution, he shall not be entitled to his discharge therefrom until he has paid all charges for his support in prison, both upon the arrest on the original writ and upon the commitment on execution, in addition to the sum due on the execution and the costs and charges thereon.

PUNISHMENT OF FRAUDULENT DEBTORS.

When fraud is charged, debtor to plead, &c. 1857, 141, §§ 12, 18. 1 Gray, 172.

SECT. 31. When either of the charges named in section five, numbered second, third, fourth, fifth, and sixth, is made as therein provided, or when the plaintiff or creditor or any one in his behalf, at any time pending the examination of the defendant or debtor who has given notice of his desire to take the oath for the relief of poor debtors, files such charges in writing, subscribed and sworn to by the plaintiff or creditor or some person in his behalf, the charges shall be considered in the nature of a suit at law, to which the defendant or debtor may plead that he is guilty or not guilty, and the magistrate may thereupon hear and determine the same. The plaintiff or creditor shall not upon such hearing give evidence of any charges of fraud not so made or filed, nor of any fraudulent acts of the debtor committed more than three years before the commencement of the original action.

Either party may appeal.

SECT. 32. When the hearing is had on the charges of fraud mentioned in the preceding section, and judgment is rendered thereon by the magistrate, either party may appeal to the superior court, in like manner as from the judgment of a justice of the peace in civil actions. And the trial in the court appealed to shall be by a jury, unless the court with the consent of both parties hears and determines it without a jury.

1859, 196.

SECT. 33. If the plaintiff or creditor appeals, he shall before the allowance of the appeal recognize with sufficient surety or sureties to enter and prosecute his appeal with effect, to produce at the court appealed to a copy of all the proceedings upon said charges, and to pay all costs if judgment is not reversed. If the defendant or debtor appeals, he shall recognize in like manner and with the further condition that if final judgment is against him he will within thirty days thereafter surrender himself to be taken on execution and abide the order of the court, or pay to the plaintiff or creditor the whole amount of the original judgment against him.

Proceedings on appeal.
1857, 141, § 14.

SECT. 34. If the defendant or debtor after either of said charges has been made or filed against him voluntarily makes default at any time appointed for the hearing, or if upon a final trial he is found guilty of any of them, he shall have no benefit from the proceedings under this chapter, and may be sentenced, by the magistrate or court before whom the trial is had, to confinement at hard labor in the house of correction for a term not exceeding one year, or to confinement in jail not exceeding six months.

Upon default or conviction debtor may be denied oath, &c.
1857, 141, § 15.
9 Met. 117.
3 Gray, 318.
See Ch. 125, § 1.

DISCHARGE OF PERSONS IMPRISONED ON WARRANTS OF DISTRESS IN FAVOR OF THE STATE.

SECT. 35. When a person committed to prison on a warrant of distress in favor of the commonwealth is unable to pay the debt for which he is imprisoned, he shall be entitled to his discharge in like manner as poor debtors arrested on execution; and all the proceedings shall conform as nearly as may be to the provisions of law in relation to such debtors, except as hereinafter provided.

Proceedings when committed on warrant of distress in favor of state.
1855, 276, §§ 1, 2.

SECT. 36. If he represents to the jailer that he is desirous to take the oath for the relief of poor debtors, the jailer shall make the same known to some magistrate mentioned in section one. The magistrate shall thereupon appoint a time and place for the examination of the debtor, and shall notify the district-attorney for the district by a notice which shall be served on him by an attested copy thereof in hand, or by leaving the same at his usual place of abode, thirty days at least before the time appointed for the examination.

Same subject.
1855, 276, §§ 2, 3.
7 Cush. 359.

SECT. 37. When the place appointed for the examination is out of the city or town where the district-attorney resides, or he from any cause is unable to attend the examination, he may appoint counsel in his stead; and for such attendance by himself or counsel, suitable allowance shall be made by the superior court for the county.

Same subject.
1855, 276, § 5.

DISCHARGE OR REMOVAL OF INSANE PERSONS IMPRISONED IN CIVIL CASES.

SECT. 38. When a person confined in jail on mesne process or execution is supposed to be insane, and thereby rendered incapable of taking the oath for the relief of poor debtors, any person interested for his removal from jail on account of his supposed insanity may apply by petition to the judge of the probate court for the county in which he is imprisoned, setting forth the facts. The judge shall appoint a time and place for a hearing and examination in the premises, and shall order notice thereof to be given to the creditor or his attorney seven days previously to the time appointed. If satisfied upon the exami-

Legal rights of creditor not affected.
1848, 329, § 3.

SECT. 39. When a person is so discharged or removed from jail, the legal rights of the creditor shall not be affected thereby, but shall remain as though no commitment had taken place.

SPECIAL PROVISIONS FOR PERSONS IN PRISON OR ON BAIL IN CIVIL ACTIONS WHEN JUDGMENT IS RECOVERED AGAINST THEM.

Discharge of persons in jail or on bail when final judgment is rendered against them.
1857, 198, § 1.
1857, 141.

SECT. 40. Every person held in prison in a civil action at the time when final judgment in such action is rendered against him, shall be discharged upon giving to the creditor a bond with sufficient surety or sureties to be approved by some magistrate named in section one, in a penalty not less than double the amount of the judgment, with condition that he shall surrender himself at the same prison, to the keeper thereof, between the hours of eight and ten o'clock of the forenoon of the thirtieth day next after the rendition of said judgment, or if said thirtieth day falls on Sunday, on the next following day, which day shall be specified in the bond, and there remain until five o'clock of the afternoon of the same day, so that he may be taken on the execution issuing on said judgment.

Proceedings when execution issues.
1857, 198, § 3.
1857, 141, § 3.

SECT. 41. If an execution issuing on such judgment amounting to twenty dollars exclusive of costs, and while so much as that amount remains uncollected, is delivered to an officer qualified to serve the same, with the affidavit required for the arrest of a debtor on execution, he may at any time within thirty days after the rendition of the judgment on which the same is issued leave said execution, or a copy thereof, with the jailer; and in such case the debtor shall upon the surrender of himself as provided in said bond be committed and held by the jailer upon the execution in like manner as if he had been taken and committed thereon by the officer to whom the execution was delivered. The officer shall return the taking and commitment in like manner, and be entitled to the same fees, as if the execution had been served in the common form.

Same subject.
1857, 198, §§ 3, 4.

SECT. 42. The jailer shall immediately after the expiration of said term of thirty days certify under his hand, upon the execution or copy so left with him, the fact that such debtor has or has not surrendered himself, according to the truth of the case, and give a similar certificate to the officer on request, to be annexed to his return on the execution; and such certificate shall be deemed sufficient authority to the officer to make his return accordingly. Such return with the certificate annexed shall be deemed prima facie evidence of the fact, as well on the question of breach of condition of the bond as in other cases. If the jailer gives a false certificate, it shall be deemed misconduct in office, for which any party injured shall have a remedy in damages.

Bond may be given by person surrendered by bail after final judgment.
1857, 198, § 5.

SECT. 43. If a person who has given bail on mesne process in a civil action is surrendered by his bail after final judgment in such action, he shall be enlarged upon giving to the creditor a bond like that before prescribed in section forty, except that the condition thereof shall be for his surrender at the same prison on the thirtieth day next after the surrender by his bail. The particular day on which the same will fall, and where there is more than one prison in the same county the particular prison at which the surrender is to be made, shall be specified in the condition of the bond. All the other provisions relating to the bond mentioned in section forty shall apply to the bond prescribed in this section.

Debtor may be committed within thirty

SECT. 44. Nothing contained in the four preceding sections shall prevent an officer from taking the debtor and committing him to prison on such execution at any time within said thirty days after the rendition of judgment or surrender by the bail, as he might have done if such bond had not been given. And the commitment of the debtor in such case shall be deemed equivalent to his surrender according to the condition of his bond, and shall discharge the same.

days after judgment.
1837, 198, § 6.

SURRENDER OF PRINCIPAL ON RECOGNIZANCES.

SECT. 45. Whoever recognizes as surety for another as provided in this chapter, may at any time before breach of recognizance surrender his principal and exonerate himself from all further liability, in the manner provided for the surrender by bail, and all the proceedings on such surrender shall be the same as provided in the case of bail.

Proceedings when principal is surrendered on recognizance.
1837, 141, § 26.
See Ch. 125.

REMEDY ON RECOGNIZANCES AND BONDS, AND FOR ESCAPES.

SECT. 46. When any recognizance or bond taken under this chapter is broken, the creditor may have a remedy thereon by action of contract, to be commenced within one year after such breach; and judgment shall be entered for the amount of the penalty, but execution shall issue for so much thereof only as may be justly and equitably due: provided, that if the recognizance was taken on an execution, the execution shall not issue for less than the amount due on the original judgment, with all the lawful costs and charges arising after the issuing of the original execution.

Remedy on recognizances and bonds.
1837, 198, § 2.
1837, 141, § 28.

SECT. 47. When an escape is made by a prisoner arrested or committed on execution in a civil action, whether the escape be negligent or voluntary on the part of the officer, the creditor may in an action of tort against the officer recover such damages as he has suffered by the escape, and may also have his remedy against the original debtor by a scire facias, or an action of contract on the judgment.

for an escape.

FEES.

SECT. 48. The fees of the magistrate shall be: for hearing an application for a certificate to arrest, one dollar; for approving sureties and taking a recognizance after arrest, one dollar; for an examination, two dollars for each day spent therein. And the plaintiff or creditor causing an arrest shall pay these fees in advance. If the oath is not administered, they shall be allowed as part of the service of the writ or execution. If the plaintiff or creditor shall, at any time after request, make default in payment of the fees, or if the plaintiff or creditor, or some one in their behalf, shall not attend the examination, the defendant or debtor shall, without examination and without payment of any fees, be discharged from arrest or imprisonment, and shall be forever exempt from arrest on the same execution or any process founded on the judgment; and a certificate of such discharge under the hand of the magistrate shall be annexed to the writ or execution: provided, that if, after the oath shall have been once refused, the defendant or debtor shall again apply for the benefit of the same, the fees for such subsequent application and examination thereon shall be paid by him. The fee of a magistrate for approving a bond under the provisions of sections forty and forty-three shall be one dollar, to be paid by the applicant.

TAKING BAIL.

Defendant arrested on mesne process may give bail, &c. 1857, 111, § 22. See Ch. 124, §§ 31-34.

Bail, how taken. R. S. 91, § 1. 2 Mass. 481. 10 Mass. 29. 12 Mass. 431. 12 Met. 561. 4 Gray, 391.

Officer may require two sureties, &c. R. S. 91, § 2. 1859, 199, § 1. 1852, 211. 9 Mass. 479.

Bond may be approved, &c. Fees. 1857, 111, § 22.

to bind those who execute it, though, &c.

SECTION 1. A defendant arrested on mesne process shall be released on giving bail; but if he has been sentenced to imprisonment on any charge of fraud under the provisions of chapter one hundred and twenty-four, the giving of bail shall not discharge him therefrom.

SECT. 2. Bail in a civil action shall be taken as heretofore practised, by a bond to the sheriff, if the writ is served by him or his deputy, otherwise to the coroner or other officer by whom the writ is served, with condition that the defendant shall appear and answer to the plaintiff, abide the final judgment of the court, and shall not avoid.

SECT. 3. An officer shall not be required to accept a bail bond unless with two sureties at least, each of them having sufficient property within the state; and he may examine, on oath to be administered by him, the persons offered as sureties, as to their sufficiency. If he takes a bail bond with one surety only, he shall be liable to the plaintiff for any loss sustained by the insufficiency of the bail, although the surety was actually sufficient when taken.

SECT. 4. The bond may be approved by any justice of a court of record or police court, judge of a probate court, master in chancery, commissioner of insolvency, trial justice, or by a justice of the peace and of the quorum, and when so approved the sureties shall be deemed sufficient. The magistrate shall be paid by the applicant one dollar for the examination and approval or disapproval of the bond.

SECT. 5. A bail bond shall bind the persons who execute it, though taken with one surety only, or with two or more sureties when they or either of them have not sufficient property within the state, or when it is not approved as aforesaid.

SECT. 6. The bond shall be returned and filed with the writ, and the clerk shall note on the writ that a bond is so filed. Upon an appeal, the bond shall be sent with the other papers to the court appealed to.

SECT. 7. In case of the avoidance of the principal and a return on the execution that he is not found, his bail shall be obliged to satisfy the judgment, with interest thereon from the time it was rendered, unless he discharges himself by surrendering the principal before final judgment against him on the writ of scire facias, or by other sufficient defence in that suit.

SECT. 8. The bail bond shall be considered so far a matter of record and of the nature of a recognizance, that the creditor may take out a writ of scire facias thereon in his own name against the bail, in which it shall be sufficient to allege, substantially, that the defendants became bail, without setting forth the bond.

SECT. 9. The scire facias shall be issued from the court in which the judgment against the principal is rendered, and may be taken out of the clerk's office in vacation as well as term time.

SECT. 10. No such action shall be maintained against any person as bail, unless the writ of scire facias is served on him within one year after the rendition of final judgment against the principal.

SECT. 11. The defendants in such action may appear and answer either jointly or severally to the plaintiff's allegations.

SURRENDER OF PRINCIPAL, &C.

SECT. 12. The bail may surrender the principal in the court where the scire facias is pending at any time before final judgment therein against them, and on paying the costs of the scire facias up to that time they shall be discharged.

SECT. 13. The principal so surrendered shall be committed to the jail, there to remain thirty days in order to his being taken on execution, unless he is discharged as provided in chapter one hundred and twenty-four.

SECT. 14. The bail may at any time before final judgment against him on a writ of scire facias, exonerate himself from further responsibility, by surrendering his principal as provided in the five following sections.

SECT. 15. Such surrender may be made to the keeper of the jail, either in the county in which the principal was arrested or in that to which the original writ against the principal was returnable, and the jailer shall receive the prisoner and hold him in custody in like manner as if he had been committed by the officer who arrested him on the original writ.

SECT. 16. The jailer shall not be obliged to receive a person so surrendered, unless the bail delivers to him a copy of the bail bond attested by the officer who took it or the clerk in whose custody it may be. The delivery of such copy shall be a sufficient warrant for the jailer, although the surrender and commitment prove to be unlawful on the part of the bail.

SECT. 17. The bail shall within fourteen days after such surrender deliver to the jailer a copy of the original writ or process whereby the prisoner was arrested, with a copy of the return indorsed thereon, attested by the officer who served the writ or the clerk into whose office it is returned.

SECT. 18. He shall also within the same time give notice in writing to the plaintiff or his attorney, of the time when and the place where the prisoner was so committed.

If the surrender is made after a writ of scire facias is taken out against the bail, he shall within fourteen days after the surrender pay the costs of suit on the scire facias to the creditor or his attorney, or to the jailer for his use; provided, that if the writ of scire facias has not been served on the bail, he shall not be required to pay the costs thereof until twenty-four hours after he has notice of the issuing of the writ, and after a demand of the costs made on him by the creditor.

Treatment of principal after surrender.
R. S. 91, § 18.

SECT. 20. Every person surrendered and committed shall be received by the jailer, and held in custody. He may be forthwith bailed, whether notice of the surrender has or has not been given to the plaintiff, and shall in all respects have the same rights and privileges as if committed upon the original arrest.

Principal may be surrendered on the original suit.
R. S. 91, § 19.

SECT. 21. Nothing contained in the preceding sections shall impair the right of bail, in all cases, to surrender their principal in the court in which the original suit is pending, at any time before final judgment; or, after judgment, to surrender him to the officer holding the execution, at any time before the return thereof.

BAIL IN ACTIONS BEFORE JUSTICES OF THE PEACE, &c.

Proceedings on bail bond before a justice of the peace or police court.
R. S. 91, § 20.

SECT. 22. When bail is taken in an action before a justice of the peace or police court, the justice or court may issue a scire facias against the bail, although the amount of the debt and costs on the original judgment exceeds the amount to which his jurisdiction is otherwise limited; and the rights and obligations of the bail, and all proceedings as to the surrender of the principal and the action against the bail, shall be substantially the same as are provided with regard to bail when taken in suits in other courts.

Surrender of principal in such case.
R. S. 91, § 21.

SECT. 23. When the bail in a suit before a justice of the peace or police court proposes to surrender his principal in court, either during the pendency of the original suit or the scire facias, he shall procure the attendance of some officer qualified to serve legal process in the case, to whom the principal may be committed.

Officer to attend, if requested.
R. S. 91, § 22.

SECT. 24. Every such officer who is seasonably notified and requested to attend for the purpose aforesaid, shall attend, and receive and take charge of the principal if committed to his custody by the justice.

Proceedings upon surrender.
R. S. 91, § 23.

SECT. 25. When the principal is surrendered in such suit, an entry thereof shall be made on the record, and he shall be forthwith committed to the officer in attendance, to be conveyed to jail or otherwise disposed of according to law.

Same subject.
R. S. 91, §§ 24, 25.

SECT. 26. If the principal is surrendered before final judgment in the original suit, the bail shall deliver to the officer a copy of the original writ, with the return indorsed thereon, attested by the justice. If the surrender is after final judgment in the original suit, the bail shall deliver to the officer a copy of the entry of the surrender, attested in like manner. The officer shall deliver the copy to the jailer, on committing the prisoner to his custody; and such copy shall be a sufficient warrant to the officer and the jailer, for receiving, committing, and holding the prisoner according to law.

Fees of officer.
R. S. 91, § 26.

SECT. 27. The officer shall be allowed the same fees, to be paid by the bail, as are provided for arresting and committing a defendant on mesne process.

SUPPORT OF PRINCIPAL.

When debtor is surrendered by bail and claims support as a pauper, &c.
R. S. 97, § 54.

SECT. 28. When a principal, surrendered by his bail and committed to jail, claims support as a pauper, the jailer may require the plaintiff, or his attorney in the suit, to give security or advance the money for the support of the defendant in like manner as if the commitment had been made by an officer. If the plaintiff neglects so to do for twenty-four hours after being so required, the jailer may discharge the defendant.

SECT. 29. The jailer in such case may at the time of the surrender demand of the bail the advance of money for the support of the principal or security therefor, instead of demanding the same of the plaintiff; and if the bail neglects, for twenty-four hours after such demand, to give such security or advance the money for the support of the principal, the jailer may discharge him; and the bail and the principal shall thereupon continue liable to the plaintiff in all respects as if the surrender had not been made.

When debtor is surrendered by bail and claims support as pauper, &c.
R. S. 97, § 55.

SECT. 30. The bail, if such demand is made of him, shall be liable for the support of the principal until the expiration of seven days after he has given notice of the surrender to the plaintiff or his attorney in the suit.

When bail liable for support of prisoner.
R. S. 97, § 56.

SECT. 31. The plaintiff shall be liable for the support of the defendant after the expiration of said seven days; and if he neglects to advance the money or give security therefor as before provided at or before the expiration of said time, the jailer may discharge the defendant.

When liability of creditor commences.
R. S. 97, § 57.

14. Action may proceed against those served with process.
15. Other joint contractors liable to new action.
16. Absence of one of several tenants in real actions.
17. of one of several defendants in mixed actions.

SECTION 1. No personal action shall be maintained against a person who is out of the state at the time of the service of the summons, unless he had before that time been an inhabitant of the state, or unless an effectual attachment of his goods, estate, or effects, is made on the original writ, except in cases in which it is otherwise specially provided.

SECT. 2. When an action is brought by a person who is not an inhabitant of this state or who cannot be found therein to be served with process, he shall be held to answer to any action brought against him here by the defendant in the first action, if the demands in the two cases are of such a nature that the judgment or execution in the one case can be set off against the judgment or execution in the other.

Plaintiff out of state liable to cross-action, &c.
R. S. 96, § 49.

SECT. 3. If there are several defendants in the original action, each of them may bring such cross-action against the original plaintiff, and may be allowed to set off his judgment against that which may be recovered against himself and his co-defendants in like manner as if the latter judgment had been against himself alone.

Each of several defendants may have a cross action.

R. S. 92, § 10.

who appears as the attorney of the plaintiff in the original suit, and such service shall be as valid and effectual as if made on the party himself within this state.

SECT. 5. The court in which the actions or either of them are pending may order continuances as they think necessary or proper to enable the absent party to defend the action brought against him, and also to enable either party to set off his judgment or execution against that which is recovered against him, but the actions shall not be unreasonably delayed by the neglect or default of either party. None of the following rules concerning actions brought against persons out of the state shall apply to a cross-action brought under the three preceding sections.

SECT. 6. If a defendant is absent from the state or his place of residence is not known to the officer serving a writ, and no personal service is made on him, or if the service of a writ is defective or insufficient by reason of mistake on the part of the plaintiff or officer as to the place where or the person with whom the summons or copy ought to have been left, the court upon suggestion thereof by the plaintiff shall order the action to be continued from term to term until notice of the suit is given in such manner as the court may direct. In any case in which the defendant does not appear, the court may in their discretion order the action to be continued and further notice given to him in such manner as the court may direct.

SECT. 7. If after such notice in either case, the defendant does not appear at the term to which the action is continued, and within the first ten days of the term file such affidavit as he would have been required to file if sufficient legal service had been made upon him before the entry of the action, judgment may be rendered against him upon default.

SECT. 8. When judgment in a personal action is rendered as provided in the preceding section upon the default of a defendant who is out of the state or whose residence is unknown, the plaintiff shall not take out execution thereon within one year thereafter, unless he first gives bond to the defendant with one or more sufficient sureties in a sum equal to double the amount recovered, with condition to repay the amount so recovered if the judgment is reversed, or so much of the amount as shall be recovered back upon a review to be brought by the original defendant at any time within one year after the original judgment.

SECT. 9. The bond shall be deposited with the clerk of the court for the use of the defendant, and the clerk shall decide on the sufficiency of the sureties, saving a right of appeal from his decision to any justice of the court in which the judgment is rendered.

SECT. 10. If the execution in such action is levied on real estate, no alienation thereof by the original plaintiff shall prevent the defendant from retaking the same, or as much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the judgment he recovers on such review: provided, that the writ of review be sued out within one year after the original judgment.

SECT. 11. If the original judgment be for seisin of the premises demanded in a real action, the demandant may take out his writ of seisin without giving bond; and if the judgment be reversed in whole or in part upon a review, whether sued out within the year or afterwards, the original tenant may have restitution of the premises in like manner as upon a reversal on a writ of error.

SECT. 12. In personal actions founded on tort against several defendants, if any one of them is out of the state at the time of the service of the writ, the suit shall be conducted with regard to him, in every thing relating to the service of the writ, judgment, review thereof, and execution, in like manner as if he had been the only defendant in the case.

SECT. 13. If an action founded on contract is brought against several defendants, of whom any one is within the state and any other is absent, and the plaintiff recovers judgment, he shall take it without any of the conditions and regulations above provided as to review, giving bond, and alienating real estate; but he shall not take judgment against any such absent defendant, unless under such circumstances as would have entitled him to judgment against the absent party if he had been the only defendant in the case.

Absence of one of several defendants in actions on contract. R. S. 92, § 11.

SECT. 14. If an action founded on contract is brought against several defendants, and the writ is duly served on one or more of them, but no legal service is made on the others, either by attachment of property or otherwise, by reason of their absence from the state, or for other sufficient cause, the action may proceed against those who are duly served with process, without further proceedings against the others.

Action may proceed against those served with process. R. S. 92, § 12. 8 Mass. 423. 5 Mass. 193. 13 Met. 256.

SECT. 15. If judgment is rendered against one or more of several joint contractors in the manner provided in the preceding section, and remains unsatisfied, an action on the same contract may be afterwards maintained against any of the other joint contractors, in like manner as if the contract had been joint and several.

Other contractors liable to new action. R. S. 92, § 13. 6 Cranch. 254. 13 Mass. 148.

SECT. 16. In real actions against several tenants, if any one of them is out of the state the suit shall be conducted with regard to him in like manner as if he had been the only person sued.

Absence of one of several tenants, &c. R. S. 92, § 14.

SECT. 17. In mixed actions, if the defendant or any one of two or more joint defendants, is out of the state, the suit shall be conducted with regard to the absent defendant, in every thing relating to the judgment, review, and bond, in the manner before provided with respect to personal actions founded on tort; and in every thing relating to the service of the writ and the notice of the suit to be given to the defendant, it shall be considered and conducted as a real action.

of one of several defendants in mixed actions. R. S. 92, § 15.

DEATH OF PARTIES IN PERSONAL ACTIONS.

Death of officer not to abate suit for goods attached.

R. S. 99, § 96.
1852, 312.
See Ch. 128.

Judgment in such case for executor, &c.

R. S. 99, § 97.

SECT. 2. When goods or chattels attached by an officer are claimed or taken away by another person, and an action of replevin or tort therefor is brought by or against the officer, the action shall not be abated by the death of either party, but may be prosecuted by or against the executor or administrator of the deceased party.

SECT. 3. If judgment in such case is recovered by the executor or administrator of the officer, the goods or money recovered shall be held, appropriated, and disposed of, in the same manner as they would and ought to have been by the officer if he had lived and recovered the same himself.

against the executor, &c.

R. S. 99, § 98.

SECT. 4. If judgment is rendered against the executor or administrator of the officer, the goods and damages recovered shall be returned, delivered, and paid in full, by the executor or administrator, if he has sufficient therefor, although the estate of the deceased is insolvent.

General provision as to actions which survive.

4 N. H. 385.

SECT. 5. In personal actions, the cause of which survives, if there is only one plaintiff or defendant, and the sole plaintiff or defendant dies after the commencement of the action at any time before final judgment, the action may proceed and be prosecuted by or against the surviving party, and the executor or administrator of the deceased party, in the manner provided in this chapter.

Executor or administrator may prosecute or defend.

R. S. 94, § 2.

SECT. 6. The action or an appeal therein may be entered in such cases, if not already entered, and the death of the party suggested on the record; and his executor or administrator may, at the same term or within such further time as the court shall allow, appear and take upon himself the prosecution or defence of the suit; and it shall be thenceforth conducted in the same manner as if it had been originally commenced by or against the same executor or administrator.

may be cited for that purpose.

R. S. 93, § 3.

SECT. 7. If the executor or administrator does not voluntarily appear, the surviving party may take out a citation from the court or justice of the peace before whom the cause is pending, requiring the executor or administrator to appear and take upon himself the prosecution or defence of the action.

Citation, how served and returned.

R. S. 93, § 4.

SECT. 8. The citation if taken in term time may be made returnable at the same or the next succeeding term, as the court shall order; if taken in vacation, it shall be returnable at the next term; and if issued by a justice of the peace, or police court, it shall be made returnable at such time as the justice or court shall direct. In all cases it shall be served fourteen days at least before the return day.

Executor not appearing, &c., may be nonsuited or defaulted.

R. S. 93, § 5.

SECT. 9. If the executor or administrator does not appear on the return of the citation, or within such further time as the court or justice may allow, he shall be nonsuited or defaulted, and judgment shall be rendered against him in like manner as if the action had been originally commenced by or against him, in his said capacity, except as provided in the following section.

Provision as to costs in such case.

R. S. 93, § 6.

SECT. 10. When an executor is nonsuited or defaulted without having taken upon himself the prosecution or defence of the action, he shall not be personally liable for costs in the action; but the estate of the deceased in his hands shall be liable for the costs, as well as for the debt or damages if any are recovered.

SECT. 11. When there are several plaintiffs or defendants in a personal action the cause of which survives, and any of them die before final judgment, the action shall proceed at the suit of the surviving plaintiff, or against the surviving defendant, as the case may be.

Death of joint plaintiff, &c.

of all the plaintiffs or defendants.
R. S. 93, § 13.
9 Pick. 532.

SECT. 12. If in such case all the plaintiffs or all the defendants die, the action may be prosecuted or defended by or against the executor or administrator of the last surviving plaintiff or defendant respectively, in like manner as if the survivor had been originally the only plaintiff or defendant.

DEATH OF PARTIES IN REAL AND MIXED ACTIONS.

SECT. 13. In real and mixed actions, if the demandant dies before final judgment, his heir or devisee of the land demanded or of the right of action may, at the same term when the death is suggested, or within such further time as the court shall allow, appear and prosecute the suit in the same manner as if it had been originally commenced by him. And in case of a devise, if the first estate in possession under the devise is not a fee simple, the devisee of the first freehold estate in possession shall have the right to appear and prosecute, and the judgment if in his favor shall be conformed to his title.

In real and mixed actions devisee or heir may prosecute.

1852, 312, § 55.
19 Met. 294.
12 Met. 501.
1 Cush. 395.

SECT. 14. If there are several demandants, and any of them die before final judgment, the heir or devisee of the deceased party shall be admitted, on motion, to prosecute the suit jointly with the survivors, in the same manner as if he had originally joined with them in commencing the suit.

jointly with survivor, if any.
R. S. 93, § 15.
10 Mass. 189.
11 Mass. 56.

SECT. 15. If the interest of the deceased party passes to the surviving demandants, or if there is no motion for the admission of another person as heir or devisee at the term when the death of the deceased party is suggested, or within such further time as the court shall allow, the surviving demandants may prosecute the suit for so much of the premises in question as may then be claimed by them.

or survivor may prosecute alone.
R. S. 93, § 16.

SECT. 16. If the tenant dies before final judgment, his heir or devisee of the land demanded, may at the term when the death is suggested, or within such further time as the court shall allow, appear and take upon himself the defence of the suit, which shall thenceforth be conducted in the same manner as if it had been originally commenced against him. If the heir or devisee does not voluntarily appear, the demandant may take out a citation from the court before whom the cause is pending, requiring him to appear and take upon himself the defence of the suit.

Proceedings when tenant dies.
1855, 304, §§ 1, 2.

SECT. 17. When any of several tenants in a real or mixed action die before final judgment, the action may be prosecuted against the surviving tenants for so much of the premises as they hold or claim.

when any of several dies.
R. S. 93, § 17.
2 Mass. 480.
2 Pick. 23.
19 Pick. 213.

DEATH OF PARTIES IN PETITIONS FOR PARTITION, &C.

SECT. 18. The same proceedings as are prescribed in the five preceding sections shall be had in all petitions and actions for partition of lands, in case of the death of any of the parties, except as is provided in the two following sections.

Same proceedings in suits for partition.
R. S. 93, § 18.
2 Mass. 479.
10 Mass. 5.

SECT. 19. If upon the death of either of several plaintiffs or petitioners in a suit for partition the interest of the deceased party passes to the surviving plaintiffs or petitioners, or to any person admitted to join them in the suit, it shall be prosecuted in the manner before provided respecting real actions; but if the interest of the deceased party passes to any person not so admitted as a plaintiff or petitioner, such person may by order of the court be made a defendant or respondent, and the same proceedings may be had against him as would have been necessary to make him an original defendant or respondent.

Except in certain cases.
R. S. 93, § 19.

Further exceptions.
R. S. 93, § 20.

SECT. 20. If upon the death of either of several defendants or respondents the interest of the deceased party passes to the surviving defendants or respondents, the suit may proceed against them without any new process; but if the interest of the deceased party passes to any other person, that person may be made a defendant or respondent in the manner prescribed in the preceding section.

DEATH OF PARTIES ENTITLED TO APPLY TO COUNTY COMMISSIONERS.

If person having right to jury, &c., dies, heirs, &c., may apply.
1859, 228

SECT. 21. When a person having a right to apply to county commissioners for a jury to assess damages or to hear and determine any other matter, dies without so applying and within the time limited therefor, his executor, administrator, heir or devisee, if interested, may, within one year after his interest vests in him, make such application in the same manner, with the same effect, as if made by the deceased in his lifetime.

MARRIAGE.

Marriage of a female party.
R. S. 93, § 21.
1855, 304.
1857, 249.
14 Mass. 295.
17 Mass. 342.

SECT. 22. If an unmarried woman who is a party to a suit either alone or with others marries before final judgment, she may continue to prosecute or defend the suit in like manner as if she were sole, and her husband need not be admitted as a party thereto.

INSANITY.

Insanity of a party.
R. S. 93, § 22.
13 Mass. 412.
5 Pick. 431.

SECT. 23. If during the pendency of an action or suit either party becomes insane, the action may be prosecuted or defended by his guardian in like manner as if it had been commenced after the appointment of the guardian, or the court may appoint a guardian for the suit, as the case may require.

DEATH OR REMOVAL OF A PUBLIC OFFICER, &c.

Death or removal of a public officer, &c.
R. S. 13, § 24.
R. S. 93, § 23.
R. S. 109, § 25.
2 Mass. 440.
12 Mass. 575.
2 Met. 47.
6 Cush. 230.

SECT. 24. An action on a note, bond, contract, or other liability made to or with the treasurer of the commonwealth, or of a county, city, town, parish, or other corporation, or to or with any other public officer, or trustee appointed under a statute, may after his removal, resignation, or death, be commenced or if before commenced, may be prosecuted by his successor as it might have been by the person with whom the contract was made.

OF ACTIONS BY AND AGAINST EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

SECTION

1. Actions which survive may be commenced against executor, &c.
2. Damages recoverable in tort against executor, &c.
3. Recovery by executor, &c., in right of another.
4. Goods returned on replevin by executor, &c., not to be assets.
5. Writs against executors, &c., how to run.

SECTION

6. Executor, &c., when personally liable for costs.
- 7, 8. Execution in such case.
9. Costs to be allowed to them, &c.
10. Scire facias against executor, &c., on suggestion of waste.
11. Death of executor, &c., pending suit.
12. Proceedings in such case.
13. Death of executor, &c., after judgment.
14. Writ of error in such case.

SECTION 1. All actions which would have survived if commenced by or against the original party in his lifetime, may be commenced and prosecuted by and against his executors and administrators.

What actions against executor, &c.
R. S. 93, § 8.
See Ch. 127, § 1.
Damages recoverable in tort against executor, &c.
R. S. 93, § 9.
1852, 312.
4 Pick. 218.

SECT. 2. When an action of tort is commenced or prosecuted against the executor or administrator of the person originally liable, the plaintiff shall be entitled to recover only for the value of the goods taken, or for the damage actually sustained, without any vindictive or exemplary damages, or damages for any alleged outrage to the feelings of the injured party.

SECT. 3. When the executor or administrator of a trustee, carrier, depositary, or other person, who claimed only a special property in goods to hold them for the use and benefit of another, recovers such goods or damages for the taking or detention thereof in an action of replevin or tort, the goods or money recovered shall not be considered as assets in his hands, but shall after deducting the costs and expenses of the suit be paid over and delivered to the person for whose use and benefit they were so held or claimed by the deceased person.

Recovery by executor, &c., in right of another.
R. S. 93, § 10.
1852, 312.

SECT. 4. When judgment for a return in an action of replevin is rendered against an executor or administrator, the goods returned by him shall not be considered as assets in his hands; and if they have been included in the inventory, it shall be a sufficient discharge for the executor or administrator to show that they have been returned in pursuance of such judgment.

Goods returned on replevin by executor, &c., not to be assets.
R. S. 93, § 11.

SECT. 5. Writs of attachment and executions against executors or administrators for debts due from the deceased testator or intestate, shall run only against the goods and estate of the deceased in their hands, and not against their bodies, goods, or estate.

Writs against executors, &c., how to run.
R. S. 119, § 1.

SECT. 6. When a judgment for costs is rendered against an executor or administrator in an action commenced by or against him, or in an action commenced by or against the testator or intestate, wherein the executor or administrator has appeared and taken upon himself the prosecution or defence, he shall be personally liable for the costs.

Executor, &c., when personally liable for costs.
R. S. 119, § 2.
16 Mass. 530.

SECT. 7. When judgment is recovered against an executor or administrator for costs only, the execution shall be awarded against his body, goods, and estate, as if it were for his own debt.

Execution in such case.
R. S. 119, § 3.

SECT. 8. When the judgment is for debt or damages, and costs, an execution for the debt or damages shall be awarded against the goods and estate of the deceased in the hands of the executor or administrator, and another execution for the costs, against the goods, estate, and body, of the executor or administrator, as if it were for his own debt.

Same subject.
R. S. 119, § 4.

SECT. 9. Costs paid by executors or administrators, and for which they are made personally liable, shall be allowed in their administration accounts, unless the probate court decides that the suit was prosecuted or defended without reasonable cause.

Costs to be allowed to them, &c.
R. S. 119, § 5.

SECT. 10. When an execution against an executor or administrator for a debt due from the estate of the deceased is returned unsatisfied, the creditor may upon a suggestion of waste sue out a scire facias against the executor or administrator. If the defendant does not appear and show sufficient cause to the contrary, he shall be deemed guilty of waste, and shall be personally liable for the amount thereof, when it can be ascertained, otherwise for the amount due on the original judgment, with interest from the time when it was rendered; and judgment and execution shall be awarded as for his own debt.

Scire facias against executor, &c., on suggestion of waste.
R. S. 119, § 6.
See Ch. 129, § 3.

SECT. 11. When an executor or administrator dies or is removed from office during the pendency of a suit in which he is a party, the suit may be prosecuted by or against the administrator de bonis non in like manner as if it had been originally commenced by or against such last administrator.

Death of executor, &c., pending suit.
R. S. 119, § 7.
4 Mass. 611, 613.

Proceedings in case of death of executor, &c., pending the suit.
R. S. 110, § 8.

SECT. 12. The proceedings in such case, with respect to the appearance of the administrator de bonis non, whether voluntarily or upon a citation, and with respect to his nonsuit or default if he does not appear, shall be conducted in the manner prescribed in chapter one hundred and twenty-seven upon occasion of the death of either party during the pendency of a suit.

Death of executor, &c., after judgment.
R. S. 110, § 9.

SECT. 13. If an executor or administrator dies or is removed after judgment is rendered either for or against him, a scire facias may be sued out either by or against the administrator de bonis non, and a new execution may be issued in like manner as it may be done by or against an original executor or administrator, in case of the death of his testator or intestate after a judgment rendered for or against him; except that a judgment against the first executor or administrator for costs for which he was personally liable, shall be enforced only against his executor or administrator, and not against the administrator de bonis non.

Writ of error in such case.
R. S. 110, § 10.
4 Mass. 611, 613.

SECT. 14. When a judgment is rendered for or against an executor or administrator, a writ of error may be brought thereon by or against an administrator de bonis non in like manner as it might have been brought by or against the executor or administrator who was party to the judgment.

PLEADINGS.

Forms at Law.

*SECTION 1. There shall be only three divisions of personal actions: Forms of actions. 1852, 312, § 1.
 First. Actions of contract, which shall include those heretofore known as actions of assumpsit, covenant, and debt, except for penalties.
 Second. Actions of tort, which shall include those heretofore known as actions of trespass, trespass on the case, trover, and all actions for penalties.

Third. Actions of replevin.

Declarations, &c.

*SECT. 2. The form of declaring in personal actions shall be according to the following particulars:— Form of declaring at law. 1852, 312, § 2.

First. The action shall be named in conformity with the divisions specified in section one.

Second. No averment need be made which the law does not require to be proved. 5 Gray, 22, 545.

Third. The substantive facts necessary to constitute the cause of action may be stated with substantial certainty, and without unnecessary verbiage. Substantial facts only required. 4 Gray, 446, 7 Gray, 185.

One count for each cause, but any number of breaches.

Fourth. One count only need be inserted for each cause of action, but any number of breaches may be assigned in each count, and when the nature of the case requires it breaches may be assigned in the alternative. Two causes of action, not arising on the same contract, shall not be embraced in one count, except the count on an account annexed as hereinafter provided.

What counts and causes of action may be joined.
7 Gray, 562.

Fifth. Any number of counts for different causes of action belonging to the same division of actions may be inserted in the same declaration. Actions of contract and actions of tort shall not be joined; but when it is deemed doubtful to which of those classes a particular cause of action belongs, a count in contract may be joined with a count in tort, averring that both are for one and the same cause of action.

Common counts, how used.
7 Gray, 184, 187.

Sixth. The common counts shall not be used unitedly, but each one of those counts may be used in the form hereinafter prescribed when the natural import of its terms correctly describes the cause of action.

When account annexed may be used.
4 Gray, 292.
7 Gray, 184, 187.

Seventh. A count on an account annexed, in the form hereinafter prescribed, may be used in an action of contract, when one or more items are claimed either of which would be correctly described by any one of the common counts according to the natural import of its terms.

Trover abolished.
2 Gray, 564.

Eighth. In place of the form of declaration heretofore used in the action of trover, the form hereinafter prescribed shall be used.

Written instruments, how declared on.
If lost, substance to be stated.
1 Gray, 544.

Ninth. All written instruments except policies of insurance shall be declared on by setting out a copy or such part as is relied on, or the legal effect thereof, with proper averments to describe the cause of action. If the whole contract is not set out, a copy or the original, as the court may direct, shall be filed on motion of the adverse party. Where it may be necessary, the copy so filed shall, if the court so order, be part of the record, as if oyer had been granted of a deed declared on according to the common law. No profert or excuse therefor need be inserted in a declaration. If the instrument relied on is lost or destroyed, or is not in the power of the party who relies on it, he shall state the substance of it as nearly as he can, and the reason why a copy is not given.

Bonds and other conditional contracts, how declared on.

Tenth. When a bond, or other conditional obligation, contract, or grant, is declared on, the condition shall be deemed part of the obligation, contract, or grant, and shall be set forth; breaches relied on shall be assigned; and conditions precedent to the right of the party relying thereon shall be averred to have been performed, or his excuse for the non-performance thereof stated.

In real actions on mortgage, &c.

§ 3. In real actions founded on mortgage titles, the declaration shall allege the seisin to be "in mortgage."

Declarations, &c., where persons are severally liable on contracts in writing.
1852, 312, § 3.
4 Gray, 294.
7 Gray, 281.

§ 4. Persons severally liable upon contracts in writing, including all parties to bills of exchange and promissory notes, may all or any of them be joined in the same action. The declaration may include one count only, describing the several contracts of the defendants when the same contract was made by each; or different counts, describing the different contracts of the defendants when, as in the case of maker and indorser, the same contract was not made by all. The court shall take such order for the separate trial of the issues as shall be found most convenient, and shall enter several judgments according to the several contracts of the defendants, and issue one or more executions, as the case may require.

Mode of referring to statutes.
R. S. 100, § 20.

§ 5. A general statute may be referred to in declarations or other pleadings by specifying the chapter containing the provision referred to, or mentioning in general terms the subject of the statute, or referring to it in such manner as shall indicate with sufficient certainty the statute intended.

Plaintiff's close

§ 6. In actions of tort for breaking and entering the plaintiff's close, the place of the alleged trespass shall be designated in the plaintiff's declaration by name, abutments, or other proper description.

SECT. 7. In actions of contract and actions of tort, unless an arrest of the person is made, the writ need not contain a declaration, nor any description of the cause of action in which it is intended to declare, other than the name of the form thereof.

SECT. 8. The declaration may be filed in the clerk's office on or before the day to which the writ is returnable, unless an arrest of the person is made. If there is an attachment of property, the declaration and bill of particulars, when necessary, if not inserted in the writ, shall also be furnished to the defendant or his attorney within three days after he has demanded the same in writing of the plaintiff or his attorney.

SECT. 9. If no declaration has been inserted in the writ or filed in the clerk's office pursuant to the preceding section, it shall be a discontinuance of the action, and the defendant or trustee may have judgment for costs: provided, that the court may at any time during the return term of the writ, for good cause shown and upon suitable terms, allow the plaintiff to file his declaration, and the action shall not be discontinued if the declaration is filed in accordance with the provisions of this section.

SECT. 10. In actions of contract, when either of the common counts is used, the plaintiff shall file a bill of particulars with his writ when the action is entered. The items in such bill shall be numbered consecutively, and it shall be deemed to be part of the record and be answered or replied to as such.

Demurrers.

SECT. 11. To raise an issue in law, the answer shall contain a statement that the defendant demurs to the declaration or to some one or more counts therein, as the case may be, and shall assign specially the causes of demurrer.

SECT. 12. Demurrers may be for the following, among other causes: —

First. That counts in contract and in tort, or either with replevin, or a count in the plaintiff's own right and a count in some representative capacity, are improperly joined in the declaration.

Second. That the declaration or some count thereof, as the case may be, does not state a legal cause of action substantially in accordance with the rules contained in this chapter.

Third. That the answer does not state a legal defence to the declaration or some count thereof, as the case may be, substantially in accordance with such rules.

The particulars in which the alleged defect consists shall be specially pointed out, and the attorney, if any, shall certify upon the demurrer, that he is of opinion that there is such probable ground in law therefor as to make it a fit subject for judicial inquiry and trial, and that it is not intended merely for delay.

SECT. 13. Any defence to a real, personal, or mixed action, which might have been made by plea in abatement, may be made by answer containing such allegations or denials as may be necessary to constitute such defence.

SECT. 14. When an answer in abatement is overruled on demurrer, or an amendment is allowed and made by the plaintiff in consequence of such answer in abatement, the defendant shall then answer, or in a Joint answer. 1852, 312, § 13.

†SECT. 16. Two or more defendants making the same defence may answer jointly. Different consistent defences may be separately stated in the same answer.

Substantive facts denied, &c. 1852, 312, § 14. 2 Gray, 521. 3 Gray, 220, 262, 341. 5 Gray, 457, 543. 6 Gray, 494. 7 Gray, 184, 268.

SECT. 17. The answer shall deny in clear and precise terms every substantive fact intended to be denied in each count of the declaration separately, or shall declare the defendant's ignorance of the fact, so that he can neither admit nor deny, but leaves the plaintiff to prove the same.

Answers, &c., when and how made. 1852, 312, § 15. 2 Gray, 521. 5 Gray, 457, 541.

SECT. 18. In answering the common counts and the count on an account annexed, the defendant shall answer specifically every item contained in the bill of particulars or account annexed, but he may make one and the same allegation or denial concerning any number of items to which such allegation or denial is applicable, specifying the number of the items thus answered together when less than the whole. If the defendant denies that any item is due or payable, or that he owes the plaintiff as alleged, he shall state all the substantive grounds on which he intends to rest such denial, and shall specify whether some and what part or the whole of such item or demand is denied.

must declare whether whole or part is denied. 1852, 312, § 16. 5 Gray, 543.

SECT. 19. In all cases in which a denial is made by answer, affidavit, or otherwise, concerning a time, sum, quantity, or place, alleged, the party denying shall declare whether such denial is applicable to every time, sum, quantity, or place, or not; and if not, what time, sum, quantity, or place, he admits.

to set forth each substantive fact relied on, &c. 1852, 312, § 18. 4 Gray, 52, 448. 6 Gray, 494. 7 Gray, 343.

SECT. 20. The answer shall set forth in clear and precise terms each substantive fact intended to be relied upon in avoidance of the action; and when the answer sets up the statute of limitations, the statute of frauds, or any other legal bar, the defendant shall not be deprived of the benefit of such defence by reason of his not denying the facts set forth in the declaration.

when written instruments are relied on, &c. 1852, 312, § 2.

*SECT. 21. Written instruments, when relied on in an answer or subsequent allegation, shall be set out, or copies or the originals shall be filed, in the manner prescribed in the ninth clause of section two when they are declared on.

when conditional obligations, &c. 1852, 312, § 2.

*SECT. 22. When a conditional obligation, contract, or grant, is relied on in an answer or subsequent allegation, the condition shall be deemed a part of the instrument, and similar averments shall be required in pleading on the same as are required by the tenth clause of section two.

No pleading after answer, but by order of court. Plaintiff may demur, and in certain cases reply. 1852, 312, § 19. 4 Gray, 117.

SECT. 23. No further pleading shall be required after the answer, except by order of the court as hereinafter mentioned. But the plaintiff may demur to the answer; and if the answer contains any new matter in avoidance of the action, such new matter shall be deemed to be denied by the plaintiff; or the court may on motion of the defendant require the plaintiff to reply thereto, and state whether he admits or denies any, and if any what part thereof. The plaintiff may if he pleases without such order, at any time before trial, file a replication to the answer, clearly and specifically stating any facts in reply to the new matter therein.

Further pleading, demurrer, &c. 1852, 312, § 20. 6 Gray, 233.

SECT. 24. The replication may raise an issue in law, by the statement that the plaintiff demurs to the answer or to so much thereof as applies to one or more counts in the declaration, as the case may be, assigning specially the causes of such demurrer; and in like manner either party may demur to the allegation of the other party. But no defect of form merely, either in the declaration or subsequent allegation, shall be assigned as a cause of demurrer. The opposite party shall be deemed to join in demurrer if he shall not amend, which he may do within such time, and upon such terms, as the court may allow.

Joinder in demurrer.

SECT. 25. An answer or replication may allege facts which have occurred since the institution of the suit, and the plaintiff and defendant may be allowed by the court to make a supplemental declaration, answer, or replication, alleging material facts which have occurred or come to the knowledge of the party since the former declaration, answer, or replication.

Facts occurring since suit. Supplemental declaration, &c. 1852, 312, § 24.

SECT. 26. Either party may allege any fact or title alternatively, declaring his belief of one alternative or the other and his ignorance whether it be the one or the other.

may be alleged alternatively. 1852, 312, § 25.

SECT. 27. The allegations and denials of each party shall be so construed by the court as to secure as far as possible substantial precision and certainty, and discourage vagueness and loose generalities. Any substantive fact alleged with substantial precision and certainty, and not denied in clear and precise terms, shall be deemed to be admitted. No party shall be required to state evidence or to disclose the means by which he intends to prove his case.

Pleadings so construed as to give certainty, &c. 1852, 312, § 26. 1 Gray, 450. 4 Gray, 65, 446. 5 Gray, 543. 7 Gray, 183, 268.

SECT. 28. A suit shall be deemed at issue when the allegations are closed, or if it be a real or mixed action, when the plea is filed.

Suit, when at issue. 1852, 312, § 31.

PRACTICE.

Indorsement of Process after Entry.

*SECT. 29. If a plaintiff in any writ, suit, or process at law or in equity after its commencement removes from the state, the court where the suit is pending, on motion of any other party, shall, and in all cases when it appears reasonable may, require the plaintiff to procure a sufficient indorser.

Indorser, when required. R. S. 90, § 10. R. S. 100, § 28. R. S. 112, § 24. 18 Pick. 226. 1 Gray, 114. 19 Pick. 379.

*SECT. 30. If an indorser removes from the state or is insufficient, the court if it appears reasonable may require the plaintiff to procure a sufficient indorser.

removing, &c., another required. R. S. 90, § 12.

SECT. 31. The supreme judicial court may require an indorser or security for the payment of costs in any probate or insolvent case or proceeding in that court.

may be required in probate cases, &c. 1846, 234.

*SECT. 32. If the plaintiff fails in any case to procure an indorser according to the order of the court, the suit shall be dismissed and the defendant recover his costs.

if not procured, suit dismissed. R. S. 90, § 13.

*SECT. 33. The court in which any suit is pending may permit the name of an indorser to be stricken out and a new and sufficient indorser to be substituted. Every indorser shall be liable for costs from the commencement of the suit, in like manner as indorsers before the entry of an action.

may be substituted. Liability. R. S. 90, §§ 11, 12. 6 Mass. 494. 7 Mass. 25. 15 Mass. 422. 8 Met. 149. See Ch. 123, § 20.

Abatement.

*SECT. 34. No writ, process, declaration, or other proceeding, in the courts or course of justice, shall be abated, arrested, quashed, or reversed, for any circumstantial errors or mistakes, when the person and case may be rightly understood by the court, nor through defect or want of form only.

No writ, &c., abated for circumstantial errors. R. S. 100, § 21. 5 Met. 211. 4 Cush. 280. 5 Cush. 78. 2 Cush. 491, 555.

*SECT. 35. When the defendant in an action of contract answers in abatement the nonjoinder of any other person as defendant, the court may, at any time before issue joined on such answer, allow the plaintiff on such terms as they shall prescribe to amend his declaration by inserting therein the name of any other person as defendant, and declaring against him jointly with the original defendant.

If defendant pleads nonjoinder, new defendants joined. R. S. 100, § 1. 1852, 312, § 27. 7 Gray, 39.

Proceedings where new defendants are joined.
R. S. 100, § 2.

*†SECT. 36. The plaintiff may thereupon take out a new writ in such form as the court prescribes, which shall be in the nature of an original writ of capias and attachment, or of summons, and shall require the new defendant to appear and answer as a defendant in the original action. Upon such writ the new defendant's body may be arrested, or his goods or estate may be attached, as upon an original writ; and the writ shall be returnable at such time as the court shall order, and be served fourteen days at least before the return day.

Same subject.
R. S. 100, §§ 3, 4.

*†SECT. 37. Upon the return of such new writ, every defendant named therein upon whom service has been made shall be bound to appear and answer with the other defendants, in the same manner as if he had been originally made a party in the first writ. If service cannot be made on a defendant, the action may proceed against the other defendants, in the manner provided in chapter one hundred and twenty-six.

Judgment, execution, &c., in such case.
R. S. 100, § 5.

*†SECT. 38. Judgment shall be rendered and execution shall issue for either party, in the same manner as if the original writ had been issued against all the defendants; and the plaintiff shall have the same benefit of any attachment or bail upon each of said writs, as if the same had been made or taken in the usual manner upon the original writ.

Final judgment upon issue of fact.

3 Met. 429.

†SECT. 39. If an issue of fact upon an answer in abatement is found against the defendant, a final judgment shall be rendered against him in the manner heretofore required by law in case of a plea in abatement.

Amendments.

Amendments, &c., upon matter in abatement.
1892, 312, § 28.

†SECT. 40. No action shall be defeated by plea or answer in abatement, if the defect found is capable of amendment, and is amended on terms prescribed by the court. The defendant may have leave to amend an answer in abatement, or to answer over by special order of the court, for good cause shown, and not otherwise.

After judgment in any civil action, defects or imperfections in matter of form found in the record or proceedings may be rectified and amended by the court in which the judgment is rendered, or by the court to which it is removed by writ of error, if substantial justice requires it, and if the amendment is in affirmance of the judgment.

Defaults.

Defendant, when defaulted.
R. S. 92, § 1.

*†SECT. 43. If a defendant being duly served with process fails to appear, his default shall be recorded, the charge in the declaration shall be taken to be true, and judgment rendered accordingly.

Default may be taken off at first term.
R. S. 92, § 2.

*†SECT. 44. If after such default at the first term the defendant appears before the jury is dismissed, the court may take off the default and allow the appearance to be entered upon the defendant's paying the plaintiff's costs up to that time, or such part thereof as the court shall think reasonable.

Defendant to be defaulted last day, or in ten days, unless af-

Interrogatories.

†*SECT. 46. In civil actions the plaintiff may at any time after the entry of the action, and the defendant at any time after answer, or if it be a real or mixed action after plea, and before the case is opened to the jury, file in the clerk's office interrogatories for the discovery of facts and documents material to the support or defence of the suit, to be answered on oath by the adverse party.

In civil actions parties may file interrogatories, &c.
1852, 312, § 61.
11 Cush. 26, 74.
2 Gray, 558.
7 Gray, 417.
See §§ 54, 75, 86.

†*SECT. 47. To such interrogatories there shall be annexed an affidavit of the interrogating party or his attorney, to the effect that he has reason to believe that the party interrogating will derive some material benefit in the action from the discovery which he seeks, if the same be fairly made, and that the discovery is not sought for the purpose of delay.

Affidavit to be annexed to interrogatories.
1852, 312, § 62.
2 Gray, 558.

†*SECT. 48. Such interrogatories shall be answered and the answers filed in the clerk's office within ten days after the same are notified to the party interrogated or his attorney, unless upon cause shown either before or after the lapse of ten days further time is allowed by the court.

Answers to be filed.
1852, 312, § 63.
11 Cush. 158, 537.

†*SECT. 49. The answers shall be in writing, signed by the party and upon his oath.

in writing, and on oath.
1852, 312, § 65.

†*SECT. 50. If the party to a suit is a corporation, the opposite party may examine the president, treasurer, clerk, or any director or other officer thereof, in the same manner as if he were a party to the suit.

Officers of corporation may be examined.
1852, 312, § 66.

†*SECT. 51. Each interrogatory shall be answered separately and fully. The party interrogated may introduce into his answer any matter relevant to the issue to which the interrogatory relates.

Each interrogatory to be answered.
1852, 312, § 67.
3 Gray, 220.

†*SECT. 52. When any document, book, voucher, or other writing, called for by an interrogatory, contains matters not pertinent to the subject matter of the action, the answer may so state, and that such part has been sealed up or otherwise protected from examination; and thereupon such part shall not be inspected by the party interrogating; but such party may apply to the court and obtain an order to have liberty to inspect the part so protected from examination, or so much thereof as the court shall find on hearing the parties, or if necessary by inspecting the part so protected, was improperly withheld and concealed.

Parts of books, &c., called for, containing matter not pertinent, may be sealed up, &c.
1852, 312, § 68.

†*SECT. 53. The party interrogated shall not be obliged to answer a question or produce a document the answering or producing of which would tend to criminate himself, or disclose his title to any property the title whereof is not material to the trial of the action in the course of which he is interrogated; or to disclose the names of the witnesses by whom or the manner in which he proposes to prove his own case.

Party not obliged to criminate himself, &c.
1852, 312, § 69.
2 Gray, 558.

†*SECT. 54. If an answer contains irrelevant matter or is not full and clear, or if an interrogatory is not answered, and the party interrogated refuses to expunge or amend, or to answer a particular interrogatory, the court or any justice thereof may on motion order such irrelevant matter to be expunged, or such imperfect answer to be made full and clear, or such interrogatory to be answered, within such time as may seem reasonable.

Irrelevant matter to be expunged.
Answer to be full, &c.
1852, 312, § 70.

†*SECT. 55. When an answer is adjudged irrelevant or insufficient, or when a party is ordered to answer an interrogatory, such order may be Costs when answer irrelevant, &c.

1852, 312, § 71.

Nonsuit, &c., if party disobeys order. 1852, 312, § 72. 3 Gray, 415. 7 Gray, 417.

made respecting costs, either in the action or otherwise, as the court may direct by general rules or by a special order in each case.

*†SECT. 56. If a party neglects or refuses to expunge, amend, or answer, according to the requisition of this chapter, the court may enter a nonsuit or default as the case may require, and proceed thereon according to law.

*†SECT. 57. During the trial of any action the court may allow interrogatories to be filed, to be answered forthwith, or with as little delay as practicable, and may suspend the trial for the purpose of having the same answered; but such interrogatories must be accompanied by an affidavit stating the reasons why they were not filed earlier; and unless the court upon the whole matter finds that due diligence has been used, the interrogatories shall not be filed.

Interlocutory Orders.

Court may order statement of grounds of action, &c. 1852, 312, § 4. 3 Gray, 266.

Orders, &c., preparatory to trial, when made. 1852, 312, § 35.

*SECT. 58. The court may in all cases order either party to file a statement of such particulars as may be necessary to give the other party, and the court, reasonable knowledge of the nature and grounds of the action or defence.

†SECT. 59. Orders allowing amendments before trial, or a supplemental answer or replication, or enlarging time, and any other interlocutory order necessary to prepare the case for trial, may be made by the court while in session, or any justice thereof, in any county, either in term time or vacation; but the several courts shall prescribe such fixed rules respecting notice, the times and places for motions at chambers, and other matters, as they shall from time to time deem necessary.

Agreements of Parties.

Orders may be entered by consent, &c. 1852, 312, § 36.

Parties may agree respecting continuances, filing papers, &c. 1852, 312, § 88.

†SECT. 60. Any of the orders mentioned in the preceding section may be entered by consent in writing signed by the parties or their attorneys. All agreements of attorneys touching any suit or proceeding shall be in writing; otherwise they shall be of no validity.

†SECT. 61. If the parties agree to continue a case without cost until the next term it shall be continued accordingly; but the court may by a general or special order regulate the place on the docket in which the case shall stand at the next term. Parties may make agreements respecting amendments and the time of filing papers, which agreements shall be equivalent to an order of the court to the same effect.

Offer of Judgment.

Defendant may offer judgment. Plaintiff may accept, with costs. Time to elect. 1852, 149, § 1. See § 73.

*SECT. 62. When a defendant in an action at law or suit in equity, wherein damages only are sought to be recovered, offers in court and consents in writing to be defaulted, and that judgment shall be rendered against him, as damages for a sum therein specified, the same shall be entered of record together with the time when it was tendered; and the plaintiff may at any time within ten days after he has received notice of such offer and consent accept the offer, and the court shall render judgment accordingly, with costs to the date of the notice. If, after such notice, the court shall for good cause grant the plaintiff a further time to elect, he may signify his acceptance within the time allowed, and judgment shall be rendered as if the acceptance had been within ten days.

If plaintiff does not accept, nor recover greater sum, defendant allowed costs. 1852, 149, § 2. See § 73.

*SECT. 63. If the plaintiff does not elect to accept such offer, and shall not recover a greater sum than the sum so offered, not including interest on the sum recovered in damages from the date of the offer, the defendant shall have judgment for his costs after said date, for which execution shall issue, and the plaintiff, if he recovers damages, shall be allowed his costs only to the date of the offer.

Hearing, Trial, Evidence.

†SECT. 64. Every demurrer may in the first instance be heard by a single justice, and if taken in term time during the same term if practicable; and his decision as to the misjoinder of counts shall be final, an amendment being allowed as herein provided. But if the cause of demurrer is that the facts do not in point of law support or answer the action, and the party against whom the decision is made does not pray for leave to amend, such decision shall not be final, but the demurrer may be further heard upon appeal or otherwise, as is provided in respect to such questions of law. When a demurrer is sustained, overruled, or withdrawn, the court shall make such order as may be fit, respecting the filing of an answer or replication, or a trial of the facts.

Demurrers, how heard, determined, &c. 1852, 312, § 23. 4 Gray, 62. 7 Gray, 427.

†SECT. 65. If a demurrer appears to the judge who first hears the same to be frivolous, immaterial, or intended for delay, he may besides overruling it order the party to plead, answer, or reply, notwithstanding such party claims the right to be further heard by appeal or otherwise on his demurrer; and thereupon the case shall proceed to a final judgment as if no demurrer had been filed, and execution may be awarded or stayed on such terms as the court may deem reasonable, as in cases of exceptions adjudged frivolous.

frivolous or immaterial may be overruled, &c. 1852, 312, § 23. 4 Gray, 62.

†SECT. 66. In all civil actions trial by jury may be waived by the consent in writing of the several parties or their counsel filed with the clerk at any time before the trial, and the cause shall thereupon be heard and determined by the court, and judgment entered as in case of verdict by a jury.

Jury trial may be waived, and cause heard by court. 1857, 267, § 1.

†SECT. 67. Either party may file exceptions to the decisions and rulings of the court upon matters of law arising upon such trial, move for a new trial for mistake of law or for newly discovered evidence, and be entitled to review, in the same manner and with the same effect as upon trial by jury.

Exceptions. New trial. Review. 1857, 267, § 2.

†SECT. 68. A trial shall not be delayed for want of a reply to the defendant's answer, unless by special order of the court; nor shall an agreement of parties respecting filing amendments or papers operate to postpone the trial of an action beyond the time at which by the rules of the court it would be tried.

Trials not to be delayed or postponed, &c. 1852, 312, §§ 19, 20.

*†SECT. 69. A trial shall not be delayed for the reason that interrogatories have been filed and the time allowed for answering the same has not elapsed, but the court may allow an examination during the trial as is herein before provided.

Same subject. 1852, 312, § 64.

†SECT. 70. When it appears on a trial that a local action has been brought in an erroneous venue, the court may of its own motion order a nonsuit to be entered, unless good cause shall be shown why the trial should be allowed to proceed.

Local action in wrong county, court may nonsuit. 1852, 312, § 80. See Ch. 133, § 14.

SECT. 71. If the plaintiff fails to give evidence at the trial in support of any count in the declaration not wholly or partly confessed by the answer, it shall forthwith be stricken out. And the court may, either of their own motion or upon motion of a party, require unnecessary counts and statements to be stricken out of a declaration or any subsequent proceeding, and may impose reasonable terms.

Counts not proved, &c., may be stricken out. 1852, 312, § 5.

*†SECT. 72. Neither the declaration, answer, nor any subsequent allegation, shall be deemed evidence on the trial, but allegations only where- by the party making them is bound.

Pleadings not evidence. 1852, 312, § 75.

*†SECT. 73. No offer or consent, made in pursuance of sections sixty-two and sixty-three, which is not accepted, shall be evidence against the party making the same, either in any subsequent proceeding in the Offer of judgment not accepted, not evidence.

1852, 140, § 3.

action or suit in which such offer is made, or in any other action or suit.

Answers to interrogatories may be read at trial, &c.
1852, 312, § 73.
11 Cush. 26, 74.
3 Gray, 115.

*†SECT. 74. The answer of each party to interrogatories filed may be read at the trial by the other party as evidence; the party interrogated may require that the whole of the answers upon any one subject matter inquired of shall be read, if a part of them is read; but if no part is read, the party interrogated shall in no way avail himself of his examination, or of the fact that he has been examined.

One matter in answer not evidence of another.
R. S. 100, § 18.
1852, 312, § 75.
5 S. & R. 411.

*†SECT. 75. When a defendant answers two or more matters in his defence, no averment, confession, or acknowledgment contained in one of them shall be used or taken as evidence against him on the trial of any issue joined on any other of them.

2 N. H. R. 89. 13 Met. 253. 7 Cush. 585.

Justification in slander not proof of malice.
R. S. 100, § 19.
15 Mass. 18.
1 Pick. 1.

*SECT. 76. If the defendant in an action for slander or publishing a libel, justifies that the words spoken or published were true, such allegation, though not maintained by the evidence, shall not be of itself proof of the malice alleged in the declaration.

Truth of alleged libels may be given in evidence, &c.
1855, 396.

*†SECT. 77. In every prosecution and in every civil action for writing or for publishing a libel, the defendant may upon the trial give in evidence the truth of the matter contained in the publication charged as libellous; and such evidence shall be deemed a sufficient justification, unless malicious intention shall be proved.

In action on judgment by default, court may allow evidence of payment, &c.
1859, 185.

SECT. 78. In any action upon a judgment obtained by default, and without the knowledge of the defendant, the court may in its discretion and upon such terms as it deems reasonable, allow the defendant to show in defence any payment, satisfaction, or extinguishment of the claim, prior to the obtaining of such judgment, or any matter of fraud, which in either case he might have shown upon a writ of review in the original suit: provided, such action is brought within six years from the rendition of such judgment.

Arrest of Judgment.

No arrest of judgment for cause before verdict, except, &c.
1852, 312, § 22.
1 Gray, 172.
4 Gray, 204.
7 Gray, 543.

*†SECT. 79. A judgment shall not be arrested for any cause existing before the verdict, unless the same affects the jurisdiction of the court. And when the defendant has appeared and answered to the merits of the action, no defect in the writ or other process by which he has been brought before the court, or in the service thereof, shall be deemed to affect the jurisdiction of the court.

General Provisions.

Suggestions entered on record.
R. S. 93, § 24.

*†SECT. 80. When a change happens in a suit after its commencement, the court may allow such suggestions to be entered on the record as circumstances may require.

Rules of evidence not changed, &c.
1852, 312, § 6.
2 Gray, 565.

*†SECT. 81. The provisions of this chapter shall not be deemed to change any rule of evidence, the measure of damages, the jurisdiction of any court, or the locality of any action, except so far as the same is herein specially provided for.

Cause of action, amendment, notice to parties, appeal, &c.
1852, 312, § 33.

*†SECT. 82. The cause of action shall be deemed to be the same for which the action was brought, when it shall be made to appear to the court that it is the cause of action relied on by the plaintiff when the action was commenced, however the same may be misdescribed; and the adjudication of the court allowing an amendment shall be conclusive evidence of the identity of the cause of action. But no subsequent attaching creditor, or purchaser of property attached in the suit, or bail, or any person other than the parties to the record, shall be bound by such adjudication, unless he has had due notice of the application for leave to amend and opportunity to be heard thereon, according to an order of notice to that effect to be issued by the court upon application of the plaintiff, and such third parties shall have the right to except or appeal.

*†SECT. 83. When a party to any suit or proceeding under this chapter is a corporation, all precepts, answers, replications, or other papers, requiring the signature or oath of the party, may be signed or sworn to in behalf of the corporation by some officer or agent thereunto specially authorized.

Affidavits. When corporation is a party. 1852, 312, § 89.

SECT. 84. None of the foregoing provisions, except those contained in sections three, five, eight, nine, twelve, sixteen, twenty-eight, twenty-nine, thirty, thirty-one, thirty-two, thirty-three, thirty-four, thirty-five, thirty-six, thirty-seven, thirty-eight, thirty-nine, forty, forty-one, forty-two, forty-three, forty-four, forty-five, forty-six, forty-seven, forty-eight, forty-nine, fifty, fifty-one, fifty-two, fifty-three, fifty-four, fifty-five, fifty-six, fifty-seven, fifty-nine, sixty, sixty-one, sixty-four, sixty-five, sixty-six, sixty-seven, so much of sixty-eight as relates to agreement of parties, sections sixty-nine, seventy, seventy-two, seventy-three, seventy-four, seventy-five, seventy-seven, seventy-nine, eighty, eighty-one, eighty-two, eighty-three, and eighty-seven shall be deemed applicable to real or mixed actions, unless specially named.

Provisions not applicable to real and mixed actions, except, &c. 1852, 312, § 51. See §§ noted thus †.

SECT. 85. Sections one, two, four, five, six, ten, twenty-one, twenty-two, twenty-nine, thirty, thirty-two, thirty-three, thirty-four, thirty-five, thirty-six, thirty-seven, thirty-eight, forty-one, forty-two, forty-three, forty-four, forty-six, forty-seven, forty-eight, forty-nine, fifty, fifty-one, fifty-two, fifty-three, fifty-four, fifty-five, fifty-six, fifty-eight, sixty-two, sixty-three, sixty-nine, seventy-two, seventy-three, seventy-four, seventy-five, seventy-six, seventy-seven, seventy-nine, eighty, eighty-one, eighty-two, eighty-three, eighty-six, and eighty-seven, only, of this chapter shall apply to civil actions before police courts and justices of the peace.

Specified sections to apply to civil actions before justices and police courts. &c. 1852, 312, § 87. See §§ noted thus *.

*SECT. 86. In actions before such police courts or justices of the peace, the interrogatories and answers provided for in sections forty-six, forty-eight, and sixty-nine, may be filed before said courts or justices respectively. They may be filed by either party, at any time after the commencement of the action, and the answers shall be filed within such time as such courts or justices of the peace shall respectively order.

Interrogatories in actions before police courts, &c., may be filed, &c. 1852, 312, § 90.

[Forms.]

*†SECT. 87. The forms contained in the schedule annexed to this chapter may be used in the several courts, subject to be changed and modified from time to time by the supreme judicial court, by general rules made for the purpose.

Forms authorized. May be altered by S. J. C. 1852, 312, § 84.

Payee of Note against Maker.

And the plaintiff says the defendant made a promissory note payable to the plaintiff or order, a copy whereof is hereto annexed. And the defendant owes the plaintiff the amount of said note and interest thereon.

On Note payable to Bearer.

And the plaintiff says the defendant made a promissory note, a copy of which is hereto annexed, payable to one G. H. or bearer. And the plaintiff is the bearer of said note, and the defendant owes him the amount of said note and interest thereon.

(If payments are indorsed on the note, the declaration should be varied as follows : "A copy whereof, with the indorsements thereon, is hereto annexed, and the defendant owes the plaintiff the balance of said note and interest thereon.")

(If payments have been made which are not indorsed on the note, the allegation should be varied accordingly.)

By Indorsee against Indorser.

And the plaintiff says that one C. D. made a promissory note, a copy of which with the indorsements thereon is hereto annexed, payable to said E. F., or order ; and said E. F. indorsed the same to the plaintiff ; and payment of said note was duly demanded of said C. D., who neglected to pay the same, and due notice of its non-payment was given to said E. F. ; and said E. F. owes the plaintiff the amount of said note and interest thereon.

On a Bond with Condition to pay certain Debts of the Plaintiff, and to provide for his Support.

And the plaintiff says the defendant executed to him a bond, a copy whereof is hereto annexed :

And the plaintiff says he owed to one O. P. the sum of one hundred dollars on a promissory note (describing it) which the defendant neglects to pay :

Also that he owed to one R. S. one hundred dollars, according to the account hereto annexed, which the defendant neglects to pay :

Also that the defendant neglects to provide clothing for the plaintiff :

And the plaintiff has requested the defendant to pay said debts, and provide for his support as mentioned in said bond —

(To be inserted, if proof of the request is necessary.)

By Grantee against Grantor in a common Deed of Warranty, for Breaches of Covenant.

And the plaintiff says the defendant delivered to him a deed, a copy whereof is hereto annexed :

And the defendant was not seised in fee of a part of the land described as follows, (describing it,) but the same was held adversely by one L. M. ; and the residue of said land was not free from encumbrances, but was subject to a mortgage to one S. T., to secure the payment of six hundred dollars :

And the defendant has not warranted and defended the premises against the rightful claims of all persons, but one W. S. had a right of dower therein, and has compelled the plaintiff to assign the same to her.

On an Award.

And the plaintiff says the parties by their agreement in writing, a copy whereof is hereto annexed, referred the matters therein mentioned to arbitrators ; and the arbitrators have made an award thereon in writing, a copy whereof is hereto annexed.

(Aver performance of condition by plaintiff, when necessary to be proved, and the non-performance by defendant, which is relied on.)

(If it is for the mere payment of money aver as follows : —)
 And the defendant owes the plaintiff the amount of said award.

Forms of declarations.

On a Promise to pay the Debt of another.

And the plaintiff says that one E. F. owed him the sum of — for —, and the plaintiff was about to sue the said E. F. to recover the same :

And in consideration that the plaintiff would forbear to sue said E. F., the defendant made an agreement to pay the same to the plaintiff, a copy whereof is hereto annexed ; and the plaintiff did forbear to sue said E. F., and the defendant owes him said sum.

On an Agreement to convey Land on a certain Day, Plaintiff to pay One Hundred Dollars Cash, and give a Note for Four Hundred Dollars, secured by a Mortgage of the Land.

And the plaintiff says the defendant made an agreement with the plaintiff, in writing, a copy whereof is hereto annexed :

And on the — day of —, the plaintiff tendered to the defendant one hundred dollars, and also a note for four hundred dollars, (describing it,) and a mortgage of said land, to secure the payment of said note, and demanded of the defendant a conveyance of said land, (following the terms of the agreement.)

For Breach of Promise of Marriage.

And the plaintiff says that she and the defendant mutually promised to marry each other.

And she has always been ready to marry the defendant, but the defendant refuses to perform his promise.

Non-Delivery of Goods sold.

And the plaintiff says he purchased of the defendant the following goods, viz. : — for the sum of one hundred dollars, to be paid therefor on delivery thereof ; and the defendant promised to deliver the same on the — day of —, at the defendant's store in — :

And on said day the plaintiff demanded said goods at said store, and tendered to the defendant said sum of one hundred dollars in payment of the same :

And the defendant refused to deliver the same to the plaintiff.

On Policies of Insurance.

1. On a ship for a total loss.

And the plaintiff says the defendants made to him a policy of insurance, a copy of which is hereto annexed, for the sum of ten thousand dollars, on the ship John, against the perils of the seas, and other perils therein mentioned, in a voyage from Boston to Cadiz, in Spain, and at and from Cadiz to her port of discharge in the United States ; and while proceeding on said voyage, the ship was wrecked and totally lost by the perils of the seas ; and the defendants had notice of said loss on the — day of —, and were bound to pay the amount of said loss to the plaintiff within sixty days after said notice ; and the defendants owe the plaintiff therefor said sum of ten thousand dollars.

2. For a partial loss and contribution to a general average.

(State, as in the last count to the description of the voyage inclusive.)

And in said policy the defendants agreed that in case of any loss or misfortune to said ship, it should be lawful for the plaintiff and his agents to labor for, and in the defence and recovery of, said ship, and that the defendants would contribute to the charges thereof in proportion as the sum assured by them should be to the whole sum at risk :

And while proceeding on said voyage said ship was by the perils of the seas dismasted, and otherwise damaged in her hull, rigging, and appurtenances, and it was necessary, for the preservation of said ship and her cargo, to throw over a part of her cargo, and the same was thrown over for that purpose, and the plaintiff was obliged to expend the sum of two thousand dollars for repairing said ship at Cadiz, and the sum of five hundred dollars as a contribution for the loss occasioned by throwing over a part of said cargo ; and the ship suffered much other damage that was not repaired at Cadiz ; — and the defendants had notice of said loss and charges, on the — day of —, and were bound by the terms of said policy to pay the same within sixty days after such notice, and the defendants owe the plaintiff therefor the sum of — dollars.

For a total loss of cargo by fire :

And the plaintiff says the defendants made to him a policy of insurance for the sum of ten thousand dollars, on the cargo of the brigantine William, against the perils of fire and other perils therein mentioned, at and from Boston, and in a voyage from thence to Hamburgh, or any other port or ports in the north of Europe ; and while said brigantine was proceeding on said voyage, the cargo was totally destroyed by fire ;

Forms of declarations.

and the defendants had notice of said loss on the ——— day of ———, and were bound by the terms of said policy to pay the plaintiff the amount of said loss; and the defendants owe the plaintiff therefor the sum of ten thousand dollars.

Forms of Declarations in Actions of Tort.

Beginning. — To answer A. B., of ———, in an action of tort.

Trover. — And the plaintiff says the defendant has converted to his own use one horse, the property of the plaintiff, (or the goods mentioned in the schedule hereto annexed.)

(The ad damnum is a sufficient allegation of damage in all cases in which special damages are not claimed.)

Deceit. — And the plaintiff says the defendant sold to him ten bags of coffee, and to induce the plaintiff to buy the same the defendant falsely represented to him that said coffee was the property of the defendant; and the plaintiff believing that said representation was true, was thereby induced to purchase and did purchase said coffee, and paid therefor to the defendant the sum of one hundred dollars; and said coffee was not the property of the defendant, which the defendant then knew, but was the property of one A. S., who has taken the same from the plaintiff.

And the plaintiff says the defendant sold him a horse, for which the plaintiff paid him one hundred dollars. And to induce the plaintiff to buy said horse the defendant falsely represented to the plaintiff that said horse was sound, so far as the defendant knew; and the plaintiff, believing that said representation was true, was thereby induced to buy, and did buy, said horse; and said horse was not sound, but had a certain disease called ———, which the defendant then knew.

And the plaintiff says the defendant, to induce the plaintiff to sell property on credit to one S. C., falsely represented to the plaintiff in writing, that said S. C. was a man possessed of a large property and able to pay his debts, (a copy of which writing is hereto annexed.) And thereupon the plaintiff, believing said representation to be true, was induced to sell, and did sell, to said S. C., the goods mentioned in the account hereto annexed, and gave the said S. C. credit for the price of said goods, being ——— dollars, for the term of six months from the ——— day of ———. And said S. C. was not a man of property, nor able to pay his debts, but was insolvent, which the defendant then knew. And the plaintiff has not been paid for said goods, and is unable to obtain payment therefor of said S. C.

Negligence of Railroad Corporations. — And the plaintiff says the defendants are a corporation owning a railroad between A. and B.; that plaintiff was a passenger on said railroad, and, by reason of the insufficiency of an axle of the car in which he was riding, the plaintiff was hurt; that defendants did not use due care in reference to said axle, but plaintiff did use due care.

(This form may be varied to adapt it to many cases, simply by changing the allegation as to the cause of the accident. It is not intended to restrict a party to the statement of one cause, if there were several concurrent causes, and if the plaintiff is in doubt which of several different causes occasioned the accident, he may, under section twenty-six, so declare.)

Negligence of Town. — And the plaintiff says there is in the town of ——— a public highway leading from ——— to ———, which said defendants are bound to keep in repair; — that the same was negligently suffered by defendants to be out of repair, whereby the plaintiff, travelling thereon and using due care, was hurt.

Obstructing Way. — And the plaintiff says he owned a tract of land, (describing it,) and there was a way leading to the same from, (here mention the other terminus,) which the plaintiff had a right to use as a foot-way and carriage-way; and the defendant erected a fence across said way and placed stones in the same, so that the plaintiff could not use the same.

Immoderate Riding. — And the plaintiff says the defendant hired of him a horse to ride from Boston to Cambridge, and from thence back to Boston, in a proper manner; and the defendant rode said horse so immoderately that he became sick and lame, and was greatly injured in value.

Slander. — And the plaintiff says that the defendant publicly, falsely, and maliciously, accused the plaintiff of the crime of perjury, by words spoken of the plaintiff substantially as follows. (Here set forth the words — no innuendoes are necessary.)

(If the natural import of the words is not intelligible without further explanation, or reference to facts understood but not mentioned, or parts of the conversation not stated, in either of those cases, after setting forth the words, the declaration should contain a concise and clear statement of such things as are necessary to make the words relied on intelligible to the court and jury in the same sense in which they were spoken. This rule is applicable to actions for written and printed, as well as oral, slander.)

Libel. — And the plaintiff says the defendant caused to be published in a newspaper (describing it) a false and malicious libel concerning the plaintiff, a copy whereof is hereto annexed.

(Or if it be a picture, it may be described.)

5 Gray, 23.
6 Gray, 495.
8 Gray, 161.

Trespass to Person. — And the plaintiff says the defendant made an assault upon him, and struck him on his head, and kept him imprisoned for the space of one day. Forms of declarations.

Trespass to Land. — And the plaintiff says the defendant forcibly entered the plaintiff's close, (describing it,) and ploughed up the soil, &c., and took and carried away fifty bushels of the plaintiff's corn there being, and converted the same to his own use.

Penalty. — And the plaintiffs say they had a turnpike-road, (describing it,) and the defendant passed on said road with a wagon, on which he carried a load of more than forty-five hundred pounds, and the feloes of said wagon were less than three inches and a half wide, whereby the defendant became liable to pay the plaintiffs three times the legal toll therefor, and the legal toll therefor is the sum of ———.

And the plaintiff says the defendants had a turnpike-road, (describing it,) and the plaintiff was passing over the same and through a turnpike-gate thereon, (describing it,) in a wagon drawn by one horse; and the defendants' toll-gatherer then demanded and received of the plaintiff fifty cents for toll, for passing through said gate with said horse and wagon, the legal toll for passing as afore-said being only ten cents, whereby the defendants have forfeited to the plaintiff a sum not exceeding one hundred dollars.

And the plaintiffs say they had an aqueduct, (describing it,) and the defendant maliciously injured said aqueduct by cutting off one of the pipes thereof, whereby the defendant became liable to pay the plaintiffs treble the amount of the damage thereby sustained by the plaintiffs; and the amount of said damage was ten dollars.

And the plaintiffs say that the twentieth day of October last was the day of their cattle show and exhibition; and that by their officers they defined and fixed bounds of sufficient extent for the erection of cattle-pens and yards, and for convenient passage-ways to and about the same, within which bounds no persons were permitted to enter and pass unless in conformity with the regulations of said officers: Of all which the defendant had notice; and after said notice the defendant did enter and pass within said bounds, contrary to said regulations, whereby he has forfeited to the plaintiffs a sum not exceeding five dollars.

Answers in Abatement.

Forms of answers.

A. B. }
 vs. } Middlesex, Sup. Ct.
 C. D. } Defendant's Answer.

Coverture of Plaintiff. — And the defendant comes and says that when the plaintiff's writ was sued out, the plaintiff was a married woman, and that B. F., her husband, was then alive, and therefore he ought not to be held to answer to the plaintiff's writ.

Nonjoinder. — And the defendant comes and says that if he is indebted to the plaintiffs for the goods mentioned in their bill of particulars, he is indebted to them jointly with one G. H., who is still alive, and ought to be sued with him in the writ, and therefore he ought not to be held to answer to the plaintiff's writ.

Misnomer. — And the defendant comes and says the plaintiff's name is John Stiles, and not James Stiles, and therefore he ought not to be held to answer to the plaintiff's writ.

Coverture of Defendant. — And the defendant comes and says that when the plaintiff's writ was sued out, she was and still is a married woman, and that J. H., her husband, was then alive, and therefore she ought not to be held to answer to the plaintiff's writ.

Answers in Actions of Contract.

A. B. }
 vs. } Middlesex, Sup. Ct.
 C. D. } Defendant's Answer.

Money had and received. — And the defendant comes and upon his personal knowledge denies that he received the money mentioned in the plaintiff's bill of particulars, or any part thereof:

(Or, if the case be so) admits that he received the money mentioned in the plaintiff's declaration, but denies that he received it to the plaintiff's use.

And the defendant comes and says, upon his personal knowledge, that he received the money mentioned in the plaintiff's bill of particulars, but upon his information and belief he denies that he received the same or any part thereof to the plaintiff's use.

And the defendant comes and upon his personal knowledge denies that he has received to the plaintiff's use the money mentioned in the plaintiff's bill of particulars, except the sum of fifty dollars.

Statute of Limitations. — And the defendant comes and answers that the cause of action mentioned in the plaintiff's writ did not accrue within six years before the suing out of the plaintiff's writ.

Payment. — And the defendant comes and answers that he has paid the plaintiff the sum of ——— dollars, which was the full amount of the account stated in the plaintiff's bill of particulars.

If there are several items, add — And he annexes hereto a bill of particulars of said payment.

Account annexed. Goods sold and delivered. — And the defendant comes and answers

Forms of answers.

as follows, viz. : as to the first ten items of the plaintiff's bill of particulars, upon his personal knowledge he denies that the plaintiff sold and delivered the same to the defendant.

As to the eleventh item, upon his personal knowledge he denies that the price was to be more than ten dollars.

Work. — As to the twelfth item, he is ignorant personally, and by information and belief, whether the plaintiff performed the day's labor there charged or not, and also of the price thereof, if any, so that he can neither admit nor deny the plaintiff's allegation, but leaves the plaintiff to prove the same.

Answers to a Promissory Note.

Promissory Note. — And the defendant comes and answers as follows : —

He denies that he made the promissory note mentioned in the plaintiff's first count :

Minority. — And as to the note mentioned in the plaintiff's second count, he says that at the time of making the same he was a minor under the age of twenty-one years.

Duress. — And as to the contract mentioned in the plaintiff's third count, he says that at the time of its execution he was kept in imprisonment by the plaintiff, and executed the contract through the force of that imprisonment.

Part Payment. — And the defendant comes and says that he has paid the note mentioned in the plaintiff's writ, except the sum of fifty dollars, and

Tender.] before the plaintiff sued out his writ he tendered to the plaintiff said sum of fifty dollars, and now brings the same into court for the plaintiff.

Accord. — And the defendant comes and says he delivered to the plaintiff one wagon, which the plaintiff received in full satisfaction of the note mentioned in the plaintiff's writ.

Res Judicata. — And the defendant comes and says that at the supreme judicial court, hold, &c., the plaintiff recovered judgment against the defendant for ——— dollars and ——— cents damages, and ——— for costs ; and that said judgment was rendered upon the same cause of action mentioned in the plaintiff's first count.

Release. — And the defendant comes and says the plaintiff executed to him a release, a copy whereof is hereto annexed, whereby he discharged the defendant from the cause of action mentioned in the second count.

To a Policy of Insurance.

Insurance. — And the defendants come and say that they deny, upon information and belief, that said loss was actually total, and they deny that any abandonment was made.

And the defendants come and say they deny, upon information and belief, that said vessel was seaworthy for the voyage in said policy mentioned, at the inception of said voyage.

And the defendants come, &c., (as above,) but deny, upon information and belief, that said vessel was lost while proceeding on the voyage in said policy described.

Forms of Answers in Actions of Tort.

Trover. — And the defendant comes and upon his personal knowledge denies that the horse mentioned in the plaintiff's writ was the property of the plaintiff, and also denies that he converted the same to his own use.

And the defendant comes and says that upon his personal knowledge he is ignorant, but upon his information and belief he denies, that the horse mentioned in the plaintiff's writ was the property of the plaintiff.

And the defendant comes and upon his knowledge and belief admits that said horse is the general property of the plaintiff, but avers that the defendant has a special property therein by reason of his having attached the same as the plaintiff's property, by virtue of a writ, (here describe it,) which writ was delivered to the defendant, who then was a deputy-sheriff in the said county of ———, for service, and the action is now pending : And so the defendant denies upon his personal knowledge that he has converted said horse to his own use.

Deceit. — And the defendant comes and upon his personal knowledge denies that he made said representation knowing that the same was not true.

And the defendant comes and says he has not personal knowledge, but upon his information and belief he denies that said horse was unsound, as stated in the plaintiff's declaration.

And the defendant comes and upon his personal knowledge denies that he made the representation mentioned in the plaintiff's declaration. And he says said coffee was the defendant's property, and he had a right to sell the same.

Obstructing Way. — And the defendant comes and says he has not personal knowledge, but, upon his information and belief he denies that the plaintiff has a right of way as set forth in his declaration.

And upon his personal knowledge he denies that he obstructed said way as set forth in said declaration.

Slander. — And the defendant comes and upon his personal knowledge denies that he accused the plaintiff of the crime of perjury as set forth in the plaintiff's first count. Forms of answers.

And as to the second count, he says the plaintiff did feloniously steal, take, and carry away, ten dollars, the property of one S. T., in the possession of said S. T. being found, and converted the same to his own use, and so the plaintiff was guilty of the crime of theft, and the defendant's accusation was true.

Assault and Battery. — And the defendant comes and says the plaintiff first assaulted him, and he only defended himself.

And the defendant comes and says the plaintiff was his apprentice, and deserted and ran away from him, and he retook the plaintiff and forcibly brought him back, using no more force than was necessary.

And as to the allegation that the defendant hurt and wounded the plaintiff, the defendant upon his personal knowledge denies the same.

Trespass quare Clausum. — And the defendant comes and says that a part of the close mentioned in the plaintiff's writ was the soil and freehold of the defendant, the same being described as follows, &c. :

Upon his own knowledge he denies that he broke or entered any part of said close, except the part above described.

Replications.

Limitations. — And the plaintiff replies as follows, viz. : He says that within six years before the suing out of his writ the defendant executed a writing, a copy whereof is hereto annexed, by which he acknowledged said debt, and agreed to pay the same.

He further says the defendant has been absent from this commonwealth for the space of three years last past.

Minority. — And the plaintiff replies that he is ignorant of the fact, so that he can neither admit nor deny that the defendant was a minor, as stated in his answer, but leaves the defendant to prove the same.

He further says the articles mentioned in his bill of particulars were necessaries for the defendant, and suitable to his estate and degree.

for services done, or unless it is for a sum that is liquidated, or one that may be ascertained by calculation.

6 Met. 7.

SECT. 4. No demand shall be set off unless it existed at the time of the commencement of the suit, and then belonged to the defendant, nor unless it is due to him in his own right, except as is hereinafter provided.

SECT. 5. Any demand assigned to the defendant with notice to the plaintiff of the assignment before the commencement of the action, may be set off in like manner as if it had been originally payable to the defendant.

SECT. 6. If the demand set off is founded on a bond or other contract having a penalty, no more shall be set off than the sum equitably due.

SECT. 7. The set-off shall be allowed in all actions founded upon demands which could themselves be the subject of set-off according to law, and in no others.

SECT. 8. If there are several plaintiffs, the demand set off shall be due from all of them jointly; and if there are several defendants, the demand set off shall be due to all of them jointly, except as is provided in the following section.

SECT. 9. When the person with whom any contract is made has a dormant partner, and a suit is brought on such contract by or against the partners jointly, any demand due to or from the person with whom the contract was made, may be set off in like manner as if such dormant partner had not been joined in the suit.

SECT. 10. If the demand on which the action is brought has been assigned, and the defendant had notice of the assignment, he shall not set off any demand that he acquires against the original creditor after such notice.

SECT. 11. When an action is brought by one person in trust or for the use or benefit of another, the defendant may set off any demand against the person for whose use or benefit the action is brought, in like manner as if that person were the plaintiff in the suit.

SECT. 12. In actions by executors and administrators, demands against their testators or intestates which belonged to the defendant at the time of their death, may be set off in the same manner as if the action had been brought by the deceased.

9 Pick. 37. 4 Gray, 286. 7 Gray, 170.

SECT. 13. When upon such a set-off against an executor or administrator, a balance is found due to the defendant, the judgment therefor against the plaintiff shall be in the same form and have the same effect as if the suit had been originally commenced by the defendant.

SECT. 14. In actions against executors and administrators and against trustees and others, sued in their representative character, the defendants may set off demands belonging to their testators or intestates or those whom they represent, in the same manner as the persons represented would have been entitled to set off the same in an action against themselves.

SECT. 15. In suits brought by or against executors, administrators, or trustees, in their representative character, no demand shall be set off that is due to or from such executors, administrators, or trustees, in their own right.

SECT. 16. When the defendant relies on a claim by way of set-off, he shall file with his answer a declaration, entitling it a declaration in set-off, and adapted to the claim in like manner as though an action were brought upon it.

SECT. 17. The subsequent allegations and pleadings respecting the defendant's demand shall be governed by the same rules as if an action had been brought thereon; and the plaintiff shall be entitled to every ground of defence against it of which he might have availed himself by an answer or otherwise in an action brought against him.

R. S. 96, § 19.
1892, 312, § 37.
2 Gray, 260.
7 Gray, 194.

SECT. 18. If any law for the limitation of actions is alleged by way of defence to the defendant's demand, the limitation shall be applied in the same manner as it would have been to an action brought on the same demand if it had been commenced at the time when the plaintiff's action was commenced.

Limitations in bar.
R. S. 96, § 20.
4 Gray, 303.

SECT. 19. If an amount is proved to be due on the set-off equal to the amount due to the plaintiff, the court may award costs to either party or dismiss the action without costs; and if the amount so proved is less than the sum due to the plaintiff, he shall have judgment for the balance.

Judgment, when demand in set-off is equal, &c.
R. S. 96, § 21.
4 Gray, 511.

SECT. 20. If it appears that there is a balance due from the plaintiff to the defendant, judgment shall be rendered for the defendant for the amount thereof with his costs; but no such judgment shall be rendered against the plaintiff when the demand for which the action is brought was assigned before the commencement of the suit, nor for any balance due from any other person than the plaintiff.

when balance is due to defendant.
R. S. 96, § 22.
4 Gray, 511.

SECT. 21. After a declaration in set-off is filed, the plaintiff shall not be allowed to discontinue his action, unless by consent of the defendant.

Plaintiff not to discontinue.
R. S. 96, § 24.
10 Cus. h. 313.

SECT. 22. In actions before a justice of the peace, or police court, the defendant shall file his declaration in set-off at the time when the action is entered, or within such further time as the justice or court for special reasons may allow. All the other proceedings shall be the same as are before prescribed with respect to actions in other courts: provided, that judgment for the defendant shall not be entered for more than one hundred dollars, or for more than three hundred dollars in the police court of Boston, exclusive of costs.

Set-off in suits before a justice of the peace, &c.
R. S. 96, § 23.
1839, 190.

TENDER.

SECT. 23. The payment or tender of payment of the whole sum due on any contract for the payment of money, although made after the money has become due and payable, may be alleged in an answer to an action subsequently brought, in like manner and with the like effect as if such payment or tender had been made at the time prescribed in the contract.

Payment or tender after day, &c.
R. S. 100, § 14.

SECT. 24. A tender may also be made after an action is brought on such contract, of the whole sum due thereon with the legal costs of suit incurred up to that time; provided, it is made four days at least before the return day of the original writ.

Tender after action brought.
R. S. 100, § 15.

SECT. 25. The tender last mentioned may be made either to the plaintiff or to his attorney in the suit, and if not accepted the defendant may avail himself of it in defence in like manner as if it had been made before the commencement of the action, bringing into court the amount so tendered for costs, as well as for the debt or damages.

how to be made, and defence.
R. S. 100, § 16.

SECT. 26. If such tender is accepted, the plaintiff or his attorney shall, at the request of the defendant, sign a certificate or notice thereof to the officer who has the writ, and deliver it to the defendant; and if any further costs are incurred for any service made by the officer after the tender and before he receives notice thereof, the defendant shall pay the same to the officer, or the tender shall be invalid.

Proceedings when tender is accepted.
R. S. 100, § 17.

SECT. 6. The court, justice, master in chancery, county commissioners, or auditor, in such case, may issue a warrant to bring such witness before them to answer for the contempt, and also to testify as a witness in the cause in which he was summoned.

SECT. 7. Arbitrators, referees, and auditors, appointed according to law, may administer oaths or affirmations to all persons offered as witnesses before them.

SECT. 8. The usual mode of administering oaths now practised in this state, with the ceremony of holding up the hand, shall be observed in all cases in which an oath may be administered by law, except as is hereinafter provided.

SECT. 9. When the court or magistrate before whom a person is to be sworn, is satisfied that such person has any peculiar mode of swearing which is in his opinion more solemn or obligatory than holding up the hand, they may adopt that mode of administering the oath.

SECT. 10. Every Quaker when called on to take an oath shall be permitted, instead of swearing, solemnly and sincerely to affirm under the pains and penalties of perjury.

SECT. 11. Every person who declares that he has conscientious scruples against taking any oath, shall, when called upon for that purpose, be permitted to affirm in the manner prescribed for Quakers, if the court or magistrate on inquiry is satisfied of the truth of such declaration.

SECT. 12. Every person believing in any other than the Christian religion, may be sworn according to the peculiar ceremonies of his religion, if there are any such. Every person not a believer in any religion shall be required to testify truly under the pains and penalties of perjury; and the evidence of such person's disbelief in the existence of God may be received to affect his credibility as a witness.

SECT. 13. No person shall be excluded by reason of crime or interest from giving evidence as a witness either in person or by deposition in any proceeding civil or criminal in court or before a person having authority to receive evidence. But the conviction of any crime may be shown to affect the credibility of a witness.

SECT. 14. Parties in civil actions and proceedings, including probate and insolvency proceedings, suits in equity, and divorce suits, (except those in which a divorce is sought on the ground of alleged adultery of either party,) shall be admitted as competent witnesses for themselves or any other party; and in any such case in which the wife is a party or one of the parties, she and her husband shall be competent witnesses for and against each other, but they shall not be allowed to testify as to private conversations with each other; provided, that where one of the original parties to the contract or cause of action in issue and on trial is dead, or is shown to the court to be insane, the other party shall not be admitted to testify in his own favor; and where an executor or administrator is a party, the other party shall not be admitted to testify in his own favor, unless the contract in issue was originally made with a person who is living and competent to testify, except as to such acts and contracts as have been done or made since the probate of the will, or the appointment of the administrator.

SECT. 16. In actions brought against the husband wherein the cause of action grows out of a wrong or injury done by him to the wife, or his neglect to furnish her with the proper means of support, the wife shall be a competent witness.

DEPOSITIONS.

Depositions, when taken, &c.
R. S. 94, § 13.

SECT. 17. Depositions may be taken as provided in this chapter, to be used before magistrates or other persons authorized to examine witnesses in any other than criminal cases.

Same subject.
R. S. 94, § 14.

SECT. 18. When a witness whose testimony is wanted in a civil cause or proceeding pending in this state, lives more than thirty miles from the place of trial, or is about to go out of the state and not to return in time for the trial, or is so sick, infirm, or aged, as to make it probable that he will not be able to attend at the trial, his deposition may be taken as hereinafter provided.

Notice to be given to adverse party.
R. S. 94, § 15.

SECT. 19. At any time after the cause is commenced by the service of process, or after it is submitted to arbitrators or referees, either party may apply to a justice of the peace, who shall issue a notice to the adverse party to appear before said justice or any other justice of the peace, at the time and place appointed for taking the deposition, and to put such interrogatories as he thinks fit.

SECT. 21. The notice shall be served by delivering an attested copy thereof to the person to be notified, or by leaving such copy at his place of abode, not less than twenty-four hours before the time appointed for taking the deposition, and also allowing time for his travel to the place appointed, not less than at the rate of one day, Sundays excluded, for every twenty miles' travel.

same subject.
R. S. 94, § 19.

SECT. 22. Instead of the written notice before prescribed, the notice may be given verbally by the justice taking the deposition, or it may be wholly omitted if the adverse party or his attorney in writing waives the right to it.

Deponent, how sworn and examined.
R. S. 94, § 20.

SECT. 23. The deponent shall be sworn or affirmed to testify the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, relating to the cause for which the deposition is taken. He shall then be examined by the justice and the parties if they think fit, and his testimony shall be taken in writing.

Same subject.
R. S. 94, § 21.

SECT. 24. The party producing the deponent shall be allowed first to examine him, either upon verbal or written interrogatories, on all the points which he deems material; the adverse party may then examine him in like manner; after which either party may propose such further interrogatories as the case may require.

Deposition, by whom to be written.
R. S. 94, § 22.

SECT. 25. The deposition shall be written by the justice, or by the deponent, or by some disinterested person in the presence and under the direction of the justice, and it shall be carefully read to or by the deponent, and shall then be subscribed by him.

Certificate to be annexed.
R. S. 94, § 23.
3 Pick. 79, 89.

SECT. 26. The justice shall annex to the deposition a certificate of the time and manner of taking it, the person at whose request, the cause or suit for which, it was taken, and the reason for taking it, and stating also whether the adverse party attended, and if not, stating the notice, if any, that was given to him.

Deposition to be transmitted to court, &c.
R. S. 94, § 24.

SECT. 27. The deposition shall be delivered by the justice to the court, arbitrators, referees, or other persons, before whom the cause is pending, or shall be enclosed and sealed by him, and directed to them, and shall remain sealed until opened by them.

SECT. 28. No such deposition shall be used if it appears that the reason for taking it no longer exists; except that if the party producing it in such case shows any sufficient cause then existing for using the deposition, it may be admitted.

Deposition, when not to be used.
R. S. 94, § 25.

SECT. 29. Every objection to the competency or credibility of the deponent, and to the propriety of any questions put to him, or of any answers made by him, may be made when the deposition is produced in the same manner as if the witness were personally examined on the trial: provided, that when a deposition is taken upon written interrogatories, all objections to any interrogatory shall be made before it is answered, and if the interrogatory is not withdrawn the objection shall be noted thereon, otherwise the objection shall not be afterwards allowed.

SECT. 31. The courts may from time to time make proper and convenient rules as to the time and manner of opening, filing, and safe keeping of depositions, and other regulations concerning the taking and using thereof, which are not inconsistent with the provisions of law.

Courts may make rules concerning depositions.
R. S. 94, § 28.

SECT. 32. A witness may be summoned and compelled to give his deposition at any place within twenty miles of his place of abode, in like manner and under the same penalties as he may be summoned and compelled to attend as a witness before a court.

Deponent may be compelled to testify.
R. S. 94, § 29.

SECT. 33. A witness not having his place of abode in this state, but being at the time herein, may be summoned and compelled to give his deposition at any place within ten miles of the place at which the summons is served upon him, in like manner and under the same penalties as he may be summoned and compelled to attend as a witness before a court.

Witness living out of state, but at the time herein, to give deposition, &c.
1857, 236.

SECT. 34. The deposition of a witness without this state may be taken under a commission issued to one or more competent persons in any other state or country, by the court in which the cause is pending; or it may be taken before a commissioner appointed by the governor for that purpose in any part of the United States or in any foreign country; and in either case the deposition may be used in the same manner and subject to the same conditions and objections as if it had been taken in this state.

to be taken on written interrogatories.
R. S. 94, § 31.

SECT. 36. The courts may make rules not inconsistent with the provisions of law as to the issuing of commissions, either in vacation or term time, the filing of interrogatories and all other matters relating to depositions taken out of the state.

Rules concerning foreign depositions.
R. S. 94, § 32.

SECT. 37. Depositions and affidavits taken out of the state in any other manner than is prescribed in the three preceding sections, if taken before a notary public or other person authorized by the laws of any other state or country to take depositions, may be admitted or rejected at the discretion of the court: provided, that no such deposition or affidavit shall be admitted unless it appears that the adverse party had sufficient notice of the taking thereof, and opportunity to cross-examine the witness, or that from the circumstances of the case it was impossible to give him such notice.

Depositions may be taken for courts in other governments.
R. S. 94, § 53.

SECT. 38. A witness may be summoned and compelled in like manner and under the same penalties as are prescribed in this chapter, to give his deposition in a cause pending in a court in any other state or government; which deposition may be taken before a justice of the peace in this state, or before commissioners appointed under the authority of the state or government in which the suit is pending; and if the deposition is taken before such commissioners, the witness may be summoned and compelled to appear before them by process from a justice of the peace in this state.

DEPOSITION TO PERPETUATE TESTIMONY.

Depositions to perpetuate evidence, how taken.
R. S. 94, § 34.
1853, 93.
5 Met. 173.

SECT. 39. When a person is desirous to perpetuate the testimony of a witness, he shall make a statement in writing setting forth briefly and substantially his title, claim, or interest, in or to the subject concerning which he desires to perpetuate the evidence, and the names of all other persons interested or supposed to be interested therein, and also the name of the witness proposed to be examined; and shall deliver said statement to two justices of the peace, one of whom shall be either a judge or register of probate and insolvency, a clerk of the supreme judicial court, a master in chancery, or a counsellor at law, requesting them to take the deposition of said witness.

Notice to be given to all persons interested.
R. S. 94, § 35.
1839, 140, § 2.

SECT. 40. The justices shall thereupon cause notice to be given of the time and place appointed for taking the deposition, to all persons mentioned in said statement as interested in the case. The notice shall be given in the manner prescribed in this chapter respecting notice upon taking a deposition in this state to be used in a cause here pending; and when in the opinion of the justices no sufficient provision is made by law for giving notice to parties adversely interested, they shall cause such reasonable notice to be given as they deem proper.

Depositions to perpetuate testimony not to be taken when objections are made, except, &c.
1839, 140, § 1.

SECT. 41. If at the time and place appointed for taking the deposition the witness or any person interested appears and objects, the justices shall not proceed to take the same unless on hearing the parties it is made satisfactorily to appear that such testimony may be material to the petitioner, and is not sought for the purpose of discovery, or of using the same in any suit then pending, or thereafter to be brought against said witness; and that the petitioner is in danger of losing the same before it can be taken in any suit wherein his right, title, interest, or claim, can be tried. In all cases the petitioner, his agent, or attorney, shall at the request of such witness, or any person interested in the deposition, be examined on oath in relation to the reasons for taking the same.

mode of taking. Certificate to be annexed.
R. S. 94, § 36.
3 Pick. 80.
5 Met. 173.

SECT. 42. The deponent shall be sworn and examined, and his deposition shall be written, read, and subscribed, in the same manner as is prescribed respecting other depositions before mentioned; and the justices shall annex thereto a certificate under their hands of the time and manner of taking it, and that it was taken in perpetual remembrance of the thing; and they shall also insert in the certificate the names of the person at whose request it was taken, and of all those who were notified to attend, and of all who did attend the taking thereof.

to be recorded in registry of deeds.
R. S. 94, § 37.

SECT. 43. The deposition with the certificate, and also the written statement of the party at whose request it was taken, shall within ninety days after the taking thereof be recorded in the registry of deeds in the county or district where the land lies, if the deposition relates to real estate, otherwise in the county or district where the parties or some of them reside.

in what cases, used.

SECT. 44. If a suit, either at the time of taking such deposition or at any time afterwards, is pending between the person at whose request it was taken, and the persons named in said written statement, or any of them who were notified as aforesaid, or any persons claiming under either of said parties, concerning the title, claim, or interest, set forth in the statement, the deposition so taken, or a certified copy of it from the registry of deeds, may be used in such suit in the same manner and subject to the same conditions and objections as if it had been originally taken therefor.

R. S. 94, § 38,
3 Pick. 74.

SECT. 45. Any witness may be summoned and compelled to give his deposition in perpetual remembrance of the thing as before prescribed, in like manner and under the same penalties as are provided in this chapter respecting other depositions taken in this state.

Deponent may be summoned and compelled to testify.
R. S. 94, § 39.

SECT. 46. Depositions to perpetuate the testimony of witnesses living without the state, may be taken in any other state, or in any foreign country, upon a commission to be issued by the supreme judicial or superior court, in the manner hereinafter provided.

Depositions may be taken out of state.
R. S. 94, § 40,
3 Pick. 14.

SECT. 47. The person who proposes to take the deposition shall apply to either of said courts, and file therein a statement like that before prescribed to be delivered to the justices of the peace upon taking such a deposition within this state; and if the subject of the proposed deposition relates to real estate within this state, the statement shall be filed in the county where the land or any part thereof lies, otherwise in the county where the parties or some of them reside.

Statement to be filed by party applying.
R. S. 94, § 41.

SECT. 48. The court shall order notice of such application and statement to be served on all the persons mentioned therein as adversely interested in the case, and living within the state, which notice shall be served fourteen days at least before the time therein appointed for hearing the parties.

Notice to be given to adverse party.
R. S. 94, § 42.

SECT. 49. If, upon hearing the parties who appear, the court is satisfied that there is sufficient cause for taking the deposition, it shall issue a commission therefor in like manner as for taking a deposition to be used in any cause pending in the same court.

Commission may be issued.
R. S. 94, § 43.

SECT. 50. The deposition shall be taken upon written interrogatories filed by the applicant, and cross-interrogatories filed by any party adversely interested, if he thinks fit, and it shall be taken and returned substantially in the same manner as if taken to be used in a cause pending in the same court.

Deposition, how taken and returned.
R. S. 94, § 44.

SECT. 51. The person who proposes to take the deposition may, at his election, file his statement in the clerk's office in vacation, and may cause notice thereof to be given to the persons therein named as adversely interested, by serving them with an attested copy of the statement, fourteen days at least before the next term of the court; and the court may thereupon proceed to hear the parties and to issue the commission as before provided.

Statement may be filed and notice given in vacation.
R. S. 94, § 45.

SECT. 52. The supreme judicial court may from time to time make rules not inconsistent with the provisions of law as to taking depositions to perpetuate the testimony of witnesses without the state, whether taken under a commission from the supreme judicial or superior court, and as to the filing or recording of such depositions.

S. J. C. may make rules concerning such depositions.
R. S. 94, § 46,
1859, 196.

SECT. 53. All depositions to perpetuate the testimony of witnesses, taken at any place without this state according to the provisions of this chapter, may be used in like manner as if taken within the state.

Such depositions when to be used.
R. S. 94, § 47.

SECT. 54. Depositions to perpetuate the testimony of witnesses within or without the state, so that the same may be evidence against all persons, may be taken upon a commission to be issued after public notice by the supreme judicial or superior court.

Depositions to perpetuate testimony against all persons.
R. S. 94, § 48.

SECT. 55. The person who desires to have such deposition taken may apply to either of said courts in the manner before prescribed in the case of taking a deposition to perpetuate the testimony of a witness living without the state, and all the proceedings thereon shall be the same as are prescribed in the case last mentioned.

Proceedings therefor.
R. S. 94, § 49.

Depositions to perpetuate testimony against all persons. Proceedings therefor.
R. S. 94, § 50.

SECT. 56. The court shall, in addition to the proceedings before prescribed, inquire upon the oath of the applicant or otherwise, at its discretion, as to all persons known or supposed to be interested in the case, and shall in the commission direct the commissioner or commissioners to publish in such newspaper or newspapers within or without the state, or both, or in such other manner as the court considers most effectual, such notice of the time and place of taking such deposition, and of the subject matter thereof, as the court thinks proper; which notice shall be addressed specially by name to all persons who are known or supposed to be interested in the case, and generally to all others, that they may attend and propose cross-interrogatories to the witness. The court may also require personal notice of the time and place of taking, and of the subject matter of, such deposition, to be given to such persons and in such manner as under all the circumstances seems proper.

Such depositions to be recorded in registry of deeds.
R. S. 94, § 51.

SECT. 57. Such deposition having been taken and returned to the court by whose order the commission issued, and being found to have been taken according to law and the directions contained in the commission, the court shall order it to be recorded within thirty days in the registry of deeds, in the manner prescribed in section forty-three.

in what cases they may be used.
R. S. 94, § 52.

SECT. 58. A deposition taken and recorded under the provisions of the four preceding sections, or a certified copy thereof from the registry, may be used by the person at whose request it was taken, or by any person claiming under him, against any person whatever, in any suit or process, wherein is brought in question the title, claim, or interest, set forth in the statement upon which the commission was founded, in the same manner, and subject to the same conditions and objections, as if it had been originally taken for said suit or process.

DEPOSITIONS OF PARTIES.

Depositions of parties, &c.
R. S. 94, § 57, 305, § 2.
5 Gray, 440.

SECT. 59. The testimony of persons made competent witnesses by section fourteen, may be taken or given by depositions, for the causes and in the manner provided for other witnesses, and the expenses of such depositions shall be taxed in the bill of costs as in other cases.

EVIDENCE IN PROCEEDINGS IN EQUITY.

Evidence in proceedings in equity.
1852, 312, § 85.

SECT. 60. In proceedings in equity the evidence shall be taken in the same manner as in suits at law, unless the court for special reasons otherwise directs; but this shall not prevent the use of affidavits where they have heretofore been allowed.

PROOF OF STATUTES AND LAWS.

Records of courts of other states, how authenticated.
R. S. 94, § 57, 9 Craneh, 122, 5 Met. 435.
See U. S. const. art. 4, § 1.

SECT. 61. The records and judicial proceedings of any court of another state or of the United States shall be admissible in evidence in all cases in this state, when authenticated by the attestation of the clerk, prothonotary, or other officer having charge of the records of such court, with the seal of such court annexed.

Acts and resolves published by law to be evidence.
R. S. 94, § 58, 13 Gray, 150.

SECT. 62. The printed copies of all statutes, acts, and resolves, of the commonwealth, whether of a public or private nature, published under the authority of the government, shall be admitted as sufficient evidence thereof in all courts of law, and on all occasions whatsoever.

Statute laws of other states, when to be evidence.
R. S. 94, § 59, 3 Pick. 293.

SECT. 63. Printed copies of the statute laws of any other state and of the United States, or of the territories thereof, if purporting to be published under the authority of the respective governments, or if commonly admitted and read as evidence in their courts, shall be admitted in all courts of law, and on all other occasions, in this state, as prima facie evidence of such laws.

SECT. 64. The unwritten or common law of any other of the United States, or of the territories thereof, may be proved as facts by parol evidence; and the books of reports of cases adjudged in their courts may also be admitted as evidence of such law.

Unwritten laws of other states, how proved. R. S. 94, § 60.

SECT. 65. The existence, tenor, or effect, of all foreign laws, may be proved as facts, by parol evidence; but if it appears that the law in question is contained in a written statute or code, the court may in its discretion reject any evidence of such law that is not accompanied by a copy thereof.

Laws of foreign countries, how proved. R. S. 94, § 61. 14 Mass. 455.

Persons absolutely exempt. R. S. 18, § 17. R. S. 95, §§ 2, 3. 1838, 21. 1849, 218, § 8. 1851, 204. 1858, 93. 19 Pick. 368.

The governor, lieutenant-governor, members of the council, secretary of the commonwealth, members and officers of the senate and house of representatives during the session of the general court, judges and justices of any court, (except justices of the peace,) county and special commissioners, clerks of courts, registers of probate and insolvency, registers of deeds, sheriffs and their deputies, coroners, constables, marshals of the United States and their deputies, and all other officers of the United States, counsellors and attorneys at law, settled ministers of the gospel, officers of colleges, preceptors and teachers of incorporated academies, practising physicians and surgeons regularly licensed, cashiers of incorporated banks, constant ferrymen, persons who are more than sixty-five years old, members of the volunteer militia, members of the ancient and honorable artillery company, and enginemen and members of the fire department of the city of Boston; and enginemen and members of the fire department of other places may be exempt by the vote of the city council of the city or the inhabitants of the town.

SECT. 3. No person shall be liable to be drawn and serve as a juror in any court oftener than once in three years, except as provided in the two following sections, but he shall not be so exempt unless he actually attends and serves as a juror in pursuance of the draft.

SECT. 4. The inhabitants of the counties of Nantucket and Dukes County shall be liable to be drawn and serve as jurors once in every two years.

SECT. 5. No person shall be exempt from serving on a jury in any other court, in consequence of his having served before a justice of the peace or police court. No person shall be compelled to serve as a juror before any justice of the peace, or police court, more than twenty-four days in any one year, nor more than fourteen days at any one time, except to finish a case commenced within that time.

JURY LIST AND BOX.

SECT. 6. The selectmen of each town shall once in every year prepare a list of such inhabitants of the town not absolutely exempt, as they think well qualified to serve as jurors, being persons of good moral character, of sound judgment, and free from all legal exceptions; which list shall include not less than one for every one hundred inhabitants of the town, and not more than one for every sixty inhabitants, computing by the then last census, except that in the county of Dukes County it may include one for every thirty inhabitants.

SECT. 7. The list when so prepared shall be posted up by the selectmen in public places in the town, ten days at least before it is submitted for revision and acceptance, and shall then be laid before the town; and the town may alter it by adding the names of any persons liable to serve, or striking any names therefrom.

SECT. 8. The selectmen shall cause the names borne on the list to be written, each on a separate paper or ballot, and shall roll up or fold the ballots so as to resemble each other as much as possible, and so that the name written thereon shall not be visible on the outside; and they shall place the ballots in a box to be kept by the town clerk for that purpose.

SECT. 9. If any person whose name is so placed in the jury box is convicted of any scandalous crime, or is guilty of any gross immorality, his name shall be withdrawn therefrom by the selectmen, and he shall not be returned to serve as a juror.

VENIRES FOR JURORS.

SECT. 10. The clerks of the supreme judicial and superior courts, in due season before each term, (except the terms of the superior court in the county of Suffolk for criminal business commencing at other times than in January, April, July, and October,) and at such other times as the respective courts may order, shall issue writs of venire facias for jurors, and shall therein require the attendance of the jurors on such day of the term as the court may order. The jurors returned for the superior court for criminal business in the county of Suffolk shall serve three terms.

SECT. 11. The clerks in issuing the venires shall require from each town and city a number of jurors as nearly as may be in proportion to their respective number of inhabitants, so as to equalize as far as possible the duty of serving as jurors.

Jurors to be apportioned.
R. S. 95, § 14.

SECT. 12. The venires shall be delivered to the sheriff of the county, and by him transmitted to a constable in each of the towns and cities to which they are respectively issued, and they shall be served by the constable, without delay, on the selectmen and town clerk.

Venires, how served.
R. S. 95, § 15.

SECT. 13. Nothing contained in the preceding sections shall prevent any court from issuing venires for additional jurors in term time whenever it is necessary for the convenient despatch of their business; in which case the venires shall be served and returned, and the jurors required to attend on such days, as the court shall direct.

Additional venires may be issued in term time.
R. S. 95, § 18.

SECT. 14. When a suit is pending in the superior court for the county of Dukes County, wherein the inhabitants of any town in said county are disqualified from acting as jurors, any justice of the court, in term time or in vacation, may order the clerk of the court to issue writs of venire facias for a sufficient number of jurors to try such cause, from any town whose inhabitants are not so disqualified; and the clerk shall issue a venire facias accordingly.

DRAWING AND SUMMONING JURORS.

SECT. 15. All jurors, whether required to serve on a grand or traverse jury, by force of the laws relating to highways or mills, or on any other occasion, (except inquests and proceedings relating to the commitment of insane persons,) shall be selected by drawing ballots from the jury box, and the persons whose names are borne on the ballots so drawn shall be returned to serve as jurors.

SECT. 16. When jurors are to be so drawn, the town clerk and selectmen shall attend at the clerk's office or some other public place appointed for the purpose, and if the clerk is absent, the selectmen may proceed without him. The ballots in the jury box shall be shaken and mixed together, and one of the selectmen without seeing the names written thereon shall openly draw therefrom a number of ballots equal to the number of jurors required. If a person so drawn is exempt by law, or is unable by reason of sickness or absence from home to attend as a juror, or if he has served as a juror in any court within three years then next preceding, his name shall be returned into the box and another drawn in his stead.

Names, when and how to be drawn.
R. S. 95, § 9.

SECT. 17. When a person is drawn and returned to serve as a juror in any court, the selectmen shall indorse on the ballot the date of the draft and return it into the box, and whenever there is a revision and renewal of the ballots in the box, the selectmen shall transfer to the new ballots the date of all the drafts made within three years then next preceding.

Date of each draft to be indorsed on ballot.
R. S. 95, § 11.

SECT. 18. Any town may at a legal meeting order that all drafts for jurors therein shall be made in open town meeting, in which case the draft shall be made by the selectmen in the manner prescribed in the two preceding sections, except that it shall be done in a town meeting. In such town when a venire is served upon the selectmen they shall cause a town meeting to be notified and warned for that purpose in the manner ordered by the town or otherwise prescribed by law.

May be drawn in town meeting.
R. S. 95, §§ 10, 15.

SECT. 19. The meeting for drawing jurors, whether the draft is made in town meeting or before the selectmen and town clerk only, shall be SECT. 20. The constable shall, four days at least before the time when the jurors are required to attend, summon each person who is drawn, by reading to him the venire with the indorsement thereon of his having been drawn, or by leaving at his place of abode a written notification of his having been drawn and of the time and place of the sitting of the court at which he is to attend, and shall make a return of the venire with his doings thereon to the clerk, before the opening of the court from which it was issued.

SPECIAL PROVISIONS FOR CITIES.

Lists, how made, &c., in cities.
1856, 125, §§ 1, 2.

SECT. 21. The list of jurors in cities shall be prepared and posted therein by the mayor and aldermen in like manner as required of selectmen, and when posted for ten days shall be submitted to the common council, which shall have like power as towns to revise and accept the same.

Drawing jurors, &c., in cities.
R. S. 95, § 35.
1856, 125, §§ 1, 2.

SECT. 22. The mayor and aldermen and the clerks of each city shall severally have and exercise all the powers and duties with regard to drawing and all other matters relating to jurors therein, which are in this chapter required to be performed by the selectmen and town clerks in their respective towns, and all venires for jurors to be returned from cities shall be served on the mayor and aldermen.

EMPANELLING AND OTHER PROVISIONS RESPECTING JURIES.

Empanelling juries for civil causes.
R. S. 95, §§ 20, 21.

SECT. 23. On the day when the jurors are summoned to attend at any court, the clerk shall prepare a list of their names arranged in alphabetical order. The first twelve on the list who are not excused shall be sworn and empanelled as a jury for the trial of civil causes, and shall be called the first jury. The next twelve on the list shall then be sworn and empanelled in like manner, and shall be called the second jury.

supernumeraries, &c.
R. S. 95, § 21.

SECT. 24. Supernumerary jurors may be excused from time to time until wanted, and may be put on either of the juries as occasion requires, in the place of absentees. Nothing herein contained shall prevent the transferring of jurors from one jury to the other, when the convenience of the court or of the jurors requires it.

foreman to be chosen by jury.
R. S. 95, § 22.

SECT. 25. Each jury after being thus empanelled shall retire and choose their foreman by ballot, or shall make such choice upon retiring with the first cause with which they are charged; and whenever the foreman is absent or excused from further service, a new foreman shall be chosen in like manner.

Empanelling juries in criminal cases.
R. S. 95, § 23.
6 Met. 225, 235.
See Ch. 172.

SECT. 26. Nothing contained in the preceding sections shall apply to the empanelling of juries in criminal cases, but the jurors shall be called, sworn, and empanelled anew, for the trial of each case according to the established practice; and their foreman shall be appointed by the court or by the jury when they retire to consider of their verdict.

Talesmen, when and how returned.
R. S. 95, § 24.

SECT. 27. When by reason of challenge or otherwise a sufficient number of jurors duly drawn and summoned cannot be obtained for the trial of any cause, civil or criminal, the court shall cause jurors to be returned from the bystanders, or from the county at large, to complete the panel: provided, that there are on the jury not less than seven of the jurors who were originally drawn and summoned as before provided.

who and by whom returned.
R. S. 95, §§ 25, 26.
6 Cush. 174.

SECT. 28. The jurors so returned from the bystanders shall be returned by the sheriff or his deputy, or by a coroner, or by any disinterested person appointed therefor by the court, and shall be such as are qualified and liable to be drawn as jurors according to the provisions of law.

SECT. 29. The court shall, on motion of either party in a suit, examine on oath any person who is called as a juror therein, to know whether he is related to either party, or has any interest in the cause, or has expressed or formed any opinion, or is sensible of any bias or prejudice therein; and the party objecting to the juror may introduce any other competent evidence in support of the objection. If it appears to the court that the juror does not stand indifferent in the cause, another shall be called and placed in his stead for the trial of that cause.

Jurors may be examined, &c., as to interest, &c.
R. S. 95, § 27.
16 Pick. 153.
13 Met. 120.
5 Cush. 295.

SECT. 30. In indictments and penal actions for the recovery of any sum of money or other thing forfeited, it shall not be a cause of challenge to a juror that he is liable to pay taxes in any county, city, or town which may be benefited by such recovery. 1 Gray, 472. See Ch. 123, § 13.

1 Pick. 38, 195.
2 Pick. 550.
9 Met. 572.

SECT. 33. If either party in a case in which a verdict is returned, during the same term of the court, either before or after the trial, gives to any of the jurors who try the cause any thing by way of treat or gratuity, the court may, on the motion of the adverse party, set aside the verdict and award a new trial of the cause.

Gratuities to jurors forbidden.
R. S. 95, § 31.

SECT. 34. When a jury, after due and thorough deliberation upon any cause, return into court without having agreed on a verdict, the court may state anew the evidence or any part of it, and explain to them anew the law applicable to the case, and may send them out for further deliberation; but if they return a second time without having agreed on a verdict, they shall not be sent out again without their own consent, unless they shall ask from the court some further explanation of the law.

Jury not to be sent out more than twice, unless, &c.
R. S. 95, § 32.

SECT. 35. The jury in any case may, at the request of either party, be taken to view the premises or place in question, or any property, matter, or thing relating to the controversy between the parties, when it appears to the court that such view is necessary to a just decision: provided, the party making the motion advances a sum sufficient to defray the expenses of the jury and the officers who attend them, in taking the view; which expenses shall be afterwards taxed like other legal costs, if the party who advanced them prevails in the suit.

Court may direct a view by jury.
R. S. 95, § 33.

PENALTIES.

SECT. 36. If a person duly drawn and summoned to attend as a juror in any court neglects to attend without sufficient excuse, he shall pay a fine not exceeding forty dollars, which shall be imposed by the court to which the juror was summoned, and shall be paid into the county treasury.

Fines on jurors neglecting to attend.
R. S. 95, § 19.

SECT. 37. When, by neglect of any of the duties required in this chapter to be performed by any of the officers or persons herein mentioned, the jurors to be returned from any place are not duly drawn and summoned to attend the court, every person guilty of such neglect shall pay a fine not exceeding twenty dollars, to be imposed by the same court to the use of the county in which the offence is committed.

SECT. 2. When the defendant is defaulted in any stage of the proceedings, the court shall award such judgment for the plaintiff as they shall upon inquiry find to be just and proper; unless the plaintiff or defendant moves to have the damages assessed by a jury, in which case they shall be so assessed.

Award of judgment on default.
R. S. 97, § 2.

SECT. 3. The court may, in all cases in which damages are demanded, refer the assessment thereof to a jury, although it is not moved for by either party.

Court may order damages to be assessed by jury.
R. S. 97, § 3.

SECT. 4. In actions upon promissory notes and other contracts where the amount due appears to be undisputed, the debt or damages may be assessed and ascertained by the clerk, under a general order of the court or by a special reference of the case to him. The judgment in either case shall be entered in the same form as if it had been awarded by the court on an assessment or computation made by themselves.

or damages may be ascertained by the clerk in certain cases.
R. S. 97, § 4.

SECT. 5. In any action founded on a contract express or implied in which there is more than one defendant, the plaintiff shall be entitled to judgment against such defendants as are defaulted, and against those who upon trial are found liable on the contract declared on, notwithstanding it is found that all the defendants are not jointly liable thereon.

Judgment may be rendered against such defendants as are defaulted, &c.
1851, 255, § 1.

SECT. 6. In such action when any defendants are defaulted, and upon trial any of the others are found liable, the court shall render judgment both against those defendants defaulted and those found liable for the debt or damages with costs to the time of the default, and against those who defend, for all costs accruing after the default; and shall issue separate executions on such judgment.

how entered, and separate executions issued.
1851, 255, § 2.

SECT. 7. When a motion for a new trial is overruled, the court shall enter judgment as of the term when the verdict was rendered, if necessary or expedient to secure the rights of the prevailing party, or prevent loss by reason of the death of either party or otherwise.

to be entered as of a former term in certain cases.

entered for the penal sum, but no execution shall issue thereon except as is provided in the following sections.

For what sum execution shall issue, and how determined.
R. S. 100, § 9.

SECT. 10. The court shall award an execution for so much of the penal sum as is then due and payable in equity and good conscience for the breach of the condition, or other non-performance of the contract. The sum shall be ascertained and determined by the court, unless the court thinks proper or either party moves to have it assessed by a jury, in which case it shall be so assessed.

Scire facias to recover further damages.
R. S. 100, § 10.

SECT. 11. If any further sum afterwards becomes due on such bond or other contract, the plaintiff, his executors, or administrators, may have a scire facias, on the judgment, from the court in which it was rendered, against the original defendant, his executors, administrators, heirs, devisees, or assigns, as the case may be, suggesting such further breaches of the contract as have occurred, and summoning the adverse party to show cause why execution should not be awarded upon the judgment for the damages caused by such further breaches.

Proceedings thereon.
R. S. 100, § 11.

SECT. 12. The sum due in such suit shall be assessed and determined in the same manner as in the original suit, and execution awarded accordingly; and like proceedings may be repeated upon occasion of further breaches of the same contract, as often as they occur until the whole of the penalty is exhausted.

Plaintiff may sue for damages instead of penalty.
R. S. 100, § 12.

SECT. 13. Nothing herein contained shall prevent any person from bringing an action for the breach of any covenant or other contract, instead of suing for the penalty by which the performance of the covenant or contract was secured.

Execution, when action is brought in erroneous venue.
1852, 312, § 79.

SECT. 14. When judgment is rendered in a local action brought in an erroneous venue, the court shall cause its writ of possession or other needful writ of execution to be directed to the sheriff of the proper county, so that the judgment may be duly executed.

SECT. 16. No original execution shall be issued, unless within one year after the party is entitled to sue out the same; and no alias or other successive execution shall be issued afterwards, unless sued out within five years after the return day of that which preceded it.

Remedy for creditor after time for taking out execution.
R. S. 97, § 8.
1853, 312.

SECT. 17. If a judgment remains unsatisfied after the expiration of the time for taking out execution thereon, the creditor may have a scire facias to obtain a new execution, or he may at any time after the judgment have an action of contract thereon.

when a levy is not effectual.
R. S. 97, § 13.

SECT. 18. If an execution is returned satisfied in whole or in part by the sale of property not liable to such execution, and if damages are recovered against the judgment creditor or the officer who served the execution on account of the seizure and sale of the property, the creditor may have a writ of scire facias on his judgment, and shall thereupon be entitled to a new execution for the sum then remaining justly and equitably due to him.

when property, &c., of a stockholder taken on execution against a corporation is recovered back.
1851, 213.

SECT. 19. If an execution against a corporation is satisfied in whole or in part by service or levy on the person or property of any member thereof, and the property levied on, or damages for service or levy, are subsequently recovered by such member from the officer or judgment creditor, the creditor may have a writ of scire facias on his judgment, and shall thereupon be entitled to a new execution for the sum remaining justly and equitably due to him.

R. S. 97, § 10.
1876, 269, § 1.
19 Met. 330.
See Ch. 103, § 47.

SECT. 20. The forms of executions shall be the same as heretofore established by law and the usage and practice of the courts. Executions issued upon judgments in civil actions in favor of the commonwealth shall be in form like those in favor of citizens. Executions issued by a justice of the peace, or police court, for a sum as damages exceeding twenty dollars, shall be so framed as to direct a levy upon the lands and tenements of the debtor. Alterations in the forms may from time to time be made, or allowed by the courts, when necessary to adapt them to changes in the law, or for other sufficient reasons.

SECT. 21. All changes in the forms of executions shall be subject to the final control of the supreme judicial court, and said court may by general rules regulate such changes in all courts of the state.

SECT. 22. All executions shall be made returnable in sixty days from their date.

SET-OFF OF EXECUTIONS.

SECT. 23. Executions between the same parties may be set off one against another, if required by either party, as prescribed in the following sections.

SECT. 24. When one of the executions is delivered to an officer to be served, the debtor therein may deliver his execution to the same officer, whether the second execution is directed to the same or to any other officer, and the officer shall apply it as far as it will extend to the satisfaction of the first execution; and the balance due on the larger execution may be collected and paid in the same manner as if there had been no set-off.

SECT. 25. Such set-off shall not be allowed in the following cases: —
First. When the creditor in one of the executions is not, in the same capacity and trust, the debtor in the other;

Second. When the sum due on the first execution was lawfully and in good faith assigned to another person before the creditor in the second execution became entitled to the sum due thereon;

Third. When there are several creditors in one execution and the sum due on the other is due from a part of them only;

Fourth. When there are several debtors in one execution and the sum due on the other is due to a part of them only;

Fifth. Nor shall it be allowed as to so much of the first execution as is due to the attorney in that suit for his fees and disbursements therein.

LEVY OF EXECUTIONS, AND PERSONAL PROPERTY EXEMPT THEREFROM.

SECT. 26. When an execution is in the alternative, so that it may be lawfully served in either of two or more ways, the creditor or his attorney may require the officer to serve it in either way; and the officer shall conform to such directions if in his power.

SECT. 27. If the creditor directs an officer to levy his execution on real estate, the officer shall serve it as prescribed in chapter one hundred and three. If he directs the officer to levy it on the goods of the debtor, the officer shall serve it as hereinafter provided.

SECT. 28. Executions against corporations, when levied upon any corporate property, shall be levied in the same manner as other executions are levied, except in the cases provided for in chapters fifty-seven and sixty-eight.

SECT. 29. All chattels, real or personal, and all other goods which by the common law are liable to be taken on execution, may be taken and sold thereon, except as is otherwise provided in this chapter.

SECT. 30. Current gold or silver coin may be taken on execution, and may be paid to the creditor as money collected.

SECT. 31. Bank notes and all other bills or evidences of debt, issued by a moneyed corporation and circulated as money, may be taken on execution and paid to the creditor at their par value as money collected if he will accept them; otherwise they shall be sold like other chattels.

SECT. 32. The following articles of the debtor shall be exempt from execution, viz.: —

Executions, changes in, to be under control of S. J. C. R. S. 97, § 11.

Seventh. Provisions necessary and procured and intended for the use of the family, not exceeding fifty dollars in value;

Eighth. One pew occupied by him or his family in a house of public worship: provided, that nothing herein contained shall prevent the sale of any pew for the non-payment of any tax legally laid thereon;

Ninth. The boat, fishing tackle, and nets of fishermen, actually used by them in the prosecution of their business, to the value of one hundred dollars;

Tenth. The uniform of an officer or soldier in the militia, and the arms and accoutrements required by law to be kept by him;

Eleventh. Rights of burial and tombs while in use as repositories for the dead.

SECT. 33. If there is reasonable doubt as to the ownership of the goods, or as to their liability to be taken on the execution, the officer may require sufficient security to indemnify him for taking them.

Officer may demand security of creditor.
R. S. 97, § 18.

SALE, &c., OF GOODS TAKEN ON EXECUTION.

SECT. 34. Goods seized on execution shall be safely kept by the officer, at the expense of the debtor, for four days at least; and shall be sold by public auction within fourteen days next after the seizure except as hereinafter provided, unless the debtor before such sale redeems them by otherwise satisfying the execution.

Goods, how sold on execution.
R. S. 97, § 23.
14 Mass. 473.

SECT. 35. The officer shall give public notice of the time and place of the sale, by causing notifications thereof to be posted up forty-eight hours at least before the time of sale in some public place in the city or town where the sale is to be made, or by causing an advertisement of the time and place of sale to be published in some newspaper printed in the county, if there is any such paper.

Notice of sale, how given.
R. S. 97, § 24.

SECT. 36. If the value of the goods to be sold exceeds three hundred dollars, the officer, if requested by either party, shall give notice of the sale by advertisement in a newspaper as provided in the preceding section; and the sale may be made at any time after the expiration of four days, and within thirty days after the seizure on execution.

How when value exceeds $400.
R. S. 97, § 25.

SECT. 37. If at the time appointed for the sale the officer considers it for the interest of all persons concerned therein to postpone the sale for want of purchasers or other sufficient cause, he may postpone it for any time not exceeding seven days, and so from time to time, for like good cause, until the sale is completed; giving notice of every such adjournment by a public declaration thereof at the time and place previously appointed for the sale.

Sale may be adjourned, &c.
R. S. 97, § 26.
9 Mass. 265.

SECT. 38. If the highest bidder for any article at such sale refuses to take and pay for it, the officer shall sell it again by auction, at the same time or within ten days thereafter, giving notice of the second sale; and Resale to be made in case, &c.

R. S. 97, § 27.

he shall account for what he receives on the second sale, and for any damages recovered of the first bidder for a loss on the resale, as for so much received on the execution. 7 Mass. 392.

SECT. 39. The officer making such sale shall in his return of the execution particularly describe the goods sold, and the sum for which each article was sold; and if he is guilty of fraud in the sale or return, he shall be liable in an action of tort, at the suit of the party injured, for five times the amount of the actual damage sustained by reason of such fraud. Return of execution. Liability for fraud. R. S. 97, § 13. R. S. 97, § 28. 1852, 312.

SECT. 40. The money arising from the sale shall be applied to paying the charges and satisfying the execution, and the officer shall return the residue, if any, to the debtor on demand, or shall apply and pay over the same as provided in the following sections. Proceeds of sale, how disposed of. R. S. 97, § 29.

SECT. 41. If the goods sold on execution have been attached by another creditor, or seized on another execution, either by the same or any other officer, or if before the payment of such residue to the debtor another writ of attachment or execution against him is delivered to the officer who made the sale, the proceeds of the sale shall be applied to the discharge of the several judgments in the order in which the respective writs of attachment or execution were served, and the residue, if any, shall be returned to the debtor. when liable to two or more creditors. R. S. 97, § 30.

SECT. 42. If an attachment or seizure on execution is made of a share in any incorporated company, or of any other property which may be attached without taking and keeping the exclusive possession thereof, and if the same property is subsequently attached or taken in execution by another officer, he shall give notice thereof to the officer who makes the sale under the first attachment or seizure; and if the latter without such notice pays to the debtor the balance of the proceeds of the sale, he shall not be liable therefor to the person claiming under such subsequent attachment or seizure. when there have been successive attachments. R. S. 97, § 31. 9 Mass. 205.

LEVY, &C., ON SHARES IN CORPORATIONS.

SECT. 43. The share or interest of a stockholder in any corporation established under the authority of this state, may be taken on execution and sold as hereinafter provided. Shares in incorporated companies. R. S. 97, § 36.

SECT. 44. If the property has not been attached in the same suit, the officer shall leave an attested copy of the execution with the clerk, treasurer, or cashier, of the company, if there is any such officer, otherwise with any officer or person having the custody of the books and papers of the corporation; and the property shall be considered as seized on execution when the copy is so left, and shall be sold in like manner as goods and chattels. Proceedings. R. S. 97, § 37.

SECT. 45. If the share is already attached in the same suit, the officer shall proceed in seizing and selling it on the execution, in the same manner as in selling goods and chattels. Same subject. R. S. 97, § 38.

SECT. 46. The officer of the company who is appointed to keep a record or account of the shares or interest of the stockholders therein, shall, upon the exhibiting to him of the execution, be bound to give a certificate of the number of shares or amount of the interest held by the judgment debtor, in like manner and upon the like penalty as is prescribed in chapter one hundred and twenty-three upon the exhibiting to him of a writ of attachment. Officer of company to make known the shares held by debtor. R. S. 97, § 39. See Ch. 123, § 11.

SECT. 47. An attested copy of the execution and of the return thereon shall within fourteen days after the sale be left with the officer of the company whose duty it is to record transfers of shares; and the purchaser shall thereupon be entitled to a certificate or certificates of the shares bought by him, upon paying the fees therefor and for recording the transfer. to give new certificates to purchaser. R. S. 97, § 40.

Purchaser entitled to dividends after attachment.
R. S. 97, § 41.

SECT. 48. If the shares or interest of the judgment debtor had been attached in the suit in which the execution issued, the purchaser shall be entitled to all the dividends which have accrued after the attachment.

LEVY, &c., ON TERMS FOR YEARS.

Terms for years, when to be levied on as real or personal estate.
R. S. 97, § 33.
1847, 267, § 1.
See Ch. 90, § 20.

SECT. 49. Terms for years, when the original lease was for one hundred years or more, and so long as fifty years or more thereof remain unexpired, shall be regarded as real estate so far as concerns the levying of an execution thereon. Other terms for years shall be seized and sold on execution in like manner as personal chattels, except that the officer before selling the same shall give fourteen days' notice of the time and place of sale, by leaving notice thereof in writing with the debtor personally or at his last and usual place of abode, and by posting notice on the demised premises.

SUSPENSION OF LEVY.

Execution suspended by prior attachment.
R. S. 97, § 34.
3 Met. 215, 251.
5 Met. 90.

SECT. 50. When any estate, either real or personal, is seized on execution, and the further service of the execution is suspended by reason of any prior attachment on the same estate, the estate shall remain bound by such seizure until it is set off or sold, in whole or in part, under the prior attachment, or until that attachment is dissolved.

Same subject.
R. S. 97, § 35.

SECT. 51. If the estate is set off or sold in part under the prior attachment, or if that attachment is dissolved, the estate, or such part thereof as remains undisposed of, shall continue bound for thirty days thereafter, by the seizure on the execution; and the service of the execution may be completed in like manner as if the estate had been first seized thereon at any time within said thirty days, although the return day of the execution has passed.

DEATH, &c., OF OFFICER OR PARTY AFTER COMMENCEMENT OF LEVY.

Case of death, &c., of officer after beginning to serve an execution.
R. S. 97, § 13.
2 Pick. 276.

SECT. 52. When an officer has begun to serve an execution and dies, or is incapable of completing the service and return thereof, the same may be completed by any other officer who might by law have served the execution if originally delivered to him. If the first officer has not made a certificate of his doings, the second officer shall certify whatever he finds to have been done by the first, and shall add thereto a certificate of his own doings in completing the service.

of removal, &c., of officer.

6 Mass. 29.
9 Mass. 393.

SECT. 53. When an officer has begun to serve an execution, he may complete the service and return thereof although he is removed from office, or the service cannot be completed until after the return day.

of death of either party.
R. S. 97, § 15.
9 Mass. 200.
3 Met. 253.

SECT. 54. If either party dies after any real estate, goods, or chattels, have been seized on execution, the service thereof may be completed in like manner and with the same effect as if both parties were still living, and the officer, when necessary, may appoint an appraiser for the deceased party.

RECORDING OF CERTAIN EXECUTIONS.

Execution on writ of entry to be recorded in registry of deeds.
1818, 144, § 1.
7 Gray, 202.

SECT. 55. When an execution issuing upon a judgment in a writ of entry for the possession of real estate is served by an officer, he shall, within three months after the service and before the return thereof into the clerk's office, cause the execution with his doings thereon to be recorded in the registry of deeds for the county or district in which the estate is situated, the expense of which shall be added to the charge for service.

PENALTY ON OFFICER FOR NOT PAYING MONEY COLLECTED.

SECT. 56. If any officer unreasonably neglects to pay any money collected by him on execution, when demanded by the creditor therein, he shall forfeit and pay to the creditor five times the lawful interest of the money from the time of the demand until it is paid.

Penalty for detaining money collected.

On death of either party ac-

SECTION 1. All estates of freehold, whether in fee simple, fee tail, or for life, may be recovered by a writ of entry upon disseisin, unless a different action is prescribed by law.

SECT. 2. The demandant shall declare on his own seisin within twenty years then last past, without specifying any particular day, and shall allege a disseisin by the tenant, but need not aver a taking of the profits; and he shall then set forth the estate that he claims in the premises, whether it is in fee simple, fee tail, or for life, and if the latter whether it is for his own life or for the life of another, but he shall not be required to set forth the original gift, devise, or other conveyance or title, by which he claims the estate.

SECT. 3. The demandant shall not be required to prove an actual entry under his title, but if he proves that he is entitled to such an estate as he claims in the premises, whether as heir, devisee, purchaser, or otherwise, and also that he has a right of entry therein, this shall be deemed sufficient proof of his seisin as alleged in the declaration. No such action shall be maintained unless the demandant has at the time of commencing the same a right of entry into the premises.

SECT. 4. No descent or discontinuance shall take away or defeat any right of entry or of action for the recovery of real estate.

SECT. 5. Every person who is in possession of the premises demanded in such writ of entry, claiming any estate of freehold therein, may be considered as a disseisor for the purpose of trying the right, whatever was the manner of his original entry on the premises.

SECT. 6. If the person in possession has actually ousted the demandant or withheld from him the possession of the premises, he may, at the election of the demandant, be considered as a disseisor for the purpose of trying the right, although he claims therein an estate less than a freehold.

SECT. 7. Every suit upon such writ of entry shall be prosecuted and conducted in the same manner as if the demandant had at the time of commencing the action made an actual entry on the demanded premises, and had been immediately ousted by the tenant; so that on a trial upon the general issue, if the demandant proves that he is entitled to such estate in the premises as is set forth in the declaration, and that he had a right of entry on the day when the action was commenced, he shall recover the premises, unless the tenant proves a better title in himself.

SECT. 8. The law and practice relating to the pleadings and evidence in the action or writ of entry on disseisin, as now recognized and established, shall continue in force, except so far as they are altered by the provisions of this chapter, and chapter one hundred and twenty-nine.

SECT. 9. Any two or more persons claiming the same premises as joint tenants, tenants in common, or coparceners, may join in a suit for the recovery thereof, or any one may sue alone for his share.

SECT. 10. The demandant may recover any specific part of the premises or any undivided portion thereof to which he proves a sufficient title, though such part or portion is less than is demanded in the writ.

SECT. 11. Upon the death of either demandant or tenant, the action may proceed by or against the survivors and the heirs or devisees of the deceased party, in the manner prescribed in chapter one hundred and twenty-seven.

SECT. 12. Non-tenure, disclaimer, several tenancy, and sole tenancy, may be pleaded in abatement or given in evidence under the general issue, but the party shall be allowed such costs only as accrue after the filing of the plea.

tion may proceed, &c.

1856, 273, § 1.
2 N. H. 10, 442.
14 Mass. 239.

SECT. 13. If the demandant recovers judgment in a writ of entry, he shall be entitled to recover in the same action damages for the rents and profits of the premises, from the time when his title accrued, subject to the limitations hereinafter contained; and he shall also recover damages for any destruction or waste of the buildings or other property, for which the tenant is by law chargeable.

Damages may be recovered in same action.
R. S. 101, § 14.
2 Met. 295.
6 Cush. 267.
4 Gray, 57.

SECT. 14. If an issue of fact is found for the demandant, the jury shall at the same time assess his damages, unless it is otherwise ordered by the court as hereinafter provided.

may be assessed by same jury, unless, &c.
R. S. 101, § 15.

SECT. 15. The rents and profits for which the tenant is liable shall be the clear annual value of the premises for the time during which he was in possession thereof, after deducting all lawful taxes and assessments on the premises that have been paid by him, and all the necessary and ordinary expenses of cultivating the land, or of otherwise collecting the rents, profits, or income, of the premises.

SECT. 16. In estimating the rents and profits, the value of the use by the tenant of any improvements, whether made by himself or those under whom he claims, shall not be computed nor allowed to the demandant.

Use of improvements not included.
R. S. 101, § 17.
12 Mass. 314.
4 Cowen, 168. 6 Cush. 269.

SECT. 17. The tenant shall not be liable for the rents and profits for a longer term than six years, nor for any waste or other damage committed before that time, unless when the rents and profits are allowed by way of set-off to his claim for improvements, as hereinafter provided.

Limitation.
R. S. 101, § 18.
16 Cush. 269.
See § 28.

SECT. 18. If the demanded premises have been actually held and possessed by the tenant in the action, and by those under whom he claims, for six years next before the commencement of the action, he shall, if judgment is against him, be entitled to compensation in the manner hereinafter provided for the value of any buildings or improvements made or erected on the premises by himself, or by any person under whom he claims.

6 Mass. 303. 10 Cush. 451.

SECT. 20. When the tenant in the action claims allowance for such improvements, he shall enter on the record a suggestion of his claim, with a request that the value of the improvements may be ascertained and allowed to him, if judgment is rendered for the demandant.

Proceedings for obtaining such allowance.
R. S. 101, § 21.

SECT. 21. The suggestion shall be entered at the same term with the plea, if any, unless the court for sufficient reason allows it to be made afterwards; and if judgment is rendered for the demandant without a plea, the suggestion shall be entered at such stage of the proceedings as the court prescribes or allows.

When suggestion entered.
R. S. 101, § 22.

SECT. 22. If any issue of fact is tried in the case and found for the demandant, the jury shall at the same time ascertain and determine the sum to be allowed to the tenant for such improvements, unless it appears to the court, on the motion of either party, that it would be more convenient to postpone the assessment of the sums due to the demandant for the rents and profits or other damages, or to the tenant for improvements, until after the trial of the title and a verdict thereon; in which case the court may make an order for that purpose, at any time before the verdict on the title is recorded.

Amount may be assessed by the jury on the trial, or afterwards.
R. S. 101, §§ 23, 24.

SECT. 23. If the assessment of the sums due to either party is so postponed, or if there is no issue of fact tried in the cause, and judgment is to be rendered for the demandant, said sums shall be assessed by the court, unless either party moves to have them assessed by a jury, or unless the court thinks proper to have them so assessed, in which cases a jury shall be empanelled for that purpose.

R. S. 101, § 25.

Damage may be assessed by arbitrators, &c.
R. S. 101, § 26.

SECT. 24. The sums due for rents and profits, or other damages, and for improvements, may in all cases be assessed by arbitrators or assessors appointed by the court with the consent of the parties.

Allowance for improvements, how limited.
R. S. 101, § 27.

SECT. 25. The sum to be allowed for improvements shall never exceed the amount actually expended by the tenant and those under whom he claims, nor shall it exceed the amount to which the value of the premises is actually increased thereby at the time of the assessment.

Improvements and damages to be set off.
R. S. 101, § 28.

SECT. 26. When any sum is allowed to the tenant for improvements, it shall be set off against the sum found due from him for rents and profits and other damages; and if there is a balance due from him, the demandant shall have judgment and execution therefor, as well as for his seisin of the demanded premises.

Demandant, when to pay for improvements, &c.
R. S. 101, § 29.

SECT. 27. If there is any sum due to the tenant for improvements after deducting the rents and profits and other damages for which he may be found chargeable, the demandant shall before taking out his execution for seisin of the premises, pay the same to the tenant, or to the clerk of the court for his use; and the demandant shall not be entitled to recover against the tenant or person claiming under him, any rents and profits that accrue after the judgment and before he has paid the sum so due.

Further provisions as to set-off.
R. S. 101, § 30.

SECT. 28. If the sum found due to the tenant for improvements exceeds the sum due from him for the rents and profits accrued within the six years, he shall be chargeable with the rents and profits accrued before that time, so far as may be necessary to balance his claim for improvements; but in such case he shall not be liable to repay any excess of the rents and profits beyond the value of the improvements.

Demandant's remedy against other trespassers.
R. S. 101, § 31.
6 Cush. 205.

SECT. 29. Nothing contained in this chapter shall prevent the demandant from maintaining an action of trespass for mesne profits, or for damage done to the premises, against any person, except the tenant in the writ of entry, who may have had possession of the premises or may be otherwise liable to such action.

Value of premises without improvements may be ascertained, &c.
R. S. 101, § 32.

SECT. 30. When the tenant in the action claims allowance for improvements as before provided, the demandant may, by a like entry on the record, require that the value of his estate in the demanded premises without the improvements be ascertained and determined.

How to be estimated and assessed.
R. S. 101, § 33.

SECT. 31. The value of the premises in such case shall be estimated as it would have been at the time of the inquiry if no such buildings or improvements had been made or erected on the premises by the tenant or by any person under whom he claims; and this sum shall be ascertained and determined, either by the court or jury, or by arbitrators or assessors, in the same manner as is provided for assessing the sums due for rents and profits, and for improvements.

Demandant may relinquish his estate, &c.
R. S. 101, §§ 34, 35.

SECT. 32. The demandant in such case, if judgment is rendered for him, may at any time during the same term by himself or his attorney enter on the record his election to relinquish his estate in the premises to the tenant, at the price or value thereof so ascertained and determined.

Time may be allowed for making the election.
R. S. 101, § 36.

SECT. 33. If he requires further time to make his election, the court may, on his motion, suspend the entry of the judgment and continue the cause, but without further costs for him.

Tenant to hold estate upon paying value assessed.
R. S. 101, § 37.

SECT. 34. If he relinquishes the premises as before provided, the tenant shall thenceforth hold all the estate that the demandant had therein at the commencement of the action: provided, he pays therefor the estimated price or value thereof, in the manner following.

To be paid in

SECT. 35. The price shall be paid in three equal instalments, with interest annually; the first instalment to be paid on or before the expiration of one year from the time when the demandant's election to relinquish the premises is entered on the record, the second, on or before the expiration of two years from the time before mentioned, and the third, on or before the expiration of three years from the same time.

three annual instalments.
R. S. 101, § 28.

SECT. 36. The sums shall be paid to the demandant or to the clerk of the court for his use, and if the tenant fails to make either of the payments within the times before limited therefor, respectively, the demandant shall be entitled forthwith to take out his writ of seisin on the judgment recovered by him, and shall take and hold the premises without allowance for any improvements made thereon.

Upon failure to pay, demandant entitled to his writ of seisin.
R. S. 101, § 30.

SECT. 37. The expiration of a year after the judgment shall not prevent the issuing of the execution or writ of seisin in the case mentioned in the preceding section, but it may be taken out at any time within three months after such default of payment on the part of the tenant.

Execution may be issued after the year when, &c.
R. S. 101, § 40.

SECT. 38. If the tenant or his heirs or assigns after the premises are so relinquished to him are evicted thereof by force of any better title than that of the original demandant, the person so evicted may recover from his demandant or his executors, administrators, heirs, or devisees, as the case may be, the amount so paid for the premises, as so much money had and received by such demandant in his lifetime for the use of the plaintiff, with lawful interest from the time of such payment.

Remedy for tenant in case of a subsequent eviction.
R. S. 101, § 41.

SECT. 39. If the tenant or person holding under him, when impleaded in such second action for the recovery of the premises, gives notice thereof to the person so liable to refund the purchase money, and permits him to defend the action, the judgment, if rendered against the tenant in the action, shall be conclusive as to his right to recover the amount so paid for the premises.

if he has given notice, &c.
R. S. 101, § 42.

SECT. 40. If the person impleaded does not give such notice to the other party and permit him to defend the suit, the latter shall be permitted in the suit afterwards brought against him for the price paid for the premises, to deny the title upon which the second recovery was had; and the party so evicted shall not recover said price unless he proves that he was evicted by force of a better title than that of the original demandant.

if notice not given,
R. S. 101, § 43.

SECT. 41. If, after judgment is rendered for the demandant in a writ of entry, either party dies before the writ of seisin is executed, or before the case is otherwise settled according to the foregoing provisions, any money payable by the tenant may be paid by him or his executors or administrators, or by any person entitled to the estate under him, to the demandant or his executors or administrators, in like manner and with the like effect as if both parties were living; and any money payable by the demandant may be paid by him, his executors, administrators, or any person entitled to the estate under him, to the tenant or his executors or administrators, in like manner and with the like effect as if both parties were living.

On the death of either party after judgment, money may be paid, &c.
R. S. 101, § 44.

SECT. 42. When the writ of seisin is issued in such case, it shall be in the name of the original demandant against the original tenant, although either or both of them are dead; and when executed, it shall inure to the benefit of the demandant or whoever is entitled to the premises under him, in like manner as if it had been executed on the day when the judgment was rendered.

Writ of seisin, in whose name to issue in such case.
R. S. 101, § 45.

SECT. 43. If the demandant in a writ of entry claims an estate for life only in the premises, and if he pays any sum allowed to the tenant for improvements, he or his executors or administrators at the determination of his estate shall be entitled to receive of the remainder-man or reversioner the value of the improvements, as they then exist; and shall have a lien on the premises in like manner as if they had been mortgaged for the payment, and may keep possession until the sum is paid.

Upon a recovery by tenant for life, reversioner, &c., to be liable.
R. S. 101, § 46.

Amount, how ascertained.
R. S. 101, § 47.

SECT. 44. If the amount so due from the remainder-man or reversioner is not agreed on by the parties, it may be ascertained and determined as is provided for the redemption of a mortgage upon a suit in equity, to be brought by the remainder-man or reversioner as mortgagor; and the like proceedings shall be had as are prescribed in that case for ascertaining the sum due for redemption of the premises, and for the recovery thereof by the remainder-man or reversioner.

Same subject.
R. S. 101, § 48.

SECT. 45. The remainder-man or reversioner, or those claiming under him, shall not in such case be limited to the three years prescribed for the redemption of a mortgage; but they shall not in any case be entitled to recover from the adverse party any balance in money, although the rents and profits of the premises which accrued after the determination of the estate for life exceed the amount due for the improvements.

Limitation.
R. S. 101, § 49.

SECT. 46. Such remainder-man or reversioner and those claiming under him shall be considered as disseised at the time of the determination of the life estate, so far as to bar their suit in equity, and all other remedy by action or by entry, for the recovery of the premises after the expiration of the time prescribed for the limitation of the right of entry and of action in cases of disseisin.

This chapter not to apply to a mortgagee.
R. S. 101, § 50.

SECT. 47. Nothing contained in this chapter concerning the rents and profits to be recovered in a writ of entry, or the allowance for improvements made on the demanded premises, or concerning the estimated value of the premises without the improvements, shall extend or apply to an action brought by a mortgagee, his heirs or assigns, against a mortgagor or his heirs or assigns, for the recovery of the mortgaged premises.

Certain real actions abolished. Saving for minors and others.
R. S. 101, §§ 51, 52.

SECT. 48. Writs of right and of formedon, and all writs of entry except that which is allowed in this chapter, are abolished: provided, that any person who on the thirty-first day of December in the year one thousand eight hundred and thirty-nine was entitled to maintain any of said actions, and was then within the age of twenty-one years, a married woman, insane, imprisoned, or without the limits of the United States, may bring such action at any time within five years after the disability shall cease, or after the death of the person so disabled; but no such action shall be maintained after it would have been barred by the statutes of limitation in force at and immediately before the time when the Revised Statutes took effect.

Party in possession claiming freehold, &c., may petition S. J. C. to compel claimant to try title.
1852, 312, § 52.
12 Cush. 185.
1 Gray, 416.
4 Gray, 82.

SECT. 49. Any person in possession of real property claiming an estate of freehold or an unexpired term of not less than ten years, may file a petition in the supreme judicial court setting forth his estate whether of inheritance, for life, or years, describing the premises, averring that he is credibly informed and believes that the respondent makes some claim adverse to the estate of the petitioner, and praying that he may be summoned to show cause why he should not bring an action to try the alleged title. Thereupon the court shall order notice to be given to the respondent, and upon return of the order of notice, duly executed, if the respondent so summoned makes default, or, having appeared, disobeys the lawful order of the court to bring an action and try the title, the court shall enter a decree, that he be forever debarred and estopped from having or claiming any right or title adverse to the petitioner, to the premises described. If the petitioner prefers, such a petition may be inserted like a declaration in a writ, and served by copy like a writ of original summons.

Proceedings on such petition.
1854, 312, § 53.
1 Gray, 416.

SECT. 50. If the respondent appears and disclaims all right and title adverse to the petitioner, he shall recover his costs. If he claims title, he shall by answer show cause why he should not be required to bring an action and try such title; and the court shall make such decree respecting the bringing and prosecuting of such action as may seem equitable and just.

SECT. 8. The petition may be filed in vacation or term time in the office of the clerk of the court in which the suit is brought; and a summons to appear and answer thereto shall be signed by the clerk, and served upon each of the parties named in the petition as interested in the premises, if found in this state, by delivering to him or leaving at the place of his abode a copy of the petition and of the summons, attested by the clerk or officer who serves the process, fourteen days at least before the sitting of the court to which he intends to present the same.

Filing and notice thereof.
R. S. 103, § 7.

SECT. 9. The petitioner may fourteen days at least before the sitting of the court to which he intends to present his petition, without filing the same in the clerk's office, cause the parties interested to be served with a copy thereof attested by the officer, by delivering or leaving the same in the manner aforesaid fourteen days at least before the sitting of the court to which he intends to present it.

Notice, how to be served.
R. S. 103, § 8.

SECT. 10. If any of the persons so named are absent from the state, or if there are any persons interested in the premises who would be bound by the partition and whose names are unknown to the petitioner, the court shall order notice to be given to all such persons by a publication of the petition or substance thereof, with the order of the court thereon, in one or more newspapers, to be designated in the order, or by delivering to any absent party who is known an attested copy of the petition and order, or in such other manner as the court considers most proper and effectual.

to persons absent or unknown.
R. S. 103, § 9.

SECT. 11. The petition in the case last mentioned may be presented to the court when sitting in any county, without being previously filed in the clerk's office; but the cause shall be heard and determined by the court when held within or for the county in which the lands lie, and the summons or notice shall be made returnable to that court.

Guardian for infants, &c.
R. S. 103, § 13.

SECT. 15. The court may assign a guardian for any infant or insane person interested in the premises, in the same manner as a guardian is admitted for an infant defendant in actions at the common law.

Pleadings.
R. S. 103, § 11.
1852, 312.

SECT. 16. Any person interested in the premises may appear and answer to the petition, and may plead or answer, either separately or jointly with any other respondents, any matter tending to show that the petitioner ought not to have partition as prayed for, either in whole or in part; and the further pleadings shall be conducted as in actions at the common law.

Replication by petitioner, &c.
R. S. 103, § 15.
N. H. R. 216.
2 Mass. 173.
1 Pick. 66.

SECT. 17. If a person not named in the petition appears and pleads or answers, the petitioner may reply that such person has no estate or interest in the lands, and may pray judgment, if he shall be admitted to object; and the petitioner may in the same replication answer to such plea any other matter as he might have done if he had not disputed the respondent's right to appear.

Proceedings
1819, 190.
R. S. 103, § 16.

SECT. 18. If upon such replication it appears that the respondent has no estate or interest in the lands, the matter of his plea or objection to the partition shall be no further inquired of.

Costs of trial of partition.
R. S. 103, § 17.
1 Pick. 246.
10 Pick. 529.

SECT. 19. If upon the trial of an issue it appears that the petitioner is entitled to have partition as prayed for, he shall recover his costs of such trial against the party who objected thereto, and shall have execution therefor. If such issue is found or decided against him, in whole or in part, the adverse party shall recover against him the costs of the trial, and shall have execution therefor; but judgment may notwithstanding be rendered for the petitioner to have partition, and to have assigned to him such part of the premises if any as he appears to be entitled to.

Interlocutory judgment.

1 Greenl. 369.
5 Greenl. 158.
1 Mass. 290.
11 Cush. 169.

SECT. 20. If it appears that the petitioner is entitled to have partition, whether for the share or proportion claimed in his petition or any less share, the court shall award the interlocutory judgment, that partition be made.

Commissioners to make partition.
R. S. 103, § 20.
11 Cush. 169.

SECT. 21. When partition is to be made, the court shall appoint three or five disinterested persons as commissioners to make the partition, and set off to the petitioner the share or shares belonging to him, which shall be expressed in the warrant.

To be sworn.
R. S. 103, § 22.
3 Mass. 290.

SECT. 22. The commissioners, before proceeding to the execution of their duties, shall be sworn faithfully and impartially to execute the same, a certificate of which oath shall be made on the warrant by the person who administers it.

To give notice to all parties.
R. S. 103, § 24.

SECT. 23. The commissioners shall give sufficient notice of the time and place appointed for making the partition, to all persons interested therein who are known and within the state, that they may be present at the making thereof.

Acts of majority valid.
R. S. 103, § 24.
N. H. R. 53.

SECT. 24. All the commissioners shall meet for the performance of any of their duties, but the acts of a majority shall be valid.

If several petitioners.
R. S. 103, § 21.
When money may be awarded to equalize partition.

SECT. 25. If there are several petitioners, they may at their election have their shares set off together or in severalty.

When money may be awarded to equalize partition.

SECT. 26. When the premises consist of a mill or other tenement which cannot be divided without damage to the owners, or when any specific part of the estate is of greater value than either party's share and cannot be divided without damage to the owners, the whole estate, or the part thereof so incapable of division, may be set off to any one of the parties who will accept it, he paying to any one or more of the others such sums of money as the commissioners award to make the partition just and equal; or the commissioners may assign the exclusive occupancy and enjoyment of the whole, or the part, to each of the parties alternately for certain specified times, in proportion to their respective interests.

R. S. 103, §§ 25, 26;
5 N. H. R. 144;
7 Pick. 209;
13 Pick. 257.

SECT. 27. When the whole or any specific part of the premises is thus assigned, the person entitled for the time being to the exclusive occupancy shall be liable to his co-tenants for any injury to the premises occasioned by his misconduct, as a tenant for years under a common lease without express covenants would be liable to his landlord; and the other tenants in common may have their remedy therefor against him by an action of tort, jointly or severally, at their election.

Liability of occupant to co-tenants in such case.
R. S. 103, § 27.
1852, 312.

SECT. 28. While an estate is in the exclusive occupancy of a co-tenant under such an assignment, he shall be entitled to the same remedy against whoever trespasses upon or otherwise injures the premises, as if he held the same under a lease for the term for which they were so assigned to him; and he and all the other tenants in common shall be entitled to recover such other and further damages as they have sustained by the same trespass or injury, in like manner as if the premises had been leased by them. Joint damages recovered by such tenants in common by force of this or the preceding section, shall be apportioned and divided among them according to their respective rights, by the court in which the judgment is recovered.

Remedy of co-tenants for trespass by stranger.
R. S. 103, § 28.

SECT. 29. The commissioners shall make a return of their doings under their hands, together with their warrant. If their report is confirmed, judgment shall be rendered that the partition be firm and effectual forever.

Return of commissioners, and judgment.
R. S. 103, § 29.
See § 75.

SECT. 30. Any party aggrieved by any judgment rendered in the superior court under section twenty, or upon a report of commissioners under this chapter, may appeal therefrom in any matter of law apparent upon the record, to the supreme judicial court; but upon an appeal from the judgment upon the report of commissioners, the interlocutory judgment awarding that partition be made shall not be drawn in question.

Appeal on petition for partition.

1849, 87, §§ 1, 5,
13 Mass. 211,
1859, 196.

SECT. 31. The regulations herein prescribed as to appeals from the first and second judgment on a petition for partition, shall be enforced in like manner, in a writ of partition.

on writ of partition.
R. S. 103, § 32.

SECT. 32. The final judgment shall, except as hereinafter provided, be conclusive as to the rights of property and possession of parties and privies to the judgment, including all persons who might by law have appeared and answered.

Final judgment.
R. S. 103, § 33,
2 Mass. 452,
13 Mass. 213,
22 Pick. 316.

SECT. 33. If any person who was a part owner with the petitioner, and for whom a share is left upon the partition, is out of the state when the summons or notice to him is served, and does not return in time to appear and answer, he may, within three years after the final judgment, apply to the same court for a new partition; and if, upon a hearing of all parties interested, it appears that the share left for the applicant was less than he was entitled to, or that the part left for him was not at the time equal in value to his share of the premises, the court may order a new partition, which shall be made in the manner before provided.

Absent part owner may apply for a new partition.
R. S. 103, §§ 34, 35.

SECT. 34. In such new partition the commissioners shall not be required to make a new division of the whole premises, but may take from any one share or shares and add to any other or others so much as is necessary to make the partition just and equal, estimating the whole as in the state in which it was when first divided; or if an equal partition cannot be made without inconvenience to the owners, the com-

R. S. 103, § 38.
2 Mass. 462.
5 Met. 310.
8 Met. 599.

SECT. 35. If any person who has not appeared and answered to the petition claims to hold in severality any part of the premises, he shall not be concluded by the judgment, but may bring his action for the land claimed by him, against any or all of the petitioners or respondents, or of the persons holding under them, within the time in which he might have brought it if no such judgment for partition had been rendered.

of stranger claiming one of the shares, &c.
R. S. 103, § 39.
8 Met. 599.

SECT. 36. When a person who has not appeared and answered claims the share assigned to or left for any of the supposed part owners in the judgment for partition, he shall be concluded by the judgment, so far as it respects the partition and the assignment of the shares, in like manner as if he had been a party to that suit, but may bring his action for the share claimed by him, against the person to whom it was assigned or for whom it was left.

same subject.
R. S. 103, § 40.

SECT. 37. The action shall be brought against the tenant in possession as if the demandant had originally claimed the specific piece demanded instead of an undivided part of the land; and it may be brought within the time in which it might have been brought if no such judgment for partition had been rendered.

of two respondents claiming the same share.
R. S. 103, § 41.

SECT. 38. If two or more persons appear as respondents, claiming the same share of the premises to be divided, it shall not be necessary to decide on their respective claims, except for the purpose of determining which shall be admitted to appear in the suit; and if partition is made, the share so claimed shall be left for whichever of the parties proves to be entitled to it, in a suit to be thereafter brought between themselves.

same subject.
R. S. 103, § 42.

SECT. 39. If in such case it is decided in the suit for partition that either of the respondents is not entitled to the share that he claims, he shall be concluded by the judgment, so far as it respects the partition and assignment of the shares; but may bring an action against the other claimant in the manner provided in the three preceding sections.

of stranger claiming an additional share.
R. S. 103, §§ 13, 14.
H. 22 Pick. 316.

SECT. 40. If any person who has not appeared and answered claims part of the premises as a part owner with any of those who were parties to the suit, and if the part or share so claimed was not known, or not allowed and left for him, in the process for partition, he shall be concluded by the judgment, so far as it respects the partition, but may bring an action for the share or proportion claimed by him, against each of the persons holding any part of the premises under the judgment for partition, and if he prevails, shall recover against each the same proportion or share of the part held by him, that he was entitled to claim out of the whole premises before the partition.

of a share left for part owner, who is dead.
R. S. 103, § 45.

SECT. 41. If after partition it appears that any person for whom a share was left or assigned, had died before the partition, his heir or devisee shall not, by reason of his having been a party to the suit, be barred from claiming the share that belonged to him; but shall have the same rights and remedies as if he had not been such party, and had not had notice of the pendency thereof.

of a party evicted of his share.
R. S. 103, § 46.

SECT. 42. If a person to or for whom any share has been so assigned or left, is evicted by a person who at the time of the partition had a title older and better than the title of those who were parties to the suit, the person so evicted may have a new partition of the residue, as if partition had not been made.

Mortgages, &c., bound by partition.
R. S. 103, § 47.

SECT. 43. A person having a mortgage, attachment, or other lien, on the share of a part owner, shall be concluded by the judgment, so far as it respects the partition and the assignment of the shares; but his lien shall remain in full force upon the part assigned to or left for such part owner.

SECT. 44. The expenses and charges of the commissioners shall be ascertained and allowed by the court; the other costs shall be taxed in the usual manner; and the whole shall be paid by the petitioner, except the costs of a trial of issues. When there is more than one petitioner the whole costs and charges payable by them shall be paid in proportion to the shares or interests they respectively hold in the premises.

Costs, by whom paid.
R. S. 103, § 49.

SECT. 45. When a petition is opposed by any respondent therein named, and it appears that the petitioner is entitled to have partition as prayed for, he shall recover costs against the party opposing, from and after the filing of the plea or answer, to be taxed as in other civil cases.

When petitioner may recover costs.
1857, 149.

SECT. 46. If the plaintiff or petitioner recovers judgment in any writ or other process of partition in which it appears by the pleadings that the defendant or respondent denies the right and title of the plaintiff or petitioner to any part of the premises, and claims the same as his own estate in fee, and it is proved that the defendant or respondent held the same under a title which he believed to be good, he shall be entitled to compensation for the value of any buildings or improvements on the premises made or erected by himself or any other person under whom he claims; such value to be ascertained as provided for tenants in real actions, by chapter one hundred and thirty-four; and in like manner he shall be liable for the plaintiff or petitioner's share of the rents, profits, and other damages, mentioned in said chapter.

Defendant, &c., entitled to betterments, &c.
1850, 278, § 1.
13 Met. 462.
12 Cush. 170.

SECT. 47. If any sum remains due to the defendant or respondent for improvements, after deducting the rents, profits, or other damages, for which he is found chargeable, the plaintiff or petitioner shall not have judgment for partition until he pays the same to the defendant or respondent, or for his use to the clerk of the court; and he shall not be entitled to any rents or profits which may accrue after verdict, and before he makes such payment.

Petitioner to pay for betterments before judgment.
1850, 278, § 2.

IN THE PROBATE COURT.

SECT. 48. The probate court in which the estate of any deceased person is settled or in a course of settlement, may make partition of all his real estate lying within the state, among his heirs or devisees, and all persons holding under them by conveyance or otherwise, in the manner and under the restrictions hereinafter provided.

Partition by probate court.
R. S. 103, § 50.
15 Mass. 413.
5 Pick. 210.
21 Pick. 101.

SECT. 49. The partition shall be made by three or five disinterested persons to be appointed as commissioners for that purpose by the court. They shall before proceeding to the execution of their duties be sworn faithfully and impartially to execute the same, and shall proceed therein in the manner before prescribed with regard to commissioners appointed by the courts of law, except as hereinafter otherwise provided.

Commissioners appointed, sworn, &c.
R. S. 103, § 51

SECT. 50. If an estate to be divided lies in different counties, the judge may if he thinks fit issue a separate warrant and appoint different commissioners for each county; and the partition shall be made of the estate in each county in like manner as if there were no other estate.

Partition of lands in different counties.
R. S. 103, § 52.

SECT. 51. Such partition may be ordered on the petition of any of said parties interested, after due notice to all the others to appear and show cause against it. The notice shall be served fourteen days at least before the time appointed for the hearing, on the parties personally if they can be found within the state, and if not, it shall be published once in each week for three weeks at least before such hearing, in such newspapers as the court shall order.

Proceedings in probate court.
R. S. 103, § 53.
7 Pick. 209.

SECT. 52. After the commissioners are appointed, some disinterested person shall be appointed agent by the court for any heir at law or devisee absent from the state; and he shall act for such absent heir or devisee in all things relating to the partition.

Agents to act for absent heirs, &c.
1839, 164, § 1.

Guardian for minor, &c.
R. S. 103, § 54.

SECT. 53. If it appears that any infant or insane person is interested in the premises, and has no guardian within the state, the court shall assign him a guardian for the suit, to appear for him and defend his interests therein.

Partition to be made of the whole, &c.
R. S. 103, § 55.

SECT. 54. The partition when made on the application of an heir, shall be made of all the estate that descended from the ancestor, and which any party interested, whether the applicant or others, requires to have included in the partition; and when made on the application of a devisee, it shall be made of all the estate held by the applicant jointly or in common with others holding under the testator, which he or any other devisee requires to have included. The same rule shall apply when the application is made by any person holding under an heir or devisee.

Share assigned to each owner, unless, &c.
R. S. 103, § 56.

SECT. 55. Upon every such partition the court shall not only assign and set off to the applicant his share in the premises, but shall cause the residue to be divided among the parties interested, and the share of each one to be assigned to him, unless two or more of the parties consent to hold their shares together and undivided.

When money may be awarded to equalize partition.
R. S. 103, § 57.
7 Pick. 299.

SECT. 56. When a message, piece of land, or other part of the premises, is of greater value than either party's share, and cannot be divided without great inconvenience to the owners, it may be set off to any one of the parties who will accept it, he paying to any one or more of the others such sums of money as the commissioners award to make the partition just and equal.

Preference of males, &c.
R. S. 103, § 58.

SECT. 57. In the assignment of part of the premises under the preceding section, males shall be preferred to females, and among the children of the deceased, elder shall be preferred to younger sons.

Whole or part set off to one party, and money paid.
1838, 28.
8 Met. 365.

SECT. 58. When such real estate cannot be divided without damage to the owners, the whole or any part thereof may be set off to one or more of the parties among whom partition is ordered to be made, he or they paying to the other parties such sums of money as the commissioners shall award.

Costs to be paid by all parties.
R. S. 103, § 60.

SECT. 59. The expenses and charges incurred shall be ascertained and allowed by the court, and paid by all the parties interested in the partition in proportion to their respective shares or interests in the premises. If any one neglects to pay his part, an execution therefor may be issued against him.

No partition in probate court when shares are disputable.
R. S. 103, § 61.

SECT. 60. No partition shall be made by the probate court when the shares or proportions of the respective parties are in dispute between them, or appear to the judge to be uncertain, depending upon the construction or effect of any devise or other conveyance, or upon other questions that he deems proper for the consideration of a jury and a court of common law.

Estate of deceased to be severed.
R. S. 103, § 64.

SECT. 61. When any part of the real estate of the deceased lies in common and undivided with that of another person, the probate court may cause it to be divided and set off from the part held by such co-tenant, before making partition among the heirs or others claiming under the deceased.

Notice to be given to co-tenants.
R. S. 103, § 65.

SECT. 62. The court in such case shall order a notice of the intended partition to be given to the co-tenant, containing a description of the premises to be divided, with a statement of the share or proportion claimed as belonging to the estate of the deceased, and of the time and place appointed for hearing the case. It shall be served on the co-tenant by delivering to him an attested copy, or by leaving such copy at the place of his abode in this state, fourteen days at least before the time appointed for the hearing.

If absent, proceedings to be stayed.
R. S. 103, § 66.

SECT. 63. If it appears in any stage of the proceedings that any person interested in the premises, other than the heirs and devisees of the deceased and those claiming under them, was absent from the state when the notice was served, and has not returned, the probate court shall either dismiss the application for partition, or stay all further proceedings until such absent party appears and answers thereto, or signifies in writing to the court his consent that partition be made as proposed.

SECT. 64. The partition when finally confirmed and established shall be conclusive on all the heirs and devisees of the deceased, and all persons claiming under them; on all other persons interested in the premises who appeared and answered in the case, or assented to the proposed partition as before provided, and on every person so interested, on whom notice was served by delivering to him a copy thereof, or by leaving it at the place of his abode at a time when he was within the state.

On whom partition is binding. R. S. 103, § 68.

SECT. 65. Such partition shall not be conclusive upon any persons other than those mentioned in the preceding section. All other persons may pursue their legal remedies for recovering the premises, or any part thereof, and also for obtaining partition of the same, in like manner as if the proceedings in the probate court had not been had.

on whom it is not conclusive. R. S. 103, § 69.

ADVANCEMENTS.

SECT. 66. Questions concerning advancements of either party may be heard and determined upon a petition for partition, or the court may suspend proceedings until that question is decided in the probate court in which the estate of the deceased is settled; which court may hear and determine all such questions, saving an appeal as in other cases to the supreme judicial court. The final decree or sentence thereon shall be binding on all parties interested, whether the partition is made by the probate court or in the courts of common law.

Questions of advancement how determined. R. S. 103, §§ 62, 63. 16 Mass. 200. See Ch. 91, § 6.

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

SECT. 67. Partitions may be made under this chapter notwithstanding the existence of any lease of the whole or a part of the estate to be divided; and no partition heretofore made by a court of competent jurisdiction, shall be rendered invalid by reason of the existence of such lease; provided, that such partition shall not prejudice the right of a lessee.

Leases not to prevent or invalidate partitions. 1853, 410, § 1. 6 Cush. 472.

SECT. 68. Such partitions may be made notwithstanding any of the tenants in common may be, alone or jointly with others, trustee, attorney, or guardian, of any other tenant; and no partitions of real estate heretofore made by a court of competent jurisdiction, shall be rendered invalid by reason that such trustee, attorney, or guardian, was a party.

Party being guardian, &c., of co-tenant, not to prevent, &c. 1853, 410, § 2. 9 Cush. 463.

SECT. 69. The provisions of this chapter shall apply to cases in which remainders or estates are devised or limited to, or in trust for, persons not in being at the time of application for partition, upon notice to the persons who may be parents of such persons, in the manner herein prescribed, setting forth the origin and nature of the remainder or interest so devised or limited. The court in such case shall appoint a suitable and competent person to appear and act as the next friend of such persons, in all proceedings touching the partition; the cost of whose appearance and services, including compensation of counsel, to be determined by the court, shall be paid by the persons applying for partition, and execution may be issued therefor in the name of the person appointed. The partition made in such case shall be conclusive upon all persons to whom such estate or remainder is devised or limited, in the same manner as if they had been in being and appeared and answered in the case, or assented to the partition.

Case of remainders, &c., to persons not in being. 1850, 249. 1853, 257. 1858, 137.

SECT. 70. When proceedings for obtaining partition are lawfully commenced in either of the courts mentioned in this chapter, that court shall retain jurisdiction of the case, saving the right of appeal in all cases where an appeal is allowed by law.

Money awarded to be paid before partition established.
1850, 230.
7 Pick. 208.
3 Gray, 596.

SECT. 71. Where sums of money are awarded by the commissioners to make the partition just and equal, the partition shall not be established by the court until all such sums are paid to the parties entitled thereto, or secured to their satisfaction, or that of the court before which the matter is pending.

Compensation for improvements after partition.
R. S. 103, §§ 37, 70.

SECT. 72. If after a first partition under this chapter any improvements have been made on any part of the premises which by the new partition is taken from the share of the party who made the improvements, he shall be entitled to compensation therefor, to be estimated and awarded by the commissioners, and paid by the party to whom such part of the premises is assigned on the new partition, and the court may issue an execution therefor in the common form.

party holding under partition entitled to.
R. S. 103, § 71.

SECT. 73. Every person holding lands under a partition made under this chapter, shall in case of an eviction be entitled to compensation for improvements made thereon, in the manner prescribed in chapter one hundred and thirty-four.

Return may be set aside.
R. S. 103, §§ 30, 59.
5 N. H. R. 329.

SECT. 74. In all cases of partition the court may for any sufficient reason set aside the return and commit the case anew to the same or to other commissioners, whereupon the same proceedings shall be had as are before directed.

Returns of partitions, &c., to remain in office of clerk, &c.
1847, 170, § 1.

SECT. 75. The return of the commissioners, when accepted, shall remain in the office of the clerk of the courts, or in the registry of probate, as the case may be; and a copy thereof, certified by the clerk, or register, shall be recorded in the registry of deeds for the county or district where the land lies.

Registries heretofore made to be valid.
1847, 170, § 2.

SECT. 76. All records in the registry of deeds of partitions heretofore made, if no other objection exists thereto, shall be deemed valid and sufficient whether recorded from the original return or from a copy thereof certified by the clerk or register of the court in which the partition was made.

DIVISION OF WATER RIGHTS.

Division of water rights.
1851, 74.
4 Gray, 486.

SECT. 77. All persons who are interested as joint tenants, tenants in common, or otherwise, in any mill privilege, water right, or other incorporeal hereditament, may be compelled to divide the same, either by suit in equity, in the supreme judicial court, or in the manner herein before provided for the division of land. In the latter case, the commissioners appointed to make partition shall set forth in their return the best method of setting off to the several parties their respective shares or interests, and thereupon the court may require the parties interested to perform such acts as justice and equity may require, and may make all such orders and decrees in the premises, according to the course of proceedings in equity, as may be necessary to do justice between the parties.

of water of natural stream.
1850, 128.

SECT. 78. Under the provisions of the preceding section, partition may be made of the water of a natural stream not navigable, the banks of which are owned by different riparian proprietors.

SECTION 1. No person shall make an entry into lands or tenements, except in cases where his entry is allowed by law; and in such cases he shall not enter with force, but in a peaceable manner. 5 CUSH. 214. 8 CUSH. 32.

Forcible entry forbidden. R. S. 104, § 1. 7 Met. 151.

SECT. 2. When a forcible entry is made, or when a peaceable entry is made and the possession unlawfully held by force, or when the lessee of land or tenements, or a person holding under such lessee, holds possession without right after the determination of the lease by its own limitation, or by notice to quit or otherwise, the person entitled to the premises may be restored to the possession in the manner hereinafter provided.

Person ousted, or unlawfully held out, may be restored. R. S. 104, § 2. 10 MASS. 403. 3 PINK. 31. 2 MET. 29. 3 MET. 250. 5 MET. 313. 10 MET. 250, 208. 11 MET. 99. 12 MET. 390.

1 CUSH. 487. 8 CUSH. 29, 33. 11 CUSH. 227. 4 GRAY, 432. Ch. 90, § 31.

SECT. 3. When a lease in writing is determined in the manner provided in section thirty of chapter ninety, the lessor and his assigns may be restored to the possession of the premises in like manner: provided, that when a suit is brought under this chapter to recover the possession by reason of such termination, if the tenant four days at least before the return day of the writ pays or tenders to the landlord or his attorney the rent due, with interest thereon and all costs of suit, the lease shall be in force. Nothing contained in this section or said section [thirty] [twenty-eight] shall affect any other rights or remedies on the part of the lessor provided in the lease.

On termination of lease by reason of non-payment of rent, lessor, &c., restored, &c. Proviso. 187, 267, § 2. 187, 55. 6 Gray, 227.

SECT. 4. No restitution shall be made under the provisions of this chapter of any lands or tenements of which the defendant, or his ancestors, or those under whom he holds the premises, have been in the quiet possession for three years next before the commencement of the suit, unless his estate therein is ended.

Suit to be commenced within three years. R. S. 104, § 3. R. S. Act of amend. § 11.

SECT. 5. The person entitled to the possession of the premises may take from a justice of the peace, or police court, a writ in the form used for an original summons in common civil actions before such justices or courts, in which the defendant shall be summoned to answer to the complaint of the plaintiff, for that the defendant is in possession of the lands or tenements in question, describing them, which he holds unlawfully and against the right of the plaintiff, as it is said; and no other declaration shall be required.

Form of writ. R. S. 104, §§ 4, 13. 1841, 56, § 2. 2 MET. 29. 3 MET. 250, 518. 10 MET. 223, 230, 294, 298. 13 MET. 186. 1 CUSH. 487. 5 CUSH. 563. 6 CUSH. 415. 8 CUSH. 32, 121, 124.

SECT. 6. The writ shall be served seven days at least before the return day, and the suit shall be conducted like other civil actions before such justices or courts.

Proceedings in the suit. R. S. 104, § 5. See Ch. 18, § 61.

SECT. 7. If it appears by default or on trial that the plaintiff is entitled to the possession of the premises, he shall have judgment and execution for the possession and for his costs.

Judgment, when for plaintiff. R. S. 104, § 6.

SECT. 8. If the plaintiff becomes nonsuit, or fails to prove his right to the possession, the defendant shall have judgment and execution for his costs.

— when for defendant. R. S. 104, § 7. 10 MET. 294.

Upon appeal or removal, defendant to recognize, &c. Remedy upon the recognizance.

1852, 312.
10 Met. 2.
2 Gray, 311, 314.

SECT. 9. When judgment is rendered for the plaintiff for restitution, and the defendant appeals therefrom, or when the defendant removes the case as provided in section thirteen of chapter one hundred and twenty, he shall, before such appeal or removal is allowed, recognize to the plaintiff, with sufficient surety or sureties, to enter the action, to pay all rent then due, all intervening rent, and all damages and loss which the plaintiff may sustain by reason of the withholding of the possession of the demanded premises, and by reason of any injury done thereto during such withholding, together with all costs, until the restitution of the possession thereof to the plaintiff, in case the judgment from which the appeal is made is affirmed. Upon final judgment for the plaintiff, all sums of money then due to him may be recovered by writ of scire facias or action of contract upon the recognizance.

Liability of defendant for frivolous plea, &c.
R. S. 104, § 11, 1852, 312.

SECT. 10. If the case is transferred at the request of the defendant upon any plea or suggestion by him that brings in question the title to the freehold, and if it appears to the court in which the action is determined, that the defendant originally entered on the premises under a lease from the plaintiff, or from any person under whom the plaintiff claims, or that he held them under any such lease, and that his said plea or suggestion was frivolous and intended for delay, the court shall cause a certificate thereof to be entered on the record, and the defendant shall thereupon be liable to pay double the yearly value of the demised premises from the time of the notice to quit the same, which may be recovered by writ of scire facias or action of contract on the recognizance.

The premises or further damages may be afterwards recovered.
R. S. 104, § 12.

SECT. 11. The judgment in such action shall not be a bar to any action thereafter to be brought by either party to recover the premises in question, or damages for any trespass thereon; but the sum recovered for rent according to the provisions of the two preceding sections shall be allowed and deducted in any assessment of damages in such subsequent action by the original plaintiff.

OF WASTE AND TRESPASS ON REAL ESTATE.

SECTION

1. Action of waste may be brought by a reversioner.
2. By an heir.
3. Mode of trial.
4. Action of tort for waste.
5. By whom brought.
6. May be prosecuted or brought against executors, &c.
7. Penalty for waste on lands held in joint tenancy, &c.
8. Damages, how recovered and appropriated.

SECTION

9. Penalty for waste after action for possession.
10. Penalty for wilful trespass on lands.
11. Tender allowed in case of involuntary trespass.
12. Or money may be brought into court.
13. Injunction to stay waste.
14. How dissolved.
15. Injunction for waste in case of land attached, or action for possession, &c.
16. Applicant to give bond.
17. Further proceedings in such case.

Action of waste may be brought by reversioner.
R. S. 105, § 1.
5 Pick. 192.
7 Pick. 152.
8 Pick. 309.

SECTION 1. If a tenant in dower, by the curtesy, or for life or years, commits or suffers waste on the premises, the person having the next immediate estate of inheritance may have an action of waste against such tenant, wherein he shall recover the place wasted and the amount of the damage.

by an heir.
R. S. 105, § 2.
Mode of trial.
R. S. 105, § 3.

SECT. 2. An heir may bring an action for waste done in the time of his ancestor.

SECT. 3. If an issue of fact is joined in the cause, it shall be tried by a jury in the usual manner, either with or without a view of the premises, as the court shall order; and the jury that inquire of the waste shall assess the damages.

SECT. 4. A person entitled to such action of waste may instead thereof bring an action of tort in the nature of waste, in which he shall recover such damages as he has suffered by reason of the waste.

SECT. 5. Such action of tort may be maintained by one who has the remainder or reversion in fee simple or fee tail, after an intervening estate for life, and also by one who has a remainder or reversion for life or years only, and each shall recover such damages as he has suffered by the waste.

SECT. 6. An action of tort for waste, if commenced in the lifetime of the tenant, may be prosecuted against his executors or administrators; and such action may be originally brought against the executors or administrators of the tenant, for waste committed or suffered in his lifetime.

SECT. 7. If a joint tenant, coparcener, or tenant in common, of undivided lands, cuts down, destroys, or carries away, any trees, timber, wood, or underwood, standing or lying on such lands, or digs up or carries away any stone, ore, or other valuable thing, found there, or commits any other strip or waste, without first giving thirty days' notice in writing under his hand to all the other persons interested therein, or to their respective agents or attorneys, of his intention to enter upon and improve the land; or if he does any of said acts during the pendency of a petition or other suit for the partition of the premises; he shall forfeit three times the amount of the damages that shall be assessed therefor, to be recovered and appropriated as provided in the following section.

SECT. 8. Such damages may be recovered in an action of tort by any one or more of the other co-tenants, without naming any one except the plaintiff, and the damages shall be appropriated, one-half to the persons who shall sue, and the other half to the same persons with all the other co-tenants except the defendant, to be divided among them in proportion to their respective interests in the land.

SECT. 9. If, during the pendency of an action for the recovery of lands, the tenant or person in possession, with knowledge of such pendency, commits strip or waste, the demandant, if he recovers judgment, may afterwards recover, in an action of tort, three times the amount of the damages that shall be assessed therefor.

SECT. 10. If any person without license wilfully cuts down, carries away, girdles, or otherwise destroys, any trees, timber, wood, or underwood, on the land of another, the owner may recover, in an action of tort, three times the amount of the damages that shall be assessed therefor, unless it appears that the defendant had good reason to believe that the land on which the trespass was committed was his own, or that he was otherwise lawfully authorized to do the acts complained of, in which case he shall be liable only for single damages.

SECT. 11. When a trespass on lands has been casual and involuntary, the trespasser may tender sufficient amends before an action is brought; and if afterwards sued, he may in his answer disclaim all title to the land, allege that the trespass was casual and involuntary, and set forth the tender, bringing the money into court. If upon the trial the allegations appear to be true, and the damages assessed do not exceed the amount so tendered, the defendant shall recover his costs.

SECT. 12. If a tender was not made before the commencement of the action, the defendant may disclaim title, allege that the trespass was casual and involuntary, and bring into court sufficient amends, with the costs of suit up to that time. If the plaintiff does not accept the same in satisfaction, and if upon trial the allegations appear to be true, and the damages assessed do not exceed the amount so brought into court, the defendant shall recover his costs.

Injunction to stay waste. R. S. 105, § 15.

SECT. 13. The supreme judicial court, or one of the justices thereof, may either in term time or vacation, after the filing of the bill or other commencement of a suit concerning waste, issue a writ of injunction to stay waste, and issue such other writs and processes, and make such orders and decrees, according to the course of proceedings in equity, as justice and equity may require.

how dissolved. R. S. 105, § 16.

SECT. 14. Every such injunction to stay waste may be dissolved, either in term time or vacation, by the supreme judicial court, or any one of the justices thereof.

Injunction for waste in case of land attached, or action for possession, &c. R. S. 105, § 17. 1852, 312, § 54. 1856, 278.

SECT. 15. When a person whose real estate is attached commits waste thereon, or threatens or makes preparations so to do, or when a real action is brought to foreclose a mortgage, or for possession under the same, or for the recovery of land, and any waste on the land has been committed or threatened by the defendant, or any one claiming under him or acting by his permission, the court in which the suit is pending or any one of the justices may on the application of the plaintiff, either in term time or vacation, issue a writ of injunction to stay such waste.

Applicant to give bond. 1856, 278.

SECT. 16. In any case under the preceding section, the court or justice may require that the applicant shall before the issuing of the writ give bond with sufficient sureties to the adverse party, conditioned that the applicant shall pay all damages which may arise from the issuing of the injunction if it is dissolved.

Further proceedings in such case. R. S. 105, § 18.

SECT. 17. The court may arrest and commit the defendant for a violation of such injunction, and issue such other process as may be necessary or proper to enforce obedience thereto, in like manner as the supreme judicial court may do upon a suit in equity pending before them; and the injunction may be dissolved, either in term time or vacation, by the court in which the suit is pending, or by any one of the justices.

CHAPTER 139.

OF ACTIONS FOR PRIVATE NUISANCES.

SECTION

- 1. Judgment for abatement of nuisance. Warrant therefor.
- 2. may be postponed.
- 3. when demandable of right.
- 4. expenses of executing.

SECTION

- 5. Injunctions may be issued to prevent a nuisance.
- 6. Same subject.
- 7. Injunction, how dissolved.

Judgment for abatement of nuisance. Warrant therefor. R. S. 103, §§ 1, 2. 1852, 312. 11 14 30. 152.

SECTION 1. When the plaintiff prevails in an action of tort for a nuisance, the court may, in addition to the usual judgment for damages and costs, enter judgment that the nuisance be abated and removed, and may award an execution in common form for the damages and costs, and a separate warrant to the proper officer, requiring him to abate and remove the nuisance at the expense of the defendant, in like manner as public and common nuisances are abated and removed.

may be postponed. R. S. 106, § 3.

SECT. 2. The court may on motion of the defendant order a stay of such warrant for a time not exceeding six months, to give him opportunity to remove the nuisance, upon his undertaking to do so within the time ordered.

when demandable of right. R. S. 106, § 4.

SECT. 3. If the plaintiff recovers judgment in a second suit for the continuance or repetition of the same nuisance, whether there was in the first suit a judgment for abatement and removal or not, he shall be entitled as of right to a judgment for abatement and removal, and to a warrant to be issued as before provided.

SECT. 4. The expense of abatement and removal shall be collected by the officer in the manner damages and costs are collected upon execution; except that the materials of buildings, fences, or other things, removed as a nuisance, may be sold by the officer as goods are sold on execution for the payment of debts. The officer shall apply the proceeds of the sale to defray the expenses of the removal, and pay over any balance to the defendant upon demand. If the proceeds are not sufficient to defray the expenses, he shall collect the residue.

Expenses of executing warrant for abatement of nuisance.
R. S. 106, § 5.

SECT. 5. After the commencement of a suit in equity concerning a nuisance, the supreme judicial court or any one of the justices, either in term time or vacation, may issue an injunction to stay or prevent any nuisance on the premises in question.

Injunction to prevent nuisance.
R. S. 106, §§ 6, 7.

SECT. 6. When an action of tort for a nuisance is pending, either in the superior court or the supreme judicial court, an injunction may be issued and enforced by the same court or one of the justices, in the manner provided in the preceding section.

Same subject.
R. S. 106, § 8.
1852, 312.
1859, 106.

SECT. 7. Every injunction issued as provided in the two preceding sections may be dissolved, either in term time or vacation, by the court by which it was issued or one of the justices.

Injunction, how dissolved.
R. S. 106, § 9.

7 Pick. 31.
19 Met. 174.
12 Met. 154.
2 Cush. 292.

SECTION 1. After the breach of condition of a mortgage of real estate, the mortgagee may recover possession of the mortgaged premises by action in the manner hereinafter provided; or he may make an open and peaceable entry thereon, if not opposed by the mortgagor or other person claiming the premises; and such possession, obtained in either mode, continued peaceably for three years, shall forever foreclose the right of redemption.

6 Gray, 128.

SECT. 2. When an entry for breach of the condition is made without a judgment, a memorandum or certificate thereof shall be made on the mortgage deed and signed by the mortgagor or the person claiming under him, or a certificate of two competent witnesses to prove the entry shall be made and sworn to before a justice of the peace; and the same shall within thirty days after the entry be recorded in the registry of deeds for the county or district where the land lies, with a note of reference from each record to the other, if the mortgage is recorded in the same registry. No such entry shall be effectual for the purposes mentioned in the preceding section, unless a certificate or a deposition in proof thereof is thus made and recorded.

SECT. 3. The mortgagee in an action for possession may declare on his own seisin, stating that it is in mortgage; and if it appears to the court, upon default, demurrer, verdict, or otherwise, that the plaintiff is entitled to the possession of the premises for breach of the condition of the mortgage, the court shall, on motion of either party, award the conditional judgment hereinafter mentioned, except as provided in the following section.

6 Gray, 128, 428. 8 Gray, 154, 198.

SECT. 4. Unless the defendant is the mortgagor or his assignee, or entitled to hold or claim the premises under him, he shall not redeem the premises, nor have a conditional judgment rendered, unless with the consent of the plaintiff; but the suit shall be conducted in all respects like a writ of entry; and in all cases the judgment for the plaintiff may be entered for possession as at common law, unless one or the other of the parties moves for the conditional judgment.

SECT. 5. When the conditional judgment is to be entered, the court shall inquire and determine how much is due to the plaintiff on the mortgage, and shall then enter judgment, that if the defendant, within two months after the judgment, pays to the plaintiff the sum so found due on the mortgage, with interest and the costs of the suit, the mortgage shall be void and the defendant shall hold the premises discharged thereof; otherwise, that the plaintiff shall have his execution for possession, and for costs of suit.

SECT. 6. If the condition of the mortgage is for the doing of something other than the payment of money, or if but part of the mortgage money is due, the court shall vary the terms of the judgment as the case may require; but shall award execution as before provided, unless the defendant within two months after the judgment performs what is therein prescribed.

SECT. 7. An entry for breach of the condition may be made, and an action for possession may be brought, by an assignee of the mortgagee, whether the assignment is by deed or by operation of law, and the action shall be conducted in like manner as if brought by the original mortgagee.

SECT. 8. The action may be brought like a writ of entry, against whoever is tenant of the freehold, and the mortgagor may in all cases be joined as a defendant, whether he then has any estate in the premises or not; but he shall not be liable for costs when he has no estate and makes no defence to the suit.

SECT. 9. Nothing contained in this chapter shall prevent a mortgagee or any person claiming under him from entering on the premises, or recovering possession thereof, before breach of the condition of the mortgage, when there is no agreement to the contrary; but, in such case, if the debt is afterwards paid, or the mortgage redeemed, the amount of the clear rents and profits from the time of the entry shall be accounted for, and deducted from the sum due on the mortgage.

Mortgagee may enter before breach, and hold subject to account.
R. S. 107, § 9.
3 Mass. 158.
11 Met. 458.
1 Gray, 512.

SECT. 10. If such entry is before a breach of the condition, the three years limited for the redemption shall not begin to run until after the condition is broken, nor until after a notice in writing given by the mortgagee or the person claiming under him, to the mortgagor or the person claiming under him, that the former will thenceforward hold the premises for the breach of the condition, or for the purpose of foreclosing the mortgage.

SECT. 11. The person thus entitled to hold the premises for breach of the condition may instead of such notice in writing make a new formal entry for the breach of the condition, or may bring an action therefor in the manner herein before provided; and such action, if brought against the mortgagor or any person claiming under him, may be maintained notwithstanding the premises are at that time in the possession of the plaintiff.

Same subject.
R. S. 107, § 11.
13 Mass. 313.
6 Cush. 91.

SECT. 12. Such notice of intention and such new entry shall not be effectual for the purposes aforesaid, unless a certificate or deposition to prove the same is made and recorded, as before provided in the case of an original entry for breach of the condition.

Certificate of notice or new entry to be recorded.
R. S. 107, § 12.

REDEMPTION.

SECT. 13. When the condition of a mortgage has been broken, the mortgagor or any person lawfully claiming or holding under him, may redeem the same unless the mortgagee, or some person lawfully holding or claiming under him, has obtained possession of the premises for the breach of the condition, and has continued that possession for three years.

6 Gray, 128.
7 Gray, 279.
See Ch. 118, § 123.

SECT. 14. The person entitled to redeem shall pay or tender to the mortgagee, or person lawfully claiming or holding under him, the whole sum then due and payable on the mortgage, and shall perform or tender performance of every other condition contained therein; and if there has been a suit for recovering the premises, he shall pay or tender the costs if unpaid.

Party redeeming to pay or tender debt, &c.

SECT. 15. If the mortgagee or any person under him has had possession of the premises, he shall account for the rents and profits, and shall be allowed for all sums expended in reasonable repairs and improvements, all sums paid for lawful taxes and assessments, and all other necessary expenses in the care and management of the premises. If on such account there is a balance due from him, it shall be considered as so much paid towards the debt due on the mortgage. If there is a balance due him, it shall be added to the debt, and be paid or tendered as such.

or offered to pay the sum due on the mortgage, he shall when he commences his suit pay the sum thus alleged to the clerk of the court for the use of the party entitled thereto.

SECT. 19. The person entitled to redeem may at any time within the three years limited for the redemption, and either before or after an entry for breach of the condition, bring a suit for redemption without a previous tender, and may therein offer to pay such sum as shall be found due from him, or to perform such other condition as the case requires.

SECT. 20. The court in which a suit to redeem is pending, or any justice thereof, may at any time after the commencement of the suit, in term time or vacation, ascertain and determine by reference to a master or otherwise, whether any and what sum not in dispute is due on the mortgage; and by an interlocutory order direct the same to be paid to the mortgagee, or for his use to the clerk of the court.

SECT. 21. If suit is brought without a previous tender, and it appears that any thing is due on the mortgage, the plaintiff shall pay the costs of suit, unless it appears that the defendant has unreasonably refused or neglected, when requested, to render a just and true account of the money due on the mortgage, and of the rents and profits, and sums paid for taxes, repairs, improvements, and other necessary expenses; or that he has otherwise by his default prevented the plaintiff from performing or tendering performance of the condition before the commencement of the suit. In all other cases of a suit for redemption, the court may in their discretion award costs to either party as equity may require.

SECT. 22. When such suit is founded on a previous tender, and it appears that the tender was insufficient, the plaintiff shall nevertheless be entitled to a decree for redemption, according to the provisions of sections nineteen and twenty-one, in the same manner as if no tender had been set forth in the suit: provided, that the suit is commenced within the three years limited for the redemption.

SECT. 23. A suit for redemption may be brought in the superior court, or the supreme judicial court, held for the county where the land lies, and if brought in the superior court an appeal may be had to the supreme judicial court as in other civil actions.

SECT. 24. When a bill in equity for redemption is inserted in a writ, the service shall be deemed the commencement of the suit, if the writ or a copy thereof, with or without the bill, but with a description of the premises sought to be redeemed, attested by the officer, is deposited within three days after the day on which the service is made, in the office of the clerk of the court to which the writ is returnable; otherwise the depositing of such copy or writ shall be deemed the commencement of the suit.

SECT. 25. If it appears that the plaintiff is entitled to redeem, the court shall inquire and determine what sum is due on the mortgage, or what other act the plaintiff is bound to perform for the redemption of the premises, and shall enter a decree, that, upon the payment of such sum, or the performance of such other thing, within such time as the court shall order, the plaintiff shall have possession of the premises, to hold discharged of the mortgage.

SECT. 26. When it appears to the court that the mortgagee has not unreasonably neglected or refused to render a true account of the rents and profits of the mortgaged estate, the court may award to him the balance found due on the mortgage with interest thereon from the expiration of three years after such entry to the time of rendering judgment in the suit, at a rate not exceeding twelve per cent. a year.

SECT. 27. The court may at the same time order or decree, that if the defendant neglects or refuses to accept the money or other thing required by the decree to be paid or performed, the money shall be left for his use with the clerk of the court, or that such other thing shall be done as the case may require; and the plaintiff, after having performed every thing required of him by the decree of the court, may have an execution for possession of the mortgaged premises.

R. S. 107, § 24.

SECT. 28. If, upon a suit for redemption, it appears that the defendant has received from the rents and profits of the estate or otherwise more than is due on the mortgage, the court shall award judgment and execution against him for such sum as is due to the plaintiff; and if there are several defendants, such judgment and execution may be awarded against them, either jointly or severally as the case may require, for the sums received by them or either of them respectively.

6 Mass. 264.
9 Pick. 171.

SECT. 29. When the money tendered and brought into court exceeds the sum found due on the mortgage, and when any sum is awarded to the plaintiff on account of the rents and profits received by the defendant, or for costs of suit, the court may order the whole amount so due to the plaintiff to be deducted from the money brought into court, and the same shall be restored to the plaintiff, and the residue shall be paid to the defendant.

If money tendered, &c., exceeds sum due, amount due to be deducted, &c.
R. S. 107, § 26.

SECT. 30. If the mortgagee or person claiming or holding under him receives from the rents and profits of the premises, or upon a tender made to him, or in any other manner, more than is due on the mortgage, and if no suit for redemption is brought against him, the mortgagor or other person entitled to such excess may recover it in an action of contract for money had and received to his use.

If mortgagee receives more than due, excess may be recovered back.
R. S. 107, § 27.
1852, 312.

SECT. 31. If, during the pendency of a suit for redemption, it appears that any other person is interested therein, the court may cause him to be made a party thereto upon such terms as they shall think proper; and may order a summons or a subpoena to be issued and served on him in such manner as they shall direct; and he shall thereupon be allowed and required to appear and answer to the suit.

New parties may be brought in.
R. S. 107, § 28.

SECT. 32. If a person entitled to redeem a mortgaged estate dies without having made a tender for that purpose, a tender may be made, and a suit for redemption commenced and prosecuted, as well by the executors or administrators as by the heirs or devisees of the deceased.

Executors, &c., may tender and redeem.
R. S. 107, § 30.

SECT. 33. If a tender has been made by such deceased person in his lifetime, a suit for redemption founded thereon may be commenced and prosecuted by his heirs, devisees, executors, or administrators, in like manner as it might have been by the party himself; and if the plaintiff in a suit dies, the suit, whether founded on a previous tender or not, may be prosecuted to final judgment by his heirs, devisees, executors, or administrators.

may bring suit upon tender by deceased.
R. S. 107, § 31.

SECT. 34. When the mortgagee, or the person claiming or holding under him, is under guardianship as an infant or otherwise, the tender may be made to the guardian, and he may, upon satisfaction, execute a release of the mortgage.

Tender may be made to guardian.
R. S. 107, § 32.
12 Mass. 16.

SECT. 35. When execution has issued on a judgment for possession and has been levied, if it shall be afterwards satisfied by payment of the amount due on the mortgage and costs, the mortgagee, his executors, administrators, or assigns, shall at the expense of the mortgagor enter on the margin of the record of the execution an acknowledgment of satisfaction, or make to the mortgagor a deed of release which shall be recorded, with proper notes of reference to the execution discharged thereby.

Where execution for possession is satisfied, mortgagee, &c., to discharge.
188, 144, § 2.
See Ch. 134, § 55.

OPENING OF FORECLOSURE.

SECT. 36. If after the foreclosure of a mortgage the person entitled to the debt recovers judgment for any part of it, on the ground that the value of the mortgaged premises at the time of the foreclosure was less than the sum due, such recovery shall open the foreclosure; and the person entitled may redeem the premises, notwithstanding the three years limited in that behalf have expired: provided, that his suit for redemption is brought within one year after the recovery of such judgment.

MORTGAGES BY DEFEASANCE.

Conveyance with defences over.
R. S. 107, § 34.
22 Pick. 526.
7 Gray, 599.
See Ch. 89, § 15.

SECT. 37. The mortgages mentioned in this chapter shall include not only those made by a common deed of mortgage, but also such as are made by a conveyance with a separate deed of defeasance.

MORTGAGES WITH POWER OF SALE.

When power of sale in mortgage deed, demandant may have decree of sale.
1854, 377, § 1.
2 Met. 29.

SECT. 38. When a power of sale is contained in a mortgage, and a conditional judgment has been entered, the demandant may, instead of a writ of possession, have a decree entered that the property be sold pursuant to such power of sale; and thereupon the demandant shall give such notices and do all such acts as are authorized and required by the power, or the court passing the decree.

Sale by mortgagor not to impair rights of mortgagee.

SECT. 39. No sale or transfer by the mortgagor shall impair or annul any right or power of attorney given in the mortgage to the mortgagee to sell or transfer the mortgaged property, as attorney or agent of the mortgagor.

Party selling to report to court. Sale confirmed. Persons interested may intervene.
1854, 377, § 2.

SECT. 40. The party selling shall within ten days thereafter make a report thereof and of his doings, to the court, under his oath, and file the same in the clerk's office, and the same may be confirmed and allowed, or set aside and a resale ordered, as to the court seems just and lawful. Any person interested may intervene or be summoned and heard on such proceedings; and the order of the court confirming the sale shall be conclusive evidence, as against all persons, that the power of sale was duly executed.

Parties interested in equity of redemption to be summoned before decree.
1854, 377, § 3.

SECT. 41. If the tenant in the action in which such decree of sale is to be made, is not seised in fee simple in possession of the whole equity of redemption of the land demanded, no decree for a sale shall be made until all parties interested in the equity of redemption, and whose estate or interest therein would be affected by such sale, including any married woman having right or possibility of dower, have been summoned to appear and had due opportunity to be heard according to the order of court.

Mortgagee, &c., may give notice and sell in pursuance of power, file copy of notice and affidavit, in registry of deeds.
1857, 229, § 1.
2 Met. 29.
2 Cush. 412.
7 Gray, 213.

SECT. 42. Instead of such suit and decree of sale, the mortgagee, or any person having his estate therein, or authorized by such power to act in the premises, may upon a breach of the condition give such notices and do all such acts as are authorized or required by the power; and he shall, within thirty days after selling the property in pursuance of the power, file a copy of the notice, and his affidavit setting forth his acts in the premises fully and particularly, in the office of the registry of deeds in the county or district where the property is situated. The affidavit and copy of notice shall be recorded by the register, with a note of reference thereto on the margin of the record of the mortgage deed if recorded in his office.

Affidavit or copy of record, evidence of due execution of power.
1857, 229, § 1.

SECT. 43. If it appears by such affidavit that he has in all respects complied with the requisitions of the power of sale, in relation to all things to be done by him before selling the property, and has sold the same in the manner required by such power, the affidavit, or a duly certified office copy of the record thereof, shall be admitted as evidence that the power of sale was duly executed.

When sale under power shall bar dower.

SECT. 44. If the mortgage was executed by a man having at that time no lawful wife, or if being married the wife of the mortgagor joined in the deed in token of her release of dower, the sale of the property in either of the modes aforesaid shall be effectual to bar all claim and possibility of dower in the property.

1851, 377, § 1.
1857, 229, § 2.

MORTGAGES TO THE COMMONWEALTH.

SECT. 45. When a mortgage is made or assigned to the commonwealth, the treasurer may demand and receive the money due, and upon payment shall make and acknowledge a discharge of the mortgage.

Mortgages to the commonwealth.
R. S. 107, § 35.

SECT. 46. If the condition of such mortgage is not duly performed, the treasurer may cause an entry for the breach of the condition to be made by himself, or by any person whom he appoints for the purpose, in the name and behalf of the commonwealth, or he may bring an action in the name of the commonwealth to recover possession of the mortgaged premises; and such possession, obtained either by entry or by action, shall have the same effect in foreclosing the right of redemption as a similar possession by any other mortgagee.

Proceedings for foreclosure.
R. S. 107, § 36.

SECT. 47. The mortgagor or his assigns may redeem such premises in like manner and upon the same terms as if they were held by any other mortgagee; and the payment or performance of the condition for that purpose shall be made or tendered to the treasurer.

for redemption.
R. S. 107, § 37.

SECT. 48. If the treasurer and the person applying to redeem the mortgage disagree as to the sum due, the person applying may bring a suit in equity against the commonwealth for the redemption, in the supreme judicial court for the county of Suffolk. The process shall be served on the treasurer, who shall appear and answer in behalf of the commonwealth; and like proceedings shall be had, and judgment rendered, as are provided in the case of other mortgages; except that the treasurer shall accept any payment due to the commonwealth, and upon the receipt thereof, or upon the performance of such other act as the court orders, shall discharge the mortgage in like manner as when the debt is paid without suit.

Suit in equity may be brought; service; judgment, &c.
R. S. 107, §§ 38, 39.

8. Rents and improvements.
9. Commonwealth seized without execution.
10. Judgment, how far conclusive.

SECTION

11. Claimant not concluded may bring writ of entry.
12. against tenant or occupant. Service and proceedings.
13. Rents and improvements in such case.
14. Costs.
15. Informations against intruders on land held for Indians.
16. District attorney to prosecute.
17. Trial in superior court final, &c.
18. Proceedings to conform to preceding provisions.
19. On recovery, title to vest in trustees, &c.

SECTION 1. When any person unlawfully enters and intrudes upon or holds any lands belonging to the commonwealth, the same may be recovered upon an information filed and prosecuted by the attorney-general or any district-attorney, in the supreme judicial court in any county, describing the premises and setting forth the title and claim of the commonwealth thereto; and a summons shall thereupon issue to the persons therein named as intruders or trespassers, returnable in the county where the lands lie.

Service and proceedings.
R. S. 108, § 3.

SECT. 2. The service of the summons and all other proceedings in the suit shall be conducted in the same manner substantially as in real actions between private persons, unless where a different course is prescribed.

Suits, when commenced by order of legislature.
R. S. 108, § 6.

SECT. 3. When the title of the commonwealth is founded on a forfeiture for the breach of a condition in any grant or conveyance made by the commonwealth, or by the province or colony of Massachusetts Bay, no suit therefor shall be commenced unless by an order of the legislature.

when without such order.
R. S. 108, § 7.
3 Pick. 224.

SECT. 4. If the claim of the commonwealth is founded on an escheat for want of heirs of the last owner of the premises, or on any other title except that of the forfeiture mentioned in the preceding section, the attorney-general or district-attorney may commence and prosecute a suit therefor whenever he has good reason to believe that the claim of the commonwealth can be established by proof.

Public notice, in what cases to be given.
R. S. 108, § 8.

SECT. 5. In case of any supposed escheat, when no person appears as the heir of the person last seised, and in all cases when there is reason to suppose that there is any person claiming any estate or interest in the premises whose name is unknown, or who is absent from the state, or cannot be found therein to be served with process, the court shall, in addition to any other service, order notice to be given to all persons interested to appear and answer to the information, by causing the substance thereof with the order of the court to be published three weeks successively in such newspaper as the court shall direct, the first publication to be ninety days at least before the time appointed for the appearance of the parties.

Who may appear as defendants.
R. S. 108, § 9.

SECT. 6. Any person who claims an estate or interest in the premises, though he is not named in the information nor served with process, may appear and answer thereto; but a defendant who is not named shall not recover costs against the commonwealth, unless it appears that he has some estate or interest in the premises, although the commonwealth fails to establish its claim thereto.

Costs, when several defendants.
R. S. 108, § 10.

SECT. 7. When there are several defendants, the court may award costs for or against any one of them, as the justice of the case may require, in like manner as if he were the sole defendant.

Rents and improvements.
R. S. 108, § 11.
See Ch. 134.

SECT. 8. If the commonwealth prevails in the suit, the defendant shall be chargeable for the rents and profits, and be entitled to an allowance for all improvements, in like manner as is provided in the case of a writ of entry between private persons.

Commonwealth seised without execution.
R. S. 108, § 5.

SECT. 9. The commonwealth shall be deemed and taken to be actually seised and possessed of the premises as soon as judgment is rendered in its favor, without a writ of possession.

Judgment, how far conclusive.
R. S. 108, § 12.

SECT. 10. The judgment shall be conclusive between the commonwealth and the defendants who appear and answer, and against every person named as a defendant upon whom the summons has been duly served within the state, and all persons claiming under such defendants.

Claimant not concluded may bring writ of entry.
R. S. 108, § 13.

SECT. 11. Any person who is not concluded by a judgment for the commonwealth according to the provisions of the preceding section, may, until his claim is barred by the law for the limitation of real actions or otherwise, bring a writ of entry to recover the premises from the commonwealth or any person who may then hold under the commonwealth; may deny and disprove any facts alleged and proved in the first suit, and allege and prove any other facts in support of his claim; and if it appears that he is entitled to the premises, shall have judgment and execution therefor in common form.

Writ must be

SECT. 12. If the commonwealth continues seised of the premises at the time when such new action is commenced, it shall be brought against the tenant or occupant of the premises, and in addition to the service on him a copy of the original writ or summons shall be left with the attorney-general or district-attorney fourteen days at least before the return day, that he may appear and defend the suit. If the commonwealth has granted away the premises, the action shall be brought against the tenant of the freehold. In either case it shall be conducted and disposed of as if no such information had been filed.

brought against tenant or occupant.
Service and proceedings.
R. S. 108, § 14.

SECT. 13. The demandant, if he recovers, shall be entitled to the rents and profits, and shall be chargeable for all improvements, in like manner as is provided in chapter one hundred and thirty-four, although the premises have not been held and possessed under the adverse title as much as six years.

Rents and improvements in such case.
R. S. 108, § 15.

SECT. 14. Costs shall be awarded and taxed for the party prevailing. If the judgment is in favor of the commonwealth, an execution for the costs shall issue; if it is in favor of the defendant, the costs shall be paid out of the treasury, by the warrant of the governor and council.

Costs.
R. S. 108, § 4.

SECT. 15. When any person unlawfully enters into, intrudes upon, or holds, any land, the title to which is in the commonwealth for the use and benefit of any tribe or body of Indians, or in trustees, guardians, treasurers, or agents, appointed by or under the authority of the commonwealth for the use and benefit of such tribe or body, or of any individuals thereof or their descendants, the same may be recovered upon an information filed and prosecuted by the attorney-general or district-attorney in the superior court for the county where the land is situated.

1840, 31, §§ 1, 2.
1853, 186.
1855, 245, § 1.
1859, 196.

SECT. 16. The district-attorney for such district shall file and prosecute such information whenever he has good reason to believe that the land can be recovered.

District-attorney to prosecute.
1853, 245, § 2.
1840, 34, § 2.

SECT. 17. The trial of such information in the superior court shall be final, saving to each party the right of exception in matter of law, according to the provisions of chapter one hundred and [fourteen] [thirteen.]

Trial in sup. ct. final, &c.
1840, 31, § 3.
1859, 196.

SECT. 18. The proceedings in the information and the effects thereof shall in all respects be conformable to the preceding provisions of this chapter; but if the final judgment is in favor of the commonwealth, a writ of possession may be sued out and served like a similar writ in other civil process.

Proceedings to conform to preceding provisions.
1840, 34, § 34.

SECT. 19. If in any such proceeding the commonwealth recovers possession of land to or in which such trustees, guardians, treasurers, or agents, have title or interest, such possession shall be deemed to be the possession of such trustees, guardians, treasurers, or agents, if any are living, otherwise the commonwealth shall hold the same upon and for the uses and trusts aforesaid until others are appointed.

On recovery, title to vest in trustees, &c.
1855, 245, § 3.

See Ch. 123.

SECT. 6. The plaintiff may at any time insert the names of other trustees, and cause the writ to be served on them; and after service on a trustee the writ may be again served on him in like manner and with the same effect as if it had not been previously served. If service is made on a trustee after service on the defendant, it shall be again served on the defendant.

New trustees and new service.
R. S. 109, § 9.

SECT. 7. If all the trustees are discharged, the plaintiff shall not proceed in the suit against the defendant unless there has been legal service of the writ on him, or notice of the suit, or unless he actually appears and answers thereto.

Suit not to proceed, unless, &c.
R. S. 109, § 10.

APPEARANCE AND ANSWER OF TRUSTEE.

Trustee to file answer, &c.
1852, 312, § 56.
3 Met. 297.

SECT. 8. Every person summoned as trustee shall appear and file his answer within the first ten days of the return term of the writ if the court sits so long, or otherwise before the adjournment of the court, unless the court for good cause shown allows further time therefor. The answer shall be sworn to by the trustee, and shall disclose as plainly, fully, and particularly as practicable, what goods, effects, or credits, of the defendant, if any, were in his hands or possession at the time of the service of the writ upon him.

may be further examined on written interrogatories, 1852, 312, § 57.

SECT. 9. The plaintiff may from time to time examine the supposed trustee upon written interrogatories filed in the clerk's office. The answers thereto shall be sworn to and filed in the clerk's office within seven days after notice to the trustee or his attorney of the filing of the interrogatories, unless the court otherwise orders. If answers are not so filed, the court may pass such order as the case may require.

1852, 312, § 56.
2 Mass. 37.
3 Met. 564.
1 Gray, 424.

SECT. 10. Corporations summoned as trustees may appear and answer by their cashier, treasurer, secretary, or such other officer as they shall appoint or as the court shall require to attend for that purpose. The answer and examination on oath of such officers or persons shall be received as the answer and examination of the corporation.

Answer to be taken as true, &c.
R. S. 109, § 15.
2 Mass. 96.
4 Mass. 85.
11 Mass. 488.

SECT. 11. The answers and statements sworn to by a trustee shall be considered as true, in deciding how far he is chargeable, but either party may allege and prove any other facts not stated nor denied by him, that may be material in deciding that question.

Mode of trial.
R. S. 109, § 16.

SECT. 12. Any question of fact arising upon such additional allegations may be tried and determined by the court, or may be submitted to a jury in such manner as the court shall direct.

Trustee, default of.
R. S. 109, § 14.
1852, 312, § 55.

SECT. 13. When a person duly summoned as a trustee neglects to appear and answer to the suit as herein provided, he shall be defaulted and adjudged a trustee.

11 Mass. 488.
10 Met. 180.
7 Cush. 483.
5 Gray, 49.

SECT. 15. If it appears that any goods, effects, or credits, in the hands of a supposed trustee, are claimed by another person by force of an assignment from the defendant or otherwise, the court may permit such claimant to appear and maintain his right. If he does not voluntarily appear, notice for that purpose may be issued and served on him in such manner as the court shall direct.

Proceedings in such case.
R. S. 109, § 18.

SECT. 16. If such claimant appears, he may be admitted as a party to the suit so far as respects his title to the goods, effects, or credits, in question, and may allege and prove any facts not stated nor denied by the supposed trustee; and such allegations shall be tried and determined in the manner before provided.

Testimony, how taken.
R. S. 109, § 19.
1839, 107, § 1.

SECT. 17. Upon the trial of any question arising upon the additional allegations of a party, any part of the testimony may be given by depositions taken and reduced to writing in the usual form, and filed in the case, or orally, as the court shall direct.

PROCEEDINGS WHEN SUIT IS PENDING AGAINST TRUSTEE.

SECT. 18. If during the pendency of an action the defendant is summoned as the trustee of the plaintiff, the first suit may nevertheless proceed so far as to ascertain by a verdict, award, or otherwise, what sum is due from the defendant. The suit shall not be delayed on account of the trustee process, unless the court for good cause shown sees fit to continue it for judgment until the termination of the trustee suit, or until the attachment therein is dissolved by the discharge of the trustee, or by the satisfaction of the judgment, or otherwise.

Case of attachment of a demand already in suit.
R. S. 109, § 31.
7 Mass. 149.

SECT. 19. The court may, on application of the plaintiff in the trustee process, continue the other suit, on such terms as it deems just and reasonable. If it is not so continued, and judgment is rendered against the defendant, he shall not afterwards be adjudged a trustee on account of the demand so recovered against him, so long as he is liable to an execution on the judgment.

Proceedings in such case.
R. S. 109, § 32.

SECT. 20. If before final judgment is rendered in the first suit, the defendant in that suit is adjudged a trustee in the other, and pays thereon the money demanded in the first suit, or any part thereof, the fact shall be stated on the record of the first suit, and judgment therein shall be rendered for the costs due to the plaintiff, and for such part of the debt or damages as remains due and unpaid.

Same subject.
R. S. 109, § 33.

WHEN AND FOR WHAT TRUSTEES ARE CHARGEABLE, &c.

SECT. 21. When a person is summoned as trustee having goods, effects, or credits, of the defendant intrusted or deposited in his hands or possession, such goods, effects, and credits, shall be thereby attached and held to respond the final judgment in the suit, in like manner as goods or estate when attached by the ordinary process, except as hereinafter provided.

of assignees of insolvents.
18-5, 40.
6 Cush. 558.
Sec § 29.

SECT. 24. Any money or other thing due to the defendant may be attached as herein mentioned before it has become payable, if it is due absolutely and without any contingency; but the trustee shall not be compelled to pay or deliver it before the time appointed by the contract.

Debt may be attached before it is payable.
R. S. 109, § 31.
13 Gray, 260.

SECT. 25. If a person summoned as trustee has in his possession goods, effects, or credits, of the defendant, which he holds by a conveyance or title that is void as to the creditors of the defendant, he may be adjudged a trustee, although the defendant could not have maintained an action therefor against him.

R. S. 109, § 35.
4 Mass. 508.
5 Mass. 390.
12 Mass. 140.

SECT. 26. Every trustee shall be allowed to retain or deduct out of the goods, effects, and credits, in his hands, all demands against the defendant of which he could have availed himself if he had not been summoned as a trustee, whether by way of set-off on a trial, or by the set-off of judgments or executions between himself and the principal; and he shall be liable for the balance only, after all mutual demands between him and the principal are adjusted.

Mutual demands between principal and trustee.
R. S. 109, § 36.
16 Mass. 473.
12 Met. 567.
7 Gray, 153.

SECT. 27. In the demands mentioned in the preceding section to be adjusted between the trustee and the defendant, there shall not be Certain demands excluded.

R. S. 109, § 37. included on either side any claim for unliquidated damages for wrongs or injuries.

Trustee not chargeable if he has paid over before knowledge of service. R. S. 109, § 5. 3 Pick. 65. 3 Met. 301. 5 Cush. 515.

SECT. 28. If after the service of process on the trustee, but before he has knowledge thereof, he in good faith makes any payment, or becomes liable to a third person, by reason of the goods, effects, or credits, in his hands, or has delivered the same to the defendant, or to any other person entitled thereto, he shall be allowed therefor in the same manner as if the payment or delivery had been made, or the liability incurred, before the service of the writ.

nor for a certain sum due for wages, &c. 1842, 91. 1857, 200, § 2. See Ch. 90, § 29.

SECT. 29. When the wages for the personal labor and services of a defendant are attached for a debt or demand other than for necessaries furnished him or his family, and when a debt due for the services of the wife or minor children of the defendant is attached, there shall be reserved in the hands of the trustee a sum not exceeding twenty dollars, which shall be exempt from such attachment.

If savings bank charged as trustee, and identity of defendant doubtful, plaintiff to give bond. 1850, 48. 7 Gray, 134.

SECT. 30. When a savings bank or an institution for savings is charged as trustee, and in the opinion of the court there arises upon the answer a doubt as to the identity of the defendant, the court may in its discretion require the plaintiff to give bond with surety or sureties to be approved by the court, conditioned to save such bank or institution harmless therefrom.

What demands not attachable. R. S. 109, § 30. See Ch. 118, § 78.

SECT. 31. No person shall be adjudged a trustee in either of the cases following, viz.: —

First. By reason of having drawn, accepted, made, or indorsed, any negotiable bill, draft, note, or other security when either is payable on time and is not overdue:

3 Mass. 289. 5 Mass. 319. 7 Cush. 257.

Second. By reason of any money or other thing received or collected by him as a sheriff or other officer by force of an execution or other legal process in favor of the defendant in the trustee process, although the same has been previously demanded of him by the defendant:

7 Mass. 259.

Third. By reason of any money in his hands as a public officer, and for which he is accountable to the defendant merely as such officer:

3 Mass. 33, 68. 3 Pick. 1, 65. 6 Pick. 120. 4 Met. 486. 12 Met. 12.

Fourth. By reason of any money or other thing due from him to the defendant, unless it is at the time of the service of the writ on him due absolutely and without depending on any contingency: nor

6 Cush. 264. 7 Gray, 153. 13 Gray, 200.

2 Mass. 94. 2 Mass. 121.

Fifth. By reason of a debt due from him on a judgment, so long as he is liable to an execution thereon.

JUDGMENT, EXECUTION, AND SCIRE FACIAS.

Form of judgment against trustee. R. S. 109, § 42. 21 Pick. 109.

SECT. 32. When a person is adjudged trustee in the original suit, it shall not be necessary to specify in the judgment the sum for which he is chargeable; but if upon a writ of scire facias against him, it appears that he is chargeable as trustee, the sum shall be expressed in the judgment.

Goods not demanded in 30 days may be attached again. R. S. 109, § 43. 1 Mass. 117. 6 Gray, 241.

SECT. 33. If after a person is adjudged trustee, the goods, effects, and credits, in his hands, are not demanded of him, by force of the execution, within thirty days after final judgment, they shall be liable to another attachment, whether made before or after the judgment, in like manner as if such prior attachment had not been made.

or recovered by defendant. R. S. 109, § 14.

SECT. 34. If there is no such second attachment, the defendant in the suit may recover them, if not demanded as aforesaid within said thirty days, in like manner as if they had not been attached.

or otherwise delivered to officer on demand. R. S. 109, § 45. 6 Gray, 241.

SECT. 35. If no such second attachment is made of the same goods, effects, and credits, and no action is brought therefor by the defendant, and if they are not paid or delivered to him before they are demanded of the trustee by the officer, the trustee shall be liable to pay and deliver the same, when so demanded, although it should be after the expiration of said thirty days.

SECT. 36. If the trustee cannot be found in the state by the officer to whom the execution is committed for service, a copy of the execution may be left at his dwelling-house or last and usual place of abode, with a notice to him indorsed thereon and signed by the officer, signifying that he is required to pay and deliver, towards satisfying the execution, the goods, effects, and credits, for which he is liable; and this shall be a sufficient demand for all the purposes expressed in the three preceding sections.

Demand on absent trustee.
R. S. 109, § 46.

SECT. 37. The judgment against a trustee shall acquit and discharge him from all demands by the defendant, or his executors or administrators, for all goods, effects, and credits, paid, delivered, or accounted for, by the trustee, by force of such judgment.

Judgment against trustee shall protect him, &c.
R. S. 109, § 47.
7 Gray, 270, 303.

SECT. 38. If a person summoned as trustee is discharged, the judgment shall be no bar to an action brought against him by the defendant for the same demand.

for him not to bar defendant.
R. S. 109, § 48.

SECT. 39. If a person who is adjudged a trustee in the original suit does not pay over to the officer, upon demand, goods, effects, or credits, sufficient to satisfy the execution, and if the execution is not otherwise satisfied, the plaintiff may sue out a writ of scire facias against all or a separate writ against each of the trustees, from the court in which the judgment was rendered, to show cause why judgment and execution should not be awarded against him and his own goods and estate, for the sum remaining unsatisfied on the judgment against the defendant.

Scire facias against trustee, after judgment.
R. S. 109, §§ 61.
4 Cush. 420.
9 Cush. 289.
See § 72.

SECT. 40. If a trustee duly served with the scire facias neglects to appear and answer, he shall be defaulted; and if he was not examined in the original suit, judgment shall be rendered against him upon such default, for the whole sum remaining unsatisfied on the judgment against the defendant.

Proceedings therein upon default.
R. S. 109, § 39.

SECT. 41. If a trustee who is defaulted on the scire facias has been examined in the original suit, judgment in the scire facias shall be rendered upon the facts stated in that examination, or proved in the trial had thereon, for any part remaining in his hands, of the goods, effects, or credits for which he was originally chargeable as a trustee, or for so much thereof as then remains unsatisfied on the judgment against the defendant.

same subject.
R. S. 109, § 49.

SECT. 42. If the trustee appears and answers to the scire facias, and if he had not been examined in the original suit, he shall be liable to be examined in the same manner as he might have been in that suit; and if he had been examined in the original suit, the court may require or permit him to be examined anew in the suit on the scire facias. In either case, he shall be permitted to answer and prove any matter that may be necessary or proper for his defence in the suit on the scire facias. Upon the whole matter appearing upon such examination and trial, the court shall render such judgment as law and justice require.

upon examination of trustee.
R. S. 109, § 41.
21 Pick. 109.
1 Met. 426.
4 Cush. 431.

SECT. 43. No writ of scire facias shall be maintained against a person adjudged trustee unless served upon him within two years after the rendition of judgment in the original suit; except that if the money or other thing is not payable when the judgment is rendered, said writ may be maintained if served within one year after payment becomes due.

Writ of scire facias to be served within two years after judgment, except, &c.
1846, 49, § 1.
4 Gray, 345.

DEATH OF PARTIES.

SECT. 44. If a person summoned as trustee in his own right dies before the judgment recovered by the plaintiff is fully satisfied, the goods, effects, and credits in his hands at the time of the attachment shall remain bound thereby, and his executors or administrators shall be liable therefor in like manner as if the writ had been originally served on them.

Upon death of trustee, his executor, &c., liable.
R. S. 109, § 63.

Proceedings when trustee dies before judgment.
R. S. 109, § 64.

SECT. 45. If he dies before judgment in the original suit, his executor or administrator may appear voluntarily, or may be cited to appear, as in other cases. The further proceedings shall then be conducted in the same manner as if the executor or administrator had been originally summoned as a trustee, except that the examination of the deceased, if any is filed, shall have the same effect as if he were living.

when executor, &c., does not appear.
R. S. 109, § 65.

SECT. 46. If the executor or administrator does not appear, the plaintiff, instead of suggesting the death of the trustee, may take judgment against him by default or otherwise as if he were living, and the executor or administrator shall pay on the execution the amount which he would have been liable to pay to the defendant, and shall be thereby discharged for the amount so paid, in like manner as if the executor or administrator had been himself adjudged trustee.

Scire facias against executor, &c.
R. S. 109, § 66.

SECT. 47. If, in the case last mentioned, the executor or administrator does not voluntarily pay the amount in his hands, the plaintiff may proceed against him by a writ of scire facias, as if the judgment in the first suit had been against him as trustee.

When trustee dies after judgment.
R. S. 109, § 67.

SECT. 48. If the person summoned as trustee dies after judgment in the original action, the executor or administrator may pay on the execution the amount which the deceased would have been liable to if living, and he shall be discharged from all further demands on account thereof, in the manner before mentioned. If he refuses so to do, the plaintiff may proceed against him by a writ of scire facias, in the manner provided in the preceding section.

within thirty days after judgment.
R. S. 109, § 68.

SECT. 49. If a person against whom execution issues as trustee is not living at the expiration of thirty days after final judgment in the trustee suit, the demand to be made for the purpose of holding the attachment may be made of the executor or administrator of the deceased person at any time within thirty days after his appointment, and shall have the same effect as if made within thirty days after the judgment.

Judgment against executor, &c., how enforced.
R. S. 109, § 69.

SECT. 50. When an executor or administrator is adjudged trustee for or on account of goods, effects, or credits in his hands or possession merely as such executor or administrator, whether in a suit originally commenced against him as trustee, or against the deceased testator or intestate, and whether the judgment is in the original suit or on a writ of scire facias, the execution shall not be served on his own goods or estate, nor on his person, but he shall be liable for the amount in his hands, in like manner and to the same extent only as he would have been to the defendant, if there had been no trustee process.

Same subject.
R. S. 109, § 70.

SECT. 51. If, after final judgment against an executor or administrator for a certain sum due from him as trustee, he neglects to pay the same, the original plaintiff in the trustee process shall have the same remedy for recovering the amount, either upon a suggestion of waste or by a suit on the administration bond, as the defendant in the trustee process would have had upon a judgment recovered by himself for the same demand against the executor or administrator.

PROCEEDINGS WHEN TRUSTEE HAS SPECIFIC GOODS.

Case of trustee having specific goods, &c.
R. S. 109, § 22.
7 Cush. 487.
6 Gray, 320.

SECT. 52. When a person is charged as trustee by reason of goods or chattels, other than money, which he holds or is bound to deliver to the defendant, he shall deliver the same, or as much thereof as may be necessary, to the officer who holds the execution; and the goods shall be sold by the officer, and the proceeds applied and accounted for in the same manner as if they had been taken on an execution in common form.

Same subject.
R. S. 109, § 23.

SECT. 53. The value of any goods so delivered shall be ascertained and fixed, as between the trustee and defendant, in like manner and upon the same principles as if they had been delivered to the defendant. Upon the application of either party the court may, pending the original suit or upon the scire facias, determine the value, and make any other order in relation to such goods and the delivery thereof that may be necessary or proper to protect the rights of the trustee and defendant.

SECT. 54. When a person summoned as trustee is bound by contract to deliver specific goods to the defendant at a certain time and place within the state, he shall not be compelled by reason of the trustee process to deliver them at any other time or place; and he may, notwithstanding such process, tender or deliver them to the person entitled under the contract, at the time and place therein mentioned, unless he shall have been previously adjudged a trustee on account thereof.

Suit not to prevent trustee delivering them, unless, &c.
R. S. 109, § 24.
6 Mass. 66.

SECT. 55. When it appears that such goods in the hands of a person summoned as trustee are mortgaged or pledged, or in any way liable for the payment of a debt to him, the attaching creditor may be allowed, under an order of the court for that purpose, to pay or tender the amount due to the trustee; and he shall thereupon deliver the goods in the manner before provided to the officer who holds the execution.

Case of trustee having lien on the goods.
R. S. 109, § 25.
1 Met. 172.

SECT. 56. If the goods in such case are held for any purpose other than to secure the payment of money, and if the contract, condition, or other thing, to be performed, is such as can be performed by the attaching creditor without damage to the other parties, the court may make an order for the performance thereof by him. Upon such performance, or a tender, the trustee shall deliver the goods in the manner before provided to the officer who holds the execution.

Same subject.
R. S. 109, § 26.

SECT. 57. All goods received by the officer under the two preceding sections, shall be sold and disposed of in the same manner as if they had been taken on an execution in common form; except that from the proceeds of the sale the officer shall repay to the attaching creditor the amount paid by him to the trustee for the redemption of the goods, with interest thereon, or shall indemnify the creditor for any other act or thing by him done or performed pursuant to the order of the court for the redemption of the goods.

Such goods, how disposed of.
R. S. 109, § 27.

SECT. 58. Nothing contained in the preceding sections shall prevent the trustee from selling the goods in his hands for the payment of the demand for which they are mortgaged, pledged, or otherwise liable, at any time before the amount due to him is paid or tendered as before mentioned, if such sale would be authorized as between him and the defendant.

may be sold by trustee in case, &c.
R. S. 109, § 28.

SECT. 59. If a trustee refuses or neglects to deliver any goods in his hands when thereunto lawfully required by the officer who serves the execution, he shall, after deducting the amount of any lien he has thereon, be liable to the plaintiff in the action for the value thereof, to be recovered as money is recovered when not paid on the first execution pursuant to the judgment against a trustee.

Trustee when liable for non-delivery of such goods.
R. S. 109, § 29.

COSTS.

SECT. 60. If a person summoned as trustee appears and answers upon oath as herein provided, he shall be allowed his costs for travel and term fees, and such further sum for counsel fees and other necessary expenses as the court may deem reasonable. But if a trial is had between the plaintiff and alleged trustee upon any issue of fact, the court may award costs to either party as justice and equity require.

and he shall be chargeable for the balance only to be paid on the execution. If such goods, effects, and credits, are not of sufficient value to discharge the costs taxed in his favor, he shall have judgment and execution against the plaintiff for the balance of such costs, after deducting the sum disclosed, in the same manner as if he had been discharged.

SECT. 62. If he is discharged for any cause, his costs and charges shall be paid by the plaintiff, and he shall have judgment and execution therefor.

SECT. 63. If the person summoned as trustee is out of the state at the time of the service of the original writ on him, and appears and answers at the first term after his return, he shall be allowed for his costs and charges in the same manner as if he had appeared at the term when the action was entered.

SECT. 64. If the person so summoned does not dwell or have a usual place of business in the county in which the writ is returnable, he shall in all cases be allowed his costs and charges, which shall be retained or recovered as before provided, whether he appears at the first or at any other term, and whether in the original suit or upon a scire facias against him.

SECT. 65. If a person summoned as trustee who dwells or has his usual place of business in the county in which the writ is returnable, without any reason which the court deems sufficient, neglects to appear and answer within the time herein provided, he shall be liable if the plaintiff recovers judgment in the suit, and his costs are not otherwise recovered and received by him, for all costs for the plaintiff's travel and term fees, until he appears.

SECT. 66. If he does not pay the amount when demanded by the officer who serves the execution, the officer shall state the fact in his return, and if it also appears by the return that the costs have not been paid, the court shall award a new execution against him for the costs.

SECT. 67. If there are several persons summoned as trustees and liable for costs under the provisions of the two preceding sections, the second execution shall be awarded against them jointly, and if either pays more than his proportion, the others shall be bound to contribute equally to indemnify him for the excess.

SECT. 68. If a person summoned as trustee, who dwells or has his usual place of business in the county in which the writ is returnable, is defaulted in the original suit, and a writ of scire facias issues against him, he shall be liable for all costs on the scire facias, to be paid out of his own goods and estate, whether he is finally adjudged a trustee or not, except as hereinafter provided.

SECT. 69. If it appears that the person so defaulted had in his hands goods, effects, or credits, liable to the attachment, and that he has paid and delivered the whole amount thereof on the execution issued on the original judgment, he shall not be liable for costs on the scire facias, nor shall he be entitled to recover costs.

SECT. 70. If the person so defaulted was prevented from appearing in the original suit by his absence from the state, or for any other reason which the court deems sufficient, he shall not be liable for costs on the scire facias, but the court may, if it appears reasonable, allow him his costs and charges for travel and term fees, counsel fees and other necessary expenses, to be retained or recovered in like manner as if he had appeared in the original suit.

SECT. 71. If a person summoned as trustee is held liable to pay from his own estate the costs on the scire facias as before provided, and if he is at the same time liable for the costs for the plaintiff's travel and term fees in the original suit, one execution shall be issued against him for both sums.

SECT. 72. When there are several trustees liable to the writ of scire facias, if the plaintiff, without reasons which the court deems sufficient, sues out two or more writs, when he might have joined all the trustees in one writ, he shall recover no more costs than if he had sued out only one writ, and the court may apportion the costs equally and proportionally among all the trustees liable therefor.

Several trustees.

SECT. 74. If the wages for the personal labor and services of a person are attached by the trustee process on a claim other than for necessities, and the plaintiff does not recover a sum amounting to five dollars as debt, he shall recover no costs of suit.

TRUSTEE PROCESS BEFORE JUSTICES OF THE PEACE, &c.

SECT. 75. All personal actions but those excepted in section one, which are within the jurisdiction of, and may be brought by the ordinary process before, a justice of the peace, or police court, may be so brought by the trustee process.

R. S. 109, § 73.

SECT. 77. When a person is summoned as trustee who is liable to be charged as such, and the defendant resides in this state, but in a county other than that in which the writ is returnable, the writ may run into any county, and be served on the defendant fourteen days at least before its return day, in like manner as if issued from the superior court.

SECT. 78. No person shall be held to answer as a trustee in an action before a justice of the peace, or police court, in any other county than that in which he dwells or has his usual place of business. If he is out of the county at the time of the service of the original writ on him, and does not return before the final judgment in the suit, he shall not be chargeable as trustee.

in double the value of property as appraised.
R. S. 113, § 20.

Return of writ, with bond, &c.
R. S. 113, § 21.

SECTION 1. Any person whose beasts are distrained or impounded, in order to recover a penalty or forfeiture supposed to have been incurred by their going at large, or to obtain satisfaction for damages alleged to have been done by them, may maintain a writ of replevin therefor, to be sued out and prosecuted before a justice of the peace, or police court, for the county, in the same form substantially as heretofore established and used in such cases.

SECT. 2. The writ shall be sued out, served, returned, and the cause shall be heard and determined, in like manner as is provided in other civil actions before a justice of the peace, or police court, in all particulars in which a different course is not prescribed.

SECT. 3. The writ shall not be served, unless the plaintiff or some one in his behalf executes and delivers to the officer a bond to the defendant with sufficient sureties, to be approved by the officer, in a penalty double the value of the property to be replevied, with condition to prosecute the replevin to final judgment and to pay such damages and costs as the defendant shall recover against him, and also to return the property in case such shall be the final judgment.

SECT. 4. The writ shall require that the bond shall be given in double the value of the property to be replevied, but shall not express the sum or amount for which it shall be given. When the parties do not agree as to the value of the property, it shall be ascertained by three disinterested and discreet persons appointed and sworn by the officer, and the penalty of the bond shall be double the value ascertained by such persons, or any two of them.

SECT. 5. The officer shall return such bond with the writ, to be left with the justice or court for the use of the defendant; he shall also include in his return, indorsed on the writ, a certificate of the appointment of the three appraisers, the appraisal and the expenses thereof.

SECT. 6. If it appears upon the nonsuit of the plaintiff, or upon a trial or otherwise, that the beasts were lawfully taken or distrained, the defendant shall have judgment for the sum found to be due from the plaintiff for the penalty or forfeiture, or for the damages for which the beasts were impounded, together with all the legal fees, costs, charges, and expenses, incurred by reason of the distress, and also the costs of the action of replevin; or instead thereof a judgment, for a return of the beasts to be held by the defendant irrepleviable by the plaintiff, and for his damages for the taking thereof by the replevin, and for his costs.

Judgment for defendant, how rendered.
R. S. 113, § 22.

SECT. 7. When the beasts are returned to the defendant pursuant to such judgment, they shall be held and disposed of in like manner as if they had not been replevied.

Beasts returned, how disposed of.
R. S. 113, § 23.

SECT. 8. If it appears upon the default of the defendant, or upon a trial or otherwise, that the beasts were taken or distrained without any sufficient or justifiable cause, the plaintiff shall have judgment for his damages caused by the unjust taking and detaining of the beasts, and for his costs of the suit.

Judgment for plaintiff.
R. S. 113, § 24.

SECT. 9. When it appears that the sum demanded for the penalty, forfeiture, or damages, exceeds the sum of one hundred dollars, or that the property of the beasts is in question, and that their value exceeds one hundred dollars, or that the title to real estate is concerned or brought in question, the case shall at the request of either party be transferred to the superior court, and be there disposed of in like manner as is provided in chapter one hundred and twenty, with respect to actions brought before a justice of the peace, in which the title to real estate is concerned or brought in question.

Certain cases to be removed to superior court.

REPLEVIN OF OTHER PROPERTY.

SECT. 10. When any goods exceeding in value twenty dollars, are unlawfully taken or detained from the owner or person entitled to the possession, or when any goods of that value attached on mesne process or taken on execution are claimed by a person other than the defendant in the suit in which they are so attached or taken, such owner or other person may cause them to be replevied.

SECT. 11. When the property alleged to be detained does not exceed in value one hundred dollars, the writ may be sued out from, and returnable to, a justice of the peace, or police court, for the county in which the goods are detained; and in all cases the writ may be sued out of the superior court, and shall in such case be returnable to the same court for the county in which the goods are detained. It shall be substantially in the form heretofore established and used, and in all particulars in which a different course is not prescribed, shall be sued out, served, and returned, like other writs in civil actions.

SECT. 14. If the goods when replevied were taken on execution, or if they were then attached, and judgment is afterwards rendered for the attaching creditor, and if in either case the service of the execution is delayed by means of the replevin, the damages to be assessed for the defendant, in case of judgment for a return, shall not be less than at the rate of twelve per cent. a year, on the value of the goods, for so long as the service of the execution is so delayed.

Sums recovered on replevin bond, &c., how disposed of.
R. S. 113, § 32.

SECT. 15. All sums recovered in an action of replevin by an officer for or on account of goods attached or taken on execution by him, or recovered in an action upon the bond given upon the replevin of such goods, shall be applied and disposed of, as far as they will go, in the following manner:—

First. To pay the lawful fees and charges of the officer, the reasonable expenses of the action of replevin, and the action on the bond, so far as they are not reimbursed by the costs recovered:

Second. To pay to the creditor at whose suit the goods were attached, or taken on execution, the sum recovered by him in that suit, or as much thereof as remains unpaid, with interest therefor at the rate of twelve per cent. a year, so long as the money has been withheld from the creditor, or the service of his execution delayed, by reason of the replevin: and Third. If the attaching creditor in such case does not recover judgment in the suit in which the attachment was made, or if any balance remains of the money so recovered by the officer after paying what is due to the creditor, the same shall be applied and disposed of in the same manner as would and ought to have been done with the surplus, if any, of the proceeds of sale, in case the same goods had been sold on execution.

Same subject.
R. S. 113, § 33.
154, 153.

SECT. 16. All sums received by such creditor from the proceeds of the sale of goods attached or taken on execution, and afterwards returned, or received for the value of any goods not returned, or recovered from the officer for the insufficiency of the sureties in the bond, shall be applied towards the discharge of the judgment recovered by the creditor: and all sums received as interest or damages for the delay of his execution, shall be applied, one half to the sole use of the creditor, and the other half in discharge of the judgment.

Judgment for plaintiff.
R. S. 113, § 34.

SECT. 17. If it appears upon default or otherwise that the goods were unlawfully taken or attached, or unlawfully detained, by the defendant, the plaintiff shall have judgment for his damages caused thereby, and for his costs of the suit.

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

Goods attached held liable after return.
R. S. 113, § 36.

SECT. 18. If the goods which are replevied had been attached, they shall, in case of judgment for a return, be held liable to the attachment until final judgment in the suit in which they were attached, and for thirty days thereafter, in order to their being taken on execution. If such final judgment is rendered before the return of the goods, or if the goods when replevied were seized and held on execution, they shall be held subject to the same attachment or seizure for thirty days after the return, in order that the execution may be served thereon, or the service thereof completed, in like manner as it might have been if the goods had not been replevied.

Damages, by whom assessed.
R. S. 113, § 35.
152, 314, § 2.

SECT. 19. The damages in replevin, whether for the plaintiff or for the defendant, shall be assessed by the jury by which the cause is tried, if there is a trial by jury: otherwise they shall be assessed upon an inquiry by the court or justice, or by a jury empanelled for that purpose, as damages are assessed in other civil actions.

Form of writs

SECT. 20. The writ of return in all actions of replevin shall be substantially in the same form that has been heretofore established and used in like cases, and the writ of reprisal shall be substantially in the same form with the writ heretofore called a writ of withernam.

of return and reprisal. 1789, 26. R. S. 113, § 38.

SECT. 21. The foregoing provisions shall not preclude the defendant from his remedy on the replevin bond, or against the officer for the insufficiency of the sureties in the bond, to recover the value of the goods together with the loss or damage caused by the replevin, notwithstanding he has endeavored to recover the same by the writs of return and of reprisal, as before provided.

These proceedings not to bar action on bond, &c. R. S. 113, § 39. 8 Met. 265.

SECT. 22. If the officer to whom the writ of return is committed cannot find the beasts or other goods that were replevied, so as to deliver them to the defendant, he shall make a return of that fact upon the writ of return; and the defendant shall upon motion be entitled to a writ of reprisal, to take the beasts or goods of the plaintiff and deliver them to the defendant, to be held and disposed of according to law.

Writ of reprisal, when to be issued. R. S. 113, § 37.

SECT. 23. No action shall be maintained against any person as surety in a replevin bond, unless the writ is served on him within one year after the final judgment in the action of replevin; or if the action is not entered, within one year after the end of the term at which the action of replevin ought to have been entered.

Limitation of suit against surety on replevin bond. R. S. 113, § 40. 12 Mass. 270. 11 Mass. 443.

 R. S. 111, § 1.

SECT. 5. The court or magistrate to whom the complaint is made, shall without delay award and issue a writ of habeas corpus, substantially in the form heretofore established and used in this state, returnable forthwith, either before the supreme judicial court, superior court, or a justice of either of said courts, in term time or vacation, and whether the court is in session or not, and at such place as shall be designated in the writ. 1855, 189, § 3.

1859, 291, § 1.

SECT. 6. In cases of imprisonment or restraint by a person not a sheriff, deputy-sheriff, coroner, or jailer, of this state, the writ shall be in the following form:— Writ, form of in certain cases.
R. S. 111, § 5.
1859, 291, § 2.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.

[SEAL.] To the sheriffs of our several counties, and their respective deputies, Greeting.

We command you, that the body of _____ of _____ by _____ of _____, imprisoned and restrained of his liberty, as it is said, you take and have before _____ a justice of our supreme judicial court, (or superior court as the case may be,) at _____, immediately after receipt of this writ, to do and receive what our said justice shall then and there consider concerning him in this behalf; and summon said _____, then and there to appear before our said justice, to show the cause of the taking and detaining of said _____, and have you there this writ with your doings thereon. Witness _____ at _____, this _____ day of _____ in the year _____.

SECT. 7. When the writ is issued by the court in session, it shall be signed by the clerk, otherwise by the magistrate issuing the same, and it may in either case be served in any county, by a sheriff or deputy-sheriff of the same or any other county. how signed and served.
R. S. 111, § 6.

SECT. 8. The person having the custody of the prisoner may be designated by his name of office, or his own name, or if such names are unknown or uncertain, he may be described by an assumed appellation, and any one upon whom the writ is served shall be deemed the person intended. Officer, &c., how to be named or described.
R. S. 111, § 10.

SECT. 9. The person to be produced shall be designated by his name, if known, and if that is unknown or uncertain, he may be described in any other way so as to make known who is intended. Party, how to be named or described.
R. S. 111, § 11.

SECT. 10. If the party is confined in a common jail, or in the custody of a civil officer, the court or magistrate granting the writ shall certify thereon the sum to be paid for the expense of bringing him from the place of imprisonment, and the officer shall not be bound to obey it unless that sum is paid or tendered to him. Costs of service to be advanced when party is in legal custody.
R. S. 111, § 12.

SECT. 11. Any person to whom the writ is directed shall receive it, and upon payment or tender of the charges, if any, demandable for the execution of it, shall make due return thereof, within five days after receiving it. Writ, when to be returned.
R. S. 111, § 13.

SECT. 12. The person in whose custody the prisoner is found shall state in writing to the court or justice before whom the writ is returnable, plainly and unequivocally, — Substance of return.
R. S. 111, § 14.

First. Whether he has or has not the party in his custody or power, or under restraint:

Second. If he has the party in his custody or power, or under restraint, the authority at large, and the true and whole cause of such imprisonment or restraint, with a copy of the writ, warrant, or other process, if any, upon which the party is detained: and,

Third. If he has had the party in his custody or power, or under restraint, and has transferred such custody or restraint to another, particularly to whom, at what time, for what cause, and by what authority, such transfer was made.

SECT. 13. The return or statement shall be signed by the person making it, and shall be sworn to by him, unless he is a sworn public officer and makes the return in his official capacity. Return to be signed, &c.
R. S. 111, § 15.

SECT. 14. The person making the return or statement shall at the same time bring the body of the party, if in his custody or power, or under his restraint, according to the command of the writ, unless prevented by the sickness or infirmity of the party. Party to be produced with writ.
R. S. 111, § 16.

SECT. 15. When from the sickness or infirmity of the party he cannot without danger be brought to the place appointed for the return of Proceedings when party is sick, &c.

R. S. 111, § 17.

the writ, that fact shall be stated in the return; and if it is proved to the satisfaction of the judge, he may proceed to the jail or other place where the party is confined and there make his examination; or he may adjourn the same to another time, or make such other order in the case as law and justice require.

Writ, how returned and proceeded on in certain cases.
R. S. 111, § 9.

SECT. 16. If the court to which the writ is returnable is adjourned before it is returned, the return shall be made before any one of the justices of the court; and if the writ is in any case returned before one judge at a time when the court is in session, he may adjourn the case into the court, to be there heard and determined in like manner as if the writ had been returned into court.

Examination to proceed without delay.
R. S. 111, § 15

SECT. 17. When the writ is returned, the court or judge shall without delay proceed to examine the causes of the imprisonment or restraint; but the examination may be adjourned from time to time as circumstances require.

Mode of examination and trial.
R. S. 111, § 21.

SECT. 18. The party imprisoned or restrained may deny any of the facts set forth in the return or statement, and may allege any other facts that may be material in the case; and the court or judge shall, except as provided in the following section, proceed in a summary way to examine the causes of the imprisonment or restraint, hear the evidence produced by any person interested or authorized to appear both in support of such imprisonment or restraint and against it, and thereupon to dispose of the party as law and justice require.

Trial by jury on demand of either party, in case of fugitive from service.
1855, 489, § 4.
See § 66.
See Ch. 172, § 15.

SECT. 19. When it appears by the return of the officer or otherwise that the person whose restraint or imprisonment is in question is claimed to be held to service or labor in another state, and to have escaped from such service or labor, the court or justice shall, on the application of any party to the proceeding, order a trial by jury as to any facts stated in the return of the officer, or alleged, and may admit said person to bail in a sum not exceeding two thousand dollars. In such case, issue may be joined by a general denial of the facts alleged, the plea may be not guilty, and the jury shall have the right to return a general verdict, and the same discretion as juries have in the trial of criminal cases; and the finding of a verdict of not guilty shall be final and conclusive.

Summoning, &c., of jurors.
1855, 489, § 5.
See § 66.

SECT. 20. When a trial by jury is ordered, the court or justice, unless a jury is already in attendance, shall by warrant command the sheriff or his deputy to summon a jury, in the manner provided in chapter forty-three, to attend at the time and place stated in the warrant; at which time and place they shall be empanelled, and having elected a foreman by ballot, the issue so framed shall be submitted to them for their determination. If one jury disagrees, the issue may be submitted to another jury or continued to the next term, at the discretion of the court. In every case of disagreement another jury may be summoned and qualified as above provided, forthwith or at a future day, in the discretion of the court or justice, until a verdict is finally rendered. If a person summoned as a juror fails to attend without sufficient cause, he shall pay a fine of fifty dollars. And if, by reason of challenges or otherwise, there is not a full jury of the persons summoned, the officer attending the hearing shall return some suitable person or persons to supply the deficiency.

Claimant to state in writing facts upon which he relies. Burden of proof and rules of evidence.
1855, 489, § 6.
See § 66.

SECT. 21. If a claimant appears to demand the custody or possession of the person for whose benefit the writ is sued out, he shall state in writing the facts on which he relies, with precision and certainty. Neither the claimant, nor the alleged fugitive, nor any person interested in his alleged obligation to service or labor, shall be permitted to testify at the trial of the issue; and no confessions, admissions, or declarations, of the alleged fugitive against himself shall be given in evidence. Upon every question of fact involved in the issue, the burden of proof shall be on the claimant; and the facts alleged and necessary to be established must be proved by the testimony of at least two credible witnesses, or other legal evidence equivalent thereto, and by the rules of evidence known and secured by the common law, except as modified by the provisions of this section. No ex parte deposition or affidavit shall be received in proof in behalf of the claimant, and no presumption shall arise in his favor from proof that the alleged fugitive or any of his ancestors had been actually held as a slave, without proof that such holding was legal.

SECT. 22. When it appears from the return of the writ or otherwise, that the party is detained on any process under which another person has an interest in continuing his imprisonment or restraint, the party shall not be discharged until sufficient notice has been given to such other person or his attorney, if within the state, or within thirty miles of the place of examination, to appear and object to such discharge if he thinks fit.

Notice, when to be given to other persons.
R. S. 111, § 19.

SECT. 23. When it appears from the return of the writ or otherwise, that the party is imprisoned on a criminal accusation, he shall not be discharged until sufficient notice has been given to the attorney-general or other attorney for the commonwealth, that he may appear and object to such discharge if he thinks fit.

when to be given to attorney-general.
R. S. 111, § 20.

SECT. 24. Until judgment is given, the court or judge may remand the party, or may bail him to appear from day to day, or may commit him to the sheriff of the county, or place him under such other care and custody as the circumstances of the case may require.

Custody of party, pending examination.
R. S. 111, § 26.

SECT. 25. If the party is detained for a cause or offence for which he is bailable, he shall be admitted to bail if sufficient bail is offered, and if not, he shall be remanded with an order of the court or judge expressing the sum in which he shall be held to bail, and the court at which he shall be required to appear; and any justice of the peace may, at any time before the sitting of said court, bail the party pursuant to such order.

Party, when and how to be bailed.
R. S. 111, § 23.

SECT. 26. If the party is committed on mesne process in a civil action for want of bail, and if it appears that the sum for which bail is required is excessive and unreasonable, the court or judge shall decide what bail is reasonable, and shall order that on giving such bail the party shall be discharged.

how, when committed on mesne process.
R. S. 111, § 24.

SECT. 27. If the party is lawfully imprisoned or restrained, and is not entitled to be enlarged on giving bail, he shall be remanded to the person from whose custody he was taken, or to such other person or officer as by law is authorized to detain him.

when to be remanded.
R. S. 111, § 25.

SECT. 28. If no legal cause is shown for the imprisonment or restraint, the court or judge shall discharge the party therefrom.

when to be discharged.
R. S. 111, § 22.

SECT. 29. No person who has been discharged upon a habeas corpus shall be again imprisoned or restrained for the same cause, unless indicted therefor, convicted thereof, or committed for want of bail by some court of record having jurisdiction of the cause; or unless after a discharge for defect of proof, or for some material defect in the commitment in a criminal case, he is again arrested on sufficient proof, and committed by legal process.

when discharged, not to be imprisoned again, unless, &c.
R. S. 111, § 34.

SECT. 30. When a person is committed to jail on a criminal accusation for want of bail, any justice of the superior court or of a police court, or any two justices of the peace and of the quorum, may admit him to bail in like manner as might have been done by the court or magistrate who committed him; and said justices, respectively, may issue a writ of habeas corpus and cause such prisoner to be brought before them when it is necessary for the purpose expressed in this section.

Habeas corpus and bail when person is committed in criminal case, &c.
R. S. 87, § 3.
R. S. 111, § 36.
1859, 496.

justice of either of said courts, to issue a writ of habeas corpus at discretion, and thereupon to bail a person for whatever cause he is committed or restrained, or to discharge him, as law and justice require; except only persons committed by the governor and council, the senate, or the house of representatives, in the manner and for the causes mentioned in the constitution.

SECT. 32. Nothing contained in this chapter shall be construed to restrain the power of any court or magistrate to issue a writ of habeas corpus, when necessary to bring before them a prisoner for trial in any criminal case lawfully pending in the same court or before such magistrate; or to bring in a prisoner to be examined as a witness in a suit or proceeding, civil, or criminal, pending in such court or before such magistrate, when the personal attendance and examination of the witness is deemed necessary for the attainment of justice.

SECT. 33. An officer, who refuses or neglects for six hours to deliver a true copy of the warrant or process by which he detains a prisoner, to any person who demands such copy and tenders the fees therefor, shall forfeit and pay to such prisoner the sum of two hundred dollars, to be recovered in an action of tort.

SECT. 34. If a person to whom such writ of habeas corpus is directed refuses to receive the same, or neglects to obey and execute it according to the provisions of this chapter, and no sufficient excuse is shown for such refusal or neglect, the court or judge before whom the writ was returnable shall proceed forthwith by process of attachment, as for a contempt, to compel obedience to the writ and to punish the person guilty of the contempt.

SECT. 35. If such attachment is issued against a sheriff or his deputy, it may be directed to a coroner, or other person to be designated therein, who shall have full power to execute the same; and if the sheriff or his deputy is to be committed upon such process, he may be committed to the jail of any county other than his own.

SECT. 36. Upon such refusal or neglect of the person to whom the writ of habeas corpus is directed, the court or judge may also issue a precept to any officer or other person to be designated therein, commanding him to bring forthwith, before such court or judge, the person for whose benefit the writ of habeas corpus was issued, and the prisoner shall be thereupon discharged, bailed, or remanded, in like manner as if he had been brought in upon the writ of habeas corpus.

SECT. 37. Every person guilty of such refusal or neglect to receive and execute a writ of habeas corpus, shall moreover forfeit to the party aggrieved thereby the sum of four hundred dollars, to be recovered in an action of tort.

SECT. 38. Whoever resists the service of the writ of habeas corpus, or disobeys the same when served, shall be liable to attachment, as for a contempt of the court or judge before whom the writ is returnable.

SECT. 39. If any one who has in his custody, or under his power, a person entitled to a writ of habeas corpus, whether a writ has been issued or not, transfers such prisoner to the custody, or places him under the power or control of, another person, or conceals him, or changes the place of his confinement, with intent to elude the service of such writ or to avoid the effect thereof, the person so offending shall forfeit to the party aggrieved thereby the sum of four hundred dollars, to be recovered in an action of tort.

SECT. 40. The recovery of any penalty imposed by the foregoing provisions of this chapter shall not bar an action at common law for false imprisonment, or for a false return to the writ of habeas corpus, or for any other injury or damage sustained by the aggrieved party.

SECT. 41. Nothing contained in this chapter shall be construed to authorize the superior court or any justice thereof to order the discharge of a person committed or held upon any process issued by the supreme judicial court or any justice thereof.

Superior court not to discharge person held, &c., by S. J. C.

PERSONAL REPLEVIN.

SECT. 42. If a person is imprisoned, restrained of his liberty, or held in duress, unless in the custody of some public officer of the law by force of a lawful warrant or process, civil or criminal, issued by competent authority, he shall be entitled, as of right, to the writ of personal replevin, and to be thereby delivered in the manner hereinafter provided.

Writ of personal replevin, when to issue as of right, 1837, 221, § 1. S. Met. 192.

SECT. 43. The writ shall be issued from and returnable to the superior court in the county in which the plaintiff is confined, and shall be issued fourteen days at least before the return day.

Issuing and return thereof, 1837, 221, § 2. 1855, 449.

SECT. 44. It shall be directed to the sheriff of the county, or his deputy, or to any of the coroners thereof, and shall be served without delay by either to whom it is delivered.

By whom served, 1837, 221, § 3.

SECT. 45. It shall be in the following form, viz. : —

Form of, 1837, 221, § 4. 1859, 196.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.

—, ss. To the sheriff of our county of _____ or his deputy, or either of the [L. S.] coroners thereof, _____ Greeting.

We command you, that justly and without delay, you cause to be replevied C. D. who (as it is said) is taken and detained at _____, within our said county, by the duress of G. H., that said C. D. may appear at our superior court next to be holden at _____, within our county aforesaid, then and there in our said court to demand right and justice against said G. H., for the duress and imprisonment aforesaid, and to prosecute his replevin as the law directs :

Provided, said C. D. shall before his deliverance give bond to said G. H. in such sum as you shall judge reasonable, and with two sureties at least having sufficient within your county, with condition to appear at our said court to prosecute his replevin against said G. H., and to have his body there ready to be redelivered, if thereto ordered by the court; and to pay all such damages and costs as shall be then and there awarded against him. Then, and not otherwise, are you to deliver him. And if said C. D. is by you delivered at any day before the sitting of our said court, you are to summon said G. H. by serving him with an attested copy of this writ, that he may appear at our said court to answer to said C. D.

Witness, L. S., Esq., at B _____, the _____ day of _____, in the year _____, A. B., Clerk.

SECT. 46. No person shall be delivered from his imprisonment or restraint by force of such writ, until he gives bond in the manner expressed in the preceding section. The bond shall be returned with the writ like a bail bond, and left in the clerk's office, to be delivered to the defendant upon demand.

shall not deliver from restraint, unless bond given, &c. 1837, 221, § 5.

SECT. 47. The officer who serves the writ shall be answerable for the insufficiency of the sureties in the bond, in like manner as he is answerable for taking insufficient bail in a civil action, and the bond may be approved in the same manner as a bail bond.

Officer responsible for sureties, 1837, 221, § 6. 1855, 449, § 22.

SECT. 48. If it appears that the plaintiff was unlawfully imprisoned or restrained, he shall be discharged, and recover costs as well as damages for the imprisonment and detention.

Plaintiff to recover cost, if discharged, 1837, 221, § 7.

SECT. 49. If the plaintiff does not maintain his action, the defendant shall have judgment for costs and for any damages he has sustained by reason of the replevin.

Defendant when to recover costs, &c. 1837, 221, § 8.

SECT. 50. If it appears that the defendant is bail for the plaintiff, or is entitled to the custody of the plaintiff, as his child, ward, servant, apprentice, or otherwise, he shall have judgment for a redelivery of the body, to be held and disposed of according to law.

When defendant to have judgment for redelivery of plaintiff, 1837, 221, § 9.

Capias shall issue to take defendant in certain cases.
1837, 221, § 10.

SECT. 51. If it appears from the return of the writ that the defendant has secreted or conveyed away the plaintiff's body, so that the officer cannot deliver him, the court shall on motion issue a capias to take the defendant's body, and him safely keep, so that he may be had at the then next term of the court, to traverse the return of the writ; but the defendant may give bail for his appearance as in a civil case, in such sum as the officer may judge reasonable.

Defendant may deny the return, &c.
1837, 221, § 11.
1842, 312.

SECT. 52. At the term at which the capias is returned, the defendant may deny by answer the return on the writ, and if it appears on the trial that he is not guilty of secreting or conveying away the plaintiff as set forth in the return, he shall be discharged and recover his costs.

Defendant, if guilty of secreting, to be committed to jail, &c.
1837, 221, § 12.

SECT. 53. If the defendant does not traverse the return, or if upon a traverse the issue is found against him, an alias writ of capias shall be issued, and he shall thereupon be committed to the jail, there to remain in close custody until he produces the body of the plaintiff, or proves him to be dead. If the defendant suggests such death at any time after committal as aforesaid, the court shall at his expense empanel a jury to try the fact; and if the death is proved the defendant shall be discharged.

Proceedings when plaintiff's body is produced by defendant, after return of secretion, &c.
1837, 221, § 13.

SECT. 54. If, at any time after such return of secretion and conveying away, the defendant produces the body of the plaintiff in the court to which the writ of personal replevin was returned, or in which the suit is pending, the court shall deliver the plaintiff from restraint, upon his giving bond agreeably to the condition of the writ; and for want of such bond the plaintiff shall be committed to abide the judgment on the replevin; and in either case the suit shall be proceeded in as if the plaintiff had been delivered on the writ of personal replevin.

Either party may appeal to S. J. C.
1837, 222, § 14.
1849, 87, §§ 4, 5.

SECT. 55. Either party may appeal from any judgment of the court founded upon matter of law apparent upon the record, to the supreme judicial court, as in civil actions; and upon such appeal the whole case shall be carried up, and be disposed of as it ought to have been if there had been no appeal.

Writ of personal replevin may be sued out, &c., in behalf of plaintiff, without express authority.
1837, 221, § 15.

SECT. 56. The writ may be sued out by any person for and in behalf of the plaintiff, and may be prosecuted to final judgment without any express power for that purpose; but the person so appearing shall, when required during the pendency of the suit, give security in such manner as the court directs for the payment of all damages and costs awarded against the plaintiff.

Description of parties, if names are unknown.
1837, 221, § 16.

SECT. 57. If the name of the defendant or person to be delivered is unknown or uncertain, he may be described and proceeded with in the writ of personal replevin or any process under the same, as is prescribed in relation to the writ of habeas corpus by sections eight and nine.

PERSONAL LIBERTY.

Governor to appoint commissioners in each county to defend fugitives. Attorneys may act as counsel.
1853, 489, § 17.
See § 66.

SECT. 58. The governor, by and with the advice and consent of the council, shall appoint in every county one or more commissioners learned in the law, who shall in their respective counties, when any person is arrested or seized, or in danger of being arrested or seized, as a fugitive from service or labor, on being informed thereof, diligently and faithfully use all lawful means to protect and defend such alleged fugitive, and secure to him a fair and impartial trial by jury, and the benefits of the provisions of this chapter; and any attorney whose services are desired by the alleged fugitive may also act as counsel.

Commissioners to be paid by commonwealth.
1853, 489, § 18.
See § 66.

SECT. 59. The commissioners shall defray all expenses of witnesses, clerks' fees, and officers' fees, and other expenses incurred in the protection and defence of any person so seized or arrested; and the same, together with the reasonable charges of the commissioners for their services as attorneys and counsel, shall be reimbursed by the commonwealth.

SECT. 60. No person while holding any office of honor, trust, or emolument, under the laws of this state, shall, in any capacity, take cognizance of any case, issue any warrant or other process, or grant any certificate, under or by virtue of an act of congress approved the twelfth day of February in the year one thousand seven hundred and ninety-three, entitled "An Act respecting fugitives from justice and persons escaping from the service of their masters," or under or by virtue of an act of congress, approved the eighteenth day of September in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty, entitled "An Act to amend, and supplementary to, 'An Act respecting fugitives from justice and persons escaping from the service of their masters,'" or shall, in any capacity, serve such warrant or other process. Any justice of the peace who offends against the provisions of this section, by directly or indirectly acting in such cases, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding one thousand dollars, or be imprisoned in jail not exceeding one year for each offence.

Persons holding office under this state not to issue warrants to arrest fugitives, &c. 1843, 60, §§ 1, 3, 1855, 489, §§ 1, 9. See § 66.

SECT. 61. No jail, prison, or other place of confinement, belonging to or used by the state or any county therein, shall be used for the detention or imprisonment of any person accused or convicted of an offence created by either of the acts of congress mentioned in the preceding section, or accused or convicted of obstructing or resisting any process, warrant, or order, issued under either of said acts, or of rescuing, or attempting to rescue, any person arrested or detained under any of the provisions of either of said acts, nor for the imprisonment of a person arrested on mesne process or execution in a suit for damages or penalties accruing, or claimed to accrue, in consequence of aid rendered to any fugitive escaping from service or labor.

State jails not to be used for detention of persons claimed as fugitives, &c. 1843, 60, 1855, 489, § 19. See § 66.

SECT. 62. Whoever removes from the limits of this state, or assists in removing therefrom, or comes into the state with the intention of removing or assisting in the removing therefrom, or procures or assists in procuring to be so removed, any person being in the peace thereof, who is not "held to service or labor" by the "party" making "claim," or who has not "escaped" from the "party" making "claim," or whose "service or labor" is not "due" to the "party" making "claim," within the meaning of those words in the constitution of the United States, on the pretence that such person is so held or has so escaped, or that his "service or labor" is so "due," or with the intent to subject him to such "service or labor," shall be punished by fine not less than one thousand, nor exceeding five thousand, dollars, and by imprisonment in the state prison not less than one, nor exceeding five, years. And any person sustaining wrong or injury by any proceeding punishable as aforesaid, may also maintain an action and recover damages therefor.

Punishment and damages for removing, &c., or coming here with intention to remove, persons not held to service or labor. 1855, 489, §§ 7, 8. See § 66.

SECT. 63. Any sheriff, deputy-sheriff, jailer, coroner, constable, or other officer, of this state, or of the police of any city or town, or any district, county, city, or town, officer, or any officer or other member of the volunteer militia of this state, who hereafter arrests, imprisons, detains, or returns, or aids in arresting, imprisoning, detaining, or returning any person for the reason that he is claimed or adjudged to be a fugitive from service or labor, shall be punished by fine not less than one thousand, and not exceeding two thousand, dollars, and by imprisonment in the state prison not less than one, nor exceeding two, years.

Penalty on sheriffs, &c., arresting fugitives from labor. 1843, 60, §§ 2, 3, 1855, 489, §§ 1, 15. See § 66.

SECT. 64. The volunteer militia shall not act in any manner in the seizure, detention, or rendition, of a person for the reason that he is claimed or adjudged to be a fugitive from service or labor. Any member thereof who offends against the provisions of this section shall be punished by fine not less than one thousand, and not exceeding two thousand, dollars, and by imprisonment in the state prison for not less than one, nor more than two, years.

on members of militia for acting in seizure of fugitives from service. 1855, 489, § 16. See § 66. See Ch. 164, § 5.

Penalties not to apply to acts of military obedience, &c. 1858, 175, § 2. Preceding sections not to apply to fugitives from justice. 1855, 489, § 21.

United States judicial officers, &c., not to hold office under laws of this state, except, &c. Power of justice of the peace when U. S. commissioner. 1858, 175, § 1.

SECT. 65. The penalties prescribed by the two preceding sections shall not apply to any act of military obedience and subordination performed by an officer or private of the militia.

SECT. 66. Nothing in the eight preceding sections, nor in sections nineteen, twenty, and twenty-one, shall be construed to apply to so much of the act of congress of the twelfth day of February in the year one thousand seven hundred and ninety-three, as relates to fugitives from justice.

SECT. 67. No person holding a judicial office under the laws of the United States, or the office of commissioner of the circuit court of the United States, shall hold any judicial office under the constitution and laws of this state, except that of justice of the peace. No justice of the peace, while holding the office of a commissioner of the United States circuit court, shall have authority to grant any warrant, or to issue any process, civil or criminal, other than summonses to witnesses, or hear and try any cause, civil or criminal, under the laws of this state.

AUDITA QUERELA.

Audita querela, how sued out, &c. 1780, 47. R. S. 112, § 1. 5 Met. 228. 13 Gray, 1.

to what court returnable. R. S. 112, § 2. 1859, 193.

SECTION 1. The writ of audita querela may be sued out and served like an original writ of attachment or summons, and the forms of process shall be substantially the same as heretofore established and used in this state.

SECT. 2. When the writ is brought to prevent, set aside, or annul, any proceedings upon a judgment or execution, it shall be sued out of and returnable to the court in which the judgment was rendered. In other cases it may be brought in the county in which any personal action might be brought between the same parties, and shall be sued out of and returnable to the superior court.

SECT. 3. The proceedings in relation to pleas, answer, appeal, and other matters, shall be the same as in other civil actions, so far as they are applicable.

SECT. 4. The court shall hear and determine the cause upon any issue of law or fact, or upon the nonsuit or default of either party, and shall render judgment as law and justice shall require.

Proceedings. R. S. 112, §§ 3, 6. 1840, 87, §§ 4, 5. Judgment. R. S. 112, § 4. 4 Mass. 185. 10 Mass. 101. 10 Mass. 270. 11 Mass. 413.

SECT. 5. When the writ is brought to set aside or annul any proceedings under an execution, the plaintiff, if he prevails, shall recover recompense for the damages suffered by said proceedings, and the judgment on the audita querela shall be a bar to any other action thereafter brought for the same damages.

Judgment, when for plaintiff, shall bar new action.
R. S. 112, § 5.

SECT. 6. If the plaintiff is imprisoned on the execution or other process complained of, the court in which the suit is pending may enlarge him upon his giving bond to the defendant in such sum as the court shall order, with two or more sureties having sufficient within the county and approved by the court, conditioned that if final judgment on the audita querela is rendered for the defendant, the plaintiff shall within thirty days thereafter surrender himself to the jailer or other officer by whom he was imprisoned, to be detained in custody under the former execution or process, or shall within that time pay the sum due on the former execution or process, together with such costs as may be recovered by the defendant.

Plaintiff, how discharged from prison.
R. S. 112, §§ 7, 8.

SECT. 7. If the plaintiff thus surrenders himself, he shall be in custody under the execution or other process on which he was imprisoned, in like manner as if the writ of audita querela had not been brought.

after surrender, to be held, &c.
R. S. 112, § 9.
17 Mass. 153.

CERTIORARI.

SECT. 8. Writs of certiorari to correct errors in proceedings that are not according to the course of the common law, shall be issued from and returnable to the supreme judicial court according to the practice heretofore established, and subject to such further regulations as shall be made from time to time by the general rules of the court.

Writs of certiorari to issue from S. J. C.
R. S. 112, § 21.
8 Cush. 529.

SECT. 9. When the proceedings of any tribunal are brought up by a writ of certiorari, the court may quash or affirm such proceedings, or enter such judgment as the court below should have rendered, or make such order, judgment, or decree, in the premises, as law and justice require.

Proceedings of other tribunals quashed or affirmed, &c.
1858, 109.

SECT. 10. Upon application for a certiorari, and also on the final adjudication when a certiorari is granted, the court may, in its discretion, award costs against any party who appears to maintain or object to the proceeding in question.

Court may allow costs.
R. S. 112, § 22.
4 Mass. 565.
11 Mass. 465.

SECT. 11. No writ of certiorari shall be issued, unless application is made thereto within six years next after the proceeding complained of.

Limitation.
R. S. 112, § 23.

SECT. 12. At any time after the issuing of a writ of audita querela or certiorari, or pending an application for a certiorari, the court may issue any writ of injunction which the nature of the case and justice and equity in their judgment require.

Court may issue injunction, &c.

MANDAMUS.

SECT. 13. When a writ of mandamus issues, the person required to make return thereto shall make his return to the first writ, and the person suing the writ may by an answer traverse any material facts contained in such return, or demur thereto. If the party suing the writ maintains the issue on his part, his damages shall be assessed, and a judgment rendered, that he recover the same with costs, and that a peremptory writ of mandamus be granted; otherwise the party making the return shall recover his costs. No action shall be maintained for a false return to a writ of mandamus.

Writ of mandamus; return; proceedings.
1852, 312, §§ 38, 39.
6 Mass. 464.

SECT. 14. The court may make rules, not only on a petition for the writ, but upon and after the issuing of the first writ, calling upon any person other than the party to whom the writ is prayed to be or has been directed, having or claiming any right or interest in the subject matter, to show cause against the issuing of the writ. If such person Court may make rules before and after first writ, &c. Admittance of third party.

20 Pick. 486.

appears he shall be heard in such manner as the court may direct, and in proper cases may be allowed to frame and sign the return to the first writ, and to stand as the real party in the proceedings.

SECT. 15. If a third person is admitted as is provided in the preceding section, the proceedings shall not abate or be discontinued by the death, resignation, or removal from office by lapse of time, or otherwise, of the person to whom the writ was directed, and any peremptory writ shall be directed to his successor.

Proceedings
not to abate on death, &c., of third party.
1852, 312, § 41.

QUO WARRANTO.

quo warranto.
1852, 312, § 42.
9 Cush. 596.
1 Gray, 370.
3 Gray, 116.

SECT. 16. Any person whose private right or interest has been injured, or is put in hazard by the exercise by any private corporation, or persons claiming to be a private corporation, of a franchise or privilege not conferred by law, whether such person is a member of such corporation or not, may apply to the supreme judicial court for leave to file an information in the nature of a quo warranto.

when made and heard.
1852, 312, § 43. to be heard
summarily.
1852, 312, § 44.

SECT. 17. The application may be made and heard at a law or jury term in any county where the court is in session.

SECT. 18. The court shall take order for a summary hearing of the parties, and if there appears probable cause to believe that the party complained of has exercised a franchise or privilege not conferred by law, and that thereby the private right or interest of the complainant has been injured, or is put in hazard, leave shall be granted to file the information.

where to be filed.
Notice, &c.
1852, 312, §§ 45,
49.

SECT. 19. The information shall be filed in the county where the defendant has its principal place of business. A copy of the information, with an order of notice returnable and to be served when and as the court may direct, shall be served on the defendant and on the attorney-general.

Court may issue injunction.
1852, 312, § 46.

SECT. 20. The court, when leave is given to file such information, or at any time before final judgment, may issue a writ of injunction restraining the defendant, and its managers, servants, and agents, from exercising the franchise or privilege in question, until the further order of the court.

Attorney-general may appear, &c.
1852, 312, § 49.

SECT. 21. The attorney-general, when he has good reason to believe there has been a usurpation of a franchise or privilege not conferred by law, may intervene and demand a judgment of fine and forfeiture. In such case he shall have the control of all future proceedings, and the court shall enter such judgment as the principles of the common law may require, but the complainant shall no longer be responsible for costs.

Judgment for complainant
when attorney-general does not appear.
1852, 312, § 47.

SECT. 22. If the attorney-general has not intervened, and it is determined that the defendant has exercised a franchise or privilege not conferred by law, no judgment of forfeiture shall be entered; but the judgment shall be, that the corporation, or the persons claiming to be a corporation, be perpetually excluded from such franchise or privilege, and that the directors, managers, or agents, by whom the usurpation was made, pay the costs, to be recovered by the complainant.

for defendant.
Costs.
1852, 312, § 48.

SECT. 23. If it is adjudged that the defendant has not exercised any franchise or privilege not conferred by law, the defendant shall recover against the complainant the same costs as are allowed in actions at law.

Other duties of attorney general, and rights of others not affected.
1852, 312, § 50.
5 MASS. 230.
3 Gray, 124.

SECT. 24. Nothing herein contained shall affect the duty of the attorney-general to proceed ex officio in all cases in which he might have heretofore so proceeded by law, nor deprive any person of the right to file an information respecting the election or admission of an officer or member of a corporation.

WRITS OF ERROR.

SECTION 1. Writs of error in civil and criminal cases may issue of course out of the supreme judicial court, in vacation as well as in term time, and shall be returnable to the same court. 7 Gray, 378.

SECT. 2. Questions of law, (except upon pleas in abatement,) and final judgments in civil actions in the superior court, may be reexamined upon a writ of error, and reversed or affirmed, in the supreme judicial court held for the same county, for any error in law or in fact, except as hereinafter provided. When the judgment is reversed, the court shall render such judgment as the superior court should have rendered. 5 Cush. 611.

SECT. 3. A judgment in a civil action shall not be reversed for any defect or imperfection in matter of form which might by law have been amended; nor because it is not in conformity with the allegations of the parties, if it is in conformity with the verdict; nor shall any error in law in a civil action in which the defendant appeared and a verdict was rendered, except such as occurs after verdict, be assigned in a writ of error. But nothing herein contained shall prevent either party from assigning any error affecting the jurisdiction of the court.

SECT. 4. Judgment shall not be arrested or reversed on a writ of error in a civil action, by reason of any mistake respecting the venue of the action, whether it is local on account of its subject matter or any or all of its parties.

SECT. 5. Judgment in a civil case shall not be reversed or avoided for any error or defect, unless the writ of error is sued out within six years after the entering of the judgment, except as provided in the following section. 1842, 54, § 1.

SECT. 6. If an action of contract or writ of scire facias is brought on a judgment, a writ of error to reverse the judgment may be sued out at any time within six years after the bringing of such action or writ.

SECT. 7. A writ of error shall not operate to stay or supersede the execution in a civil action, unless the plaintiff in error or some person in his behalf gives bond to the defendant, with one or more sufficient sureties, conditioned that the plaintiff shall prosecute his suit to effect, and pay and satisfy such judgment as may be rendered thereon.

SECT. 8. The sufficiency of the sureties and the amount of the bond shall be determined by any justice of the supreme judicial court or the clerk from whose office the writ is issued, according to such general rules as the court may from time to time establish.

SECT. 9. Such bond shall be filed in the clerk's office for the use of the defendant, and no execution shall be thereafter issued upon the judgment during the pendency of the writ of error. If execution has been already issued, the clerk shall make and sign a certificate of the issuing of the writ of error and the filing of the bond, and after notice of such certificate to the officer holding the execution, all further proceedings thereon shall be stayed.

SECT. 10. The party prevailing on a writ of error in a civil action shall be entitled to his costs against the adverse party, and if the judgment is affirmed, the court shall adjudge to the defendant in error damages for his delay, not less than at the rate of six per cent. and not exceeding twelve per cent. a year, on the amount recovered by the former judgment; and may in their discretion award to the defendant double costs.

SECT. 11. Questions of law (except upon pleas in abatement) and final judgments in all criminal cases in the superior court may be re-examined and reversed or affirmed upon a writ of error in the supreme judicial court, for any error in law or in fact.

SECT. 12. Writs of error upon judgments in criminal cases may be brought at any time after judgment is rendered, and may be entered in any county. When the writ is returned, the court shall without delay proceed to examine the case; but the examination may be adjourned from time to time as circumstances may require.

SECT. 13. A writ of error upon a judgment for a capital offence shall not issue, unless allowed by one of the justices of the supreme judicial court after notice given to the attorney-general or other attorney for the commonwealth.

SECT. 14. Writs of error upon judgments in all other criminal cases shall issue of course, but they shall not stay or delay the execution of the judgment or sentence, unless they are allowed by one of the justices of the supreme judicial court, with an express order thereon for a stay of proceedings on the judgment or sentence.

SECT. 15. When a stay of proceedings is ordered as provided in the preceding section, the judge may at the same time make such order as the case requires, for the custody of the plaintiff in error, or for letting him to bail; or the party may upon a writ of habeas corpus procure his enlargement upon giving bail, if entitled thereto.

SECT. 16. When a final judgment in a criminal case is reversed by the supreme judicial court on account of error in the sentence, the court may render such judgment therein as should have been rendered, or may remand the case for that purpose to the court before which the conviction was had.

SECT. 17. If the defendant in a criminal case is discharged on a writ of error, the legal costs shall be borne by the commonwealth.

SECT. 18. The proceedings upon writs of error, as to the assignment of errors, the scire facias, pleadings, judgment, and all other matters not herein provided for, shall be according to the course of the common law, as modified by the practice and usage in this state and general rules made by the supreme judicial court.

WRITS OF REVIEW.

SECT. 19. Final judgments in civil actions may be reëxamined and tried anew upon writs of review, as provided in this chapter, and not otherwise.

Review of civil actions.
R. S. 99, § 1.
19 Pick. 61.

SECT. 20. When judgment is rendered as provided in chapter one hundred and twenty-six, upon the default of a defendant upon whom service has not been made by reason of his being out of the state or his residence being unknown, he may at any time within one year after the judgment as of right, without any petition therefor, sue out of the court in which the judgment was rendered a writ of review.

R. S. 99, § 4.
R. S. 99, § 17.

SECT. 21. If judgment is rendered, either by the supreme judicial court, or superior court, in a civil action in any manner, the supreme judicial court, except when a review is prosecuted as of right, may on petition grant a review on such terms as it deems reasonable: provided, that if the judgment complained of was rendered in the absence of the petitioner, and without his knowledge, the petition for review shall be filed within one year after he first had notice of the judgment, otherwise within one year after the judgment was rendered.

SECT. 22. The petition may be presented to the court when sitting in any county, or in vacation to any justice thereof, and the order of notice issued thereon may be made returnable in such county as the court shall in the same order direct; but the review, if granted, shall be had in the county in which the former judgment was rendered, or in the county in which the original action would have been tried if it had been carried to the supreme judicial court by appeal or otherwise. If the review is not granted, the court may award to the respondent his reasonable costs.

SECT. 23. Reviews granted by the supreme judicial court shall be tried as the court shall order, either in that or the superior court.

Trial to be as court orders.
R. S. 99, § 25.

SECT. 24. The superior court may concurrently with the supreme judicial court grant reviews of its own judgments in all cases in which a review can be granted according to the provisions of this chapter; and may grant reviews of judgments rendered before a justice of the peace or police court, in any case in which a review might be granted if the judgment had been rendered in the superior court. The proceedings on the petitions for such reviews, and upon the trial thereof, if granted, shall be conducted in the same manner as is prescribed in like cases in the supreme judicial court.

Superior court may grant reviews in certain cases, &c.
R. S. 99, §§ 26, 27, 28.
1859, 196.
2 Cush. 1.

SECT. 25. The writ shall be sued out of the clerk's office of the court in which the action is to be tried, and shall be in the form heretofore used, except as is hereinafter provided.

Writ, how sued out.
R. S. 99, § 2.

SECT. 26. It shall not be necessary to recite at length the declaration and other proceedings in the original suit, but the writ of review may be substantially as follows, viz:—

original writ, except that when the defendant is not an inhabitant of the state, or not found therein, the writ may be served on the person who appeared as his attorney in the original suit, and the court may continue the cause, to enable the absent party to appear and answer.

SECT. 29. If the writ is sued out by the original plaintiff, he may cause the defendant's goods and estate to be attached as they might have been in the original action, and for this purpose the writ of review may be so framed as to require an attachment in the common form and that the defendant be summoned. No attachment made, or bail taken, in the original suit shall be liable to satisfy the judgment rendered on the review.

SECT. 30. If an issue of fact was joined in the original suit, the cause shall be tried on the review upon the same issue, except that the court may allow amendments of the original declaration and other pleadings, as might have been done in the original suit; and if a different issue is joined in consequence of such amendment, the cause shall be tried upon such new issue.

SECT. 31. If the former judgment was rendered without an issue, the parties shall plead or answer upon the review in like manner as they might have done in the original suit, and the cause shall be tried upon any issue of fact or law joined upon such pleadings, or answer; and each party may produce any legal evidence, whether produced in the former suit or not.

SECT. 32. Judgment shall be given in like manner as if the parties had brought their several writs of review.

SECT. 33. The prevailing party shall recover costs, unless the court in granting the review imposed on the petitioner terms respecting cost.

SECT. 34. If the sum recovered by the plaintiff in the original suit for debt or damages is reduced on the review, the original defendant shall have judgment and execution for the difference with costs; or, if the former judgment is not satisfied, one judgment may be set off against the other, and an execution issue for the balance. If the original plaintiff recovers a greater sum for debt or damages than was awarded to him in the original suit, he shall have judgment and execution for the excess.

SECT. 35. In actions of replevin and in actions in which a set-off is filed, the original defendant shall be considered, as to every thing contained in this chapter, like a plaintiff in other actions, so far as it respects any damages awarded to him, either in the original suit or upon the review.

SECT. 36. If judgment is recovered against several defendants in the original action, any one or more of them may review in like manner as if he or they had been the only defendants; and if the sum recovered in the original suit for debt or damages is increased or reduced, the court shall take such order respecting the further proceedings as may be necessary to carry into effect the two judgments, according to the rights of all parties.

SECT. 37. Writs and petitions for reviews shall be indorsed in the same manner as original writs; and all regulations concerning the indorsement of original writs shall apply to writs and petitions for review.

SECT. 38. After the rendition of judgment in a civil action, if the execution has not been satisfied, the court or justice, upon the petition of the defendant, may order a stay or supersedeas of it, if the petitioner gives to the adverse party security to the satisfaction of the court or justice, with condition that he will forthwith prosecute a review to final judgment and satisfy such execution as may be issued against him on the review. The execution shall not otherwise be stayed or superseded by the writ of review.

5 Greenl. 38.
8 Mass. 1.
5 Cush. 611.
2 Gray, 407.

SECT. 2. The parties shall appear in person, or by their lawful agents or attorneys, before a justice of the peace, and there sign and acknowledge an agreement in substance as follows:—

Know all men, that _____, of _____, and _____, of _____, have agreed to submit the demand, a statement whereof is hereto annexed, (and all other demands between them, as the case may be,) to the determination of _____, _____, and _____, the award of whom, or the greater part of whom, being made and reported within one year from this day to the superior court for the county of _____, the judgment thereon shall be final; and if either of the parties neglects to appear before the arbitrators, after due notice given them of the time and place appointed for hearing the parties, the arbitrators may proceed in his absence. Dated this _____ day of _____, in the year _____.

Form of submission.

1839, 196.
5 Mass. 489, 521.
6 Cush. 108.
10 Cush. 114.

The justice shall subjoin to the agreement his certificate, in substance as follows:—

_____, ss. _____, _____. Then the above named _____, and _____, personally appeared (or, the above named _____, personally, and said _____, by said _____, his attorney, appeared, as the case may be,) and acknowledged the above instrument by them signed to be their free act. Before me, _____, Justice of the Peace.

SECT. 3. An agreement to submit all demands shall include only such as might be the subject of a personal action at law or of a suit in equity.

Submission of all demands, how construed.
R. S. 114, § 4.

SECT. 4. If a specific demand is submitted to the exclusion of others, it shall be set forth in the statement annexed to the agreement; otherwise it shall not be necessary to annex any statement of a demand, and the submission may be of all demands between the parties, or of all demands which either has against the other. The submission may be varied in this respect in any other manner, according to the agreement of the parties.

varied according to agreement.
R. S. 114, § 3.

SECT. 5. The time within which the award shall be made and reported may be varied according to the agreement of the parties, but no award made after that time shall have any legal effect or operation, unless made upon a recommitment by the court to which it is reported.

Time within which award shall be made.
R. S. 114, § 6.

SECT. 6. Neither party shall have power to revoke the submission without the consent of the other; and if either neglects to appear after due notice, the arbitrators may proceed to hear and determine the cause.

Neither party to revoke submission.
R. S. 114, § 5.

SECT. 7. All the arbitrators shall meet and hear the parties, but an award by a majority of them shall be valid, unless the concurrence of the whole is expressly required in the submission.

Award by majority, when valid.
R. S. 114, § 11.

SECT. 8. The award shall be delivered by one of the arbitrators to the court designated in the agreement, or shall be enclosed and sealed to be delivered to the court.

R. S. 114, § 7. by them, and transmitted to the court, and shall remain sealed until opened by the clerk.

Award, at what term to be returned. R. S. 114, § 10. 5 Mass. 489, 524. 11 Mass. 148. 7 Met. 316. SECT. 9. It may be returned at any term or session of the court held within the time limited in the submission, and the parties shall attend without any express notice for that purpose; but the court may require actual notice to be given to either party, before it proceeds to act upon the award.

Jurisdiction of the court. Judgment. R. S. 114, §§ 8, 9. 7 Cush. 389. SECT. 10. The court shall have cognizance of it in the same manner, and may proceed thereon, as if it had been made by referees appointed by a rule of court; and may accept or reject it, or recommit it to the same arbitrators for a rehearing. When accepted and confirmed by the court, judgment shall be rendered thereon as upon a like award by referees.

Power of arbitrators as to costs. R. S. 114, § 12. 6 Greenl. 247. 2 Mass. 164. SECT. 11. If there is no provision in the submission concerning costs and expenses, the arbitrators may make such award respecting them, as they judge reasonable, including a compensation for their own services; but the court may reduce the sum charged for compensation, if it appears unreasonable.

Appeal and writ of error. R. S. 114, § 13. 1849, 87, §§ 4, 5. 1850, 196. 5 Met. 287. 6 Met. 289. 5 Cush. 611. SECT. 12. An appeal shall be allowed from any order or judgment of the superior court, founded on matter of law apparent upon the record, on any award made under this chapter; or a party aggrieved may bring a writ of error for any error in law or fact as in other cases. The supreme judicial court shall thereupon render such judgment as the court below ought to have rendered.

Fees of the justice, &c. R. S. 114, § 14. SECT. 13. The fees of the justice for the agreement of submission and acknowledgment shall be forty cents, and the fees in court the same as for like services with respect to an award made under a rule of court.

Improvement of meadows, &c., by proprietors.

SECTION 1. When any meadow, swamp, marsh, beach, or other low land is held by several proprietors, and it is necessary or useful to drain or flow the same, or remove obstructions in rivers or streams leading therefrom, such improvements may be effected under the direction of commissioners in the manner herein provided.

SECT. 2. Such proprietors, or the greater part of them in interest, may apply by petition to the superior court for the county where the lands or any part of them lie, setting forth the proposed improvements and the reasons therefor; and the court shall cause notice of the petition to be given in such manner as it may judge proper, to any proprietors who have not joined in the petition, that they may appear and object thereto.

SECT. 3. If upon hearing the parties it appears that the improvements proposed will be for the general advantage of the proprietors, the court may appoint three, five, or seven suitable persons, as commissioners, who shall be sworn to the faithful discharge of their duties; shall view the premises, notify parties concerned, hear them as to the best manner of making the improvements, and prescribe the measures to be adopted for that purpose.

SECT. 4. They shall, according to the tenor of the petition and the order of court, cause dams or dikes to be erected on the premises at such places and in such manner as they shall direct; may order the land to be flowed thereby for such periods of each year as they shall deem most beneficial; and cause ditches to be opened on the premises, and obstructions in any rivers or streams leading therefrom to be removed; and they shall meet from time to time as may be necessary to cause the work to be completed according to their directions.

SECT. 5. They may employ suitable persons to erect the dams or dikes, or perform the other work, under their direction, for such reasonable wages as they may agree upon; unless the proprietors themselves do the same in such time and manner as the commissioners shall direct.

SECT. 6. They shall apportion the whole charge and expense of the improvements, and of executing the commission, among the proprietors of the lands, having regard to the quantity, quality, and situation, of each person's part thereof, and to the benefit that he will derive from the improvements; and shall assess the same upon the proprietors.

SECT. 7. They may appoint a collector of the moneys assessed, and shall give him a warrant to collect, pay over, and account for, the same, to such person as they may appoint. The collector shall have the same power and proceed in like manner in collecting the assessments, as provided for collecting town taxes.

SECT. 8. If the collector neglects for twenty days after being thereto required by the commissioners to account for and pay over the money he has collected, he shall be liable to pay to the commissioners the whole amount committed to him for collection, to be recovered by them in an action of contract; and the money so recovered, after deducting the expenses of recovery, shall be applied and accounted for by the commissioners as if it had been collected and paid over by the collector pursuant to his warrant.

SECT. 9. The collector shall be allowed such compensation for his services as may be agreed upon between him and the commissioners; and the commissioners shall be allowed such compensation for their services as may be ordered by the court.

SECT. 10. The commissioners shall, as soon as may be after the completion of the business, make a return to the court of their doings under the commission, including an account of all money assessed and collected by their order, and of the disbursement thereof.

SECT. 11. When it appears to the commissioners that part of the land is held by a tenant for life or years, they shall determine how much of the sum apportioned on that part of the premises shall be paid by such tenant, and how much by the landlord or reversioner; and shall assess the same accordingly, unless the parties concerned agree on an appor-

SECT. 18. An appeal shall be allowed from any order or judgment of the court founded on matter of law apparent on the record, in any proceedings under this chapter; and any person aggrieved by any opinion, direction, or judgment, of the court, in any matter of law, may allege exceptions thereto, which shall be reduced to writing and allowed and signed by the presiding judge, and thereupon the case shall be removed into the supreme judicial court as provided in chapters one hundred and fourteen and one hundred and fifteen.

CONSTRUCTION OF ROADS, &C., TO SWAMPS, &C.

Towns, &c., owning swamps, &c., authorized to construct roads, &c., to.
1855, 101, § 1.
See § 25.

SECT. 19. Any town, city, person, company, or body corporate, having the ownership of low lands, lakes, swamps, quarries, mines, or mineral deposits, that on account of adjacent lands belonging to other persons or occupied as a highway, cannot be approached, worked, drained, or used, in the ordinary manner, without crossing such lands or highway, may be authorized to establish roads, drains, ditches, tunnels, and railway, to such places, in the manner hereinafter provided.

Petition for improvements,

SECT. 20. The party desiring to make such improvements shall file a petition therefor with the county commissioners within whose juris-dition the premises are situated, setting forth the names of the persons interested, if known to the petitioner, and also, in detail, the nature of the proposed improvement and the situation of the adjoining lands; which petition shall be accompanied with a bond, satisfactory to said commissioners, for the payment of expenses incurred in the prosecution of the application.

to commissioners.
1855, 104, § 2.

SECT. 21. The commissioners at their first meeting after the filing of the petition and bond, shall give at least three weeks' public notice of the time and place of meeting to consider the petition, in some newspaper printed in the county; and if there is no such paper, in a newspaper printed in an adjacent county; they shall further give notice to the mayor of any city and the clerk of any town in which the premises are situated.

on.
1855, 104, § 4.

SECT. 23. Any party aggrieved by the award may appeal therefrom, and thereupon like proceedings shall be had as are provided in chapter forty-three, for persons aggrieved in the laying out of highways.

Appeal.
1855, 104, § 6.

SECT. 24. When it is necessary to repair any improvement thus constructed, a majority of the persons benefited by it may cause such repairs to be made, and compel contributions from each person benefited, on the basis of the award.

Repairs of improvements.
1855, 104, § 5.

SECT. 25. When the premises mentioned in section nineteen are situated entirely in one town or city, the petition may be made to the selectmen or mayor and aldermen thereof, who shall proceed thereon in all respects as above provided for county commissioners upon such petitions, except that they need not give notice to their town or city.

Petition may be made to selectmen, &c.
1857, 292, § 1.

SECT. 26. The petition under the preceding section shall be filed in the office of the town or city clerk before proceedings are had thereon; and together with the order or award thereon shall be recorded in said office within two months after the same is made.

ERECTION AND REGULATION OF MILLS.

Mills and dams on streams not navigable.
 R. S. 116, § 1.
 5 Pick. 292.
 22 Pick. 312.
 23 Pick. 219.

SECTION 1. Any person may erect and maintain a water mill, and a dam to raise water for working it, upon and across any stream not navigable, upon the terms and conditions, and subject to the regulations, hereinafter expressed.

11 Met. 570. 12 Met. 119. 6 Cush. 305. 8 Cush. 115, 553. 2 Gray, 407.

Not allowed to injury of existing mill or mill-sites.

 11 Mass. 533.
 17 Mass. 289.
 10 Pick. 357.
 22 Pick. 312.
 23 Met. 149.
 8 Cush. 117.

SECT. 2. No such dam shall be erected to the injury of any mill lawfully existing, either above or below it, on the same stream, nor to the injury of any mill-site on the same stream, on which a mill or mill-dam has been lawfully erected and used, unless the right to maintain a mill on such last-mentioned site has been lost or defeated by abandonment or otherwise; nor shall any mill-dam be hereafter erected or raised to the injury of any such mill-site which has been occupied as such by the owner thereof: provided, that such owner within a reasonable time after commencing such occupation completes and puts in operation a mill for the working of which the water of such stream shall be applied; nor shall any mill or dam be placed on the land of any person, without such grant, conveyance, or authority, from the owner, as would be necessary by the common law if no provision relating to mills had been made by statute.

SECT. 3. The height to which the water may be raised, and the length of time, or period, for which it may be kept up in each year, shall be liable to be restricted and regulated by the verdict of a jury. 7 Gray, 296.

SECT. 4. A person whose land is overflowed or otherwise injured by such dam, may obtain compensation therefor upon his complaint before the superior court for the county where the land or any part thereof lies: provided, that no compensation shall be awarded for damage sustained more than three years before the institution of the complaint.

12 Met. 182, 188. 4 Cush. 152, 161. 6 Cush. 170, 303. 7 Gray, 296.
2 Cush. 341. 5 Cush. 537. 4 Gray, 581. 13 Gray, 118.

SECT. 5. The complaint shall contain such description of the land alleged to be flowed or injured, and such statement of the damage, that the record of the case will show with sufficient certainty the matter heard and determined therein.

SECT. 6. The complaint may be filed in the court in term time, or in the clerk's office in vacation, and in either case notice thereof shall be given to the owner or occupant of the mill, by delivering to him, or leaving at his dwelling house, an attested copy of the complaint; or if he is not found within the state and has no dwelling house therein, by leaving such copy at the mill in question fourteen days at least before the complaint is to be heard; or the complainant may fourteen days at least before the sitting of the court to which his complaint is brought, cause the owner or occupant of such mill or dam to be served with an attested copy of the complaint, by delivering or leaving such copy in like manner as when the complaint is filed as aforesaid.

SECT. 7. The notice shall be served by any officer authorized to serve any other civil process between the same parties.

SECT. 8. The respondent may answer in bar, that the complainant has no estate or interest in the land alleged to be flowed or injured, or that the respondent has a right to maintain his dam for an agreed price, or without any compensation, or any other matter which may show that the complainant cannot maintain the suit; but he shall not answer that the land described is not injured by the dam. 7 Gray, 296.

SECT. 9. If any plea or answer is filed by the respondent, the replication and other pleadings, and the trial of the issue, whether of law or of fact, shall be conducted in like manner as in actions at the common law.

SECT. 10. If an issue is decided in favor of the respondent, or if the complainant becomes nonsuit or discontinues, the respondent shall be entitled to his costs, to be taxed as in civil actions.

SECT. 11. If the owner or occupant of the mill or dam after due notice is defaulted, or offers no legal objection, or an issue is decided in favor of the complainant, the court shall issue a warrant for a jury to hear and determine the matter of the complaint.

SECT. 12. Either party may appeal as in other civil actions, but if the judgment of the supreme judicial court is in favor of the complainant, the cause shall be remitted and the court shall proceed therein in like manner as if the judgment had been rendered in that court.

SECT. 13. The warrant shall be directed and served, and the jurors shall be drawn, summoned, and returned, in the manner provided in chapter forty-three with respect to a jury returned on the complaint of a person aggrieved by the laying out of a highway, and the jurors shall be required to attend under a like penalty.

SECT. 14. All the proceedings for supplying a deficiency of jurors, and all other proceedings in the case, shall be substantially the same as are provided in said chapter forty-three.

SECT. 15. If the parties so agree by writing filed in the case, the trial may be in the court before a jury as in other civil actions, and in such case, if either party requires it, the jury shall view the premises alleged to be injured, subject to such regulations and terms as the court may prescribe.

SECT. 16. The jury, in estimating the damage to the land of the complainant, shall take into consideration any damage occasioned to his other land by the dam, as well as the damage occasioned to the land overflowed; and they shall also allow by way of set-off any benefit occasioned by such dam to the complainant, in relation to his lands.

SECT. 17. If the jury find by their verdict that the complainant is not entitled to recover any damages, and it is allowed and recorded, judgment shall be rendered for the respondent.

SECT. 18. If they find that the complainant is entitled to recover damages, they shall assess the amount of damages sustained within three years next preceding the institution of the complaint, and to the time of rendering the verdict; and if the verdict is allowed and recorded, the complainant shall have judgment and execution.

SECT. 19. If it is alleged in the complaint, that the dam is raised to an unreasonable height, or that it ought not to be kept up and closed during the whole year, the jury shall decide how much, if any, the dam shall be lowered, and also whether it shall be left open any part of the year, and if any, what part, and shall state such decision as a part of their verdict.

SECT. 20. They shall also ascertain and determine, by their verdict, what sum, if any, to be paid annually to the complainant, would be a just and reasonable compensation for the damages that may be thereafter occasioned by the dam, so long as it is used in conformity with the verdict; and also what sum in gross would be a just and reasonable compensation for all damages thereafter occasioned by such use of the dam, and for the right of maintaining and using the same forever in manner aforesaid.

SECT. 21. The complainant in such case, at any time within three months after the verdict is allowed and recorded, may elect to take the sum so awarded in gross for the right to maintain and use the dam forever, instead of receiving the annual compensation therefor; and if he makes such election, he shall within said three months cause the same to be entered on the record of the case in the clerk's office.

SECT. 22. The owner or occupant of the mill or dam shall, within three months after such election is thus entered, pay to the complainant, or secure to his satisfaction, said sum with interest from the time of the verdict. After the expiration of said three months, such owner or occupant shall lose all benefit of the provisions contained in this chapter, until payment of said damages and interest.

SECT. 23. If the complainant does not within said three months cause such entry of his election to be made on the record, he and all persons claiming under him shall be entitled to demand and receive from whoever shall be the owner or occupant of the mill, the annual compensation so established by the jury, so long as the dam is kept up and maintained; unless the sum is increased or diminished upon a new complaint as hereinafter provided.

SECT. 24. The person entitled to receive said annual compensation or gross damages shall have a lien therefor from the time of the institution of the original complaint, on the mill and mill-dam with their appurtenances, and the land under and adjoining the same and used therewith: provided, that such lien shall not extend to any sum due more than three years before the commencement of an action therefor.

SECT. 25. Such person may maintain an action of contract therefor in the superior court, against the person who owns or occupies the mill when the action is brought; and shall therein recover the whole sum due and unpaid for the three years then last past, whoever has owned or occupied the mill during that time; and he shall be entitled to full costs, although the sum recovered does not amount to twenty dollars.

SECT. 26. The execution issued on such judgment may at any time within thirty days after judgment be levied on the premises so subject to the lien; and the officer may thereupon proceed to sell the same, or so much thereof as is necessary to satisfy the execution and all charges of levying it; and he shall proceed in making such sale in like manner in all respects as is provided with regard to the sale on execution of a right to redeem real estate mortgaged.

Premises may be sold on execution.
R. S. 116, § 25.

SECT. 27. Such sale shall be valid and effectual against all persons claiming the premises by any title that has accrued within the time covered by the lien.

Sale, how far effectual.
R. S. 116, § 26.

SECT. 28. Any person entitled to the premises so sold may redeem the same at any time within one year after the sale, upon paying to the purchaser or the person holding under him the sum paid therefor, with interest at the rate of twelve per cent. a year.

Right of redemption.
R. S. 116, § 27.

SECT. 29. The provisions of this chapter shall not affect the right to keep up, maintain, and use, any water-mill and mill-dam, now lawfully existing, except as is herein expressly provided; but when the owner or occupant of a mill or dam makes any material change by raising the dam, or altering the machinery, or the manner of using the water, so as to cause additional damage to the land of another, it shall be considered as a new mill or dam, in respect to such additional damage, and the remedy and proceedings to recover compensation therefor shall be substantially such as are provided in this chapter respecting a new dam.

SECT. 33. The court shall award a reasonable compensation to the person who presides at the trial, and to the officer who executes the warrant; which with the pay of the jurors and other like charges shall be advanced by the complainant, and taxed and allowed in the bill of costs.

Compensation for services at trial, &c.
R. S. 116, § 32.

SECT. 34. When either party is dissatisfied with the annual compensation established by a jury, either under the provisions of this chapter or of the laws heretofore in force, a new complaint may be brought for the increase or diminution thereof, or for ascertaining the gross amount of the damages; and all the proceedings shall be conducted substantially in the manner before provided in the case of an original complaint; provided, that when a complainant has declined to accept gross damages awarded him, no jury shall again determine the amount of gross damages until the expiration of ten years thereafter.

and either party may within the said month make an offer or tender to the other as hereinafter provided.

SECT. 37. The owner of the mill or dam may within said month offer in writing to the owner of the land any increase of said annual compensation; and if the owner of the land does not agree to accept the same, but brings a new complaint to obtain an increase thereof, he shall pay the costs, unless he obtains a verdict for a greater annual compensation than was so offered to him.

SECT. 38. The owner of the land may within said month offer in writing to the owner of the mill or dam, to accept any smaller sum than that established as said annual compensation; and if the owner of the mill or dam does not agree to pay such reduced compensation, but brings a new complaint to obtain a diminution thereof, he shall pay the costs, unless the annual compensation is reduced by the verdict to a sum less than that so offered to him.

SECT. 39. Such offer may be made by or to the respective tenants or occupants of the land, and of the mill or dam, in like manner and with like effect as if made by or to the respective owners; except that no agreement founded thereon shall bind said owners unless made with their consent.

SECT. 40. If the offer so made by either party is agreed to and accepted by the other, it shall establish the annual compensation to be thereafter paid, in like manner as if it had been established by a verdict and judgment upon a new complaint: provided, that a memorandum of such offer and acceptance, and of the agreement, is made and signed by the respective parties, or by persons duly authorized by them, and filed and recorded in the clerk's office of the court in which the former judgment was rendered, with a note of reference on the record of the former judgment to the book where the agreement is recorded.

SECT. 41. If upon a complaint by the owner of the land the jury decide that he is not entitled to any annual compensation, the judgment thereon shall be no bar to a new complaint for damages alleged to have arisen after the former verdict, and for compensation for damages thereafter sustained.

SECT. 42. In every original complaint brought by the owner of land alleged to be injured by a mill-dam, the respondent may bring into court and there tender any sum that he deems proper to be paid to the complainant for the damages incurred up to the time of such tender; and may also offer to pay any certain annual compensation for the damage that may be thereafter occasioned by the dam in question; and if the complainant does not accept the same, with his costs up to that time, but proceeds in the suit to recover greater damages or compensation, he shall, unless he recovers greater damages or greater annual compensation than was so offered, be entitled to his costs up to the time of the tender, and the respondent shall be entitled to recover his costs afterwards.

SECT. 43. If the complainant in the case mentioned in the preceding section consents to accept the amount so offered for the past damage and future annual compensation, he shall have judgment accordingly, and also for his costs up to that time, and the judgment shall have the same effect as if it had been rendered upon the verdict of a jury; or the complainant may accept either the sum tendered for past damages, or the offer for future annual compensation, and proceed to trial on the residue of the complaint under the same liability for costs.

SECT. 44. Two or more persons suffering damage from a mill-dam, whether jointly or separately interested in the lands injured, may join in a complaint under this chapter; and their cases may be heard before the same jury, which may assess joint or several damages as the interest and title of the complainants may require; and judgment and execution for costs and damages shall be had in conformity thereto.

SECT. 45. The provisions of chapter one hundred and twenty-nine, in respect to pleas in abatement, shall be applicable to complaints under this chapter; and when new defendants are summoned in pursuance of said provisions, the plaintiff may have a verdict against such of the defendants as he proves to be liable, although he fails as to the rest.

Pleas in abatement. New defendants. 1839, 151, § 5.

SECT. 46. No complaint for flowing shall be abated by reason of the death of any party, but the same may be prosecuted or defended by the surviving complainants or respondents, or the executors or administrators of the deceased; and if any such complaint is abated or otherwise defeated for any matter of form, or if after verdict for the complainant the judgment is reversed for error, upon a certiorari or otherwise, the complainant or any person claiming from, by, or under, him, may bring a new complaint for the same cause, at any time within one year after the abatement or other determination of the original complaint, or after the reversal of the judgment; and may upon the new complaint recover all damages sustained during the three years before the institution of the first complaint, or at any time afterwards.

Complaint not to abate by death of parties. Remedy for abatement or reversal of judgment. R. S. 116, § 43.

REGULATION OF DAMS.

SECT. 47. The county commissioners, on application made to them in writing by any persons owning mill or other property liable to destruction or damage by the breaking of a mill or reservoir dam, or on application of the mayor and aldermen or selectmen of any city or town on account of the liability of damage to any roads or bridges therein from the same cause, shall, after notice to the adverse party of the time and place, view and thoroughly examine such dam.

County commissioners to view &c., on notice. 1854, 327, § 1.

SECT. 48. If, in the judgment of the commissioners, the dam is not sufficiently strong and substantial to resist the action of the water under any circumstances which may reasonably be supposed to exist, they shall determine and direct what alterations or additions are required to make it permanent and secure; and shall give a written direction to the owner thereof to make such alterations or repairs within a reasonable time; and they shall record the result of such examination, which, if the owner of the dam had an opportunity to be heard before them, shall be admissible evidence in the trial of any issue involving his liability.

may direct alterations, &c. To record result of examination. Record to be evidence. 1854, 327, § 1.

SECT. 49. If the owner of a dam thus examined and adjudged to be unsafe, refuses or neglects to make such alterations, additions, or repairs, as the commissioners order, they shall, on being notified of such neglect or refusal by the party making application, cause such dam, or such parts thereof as they may deem necessary for the safety of property, roads, or bridges on the stream below, to be removed; and after such removal, no structure shall be erected except in compliance with the requirements of the commissioners.

Upon neglect of owner to repair, &c., commissioners to remove. Dam not to be rebuilt, except, &c. 1854, 327, § 2.

SECT. 50. If, when a dam is adjudged to be unsafe under the provisions of the three preceding sections, the pond caused by the dam is so filled with water that the dam cannot be removed without danger to mill and other property, and, upon notice, the owner neglects to raise or otherwise alter and make it safe, the commissioners shall cause it to be forthwith raised, or otherwise altered and made safe, at his expense.

If dam cannot be removed, commissioners to raise, &c. 1854, 327, § 3.

SECT. 51. If the commissioners order no alteration or addition to a dam, the cost or expense of an examination under section forty-seven shall be paid by the party making the application; otherwise the expense shall be paid by the owner; but in all cases where the party making application is the owner of the dam, the expense shall be paid by him.

Costs, &c., by whom paid. 1854, 327, § 4.

Jurisdiction of S. J. C. to compel alterations, &c.
1857, 163.

SECT. 52. The supreme judicial court shall have jurisdiction in equity, and may compel the owner of any dam to make all alterations, additions, and repairs, ordered under the five preceding sections, and may make all judgments and decrees necessary to carry such orders into effect.

R. S. 116, § 45.

SECT. 54. One or more of the proprietors may call a meeting of the whole of them, to be held at the mill, to consult and agree upon the measures to be taken for repairing or rebuilding the same, by a written notice signed by the persons who call it and addressed to each of the other proprietors, setting forth that the mill in question needs to be repaired or rebuilt, and that a meeting of the proprietors thereof will be held at the mill on a certain day and hour mentioned in the notice, to consult and agree upon the measures to be taken for that purpose, and requesting the attendance of the proprietor at such meeting.

Notice thereof, how served and returned.
R. S. 116, §§ 46, 47.

SECT. 55. The notice shall be served by any officer authorized to serve civil process between the same parties, by delivering an attested copy thereof to the person to whom it is addressed, or by leaving such copy at his dwelling-house or last and usual place of abode, not more than thirty nor less than seven days before the day appointed for the meeting, and his return, specifying the persons on whom he served it and the time and manner of the service on each, shall be deemed sufficient evidence thereof.

Majority in interest may decide.
R. S. 116, § 48.

SECT. 56. At the meeting so called, or any adjournment thereof, the greater part in interest of all the proprietors of the mill may take measures to cause the mill, or the dam or appurtenances thereof, to be repaired or rebuilt, as they shall judge most for the interest of all concerned therein.

Each proprietor liable.
R. S. 116, § 49.

SECT. 57. Each proprietor shall, upon demand after the work is completed, pay to the proprietors by whom it has been advanced, with interest from the time of the advance, his just and equal part of the charge and expense of such repair or rebuilding, in proportion to his share or interest in the mill.

Remedy by lien on rents, or action.
R. S. 116, § 50.

SECT. 58. The proprietors who advance the money so expended shall have a lien therefor on the rents and profits of the mill, and may retain so much thereof as belongs to any proprietor indebted to them for such advance, to be applied to the payment of his debt; or they may maintain a suit for the debt, or for as much of it as shall not be paid out of the rents and profits.

Guardian of proprietor may act for him.
R. S. 116, § 51.

SECT. 59. When a proprietor is under guardianship, as a minor or otherwise, his guardian may act for him in calling and attending a meeting of the proprietors, and may there vote and do all such other acts in the premises as the ward could do if competent to act for himself; all which shall be binding on the ward and his estate.

Apportionment between tenant and reversioner.
R. S. 116, § 53.

SECT. 60. When part of the mill is held by one person as tenant for life or years, with remainder or reversion to another, the sum due for the repairs and other expenses on that part of the mill shall be apportioned on the tenant for life or years and the remainder-man or reversioner, in proportion to the value of their respective interests in the premises; and the party to whom the money is due from such remainder-man or reversioner, shall have a lien on the rents and profits belonging to him after his estate comes into possession, if not sooner paid, notwithstanding any limitation by lapse of time.

SECT. 61. Every mortgagee in possession shall be considered as a proprietor for all the purposes of this chapter; but the mortgagor, if the action is brought against him before his right of redemption is foreclosed, shall also be liable for all sums so due on account of his share of the mill, so far as the same are not recovered from the mortgagee. All sums paid on this account by the mortgagee shall be considered and allowed, between him and the mortgagor, as so much paid for repairs or improvements of the mortgaged premises.

Case of a mortgagee in possession.
R. S. 116, § 54.

SECT. 62. Every tenant in tail of any part of a mill shall for all the purposes of this chapter be considered as the proprietor thereof in fee simple.

tenant in tail.
R. S. 116, § 55.

SECT. 63. All sums due from one proprietor to another for moneys advanced by force of this chapter, may be recovered in an action of contract; and when two or more proprietors are so indebted, the creditor or creditors may maintain a suit in equity in the supreme judicial court against any two or more of them, in which suit the court shall determine what amount is due from each of the debtors severally, and shall award judgment and execution against each of them accordingly; and may make all such orders, decrees, and judgments, and issue such process as may be necessary and proper to carry into effect the provisions of this chapter. The court shall apportion the amount so recovered among the plaintiffs in the suit, if more than one, according to their respective rights.

How suits between proprietors brought.
R. S. 116, § 56.
1852, 312.

SECT. 64. Nothing contained in this chapter shall in any way affect any contract or agreement by or between the proprietors of any mill as to the repair or rebuilding thereof.

Chapter not to affect agreements, &c.
R. S. 116, § 58.

DUTIES AND COMPENSATION OF MILLERS.

SECT. 65. Every miller occupying and using a grist mill shall be provided with scales and weights, or a vibrating steelyard, to weigh corn, grain, and meal, to and from the mill, if required; and if he neglects to keep himself so provided, or refuses so to weigh corn, grain, or meal, when required, he shall for every such neglect or refusal forfeit and pay to any person who sues therefor a sum not exceeding five dollars, to be recovered in an action of tort.

Millers to keep scales, &c., and weigh grain, if required, under penalty.
R. S. 116, § 59.
1852, 312.

SECT. 66. The toll for grinding any sort of grain shall not exceed one-sixteenth part thereof.

What toll allowed.
R. S. 116, § 60.

Lien dissolved

SECTION 1. Any person to whom a debt is due for labor performed or furnished, or for materials furnished and actually used, in the erection, alteration, or repair, of any building or structure upon real estate, by virtue of an agreement with, or by consent of, the owner of such building or structure, or any person having authority from, or rightfully acting for, such owner in procuring or furnishing such labor or materials, shall have a lien upon such building or structure, and upon the interest of the owner thereof in the lot of land upon which the same is situated, to secure the payment of the debt so due to him, and the costs which may arise in enforcing such lien under this chapter; except as is provided in the following sections.

SECT. 2. Such lien for materials furnished shall not attach unless the person furnishing the same before so doing gives notice to the owner of the property to be affected by the lien, if such owner is not the purchaser, that he intends to claim such lien.

SECT. 3. Such lien shall not avail or be of force against any mortgage actually existing and duly recorded prior to the date of the contract under which the lien is claimed.

SECT. 4. The owner of any such building or structure in process of erection or being altered or repaired, other than the party by whom or in whose behalf a contract for labor and materials has been made, may prevent the attaching of any lien for labor thereon not at the time performed, or materials not then furnished, by giving notice in writing to the person performing or furnishing such labor, or furnishing such materials, that he will not be responsible therefor.

SECT. 5. Such lien shall be dissolved unless the person desiring to avail himself thereof, within thirty days after he ceases to labor on, or furnish labor or materials for, such building or structure, files in the office of the clerk of the city or town in which the same is situated, a statement of a just and true account of the amount due him, with all just credits given, together with a description of the property intended to be covered by the lien, sufficiently accurate for identification, with the name of the owner or owners of the property, if known; which certificate shall be subscribed and sworn to by the person claiming the lien, or by some one in his behalf, and shall be recorded in a book kept for the purpose by the clerk of such city or town, who shall be entitled to the same fees therefor as for recording mortgages of equal length.

SECT. 6. No inaccuracy in such statement relating to the property to be covered by the lien, if the property can be reasonably recognized, or in stating the amount due for labor or materials, shall invalidate the proceedings, unless it appears that the person filing the certificate has wilfully and knowingly claimed more than is his due.

SECT. 7. Unless a suit for enforcing the lien is commenced within ninety days after the person desiring to avail himself thereof ceases to labor on, or furnish labor or materials for, such building or structure, the lien shall be dissolved.

unless suit commenced in ninety days.
1858, 55, § 1.

SECT. 8. The lien may be enforced by petition to the superior court in the county where the building or structure is situated. The petition may be filed in term, or in the clerk's office in vacation, and the date of the filing shall be deemed the commencement of the suit.

Lien, how enforced.
R. S. 117, § 5.
1851, 213, § 4.
1855, 431, § 5.

SECT. 9. When the amount of the claim does not exceed one hundred dollars, the lien may be enforced by petition to a justice of the peace, or police court; and such justices and courts shall have like power and authority within their jurisdiction as are herein conferred upon the superior court, with like rights of appeal to the parties as exist in other civil cases.

before police courts, &c., if claim does not exceed $100.
1855, 431, § 5.

SECT. 10. The petition may be inserted in a writ of original summons, and be served, returned, and entered, as other civil cases.

Petition may be inserted in writ.
1855, 431, § 5.

SECT. 11. Whether filed as a petition, or inserted in such summons, the petition shall contain a brief statement of the contract on which it is founded, and of the amount due thereon, with a description of the premises subject to the lien, and all other material facts and circumstances; and shall pray that the premises may be sold, and the proceeds of the sale be applied to the discharge of the demand.

to contain brief statement of contract, &c.
R. S. 117, § 6.
11 Cush. 308.

SECT. 12. The court may at any time allow either party to amend his pleadings as in actions at common law.

Parties may amend.
1855, 431, § 6.

SECT. 13. Any number of persons who have actually performed labor or furnished labor or materials on one or more buildings or structures upon different lots of land, where the labor was performed for the same owner, contractor, or other person, may join in the same petition for their respective liens; and the same proceedings shall be had in regard to the rights of each petitioner, and the respondent may defend as to each petitioner in the same manner as if he had severally petitioned for his individual lien.

Any number who have labored on same building may join in petition.
1852, 267, § 2.
1855, 431.

SECT. 14. The court in which the petition is entered shall order notice to be given to the owner of the building or structure, that he may appear and answer thereto at a certain day in the same term, or at the next term, by serving him with an attested copy of the petition, with the order of the court thereon, fourteen days at least before the time assigned for the hearing; and the court shall also order notice of the filing of the petition to be given to all other creditors who have a lien of the same kind upon the same estate, by serving them with a copy of the last-mentioned order in like manner.

Notice to owner, and to other creditors.
R. S. 117, § 7.
1855, 431, § 1.
5 Cush. 122, 123.

SECT. 15. If it appears to the court that any of the parties entitled to notice are absent or that they cannot probably be found to be served with the notice, the court may, instead of the personal notice before mentioned, or in addition thereto, order notice to all persons interested, by publishing in some newspaper the substance of the petition, with the order of the court thereon, assigning the time and place for a hearing, or may order such other notice to be given, as may under the circumstances of the case be considered most proper and effectual.

to absent parties, &c.
R. S. 117, § 8.
5 Cush. 124.

SECT. 16. If at the time assigned for the hearing it appears to the court that any of the persons interested have not had sufficient notice of the suit, the court may order further notice to them, in such manner as may be considered most proper and effectual.

Further notice.
R. S. 117, § 9.
5 Cush. 124.

SECT. 17. At the time assigned for the hearing, or within such further time as the court allows for that purpose, every creditor having a lien of the kind before mentioned upon the same property, may appear and prove his claim, and the owner and each of the creditors may contest the several claims of every other creditor, and the court shall hear and determine them in a summary manner, either with or without a jury, as the case may require.

Claims may be proved and contested.
R. S. 117, § 10.
5 Cush. 122.

Facts may be tried by jury.
R. S. 117, § 11.
1852, 314, § 2.

SECT. 18. Every material question of fact arising in the case shall be submitted to a jury, if required by either party or thought proper by the court; and the trial shall be had upon a question stated, or an issue framed, or otherwise, as the court may order. A jury shall be had before a justice of the peace, or police court, only as in other civil cases.

Claims not payable may be allowed.
R. S. 117, § 12.

SECT. 19. The court shall ascertain and determine the amount due to each creditor who has a lien of the kind before mentioned upon the property in question; and every such claim due absolutely and without any condition, although not then payable, shall be allowed, with a rebate of interest to the time when it would become payable.

for part performance of contract.
R. S. 117, § 13.
5 Cush. 122.
11 Cush. 249.

SECT. 20. When the owner fails to perform his part of the contract, and by reason thereof the other party without his own default is prevented from completely performing his part, he shall be entitled to a reasonable compensation for as much as he has performed, in proportion to the price stipulated for the whole, and the court shall adjust his claim accordingly.

Sale of premises, when ordered.
R. S. 117, § 14.

SECT. 21. If the lien is established in favor of any of the creditors whose claims are presented, the court shall order a sale of the property to be made by any officer authorized to serve civil process between the same parties.

Part may be sold if sufficient.
R. S. 117, § 15.

SECT. 22. If part of the property can be separated from the residue and sold without damage to the whole, and if the value thereof is sufficient to satisfy all debts proved in the case, the court may order a sale of that part, if it appears to be most for the interest of all parties concerned.

Notice of sale.
R. S. 117, § 16.
See Ch. 103, § 41.

SECT. 23. The officer who makes the sale shall give notice of the time and place in the manner prescribed in relation to the sale on execution of a right of redeeming mortgaged lands, unless the court orders a different notice to be given.

Right of redemption.
R. S. 117, § 17.
See Ch. 103.

SECT. 24. Any interest in real estate so sold may be redeemed in the manner provided in the case of a sale on execution of the right of redeeming mortgaged lands.

Proceeds of sale, how distributed.
R. S. 117, § 18.

SECT. 25. If all the claims against the property covered by the lien are ascertained at the time of ordering the sale, the court may order the officer to pay over and distribute the proceeds of the sale, after deducting all lawful charges and expenses, to and among the several creditors, to the amount of their respective debts if there is sufficient therefor; and if there is not sufficient, then to divide and distribute the same among the creditors in proportion to the amount due to each of them.

may be brought into court, &c. Successive orders of distribution.
R. S. 117, § 19.

SECT. 26. If all the claims are not ascertained when the sale is ordered, or if for any other reason the court finds it necessary or proper to postpone the order of distribution, it may direct the officer to bring the proceeds of the sale into court, there to be disposed of according to the decree of the court; and if by reason of the claims of attaching creditors, or for any other cause, the whole cannot be conveniently distributed at once, the court may make two or more successive orders of distribution, as the circumstances may require.

surplus, how disposed of.
R. S. 117, § 20.
1855, 431, § 1.
14 Met. 153.
5 Cush. 122.

SECT. 27. If there is any surplus of the proceeds of the sale after making all the payments before mentioned, it shall be forthwith paid over to the owner of the property; but such surplus before it is so paid over shall be liable to be attached or taken on execution, in like manner as if it proceeded from a sale made by the officer on an execution.

Prior attaching creditor preferred.
Proportion of proceeds held, &c.
R. S. 117, § 21.
1855, 431, § 1.

SECT. 28. If the interest of the owner in the building, structure, or land, is under attachment at the time of filing and recording the statement of the account, the attaching creditor shall be preferred to the extent of the value of the buildings and land as they were when the statement was recorded; and the court shall ascertain by a jury or otherwise, as the case may require, what proportion of the proceeds of the sale shall be held subject to the attachment, as derived from the value of the property when the statement was recorded.

SECT. 29. If the attaching creditor recovers judgment he shall be entitled to receive on his execution the proportion of the proceeds held subject to his attachment, or as much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy his execution, and the residue of the proceeds shall be applied in the same manner as if there had been no such attachment.

Such proportion to be applied on execution.
R. S. 117, § 22.

SECT. 30. If the interest of the owner of the property is attached after the recording of the statement, the proceeds, after discharging all prior liens and claims, shall be applied to satisfy the execution of such attaching creditor, in like manner as is provided in chapter one hundred and thirty-three, in the case of two or more successive attachments or seizures in execution of a right of redemption.

Subsequent attachment to be satisfied after lien.
R. S. 117, § 23.

SECT. 31. If an attachment is made after the recording of such statement, and if after the attachment another like statement is recorded, the creditor in the latter statement shall be entitled to be paid only out of the residue of the proceeds remaining after paying all that is due on the demands, a statement of which is recorded before the attachment, and satisfying the attaching creditor.

Attachment intervening between two liens.
R. S. 117, § 24.

SECT. 32. When there are several attaching creditors, they shall as between themselves be entitled to be paid according to the order of their attachments; but when several creditors who are entitled to the lien provided for in this chapter have equal rights as between themselves, and the fund is insufficient to pay the whole, they shall share it equally in proportion to their respective debts.

Rights of attaching creditors and of persons having liens, as between themselves.
R. S. 117, § 25.

SECT. 33. If the person for whom the work is done, or materials are furnished, has an estate for life, or any other estate less than a fee simple, in the land, or if the property at the time of recording the statement is mortgaged, or under any other encumbrance, the lien before provided for shall bind his whole estate and interest therein, in like manner as a mortgage would have done; and the creditor may cause the right of redemption, or whatever other right or estate the owner had in the property, to be sold and applied to the discharge of his debt according to the provisions of this chapter.

Debtor having an estate less than fee simple, etc., lien to bind his interest.
R. S. 117, § 26.
1855, 431.
13 Met. 155.
5 Cush. 122.
3 Gray, 255.

SECT. 34. If the person indebted dies or conveys away his estate or interest before the commencement of a suit on the contract, the suit may be commenced and prosecuted against his heirs, or whoever holds the estate or interest which he had in the premises at the time the labor or materials were performed or furnished; or if a suit is commenced in his lifetime, it may be prosecuted against his executors, administrators, heirs, or assigns, in like manner as if the estate or interest had been mortgaged to secure the debt.

Lien may be enforced against heirs or assigns.
R. S. 117, § 27.
1855, 431.
5 Cush. 123.

SECT. 35. If the creditor dies before the commencement of a suit, the suit may be commenced and prosecuted by his executors or administrators; or if commenced in his lifetime, it may be prosecuted by them as it might have been by the deceased if living.

by executors or administrators.
R. S. 117, § 28.

SECT. 36. Any party interested in a suit brought under this chapter may appeal to the supreme judicial court, from the final decree or judgment of the superior court, as is prescribed in relation to other civil cases, and the cause shall be thereupon heard and determined in the supreme judicial court, according to the provisions of this chapter.

Appeal allowed to S. J. C.
R. S. 117, § 29.
1849, 87.

SECT. 37. If it appears in any stage of the proceedings that the suit was commenced by the petitioning creditor before his right of action accrued or after it was barred, or if he becomes nonsuit, or fails to establish his claim, the suit may be prosecuted by any other creditor having such lien, in the same manner as if it had been originally commenced by him, if the circumstances of the case are such that he might then, or at any time after the commencement of the original suit, have commenced a like suit on his own claim.

Suits commenced by one creditor may be prosecuted by another when, &c.
R. S. 117, § 30.

Suits commenced prematurely may be prosecuted, &c. Costs.
R. S. 117, § 31.

Costs in other cases.
R. S. 117, § 32.

Action at law not barred.
R. S. 117, § 33.

Discharge of lien, how executed.
R. S. 117, § 35.

Petition to be indorsed.
R. S. 117, § 36.
See Ch. 133, § 29.
Ch. 129, §§ 29-33.

SECT. 38. If the suit is commenced by the petitioning creditor before his right of action accrues, his claim may nevertheless be allowed, if the suit is carried on by any other creditor as provided in the preceding section; but he shall not in such case be entitled to costs, and he may be required to pay the costs incurred by the debtor, or a part thereof, as the court may deem reasonable.

SECT. 39. The costs in all other respects shall be subject to the discretion of the court, and shall be paid from the proceeds of the sale, or by any of the parties in the suit, as justice and equity require.

SECT. 40. Nothing contained in this chapter shall be construed to prevent a creditor in such contract from maintaining an action thereon at the common law, in like manner as if he had no such lien for the security of his debt.

SECT. 41. When a debt secured by such lien is fully paid, the creditor, at the expense of the debtor, shall enter on the margin of the registry where the statement is recorded, a discharge of his lien, or shall execute a release thereof, which may be recorded where the statement is recorded.

SECT. 42. All the regulations concerning the indorsement of original writs shall apply to the indorsement of petitions filed under this chapter.

2 Cush. 109.

SECTION 1. Mortgages of personal property shall be recorded on the records of the city or town where the mortgagor resides when the mortgage is made, and on the records of the city or town in which he then principally transacts his business, or follows his trade or calling. If the mortgagor resides without the state, his mortgage of personal property within the state when the mortgage is made shall be recorded on the records of the city or town where the property then is. Unless a mortgage is so recorded, or the property mortgaged is delivered to and retained by the mortgagee, it shall not be valid against any person other than the parties thereto, except as is provided in the following section.

SECT. 2. Such record shall not be necessary to the validity of a mortgage, contract of bottomry, or respondentia, or any transfer, assignment, or hypothecation, of a ship or vessel. Nor shall a record be necessary to the validity of any transfer in mortgage of goods at sea or abroad, if the mortgagee takes possession of such goods as soon as may be after their arrival in this state.

SECT. 3. City and town clerks, upon payment of their fees, shall record all mortgages of personal property delivered to them, in books kept for the purpose, noting therein, and on each mortgage, the time it is received; and such mortgages shall be considered as recorded at the time when left for the purpose in the clerk's office. The fees for recording, and all other services relating thereto, shall be the same as are allowed to registers of deeds for like services.

SECT. 4. When the condition of a mortgage of personal property is broken, the mortgagor, or any person lawfully claiming or holding under him, may redeem the same at any time before the property is sold in pursuance of the contract between the parties, or the right of redemption is foreclosed as hereinafter provided.

SECT. 5. The person entitled to redeem shall pay or tender to the mortgagee or person holding under him the sum due on the mortgage, or perform or offer performance of the thing to be done, and shall pay all reasonable and lawful charges and expenses incurred in the care and custody of the property, or otherwise arising from the mortgage; and if upon such payment or performance or tender thereof the property is not forthwith restored, the person entitled to redeem may recover it in an action of replevin, or may recover such damages as he may have sustained by the withholding thereof, in any action adapted to the circumstances of the case.

SECT. 6. The mortgagee or his assigns, after condition broken, may give to the mortgagor, or the person in possession of the property, claiming the same, written notice of his intention to foreclose the mortgage for breach of the condition thereof, which notice shall be served by leaving a copy with the mortgagor, or person in possession of the property, claiming the same, or by publishing it at least once a week for three successive weeks in one of the principal newspapers published in the town or city where the mortgage is properly recorded, or where the property is situated, or if there is no such paper, in one of the principal newspapers published in such county.

SECT. 7. The notice with an affidavit of service shall be recorded wherever the mortgage is recorded, and, when so recorded, the same, or a copy of the record, shall be admitted as evidence of the giving of such notice.

SECT. 8. If the money to be paid, or other thing to be done, is not paid or performed, or tender thereof made, within sixty days after such notice is so recorded, the right to redeem shall be foreclosed.

PLEDGES.

SECT. 9. The holder of personal property in pledge for the payment of money or the performance of any other thing, may, after failure to pay or perform, give written notice to the pledger that he intends to enforce payment or performance by a sale of the pledge, and such notice shall be served, and together with an affidavit of service be recorded in the clerk's office of the city or town where the pledgee resides, in the manner and with like effect as provided in sections six and seven for notices of foreclosure.

SECT. 10. If the money to be paid or other thing to be done is not paid or performed, or tender thereof made, within sixty days after such notice is so recorded, the pledgee may sell the pledge at public auction and apply the proceeds to the satisfaction of the debt or demand, and the expenses of the notice and sale, and any surplus shall be paid to the party entitled thereto, on demand.

SECT. 11. The preceding sections shall not authorize the pledgee to dispose of the pledge contrary to the terms of the contract under which it is held, nor limit his right to dispose of it in any other manner allowed by the contract or the rules of law.

LIENS ON SHIPS AND VESSELS.

Lien on ships and vessels for labor performed and materials furnished. 1855, 231, § 1. 13 Gray, 129, 131.

SECT. 12. When, by virtue of a contract, expressed or implied, with the owners of a ship or vessel, or with the agents, contractors, or subcontractors, of such owners, or any of them, or with any person having been employed to construct, repair, or launch, such ship or vessel, or to assist them, money is due to any person for labor performed, materials used, or labor and materials furnished, in the construction, launching, or repairs of, or for constructing the launching ways for, or for provisions, stores, or other articles, furnished for or on account of, such ship or vessel, in this state, such person shall have a lien upon the ship or vessel, her tackle, apparel, and furniture, to secure the payment of such debt; which lien shall be preferred to all others thereon except mariners' wages, and shall continue until the debt is satisfied.

to be dissolved unless sworn statement of demand, &c., is filed for record, &c. 1855, 231, § 2.

SECT. 13. Such lien shall be dissolved unless the person claiming the same files, within four days from the time the ship or vessel departs from the port at which she was when the debt was contracted, in the office of the clerk of the city or town within which the ship or vessel was at the time the debt was contracted, a statement, subscribed and sworn to by himself or some person in his behalf, giving a just and true account of the demand claimed to be due to him, with all just credits, and also the name of the person with whom the contract was made, the name of the owner of the ship or vessel, if known, and the name of the ship or vessel, or a description thereof sufficient for identification; which statement shall be recorded by the clerk of such city or town in a book kept by him for that purpose, for which he shall receive the same fees as for recording mortgages of equal length.

When ship is built in two places, &c. Inaccuracy in description, &c., not to affect, &c.

SECT. 14. If the ship or vessel is partly constructed in one place and partly in another, either place shall be deemed the port at which she was when the debt was contracted within the meaning of this chapter; and no inaccuracy in the description of the ship or vessel, if she can be recognized thereby, or in stating the amount due for labor or materials, shall invalidate the proceedings, unless it appears that the person filing the certificate has willfully and knowingly claimed more than is due.

Lien, how enforced. 1855, 231, § 3. 1859, 196. 20 How. U. S. R. 333.

SECT. 15. Such lien may be enforced by petition to the superior court for the county where the vessel was at the time the debt was contracted or in which she is at the time of instituting proceedings. The petition may be entered in court or filed in the clerk's office in vacation, or may be inserted in a writ of original summons, with an order of attachment, and served, returned, and entered as other civil actions, and the subsequent proceedings for enforcing the lien shall, except as hereinafter provided, be as prescribed in chapter one hundred and fifty for enforcing liens on buildings and land, so far as the same are applicable. At the time of entering or filing the petition, a process of attachment against such ship or vessel, her tackle, apparel, and furniture, shall issue and continue in force, or may be dissolved like attachments in civil cases, but such dissolution shall not dissolve the lien.

Petition, what to contain.

SECT. 16. The petition shall contain a brief statement of the labor, materials, or work done or furnished, or the stores, provisions, or other articles furnished, and the amount due therefor, with a description of the ship or vessel subject to the lien, and all other material facts and circumstances, and shall pray that the ship or vessel may be sold and the proceeds of the sale applied to the discharge of the demand.

SECT. 17. The court may at any time allow either party to amend his pleadings as in actions at common law. Amendments.

SECT. 18. Any number of persons having such liens upon the same ship or vessel may join in the same petition to enforce the same; and the same proceedings shall be had in regard to the respective rights of each petitioner, and the respondent may defend as to each petitioner, in the same manner as if they had severally petitioned for their individual liens. Several claimants may join in the same petition. 1855, 231, § 4.

SECT. 19. When there is money due to more than one person holding a lien upon a ship or vessel under the provisions of this chapter, all parties interested having been cited to appear and answer, the claims of all shall be marshalled, and the court shall make such order or decree as may be necessary to prevent the enforcement of a double lien for the same labor, materials, stores, provisions, or other articles, and to secure the just rights of all. And the proceeds arising from the sale of such ship or vessel, after deducting all proper costs and expenses, shall be distributed among the several claimants to the amount of their respective debts; provided, that when such proceeds are insufficient to satisfy the liens of all, those having liens for labor shall receive a percentage on their respective claims one-third greater, as near as may be, than those having liens for materials, stores, or other articles. Claims in such case to be marshalled and proceeds distributed. Proviso. 1855, 231, § 5.

SECT. 20. The eight preceding sections shall not affect the lien as now existing on foreign ships and vessels. Lien on foreign vessels not affected. 1855, 231, § 6.

OTHER LIENS.

SECT. 21. Whoever has a lien, other than those described in chapter one hundred and fifty and in the nine preceding sections, for money due to him on account of work and labor, care and diligence, or for money expended, on or about personal property, by reason of any contract express or implied, if the money is not paid within sixty days after a demand in writing delivered to the debtor or left at his usual place of abode if within this state, or made by letter addressed to him at his usual place of abode without the state and deposited in the post-office to be sent to him, may apply by petition to a justice of the peace or police court in the county where the petitioner resides, for an order for the sale of the property in satisfaction of the debt. Party having lien may after demand petition a justice of the peace, &c., for sale, &c.

SECT. 22. The justice or court shall thereupon issue a notice to the owner of the property to appear at a time and place designated, to show cause why the prayer of the petition should not be granted; which notice shall be served by delivering to the owner, or leaving at his usual place of abode if within the state, a copy thereof, fourteen days before the day of hearing, and a return of the service shall be made by some officer authorized to serve civil process, or by some other person with an affidavit to the truth of the return. Justice, &c., shall issue notice to show cause. Service. Return.

SECT. 23. If the owner is unknown, the application may be made sixty days after the money becomes due, and a notice may issue "to the unknown owner," describing the property. Petition if owner unknown.

SECT. 24. If the owner resides out of the state, or is unknown, notice may be given by a publication of the order in the manner prescribed for the publication of notices in section six. Publication of notice, &c.

SECT. 25. If the owner makes default at the time appointed, or if upon a hearing of the parties it appears that a lien exists upon the property, and that the same ought to be sold for the satisfaction of the debt, the justice or court may make an order for that purpose, and if Order of sale. Disposition of proceeds.

no appeal is taken, the property may be sold in conformity therewith. Any surplus of the proceeds of sale, after satisfying the debt and all costs and charges, shall be paid to the owner upon demand.

Amount due, &c.

SECT. 26. The justice or court may ascertain the amount due up to the time of the entering of the order, and make a record thereof.

Appeal. Recognizance.

SECT. 27. Either party may appeal from the final order of the justice or court in the same manner as in other civil cases, and the case shall be heard and determined in the court above, and such order made as justice shall require. If the respondent appeals, he shall recognize for the prosecution of his appeal and the payment of any balance of the debt with costs which may remain unsatisfied after a sale of the property, if judgment is rendered against him.

Costs.

SECT. 28. The prevailing party shall recover his costs, and the justice or court may issue execution therefor.

Boarding-house keepers to have lien on baggage, &c. 1859, 239. See Ch. 52, § 26.

SECT. 29. Boarding-house keepers shall have a lien on the baggage and effects brought to their houses belonging to their guests or boarders, except mariners, for all proper charges due for fare and board, and the lien may be enforced as provided in the eight preceding sections.

Rights of persons having lien not restricted.

SECT. 30. The preceding sections shall not limit or restrict the right of any party having a lien upon property to hold and dispose of the same in any other manner authorized by law.

15. Fees.

Recognizance, debtor may bind himself by. R. S. 118, § 1.

SECTION 1. Any person by law capable of binding himself by a common bond, may enter into a recognizance in the manner hereinafter mentioned, for the payment of a debt; and may thereby subject his person, goods, and estate, to be taken on execution.

to be taken before superior court, or clerk. R. S. 118, § 2. 1859, 196. form of.

SECT. 2. The recognizance may be taken before the superior court in any county in term time, or before the clerk of the court in vacation, and shall be substantially as follows:—

Be it remembered, that on this _____ day of _____, _____ of _____ personally appeared before the superior court _____, now held at _____ within and for the county of _____ (or, before _____ the clerk of the superior court _____ for the county of _____) and acknowledged himself to be indebted to _____ of _____ in the sum of _____ to be paid to said _____ on the _____ day of _____ (or, in _____ years _____ or in _____ months, from this day) with interest from this day; and if not then paid, to be levied upon his goods and chattels, lands and tenements, and for want thereof, upon his body. In witness whereof said _____ hath hereto set his hand.

_____, Clerk of the Superior Court for the County of _____.

interest upon. R. S. 118, § 3.

SECT. 3. The clause as to the payment of interest may be altered or wholly omitted according to the agreement of the parties; but interest shall always be allowed for any delay after the time of payment, unless the recognizance contains an express agreement to the contrary.

SECT. 4. The recognizance shall be attested by the clerk, whether taken in term time or vacation, and shall be recorded at length by him among the records of the court, and the original shall then be delivered to the comusee. It shall not be taken unless the judge or clerk who takes it knows, or has satisfactory evidence, that the person offering to enter into such recognizance is the person he represents himself to be, and who is described as the comisor.

Recognizance to be recorded. Comisor must be known. R. S. 118, §§ 4, 5.

SECT. 5. If the debt is not paid at the time appointed in the recognizance, the comusee shall be entitled to an execution for the sum due, to be sued out of the clerk's office in which the recognizance is recorded, and to be directed, served, and returned, in like manner as an execution issued upon a judgment of the same court.

Execution may be issued. R. S. 118, § 6.

SECT. 6. Before such execution issues, the original recognizance shall be filed with the clerk, who shall compute the amount, deducting any payments indorsed; he shall then issue execution, which shall recite the recognizance, state the amount then due, and otherwise be in the usual form of an execution on a judgment for debt. It may be issued by the clerk without any special order of the court.

proceedings for obtaining Form, &c. R. S. 118, §§ 7, 8, 8 Mass. 79.

SECT. 7. A recognizance for debt may be taken before a justice of the peace, or police court, in any case where it might be taken before the clerk of the court. It shall be substantially in the same form, recorded in a book kept for the purpose, and delivered to the comusee; and execution may be issued thereon by the justice or court. Such executions shall have the same effect as executions issued by the clerk, except that where the recognizance is for twenty dollars or less, the execution shall not run against the lands of the comusee.

Recognizance may be taken before a justice of the peace, &c. Execution. R. S. 118, §§ 9, 10, 11. 1853, 269, § 1.

SECT. 8. Executions issued under this chapter may be executed and shall be obeyed in every county to which they are directed.

Executions, where to run. R. S. 118, § 12.

SECT. 9. If the comusee dies before the debt is paid, his executor or administrator may sue out execution in the same manner as the comusee might have done, upon exhibiting to the clerk or justice his letters testamentary or of administration; and the form of the execution shall be altered accordingly.

how taken out by an executor or administrator. R. S. 118, § 13.

SECT. 10. If the comisor dies before the debt is fully paid, no execution therefor shall be issued as of course, but the estate of the comisor in the hands of his executors, administrators, heirs, or devisees, shall be liable for the debt in like manner as if judgment therefor had been recovered against him in his lifetime; and the comusee, his executors, or administrators, may have a scire facias, or an action of contract, to recover the same against the executors, administrators, heirs, or devisees, of the comisor, in like manner as they might have had upon such a judgment.

Proceedings in case of death of comisor. R. S. 118, § 14. 1852, 312.

SECT. 11. No original execution shall be issued as of course upon such a recognizance after the expiration of three years from the time therein set for payment of the debt, or three years from the time of the last payment indorsed thereon; but the comusee or his executors or administrators may after that time have a scire facias, or an action of contract on it against the party liable, in like manner and with the same effect as upon a judgment.

Limitation as to issuing of execution. R. S. 118, § 15. 1852, 312. 4 Mass. 641. 13 Mass. 493.

SECT. 12. The creditor shall be entitled to an alias and other successive executions, as allowed in executions on a judgment in civil actions.

Alias, &c., executions may issue. R. S. 118, § 16.

SECT. 13. If there are several comisors or comusees, and one or more of them dies before the debt is fully satisfied, the right and interest of the surviving comusees, and the obligation of the surviving comisors, and all the proceedings for the recovery of the debt, shall be substantially the same as in the case of the death of one or more joint creditors or debtors in a judgment at common law.

Death of one of several comisors or comusees. R. S. 118, § 17.

Audita querela, &c., as in case of a judgment. R. S. 118, § 18.

SECT. 14. If a person is injured by the wrongful suing out or executing of any execution under the provisions of this chapter, he shall have his remedy by a writ of audita querela, or otherwise, as if the execution had been issued upon a judgment; and in all cases not otherwise specially provided for, the parties to such recognizance, and their respective representatives, shall be entitled and liable to the remedies provided for creditors and debtors by a judgment.

Fees. R. S. 118, § 19.

SECT. 15. The fee for taking and recording a recognizance shall be fifty cents; and for all other services under the provisions of this chapter, the same fees shall be paid as for like services in other cases.

13. Proceedings on a libel before a justice, &c.
14. Notice, trial, and adjudication.
15. Either party may appeal to superior court, &c.
16. Depositions may be taken, &c.
17. Goods to be delivered to claimant, on his giving bond.
18. Goods to be appraised.
19. Same subject.
20. Appraisement conclusive as to jurisdiction.
21. Goods may be sold, if perishable.
22. for other sufficient cause.

Goods forfeited to be seized. R. S. 118, § 20. See Ch. 19, §§ 23, 26, 33, 77, 101, 121, 151, 164, 191; Ch. 50, § 7.

SECTION 1. When goods are forfeited for any offence, and no special provision is made for the mode of their recovery, any person entitled to recover them, and when provision is not otherwise made, any police officer or constable of the city or town where the goods so forfeited are found, may seize and keep them safely until they are disposed of as is hereinafter provided.

Libel, when to be filed, and form thereof. R. S. 118, § 21.

SECT. 2. The person making the seizure shall within fourteen days thereafter file a libel in the clerk's office of the superior court for the county where the offence was committed, or before any justice of the peace, or police court, as the case requires, stating briefly the cause of the seizure, without setting forth all the special matter, and praying for a decree of forfeiture according to the provisions of the statute on which the seizure is founded, referring to it in the following form: "according to the provisions of the law concerning the packing and stamping of paper," or, "the inspection of lime," (as the case may require,) and mentioning the number of the chapter of the statute referred to, or referring thereto in some other general terms.

before whom to be filed. R. S. 118, §§ 22, 31, 152, 314, 1855, 119.

SECT. 3. If the value of the goods seized exceeds twenty dollars, the libel may, and if such value exceeds one hundred dollars, shall, be filed in the clerk's office; otherwise it shall be filed before a justice of the peace, or police court, in the county where the offence is committed, and the value for this purpose shall be ascertained by an appraisal as hereinafter provided for.

Duties of clerk. Notice to be published. R. S. 118, § 23.

SECT. 4. Upon filing the libel in the clerk's office, he shall make out an advertisement setting forth briefly the substance of the libel, and giving notice to all persons interested to appear at the term of the court to be held next after the expiration of twenty-one days from the time of filing the libel, and show cause why the goods should not be decreed forfeited; which notice the libellant shall cause to be published twice at least in some newspaper printed in the county, if there is any, otherwise in a newspaper printed in the nearest county, the first publication to be not less than fourteen days before the beginning of the term.

SECT. 5. The libel shall be entered like civil actions; and if after proclamation made no claimant appears, the court shall hear and determine the cause, and decree a forfeiture, restoration, or other disposition of the goods, as law and justice require.

Proceedings when there is no claimant.
R. S. 118, § 21.

SECT. 6. If a claimant appears, he may allege and answer any matter that may be necessary or proper for his defence; and the further proceedings shall be conducted in the mode usual in courts that proceed according to the course of the civil law, except that all questions of fact shall be tried and determined by a jury.

When a claimant appears.
R. S. 118, § 25.

SECT. 7. If upon the trial the libellant maintains his suit, the court shall decree a forfeiture and sale of the goods, and a distribution of the proceeds, or such other disposition thereof as law and justice require. If he fails to maintain it, the court shall decree a restitution of the goods to the claimant.

Decrees of forfeiture, or restitution.
R. S. 118, § 26.

SECT. 8. When goods are sold under such decree, the proceeds shall be applied, under the direction of the court, to the payment of the expenses of the seizure, prosecution, and sale; and in default of any other provision for the disposition of the residue, it shall be paid to the party who made the seizure.

Disposition of the proceeds on sale under a decree.

SECT. 9. If the jury find that the seizure was groundless and without probable cause, they shall assess reasonable damages for the claimant, and the court shall render judgment for such damages with costs.

Damages for seizure without reasonable cause.
R. S. 118, § 27.

SECT. 10. In all other cases the court shall award costs to the prevailing party, or may order the costs and charges of keeping and selling the goods, or any part thereof, to be paid out of the proceeds of the goods.

Costs.
R. S. 118, § 28.

SECT. 11. They may issue execution in common form for all costs and damages awarded to either party, and such warrants and other processes as may be necessary or proper to carry into effect any other parts of their decree or judgment.

Executions and other processes.
R. S. 118, § 29.

SECT. 12. Either party aggrieved by a decree of the court founded upon matter of law apparent on the record, may appeal therefrom to the supreme judicial court, and such appeal shall be claimed, prosecuted, and determined, as provided for appeals in other civil cases.

Either party may appeal to S. J. C.
R. S. 118, § 30.
1549, 87.

SECT. 13. If the libel is filed before a justice of the peace, or a police court, the justice or court shall make out an advertisement or notice like that before required to be made by the clerk, mentioning the time and place appointed for hearing the cause.

Proceedings on a libel before a justice, &c.
R. S. 118, §§ 31, 31.

SECT. 14. The libellant shall cause the notice to be posted up in some public place in the county not less than seven days before the time appointed for hearing the cause, when any claimant may appear and answer to the suit; and it shall be heard and determined in all respects as herein prescribed for a trial in the superior court; but a jury shall be allowed only upon the same terms as in other civil cases.

Notice, trial, and adjudication.
R. S. 118, § 32.
1552, 314.

SECT. 15. Either party aggrieved by any decree of such justice or court may appeal therefrom to the superior court, and the appeal shall be conducted in all respects like appeals in other civil cases, and the cause shall be heard and determined in the court appealed to, according to the provisions of this chapter.

Either party may appeal to superior court, &c.
R. S. 118, §§ 33, 34.

SECT. 16. Depositions may be taken and used in like manner as in trials of actions at the common law.

Depositions may be taken, &c.
R. S. 118, § 35.

SECT. 17. At any time after the seizure of goods alleged to be forfeited, the owner, or any person entitled or authorized to claim the same, may have them delivered to him, upon giving bond to the person who

Goods to be delivered to claimant on his giving bond.

- R. S. 118, § 36. made the seizure, with sufficient surety in double the value of the goods, conditioned to restore them or pay the appraised value thereof if they are decreed forfeited, and to abide by and perform the final order, decree, or judgment, of the court relating thereto.
- Goods to be appraised.
R. S. 118, § 37. SECT. 18. The value of the goods in such case shall be appraised and determined by three disinterested men, to be agreed on by the parties or appointed by any justice of the peace to whom the claimant applies for that purpose, and to be sworn; or if the appraisement is made after the libel is filed, the appraisers shall be appointed by the court or justice before whom the suit is pending.
- Same subject.
R. S. 118, § 38. SECT. 19. The person making the seizure, as soon as may be thereafter, unless an application for an appraisement is in the mean time made by a claimant, shall apply to a justice of the peace, who shall appoint three disinterested men to make an inventory and appraisement of the goods seized. Such appraisers shall be sworn, and shall return their inventory and appraisement to the court or justice before whom the suit is brought.
- Appraisement conclusive as to jurisdiction.
R. S. 118, § 39. SECT. 20. The appraisement thus made on the application of the person who made the seizure, shall be conclusive as to the jurisdiction of the court before which the suit is to be brought, unless before filing the libel a different appraisement is made upon the application of a claimant in the manner before provided; in which case such last-mentioned appraisement shall be conclusive in that respect.
- Goods may be sold if perishable.
R. S. 118, § 40. SECT. 21. When goods so seized are perishable and liable to depreciate in value by keeping, and the fact is certified by the appraisers appointed on the application of the person making the seizure, any justice of the peace, or police court, may by an order indorsed on the inventory, authorize a sale by auction of such perishable goods, which sale shall be made at such time and with such notice as shall be directed in the order.
- for other sufficient cause.
R. S. 118, § 41. SECT. 22. The preceding section shall not control or affect the power of the court in which the suit is pending to order a sale of the goods for any sufficient cause at any time during the pendency of the suit.

TITLE V.

OF THE LIMITATION OF ACTIONS.

CHAPTER 154. — Of the Limitation of Real Actions and Rights of Entry.

CHAPTER 155. — Of the Limitation of Personal Actions.

CHAPTER 154.

OF THE LIMITATION OF REAL ACTIONS AND RIGHTS OF ENTRY.

SECTION

1. No action, &c., after twenty years, except, &c.
2. Right first accruing to an ancestor, how computed, &c.

SECTION

3. Time when the limitation begins to run.
4. Limitation after disseisin of a sole corporation.
5. Exceptions for certain disabilities.

SECTION

- 6. Death of persons under disabilities.
- 7. No allowance for second disability.
- 8. Entry on land, when effectual.
- 9, 10. Estates tail barred like estates in fee.
- 11. When limitations to take effect.
- 12. Suits by commonwealth limited.

SECTION

- 13. Descent, &c., not to bar right.
- 14. Notice to prevent an easement to be deemed disturbance thereof.
- 15. On reversal or arrest of judgment, &c., new action may be brought.

SECTION 1. No person shall commence an action for the recovery of lands, nor make an entry thereon, unless within twenty years after the right to bring such action or make such entry first accrued, or within twenty years after he, or those from, by, or under whom he claims, have been seised or possessed of the premises, except as is hereinafter provided.

Actions within twenty years. R. S. 119, § 1. 7 Pick. 153. 7 Met. 21. 8 Met. 90. See Ch. 90, § 6. Ch. 103, § 48.

SECT. 2. If such right or title first accrued to an ancestor or predecessor of the person who brings the action or makes the entry, or to any other person from, by, or under whom he claims, the twenty years shall be computed from the time when the right or title so first accrued.

Right first accruing to an ancestor, how computed, &c. R. S. 119, § 2.

SECT. 3. In the construction of this chapter, the right to make an entry or bring an action to recover land shall be deemed to have first accrued at the times respectively hereinafter mentioned, that is to say,—

Time when the limitation begins to run. R. S. 119, § 3.

First. When any person is disseised, his right of entry or of action shall be deemed to have accrued at the time of such disseisin :

Second. When he claims as heir or devisee of one who died seised, his right shall be deemed to have accrued at the time of such death, unless there is a tenancy by the curtesy or other estate intervening after the death of such ancestor or deviser; in which case, his right shall be deemed to accrue when such intermediate estate expires, or when it would have expired by its own limitation :

Third. When there is such an intermediate estate, and in all other cases when the party claims by force of any remainder or reversion, his right, so far as it is affected by the limitation herein prescribed, shall be deemed to accrue when the intermediate or precedent estate would have expired by its own limitation, notwithstanding any forfeiture thereof for which he might have entered at an earlier time :

9 Mass. 568. 15 Mass. 471.

Fourth. The preceding clause shall not prevent a person from entering when entitled to do so by reason of any forfeiture or breach of condition; but if he claims under such a title, his right shall be deemed to have accrued when the forfeiture was incurred or the condition was broken :

Fifth. In all cases not otherwise specially provided for, the right shall be deemed to have accrued when the claimant or the person under whom he claims first became entitled to the possession of the premises under the title upon which the entry or the action is founded.

8 Met. 90.

SECT. 4. If any minister or other sole corporation is disseised, any of his successors may enter upon the premises, or bring an action for the recovery thereof, at any time within five years after the death, resignation, or removal of the person so disseised, notwithstanding the twenty years after such disseisin have expired.

Limitation after disseisin of a sole corporation. R. S. 119, § 4.

SECT. 5. If at the time when such right of entry or of action upon or for lands first accrues, the person entitled to such entry or action is within the age of twenty-one years, or disabled by marriage, insane, imprisoned, or absent from the United States, such person, or any one claiming from, by, or under, him, may make the entry or bring the action at any time within ten years after such disability is removed, notwithstanding the twenty years before limited in that behalf have expired.

Exceptions for certain disabilities. R. S. 119, § 5.

SECT. 6. If the person first entitled to make such entry or bring such action dies during the continuance of any of the disabilities mentioned

Death of persons under disabilities.

R. S. 119, § 6.

in the preceding section, and no determination or judgment has been had of or upon the title, right, or action, which accrued to him, the entry may be made or the action brought by his heirs, or any other person claiming from, by, or under, him, at any time within ten years after his death, notwithstanding said twenty years have expired.

No allowance for second disability.
R. S. 119, § 7.
6 East, 80.
6 Mass. 328.

SECT. 7. If, at the time when such right of entry or action first accrues, the person entitled thereto is under any of the disabilities before mentioned, and dies without having recovered the premises, no further time for making such entry or bringing such action, beyond what is herein before prescribed, shall be allowed by reason of the disability of any other person.

Entry on land, when effectual.
R. S. 119, § 8.
2 Met. 581.
8 Met. 601.

SECT. 8. No person shall be deemed to have been in possession of any lands within the meaning of this chapter merely by reason of having made an entry thereon, unless he has continued in open and peaceable possession of the premises for one year next after such entry, or unless an action is commenced upon such entry and seisin within one year after he is ousted or dispossessed.

Estates tail barred like estates in fee.
R. S. 119, § 9.

SECT. 9. When the right of entry or action of a tenant in tail, or person entitled to a remainder in tail, is barred by force of this chapter, the estate tail, and all remainders and reversions expectant thereon, shall be also barred, as fully as they might have been by a conveyance made by the tenant in tail in the manner provided in chapter eighty-nine.

Same subject.
R. S. 119, § 10.

SECT. 10. When a person entitled to recover land as a tenant in tail, or remainder-man, dies before the expiration of the period herein before limited for making an entry or bringing an action therefor, no person claiming any estate which the tenant in tail or remainder-man might have barred, shall make an entry or bring an action to recover such land, except within the period during which the tenant in tail or remainder-man, if he had so long lived, might have made such entry or brought such action.

When limitations to take effect.
R. S. 119, § 11.

SECT. 11. The limitations herein before prescribed as to the time within which an action may be brought to recover land, take effect from and after the thirty-first day of December in the year of our Lord eighteen hundred and thirty-nine; and if any person then entitled to bring any real action abolished after that day was then within the age of twenty-one years, a married woman, insane, imprisoned, or without the limits of the United States, the action may be brought at any time within five years after the disability ceased, or after the death of the person so disabled; provided, that no such action shall be maintained after it would have been barred by this chapter and by the statutes of limitation in force on the last day of April one thousand eight hundred and thirty-six.

Suits by commonwealth limited.

1854, 261, § 9.
4 Mass. 528.
9 Met. 157.
1 Cash. 427.

SECT. 12. No suit for the recovery of lands shall be commenced by or in behalf of the commonwealth, unless within twenty years after the right or title of the commonwealth thereto first accrued, or within twenty years after the commonwealth or those from or through whom it claims have been seised or possessed of the premises; but the provisions of this section shall not apply to any of the Province lands in the town of Provincetown, nor to the lands owned by the state in the basins of Back Bay mentioned in section one, chapter two hundred and fifty-three, of the statutes of eighteen hundred and fifty-two.

Descent, &c., not to bar right.
R. S. 119, § 13.
Notice to prevent an easement to be deemed disturbance thereof.
R. S. 119, § 14.
1852, 312.

SECT. 13. No descent or discontinuance shall take away or defeat any right of entry or action for the recovery of real estate.

SECT. 14. When notice is given to prevent the acquisition of a right or privilege of way or any other easement, as provided in chapter ninety, such notice shall be considered so far a disturbance of the right in question, as to enable the party claiming such right to bring an action of tort as for a nuisance or disturbance, for the purpose of trying the right; and if the plaintiff in such action prevails, he shall be entitled to full costs, although he recovers only nominal damages.

SECT. 15. If an action of which the commencement is limited by this chapter, is abated by the death of any party thereto, or if after verdict for the demandant or plaintiff the judgment is arrested, or if judgment in any such action is given for the demandant or plaintiff and the judgment is reversed for error therein, the demandant or plaintiff, or any person claiming from, by, or under, him, may bring a new action for the same cause, at any time within one year after the determination of the original action, or after the reversal of the judgment therein.

On reversal or arrest of judgment, &c., new action may be brought.
R. S. 119, § 15.

CHAPTER 155.

OF THE LIMITATION OF PERSONAL ACTIONS.

SECTION

1. Certain actions to be brought within six years.
2. within two years.

SECT. 8. When a person is disabled to prosecute an action, by reason of his being an alien subject or citizen of any country at war with the United States, the time of the continuance of such war shall not be deemed part of the respective periods herein limited for the commencement of any of the actions before mentioned.

SECT. 9. If, at the time when any cause of action mentioned in this chapter accrues against a person, he is out of the state, the action may be commenced within the time herein limited therefor, after he comes into the state; and if, after a cause of action has accrued, the person against whom it has accrued is absent from and resides out of the state, the time of his absence shall not be taken as part of the time limited for the commencement of the action.

9 Cush. 527. 5 Gray, 397. 6 Gray, 427, 517.

SECT. 10. If a person entitled to bring or liable to any action before mentioned, dies before the expiration of the time herein limited, or within thirty days after the expiration of said time, and the cause of action by law survives, the action may be commenced by or against the executor or administrator of the deceased person, at any time within two years after the grant of letters testamentary or of administration, and not afterwards if otherwise barred by the provisions of this chapter.

SECT. 11. If in any action duly commenced within the time limited and allowed in this and the preceding chapter, the writ fails of a sufficient service or return by any unavoidable accident, or by any default or neglect of the officer to whom it is committed, or if the writ is abated, or the action otherwise avoided or defeated, by the death of any party thereto, or for any matter of form, or if after a verdict for the plaintiff the judgment is arrested, or if a judgment for the plaintiff is reversed on a writ of error, the plaintiff may commence a new action for the same cause at any time within one year after the abatement or other determination of the original suit, or after the reversal of the judgment; and if the cause of action by law survives, his executor or administrator may commence such new action within said one year.

SECT. 12. If a person liable to any of the actions mentioned in this chapter fraudulently conceals the cause of such action from the knowledge of the person entitled thereto, the action may be commenced at any time within six years after the person entitled to bring the same discovers that he has such cause of action, and not afterwards.

4 Cush. 208. 6 Cush. 418.

SECT. 13. In actions of contract, no acknowledgment or promise shall be evidence of a new or continuing contract whereby to take a case out of the operation of the provisions of this chapter, or to deprive a party of the benefit thereof, unless such acknowledgment or promise is made or contained by or in some writing signed by the party chargeable thereby.

11 Met. 210. 3 Cush. 355. 6 Cush. 151.

SECT. 14. If there are two or more joint contractors, or joint executors or administrators of a contractor, no one of them shall lose the benefit of the provisions of this chapter so as to be chargeable by reason only of an acknowledgment or promise made or signed or by a payment made by any other or others of them.

4 Pick. 382. 5 Met. 168. 6 Met. 564. 6 Cush. 360.

SECT. 15. In actions commenced against two or more joint contractors, or joint executors or administrators of a contractor, if it appears on the trial or otherwise that the plaintiff is barred by the provisions of this chapter, as to one or more of the defendants, but is entitled to recover against any other or others of them by virtue of a new acknowledgment or promise, or otherwise, judgment shall be given for the plaintiff as to the defendants against whom he is entitled to recover, and for the other defendant or defendants against the plaintiff.

SECT. 16. If in an action of contract the defendant pleads or answers in abatement that any other person ought to have been jointly sued, and issue is joined thereon, and if it appears that the action was by reason of the provisions of this chapter barred against the person so named, the issue shall be found for the plaintiff.

SECT. 17. Nothing contained in the four preceding sections shall alter, take away, or lessen, the effect of a payment of any principal or interest made by any person; but no indorsement or memorandum of any such payment written or made upon a promissory note, bill of exchange, or other writing, by or on behalf of the party to whom such payment is made, or purports to be made, shall be deemed sufficient proof of the payment, so as to take the case out of the provisions of this chapter.

SECT. 18. The provisions of this chapter shall apply to the case of any debt founded on contract, alleged by way of set-off on the part of a defendant; and the time of limitation of such debt shall be computed in like manner as if an action had been commenced therefor at the time when the plaintiff's action was commenced.

SECT. 19. The limitations herein before prescribed shall apply to actions brought by the commonwealth, or for its benefit.

SECT. 20. All actions and suits for a penalty or forfeiture on a penal statute, brought by any person to whom the penalty or forfeiture is given in whole or in part, shall be commenced within one year next after the offence is committed, and not afterwards.

SECT. 21. If the penalty or forfeiture is given in whole or in part to the commonwealth, a suit therefor may be commenced by or in behalf of the commonwealth at any time within two years after the offence is committed, and not afterwards.

SECT. 22. The provisions of this chapter shall not apply to any action otherwise specially limited by law.

See Ch. 123, §§ 20, 85. Ch. 124, § 46. Ch. 143, § 23.

SECT. 23. Every judgment and decree in any court of record of the United States, or of this or any other state, shall be presumed to be paid and satisfied at the expiration of twenty years after the judgment or decree was rendered.

SECT. 7. In actions at law brought originally in the supreme judicial court, or removed by consent thereto, if the plaintiff does not recover, either in value of the property claimed or estate in controversy, or in damages, an amount equal to three hundred dollars, to be assessed by the jury who try the cause, or by an assessor agreed upon by the parties, or by an award of arbitrators, he shall recover no costs.

when plaintiff does not recover $300 damage, &c., to recover no costs.
1839, 196, § 30.

SECT. 8. When a defendant brings money into court and offers the same in satisfaction of the damages, the plaintiff shall be entitled to the costs which had previously accrued, though he may not recover a larger sum than is so brought into court.

when defendant brings money into court.
R. S. 121, § 14.

4 Cush. 148.

SECT. 12. When, after a judgment for costs upon a nonsuit or discontinuance, a second suit for the same cause is brought by the original plaintiff, his executor, or administrator, before the costs of the former suit are paid, the court in which the second suit is pending may order proceedings therein to be stayed until such costs are paid, and may further order that the suit be dismissed unless the costs are paid within the time expressed in the order.

Proceedings stayed, &c., till costs of former suit paid.
R. S. 121, § 17.

SECT. 13. In cases in which a party is entitled to recover double costs, the sums paid as fees to witnesses, and for the costs of taking depositions and procuring evidence, and for copies, and all court dues, shall be taxed and recovered singly, and the remainder only of the taxable costs shall be doubled. The same rule shall apply when treble costs are recovered.

Double costs, how taxed.
R. S. 121, § 18.

SECT. 14. In cases where application is made at the suit or in behalf of a private person for a writ of certiorari, mandamus, quo warranto, or other like process, the court may in its discretion allow costs to any person who appears and objects thereto, and may award judgment and execution against the person by whom, or in whose behalf, the application is made.

Costs on petition for certiorari, &c.
R. S. 121, § 19.

SECT. 15. In suits in equity in which as to one or more of the defendants the plaintiff seeks merely for a discovery of facts material to his rights and interests in a pending or anticipated suit, and not for a decree against them, the court shall allow such defendants all reasonable costs, expenditures, and charges, by them made or sustained, according to the usual course of proceeding in equity in like cases. Such allowance shall be made notwithstanding any prayer in the plaintiff's Appellee may take execution in certain cases before appeal is settled. R. S. 121, § 30.

Costs of appeal. R. S. 121, § 31.

SECT. 16. In suits in equity and in other civil suits and proceedings in which no provision is expressly made by law, the costs shall be wholly in the discretion of the court, but no greater sum shall be taxed than is allowed for similar charges in suits at common law.

SECT. 17. In civil suits and proceedings duly instituted by or in the name of the commonwealth, and not on the relation, or in behalf, or for the use, of a private person, the commonwealth shall be liable for costs in like manner and to the same extent as a citizen is liable.

SECT. 18. When a suit or proceeding is instituted in the name of the commonwealth, on the relation, or in behalf, or for the use, of a private person, such person shall be liable for the costs in like manner, and to the same extent, as if the suit or proceeding had been instituted in his own name, and judgment may be rendered and execution issued therefor.

SECT. 19. When a judgment for costs is rendered against the commonwealth, the treasurer of the county where the court is held shall pay the same upon the production of an attested copy of the judgment, and the sum so paid shall be allowed to him in his account with the treasury of the commonwealth.

SECT. 20. When costs are taxed for the commonwealth as a party in a civil suit or proceeding, no fees shall be taxed or allowed for the travel of the attorney-general or any other attorney for the commonwealth.

SECT. 21. Nothing contained in this chapter shall take away or control the power of arbitrators or referees to make such award concerning costs as justice and equity require; nor the power of any court to require costs to be paid by either party, as the condition of an amendment, continuance, or other order, passed at his motion, or to withhold and refuse costs, on like occasions.

SECT. 22. Bills of costs shall be taxed by the clerk of the court, or in suits before justices of the peace, or courts having no clerk, by the justice. No costs shall be taxed without notice to the adverse party, if he gives seasonable notice in writing to the clerk or justice of his desire to be present at the taxation, or causes such notice to be entered on the docket; and notice given by or to the attorney in the suit shall be equivalent to notice by or to the party himself.

SECT. 23. Either party may appeal from the taxation by the clerk, to the court in which the suit is pending, or any one of the justices thereof.

SECT. 24. The appeal shall be heard and determined at the next term or session, unless the party who recovers costs elects to have it determined before one of the justices in vacation, and gives seasonable notice thereof to the adverse party; in which case it shall be thus determined. In either case the judgment shall be considered as rendered on the day when the costs are finally taxed and allowed, except as is provided in the following section.

SECT. 25. If the appeal is made by the party who is to pay the costs, the other party may take out his execution and cause it to be satisfied, if he first gives bond to the adverse party with sufficient surety or sureties, to be approved by the clerk, in a sum equal to the whole amount of the costs, conditioned to repay such part of the costs as may be disallowed on the appeal, and to perform such other order as the court or judge shall make thereon.

SECT. 26. The court or judge before whom such appeal is heard may allow to either party, as justice may require, the costs incurred by the appeal; and the same may be added to or deducted from the costs awarded in the principal suit, or a separate execution may be issued therefor, as the case may require.

SECT. 27. Parties recovering costs in civil causes shall be allowed as follows:—

For an attorney's fee in the supreme judicial court or superior court, when an issue in law or fact is joined, two dollars and fifty cents; and in all other cases, one dollar and twenty-five cents:

For the declaration in each writ in any justice's or other court, fifty cents:

For a term fee in the supreme judicial court or the superior court, five dollars for each term while the action is pending; but the plaintiff shall be allowed only one term fee if the defendant is defaulted without having appeared:

For attendance before a justice of the peace or police court, thirty-three cents for each day's actual attendance by the party or his attorney; but for not more than three days when the defendant is defaulted without having appeared; nor shall attendance be allowed after the day on which the action is nonsuited, defaulted, continued, or otherwise finally disposed of for the term, which day shall be entered on the docket:

For travel in either of the courts before mentioned, or before a justice of the peace, thirty-three cents for every ten miles' travel; but no allowance shall be made for travel to or from the clerk's office to take out or to carry thereto any writ or process, nor for more than eighty miles out and home, unless the party or some agent or attorney for him actually travels more than forty miles for the special purpose of attending the court in such cause; in which case allowance may be made, in the discretion of the court, according to the distance that is actually travelled.

SECT. 28. When a corporation is entitled to costs, an allowance shall be made for travel as in other cases, and the travel shall be computed from the place where the corporation is situated, if it is in its nature local, otherwise from the place in which its business is chiefly or commonly transacted.

Officers not to purchase orders, &c.
1855, 180, § 3.

Penalty for making false certificates of witnesses, &c.
1854, 389.

SECT. 14. In cases not expressly provided for by law, the fees for any official duty or service of recording officers shall be at the same rate as is prescribed in section twelve, and of other public officers at the same rate as those prescribed in this chapter for like services.

SECT. 15. The word "page," when used as the measure of computation, shall mean two hundred and twenty-four words.

SECT. 16. Each of the officers before mentioned, who keeps a public office, shall always keep posted up in some conspicuous and convenient place in his office, a printed or written list of the fees prescribed in this chapter, so far as they relate to him.

SECT. 17. Every officer, upon receiving fees for any official duty or service, shall, if required by the person paying the same, make out in writing a particular account of such fees, specifying for what they respectively accrued; and if he refuses or neglects so to do, he shall forfeit to the party paying the fees three times the amount so paid, to be recovered in an action of tort.

SECT. 18. All travelling fees and fees for the service of writs or precepts of which an officer is required to make a return, shall be indorsed on the writ or precept, or they shall not be allowed.

SECT. 19. When the administration of justice or the progress of business in criminal proceedings is delayed, obstructed, or prevented, by the negligence of a magistrate in certifying and returning recognizances, records, or other official papers, which it is his duty to transmit to a higher court, or in omitting the formalities required by law, the district-attorney, with the approbation of the court, may, either in whole or in part, refuse to allow the fees to which such magistrate would otherwise be entitled.

SECT. 20. When witnesses in criminal trials are in attendance in two or more cases pending at the same time before the same tribunal, they shall not be allowed full travel and attendance in each case, but the clerk of the court, under the direction of the district-attorney, may reduce and apportion the same as may be just and equitable, allowing at least one travel and attendance.

SECT. 21. If on the trial of a criminal case it appears that a witness has induced the defendant to commit the offence with which he is charged, with the intent to appear as a witness against him, the court or magistrate may in his discretion refuse to allow him his fees.

SECT. 22. No sheriff, deputy-sheriff, or other officer, taking the certificates of witnesses in criminal cases, shall purchase or discount, or have any interest in orders drawn or demands upon the treasury by such witnesses.

SECT. 23. SECT. 22. Whoever, having been convicted, upon indictment, either of the crime of larceny or of being accessory to the crime of larceny before the fact, afterwards commits the crime of larceny, or is accessory thereto before the fact, and is convicted thereof upon indictment; and whoever is convicted at the same term of the court, either as principal or accessory before the fact, of three distinct larcenies; shall be deemed a common and notorious thief, and be punished by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding twenty years, or in the jail not exceeding three years.

Larceny of paper designed for bank bills, &c., with intent to pass, &c.
1858, 67, § 1.

SECT. 23. Whoever commits the crime of larceny by stealing any printed piece of paper or blank designed for issue by any incorporated bank or banking company in the United States, as a bank bill, certificate, or promissory note, or printed by means of any engraved plate designed for printing such pieces of paper or blanks, with intent either to utter or pass the same, or to cause or allow the same to be uttered or passed as true, either with or without alteration or addition, and thereby to injure or defraud any person, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state prison for life, or any term of years.

Printers, &c., retaining such paper, &c., with intent to pass, &c.
1858, 67, § 2.

SECT. 24. Whoever, having been employed to print, or having assisted in printing, any such printed piece of paper or blank, or having been entrusted with the care or custody thereof, retains the same in his possession without the knowledge and consent of the corporation for which the same was printed, with the intent either to utter or pass it, or to cause or allow it to be uttered or passed, as true, either with or without alteration or addition, and thereby to injure or defraud any person, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state prison for life, or any term of years.

Larceny of things annexed to the realty.
1851, 151, § 1.

SECT. 25. Whoever by a trespass, with intent to steal, takes and carries away any thing which is parcel of the realty or annexed thereto, the property of another of some value, against his will, shall be guilty of such simple or aggravated larceny as he would be guilty of if such property were personal property.

Accessory to such larceny.
1851, 151, § 2.

SECT. 26. Any person may become an accessory to such larceny before or after the fact, or a receiver of the property stolen, in like manner as if the property stolen were personal, and shall be punished accordingly.

SECT. 27. The same courts and justices shall have jurisdiction of offences under the preceding section, as would have jurisdiction if the property stolen were personal property.

Jurisdiction, 1851, 151, § 3. See Ch. 116, § 14. Ch. 120, § 41.

SECT. 28. The stealing of such real property may be a larceny from one or more tenants, sole, joint, or in common, in fee, for life, or years, at will or sufferance, mortgagors or mortgagees, in possession of the same, or who may have an action of tort against the offender for trespass upon the property, but not from one having only the use or custody thereof. The larceny may be from a wife in possession, where she is authorized by law to hold such property as if sole, otherwise her occupation may be the possession of the husband. Where such property which was of a person deceased is stolen, it may be a larceny from any one or more heirs, devisees, reversioners, remainder-men, or others, having a right upon such decease to take possession but not having entered as it would be after entry. The larceny may be from a person unknown, when it would be such if the property stolen were personal.

Such larceny may be from one or more tenants, 1851, 151, § 4. 1852, 312.

of property of person deceased.

from person unknown.

SECT. 29. Such larceny cannot be committed by one against whom no action of tort could be maintained for acts like those constituting the larceny, but may be committed by those having only the use or custody.

by whom it cannot be committed, 1851, 151, § 5. 1852, 312.

SECT. 30. Whoever, without the consent of the owner and with a felonious intent, takes any beast or bird ordinarily kept in a state of confinement and not the subject of larceny at common law, shall be deemed guilty of larceny.

Larceny of beasts and birds, 1850, 303.

SECT. 31. The officer who arrests a person charged as principal or accessory in any robbery or larceny, shall secure the property alleged to be stolen, annex a schedule thereof to his return, and be answerable for the same; and upon conviction of the offender, the stolen property shall be restored to the owner.

Officer making arrest to secure, &c., goods stolen, R. S. 126, § 25. 21 Pick. 150.

SECT. 32. Upon a conviction of burglary, robbery, or larceny, the court may order a meet recompense to the prosecutor, and also to the officer who has secured and kept the stolen property, not exceeding their actual expenses with a reasonable allowance for their time and trouble; which shall be paid by the county treasurer, and charged by him to the commonwealth.

Allowance to prosecutor and officer on conviction, R. S. 126, § 26.

SECT. 33. When a person arrested upon a charge of burglary, robbery, or larceny, forfeits his recognizance, or escapes from the custody of the law after being committed to jail for trial, the court before whom the case would have been tried shall have the same authority to order a recompense and allowance to the prosecutor, and to the officer who has secured and kept the property, as provided in the preceding section.

when prisoners forfeit recognizances, or escape, 1841, 33.

SECT. 34. Whoever makes or mends, or begins to make or mend, or knowingly has in his possession, any engine, machine, tool, or implement, adapted and designed for cutting through, forcing, or breaking open, any building, room, vault, safe, or other depository, in order to steal therefrom money or other property, or to commit any other crime, knowing the same to be adapted and designed for the purpose aforesaid, with intent to use or employ or allow the same to be used or employed for such purpose, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding ten years, or by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars and imprisonment in the jail not exceeding three years.

Making, holding, using, &c., burglarious instruments, 1853, 194.

SECT. 35. Whoever embezzles, or fraudulently converts to his own use, or secretes with intent to embezzle or fraudulently convert to his own use, money, goods, or property, delivered to him, which may be the subject of larceny, or any part thereof, shall be deemed guilty of simple larceny.

commonwealth, commits any fraud or embezzlement therein, he shall be punished by fine not exceeding two thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the state prison for life, or such term of years as the court shall order.

SECT. 37. If a town, city, or county officer, embezzles or fraudulently converts to his own use, or fraudulently takes or secretes with intent so to do, any effects or property belonging to or in possession of said town, city, or county, he shall be deemed guilty of larceny, and be punished by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding ten years, or by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars and imprisonment in the jail not exceeding two years.

SECT. 38. If an officer, agent, clerk, or servant, of any incorporated company, or if a clerk, agent, or servant, of any private person, or co-partnership, except apprentices and other persons under the age of sixteen years, embezzles, or fraudulently converts to his own use, or takes, or secretes, with intent so to do, without consent of his employer or master, any property of another, which has come to his possession or is under his care by virtue of such employment, he shall be deemed guilty of simple larceny.

SECT. 39. If an officer of an incorporated bank, or any person in the employment of such bank, fraudulently converts to his own use, or fraudulently takes and secretes with intent so to do, any bullion, money, note, bill, or other security for money, belonging to and in possession of such bank, or belonging to any person and deposited therein, he shall, whether intrusted with the custody thereof or not, be deemed guilty of larceny in said bank, and be punished by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding ten years, or by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars and imprisonment in the jail not exceeding two years.

SECT. 40. In prosecutions for such offences, the fraudulent taking or receiving by any person or persons of any bullion, money, note, bill, or other security for money, belonging to such bank, by reason of an unlawful confederacy or agreement of him or them with an officer of said bank, or any person in the employment thereof, with intent to defraud the same, shall be deemed to be a fraudulent taking by such officer or person in the employment of the bank, to his own use, within the meaning of the preceding section; and it shall not be necessary on the trial to identify the particular bullion, money, note, bill, or security for money, so taken or received.

SECT. 41. If a carrier or other person to whom any property which may be the subject of larceny has been delivered to be carried for hire, or if any other person intrusted with such property, embezzles, or fraudulently converts to his own use, or secretes with intent so to do, any such property, either in the mass as the same was delivered, or otherwise, and before delivery thereof at the place at which, or to the person to whom, it was to be delivered, he shall be deemed to be guilty of simple larceny.

SECT. 42. In prosecutions for the offence of embezzling, fraudulently converting to one's own use, or fraudulently taking and secreting with intent so to embezzle or convert, the bullion, money, notes, bank notes, checks, drafts, bills of exchange, obligations, or other securities for money, of any person, bank, incorporated company, or copartnership, by a cashier, or other officer, clerk, agent, or servant, of such person, bank, incorporated company, or copartnership, it shall be sufficient to allege generally in the indictment an embezzlement, fraudulent conversion, or taking with such intent, of money to a certain amount, without specifying any particulars of such embezzlement; and on the trial evidence may be given of any such embezzlement, fraudulent conversion, or taking with such intent, committed within six months next after the time stated in the indictment; and it shall be sufficient to maintain the charge in the indictment, and shall not be deemed a variance, if it is proved, that any bullion, money, notes, bank note, check, draft, bill of exchange, or other security for money, of such person, bank, incorporated company, or copartnership, of whatever amount, was fraudulently embezzled, converted, or taken with such intent, by such cashier, or other officer, clerk, agent, or servant, within said period of six months.

SECT. 43. Whoever buys, receives, or aids in the concealment of stolen money, goods, or property, knowing the same to have been stolen, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding five years, or by fine not exceeding five hundred dollars and imprisonment in the jail not exceeding two years.

SECT. 44. Upon a first conviction under the preceding section, and when the act of stealing the property was a simple larceny, if the party convicted of buying, receiving, or aiding in the concealing of such stolen property, makes satisfaction to the party injured, to the full value of the property stolen and not restored, he shall not be imprisoned in the state prison.

SECT. 45. In prosecutions for the offence of buying, receiving, or aiding in the concealment of stolen property known to have been stolen, it shall not be necessary to aver, nor on the trial thereof to prove, that the person who stole the property has been convicted.

SECT. 46. Whoever buys, receives, or aids in the concealment of, any embezzled property, knowing the same to have been embezzled, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding five years, or by fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the jail not exceeding two years.

SECT. 47. Whoever is convicted of buying, receiving, or aiding in the concealment of stolen or embezzled property, knowing the same to have been stolen or embezzled, having been before convicted of the like offence, and whoever is convicted at the same term of the court of three or more distinct acts of buying, receiving, or aiding in the concealment of, money, goods, or property stolen or embezzled as aforesaid, shall be deemed and adjudged to be a common receiver of stolen or embezzled goods, and shall be punished by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding ten years.

SECT. 48. Whoever wilfully, mischievously, and without right, takes or uses any boat or vehicle, or takes, drives, rides, or uses, any horse, ass, mule, ox, or any draught animal, the property of another, without the consent of the owner or other person having the legal custody, care, or control of the same, shall be punished by fine not exceeding three hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the house of correction for a term not exceeding six months: provided, that nothing in this section shall be so construed as to apply to any case where the taking of the property of another is with the intent to steal the same, or when it is taken under a claim of right, or with the presumed consent of the owner or other person having the legal control, care, or custody, of the same.

SECT. 49. An officer, agent, clerk, or servant, of a corporation, or any other person, who issues, or signs with intent to issue, any certificate of stock in a corporation, or who issues, signs, or indorses, with intent to issue, any bond, note, bill, or other obligation or security, in the name of such corporation, beyond the amount authorized by law, or limited by the legal votes of such corporation or its proper officers, or negotiates, transfers, or disposes of, such certificate, with intent to defraud, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding ten years, or in the house of correction not exceeding one year.

SECT. 50. An officer, agent, clerk, or servant, of a corporation, or any other person, who fraudulently issues or transfers a certificate of the stock of a corporation, to any person not entitled thereto, or fraudulently signs such certificate, in blank or otherwise, with the intent that it shall be so issued or transferred, by himself or any other person, shall § 16.

SECT. 9. Whoever engraves, makes, or mends, or begins to engrave, make, or mend, any plate, block, press, or other tool, instrument, or implement, or makes or provides any paper or other material, adapted and designed for the forging or making a false and counterfeit note, certificate, or other bill of credit, purporting to be issued by lawful authority for a debt of this commonwealth, or a false and counterfeit note or bill in the similitude of the notes or bills issued by any bank or banking company established in this state, or within the United States, or in any foreign province, state, or government, and whoever has in his possession any such plate or block engraved in any part, or any press, or other tool, instrument, or implement, or any paper or other material, adapted and designed as aforesaid, with intent to use the same, or to cause or permit the same to be used, in forging or making any such false and counterfeit certificates, bills, or notes, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding ten years, or by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars and imprisonment in the jail not exceeding two years.

SECT. 10. In prosecutions for forging or counterfeiting notes or bills of the banks before mentioned, or for uttering, publishing, or tendering in payment, as true, any forged or counterfeit bank bills or notes, or for being possessed thereof with intent to utter and pass the same as true, the testimony of the president and cashier of such banks may be dispensed with, if their place of residence is out of this state, or more than forty miles from the place of trial; and the testimony of any person acquainted with the signature of such president or cashier, or who has knowledge of the difference in the appearance of the true and the counterfeit bills or notes of such banks, may be admitted to prove that such bills or notes are counterfeit.

SECT. 11. In prosecutions for forging or counterfeiting any note, certificate, bill of credit, or other security, issued on behalf of the United States, or on behalf of any state or territory, or for uttering, publishing, or tendering in payment, as true, any such forged or counterfeit note, certificate, bill of credit, or security, or for being possessed thereof with intent to utter and pass the same as true, the certificate under oath of the secretary of the treasury, or of the treasurer of the United States, or of the secretary or treasurer of any state or territory, on whose behalf such note, certificate, bill of credit, or security, purports to have been issued, shall be admitted as evidence, for the purpose of proving the same to be forged or counterfeit.

SECT. 12. If a fictitious or pretended signature, purporting to be the signature of an officer or agent of a corporation, is fraudulently affixed to any instrument or writing, purporting to be a note, draft, or other evidence of debt issued by such corporation, with intent to pass the same as true, it shall be deemed a forgery, though no such person may ever have been an officer or agent of such corporation, or ever have existed.

SECT. 13. Where an intent to defraud is required to constitute the offence of forgery, or any other offence, it shall be sufficient to allege in the indictment an intent to defraud, without naming therein the particular person or body corporate intended to be defrauded; and on the trial it shall be sufficient, and shall not be deemed a variance, if there appears to be an intent to defraud the United States, or any state, county, city, town, or parish, or any body corporate, or any public officer in his official capacity, or any copartnership or members thereof, or any particular person.

SECT. 14. Whoever counterfeits any gold or silver coin current by law or usage within this state, or has in his possession at the same time ten or more pieces of false money, or coin counterfeited in the similitude of any gold or silver coin current as aforesaid, knowing the same to be false and counterfeit, and with intent to utter or pass the same as true, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state prison for life, or for any term of years.

SECT. 15. Whoever has in his possession any number of pieces, less than ten, of the counterfeit coin mentioned in the preceding section, knowing the same to be counterfeit, with intent to utter or pass the same as true, or utters, passes, or tenders in payment, as true, any such counterfeit coin, knowing the same to be false and counterfeit, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding ten years, or by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars and imprisonment in the jail not exceeding two years.

SECT. 16. Whoever, having been convicted of either of the offences mentioned in the preceding section, is again convicted of either of the same offences, committed after the former conviction, and whoever is at

R. S. 127, § 18.
6 Met. 321.
See § 28.

SECT. 17. Whoever casts, stamps, engraves, makes, or mends, or knowingly has in his possession, any mould, pattern, die, puncheon, engine, press, or other tool or instrument, adapted and designed for coining, or making counterfeit coin, in the similitude of any gold or silver coin current by law or usage in this state, with intent to use or employ the same, or to cause or permit the same to be used or employed in coining or making any such false and counterfeit coin as aforesaid, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding ten years, or by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars and imprisonment in the jail not exceeding two years.

Issuing or passing notes as currency, &c., except, &c.
R. S. 36, § 70.

SECT. 18. Whoever issues or passes any note, bill, order, or check, other than foreign bills of exchange, the notes or bills of some bank incorporated by the laws of this state, or by the laws of the United States, or of some one of the United States, or by the laws of either of the British Provinces in North America, with the intent that the same shall be circulated as currency, shall forfeit fifty dollars for each offence.

small notes, &c., as currency except, &c.
R. S. 33, § 7.

SECT. 19. Whoever issues or passes any note, bill, order, or check, other than the notes or bills of a bank incorporated under the authority of this state or some one of the United States, for a sum less than five dollars, or whereon a less sum than five dollars is due at the time of such issuing or passing thereof, with intent that the same shall be circulated as currency, shall forfeit fifty dollars for each offence.

Circulation of fractional bills.
1853, 392, § 2.

SECT. 20. Whoever receives or puts in circulation as currency a bank note or bill which is, or a part of which is, for any fractional part of a dollar, shall be punished by fine of twenty-five dollars.

Fraudulently connecting parts of several bank notes, &c.
R. S. 127, § 12.
10 Mass. 34.

SECT. 21. Whoever fraudulently connects together different parts of several bank notes, or other genuine instruments, in such a manner as to produce one additional note or instrument, with intent to pass all of them as genuine, shall be deemed guilty of forgery in like manner as if each of them had been falsely made or forged.

Wilful and malicious injury to bank bills.
1852, 64.

SECT. 22. Whoever wilfully and maliciously tears, cuts, or in any manner damages and impairs the usefulness for circulation of any bank bill or note of a bank in this state, shall be punished by fine not exceeding ten dollars for each offence; but the possession or uttering of a bill so injured shall not be evidence against a party charged, unless connected with other circumstances tending to prove that the bill or note was injured by him.

gathering up, &c., bills of bank for purpose of injuring business, &c.
Penalty.
1859, 116, §§ 3, 4.

SECT. 23. Whoever maliciously gathers up or retains, or maliciously aids in gathering up or retaining, any bills or notes of any bank or banking company, current by law or usage in this state, for the purpose of injuring or impeding the circulation or business of such bank or banking company, or of compelling it to do any act out of the usual course of its business, shall be punished by fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the jail not exceeding two years; and in the prosecution of any such offence it shall not be necessary to set out and describe each bill, but it shall be sufficient to aver and prove any amount of the bills of any bank which have been so gathered up or retained.

Having in possession uncurrent and worthless bills, &c.
1857, 231, § 1.
See § 27.

SECT. 24. Whoever has in his possession at the same time five or more uncurrent bank bills or notes, which are worthless as bank bills or notes, knowing the same to be worthless as aforesaid, or has papers not bank bills or notes, but made in the similitude of bank bills or notes, or papers purporting to be the bills or notes of any bank which has never existed, knowing the character of such papers, with intent to pass, utter, or circulate, the same, or to procure any other person so to do, for the purpose of injuring or defrauding, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding five years, or by fine not exceeding five hundred dollars and imprisonment in the house of correction not exceeding three years.

SECT. 25. Whoever utters or passes, or tenders in payment as true, any such uncurrent and worthless bank bill or note, or any paper not a bank bill or note, but made in the similitude of a bank bill or note, or any paper purporting to be the bill or note of any bank which has never existed, knowing the same to be worthless and uncurrent, as aforesaid, with intent to injure and defraud, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding five years, or by fine not exceeding five hundred dollars and imprisonment in the house of correction not exceeding three years.

Uttering or passing such bills, &c. 1857, 231, § 2. See §§ 27, 28.

SECT. 26. Whoever engraves, prints, issues, utters, or circulates, a shop bill or advertisement, in similitude, form, and appearance, like a bank bill, on paper similar to paper used for bank bills, and with vignettes, figures, or decorations, used on bank bills, or having the general appearance of a bank bill, shall be punished by fine not exceeding fifty dollars, or by imprisonment in the jail not exceeding ninety days.

Engraving, &c., shop bills, resembling bank bills. 1849, 5.

SECT. 27. When false, forged, or counterfeit bank bills, or notes, or plates, dies, or other tools, instruments, or implements, used by counterfeiters, or designed for the forging or making of false or counterfeit notes, coin, or bills, or worthless and uncurrent bank bills or notes described in sections twenty-four and twenty-five, come to the knowledge of any sheriff, constable, police officer, or other officer of justice, in this state, such officer shall immediately seize and take possession of and deliver the same into the custody of the court of record having jurisdiction of the offence of counterfeiting in the county, and the court shall, as soon as the ends of justice will permit, cause the same to be destroyed by an officer of the court, who shall make return to the court of his doings in the premises.

Sheriff, &c., to seize counterfeit bills, &c. 1855, 168, § 1. 1857, 231, § 3.

SECT. 28. Upon a conviction of any offence mentioned in sections three, four, fourteen, fifteen, seventeen, or twenty-five, and also upon forfeiture by persons prosecuted for any such offence of any recognizance for their appearance to answer to the same, the court before which the conviction is had, or where the record of the recognizance may be, may order a meet recompense to the prosecutor and to the officer who has secured and kept the evidence of the offence, not exceeding their actual expenses with a reasonable allowance for their time and trouble, to be paid by the county treasurer, and charged by him to the commonwealth; but where recognizances are so forfeited, the amount paid in any case shall not exceed the amount received by the commonwealth thereon.

Remuneration to prosecutors, &c., of forgers, &c. 1846, 142, § 1.

Perjury.
R. S. 128, § 1.
12 Mass. 274.

SECTION 1. Whoever, being lawfully required to depose the truth in any proceeding in a course of justice, commits perjury, shall be punished, if the perjury is committed on the trial of an indictment for a capital crime, by imprisonment in the state prison for life, or any term of years, and if committed in any other case, by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding twenty years.

what shall be deemed.
R. S. 94, § 12.
R. S. 128, § 2.

SECT. 2. Whoever, being required by law to take an oath or affirmation, wilfully swears or affirms falsely, in regard to any matter or thing respecting which such oath or affirmation is required, shall be deemed guilty of perjury.

subornation of.
R. S. 128, § 3.

SECT. 3. Whoever is guilty of subornation of perjury, by procuring another person to commit perjury, shall be punished in the same manner as for perjury.

inciting to commit.
R. S. 128, § 4.

SECT. 4. Whoever endeavors to incite or procure any other person to commit perjury, though no perjury is committed, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding five years, or in the jail not exceeding one year.

on presumption of, by witness, court may commit, &c.
R. S. 128, § 6.

SECT. 5. When it appears to a court of record, that a witness or party who has been legally sworn and examined, or has made an affidavit, in any proceeding in a course of justice, has so testified as to induce a reasonable presumption that he is guilty of perjury therein, the court may immediately commit such witness or party by an order or process for that purpose, or may take a recognizance with sureties for his appearing to answer to an indictment for perjury; and thereupon the witnesses to establish such perjury may if present be bound over to the proper court, and notice of the proceedings shall forthwith be given to the district-attorney.

Papers, &c., may be secured.
R. S. 128, § 7.

SECT. 6. If in any proceeding in a court of justice, in which perjury is reasonably presumed as aforesaid, papers, books, or documents, have been produced, which are deemed necessary to be used on a prosecution for such perjury, the court may by order detain the same from the person producing them, so long as may be necessary for their use in such prosecution.

Giving or offering bribes to officers.
R. S. 128, § 8.

SECT. 7. Whoever corruptly gives, offers, or promises, to any executive, legislative, or judicial officer, after his election or appointment, either before or after he is qualified, or has taken his seat, any gift or gratuity whatever, with intent to influence his act, vote, opinion, decision, or judgment, on any matter, question, cause, or proceeding, which may be then pending, or may by law come or be brought before him in his official capacity, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding five years, or by fine not exceeding three thousand dollars and imprisonment in the jail not exceeding one year.

Acceptance of bribes by officers.
R. S. 128, § 9.

SECT. 8. Every executive, legislative, or judicial officer who corruptly accepts a gift or gratuity, or a promise to make a gift, or to do an act beneficial, to such officer, under an agreement, or with an understanding, that his vote, opinion, or judgment, shall be given in any particular manner, or upon a particular side of any question, cause, or proceeding, which is or may be by law brought before him in his official capacity, or that, in such capacity, he shall make any particular nomination or appointment, shall forfeit his office, be forever disqualified to hold any public office, trust, or appointment, under the constitution or laws of this state, and be punished by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding ten years, or by fine not exceeding five thousand dollars and imprisonment in the jail not exceeding two years.

SECT. 9. Whoever corrupts, or attempts to corrupt, any master in chancery, auditor, juror, arbitrator, umpire, or referee, by giving, offering, or promising, any gift or gratuity whatever, with intent to bias the opinion or influence the decision of such master in chancery, auditor, juror, arbitrator, umpire, or referee, in relation to any cause or matter pending in the court, or before an inquest, or for the decision of which, such arbitrator, umpire, or referee, has been chosen or appointed, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding five years, or by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars and imprisonment in the jail not exceeding one year.

Corrupting jurors, arbitrators, &c.
R. S. 128, § 10.

SECT. 10. If any person summoned as a juror, or chosen or appointed as an arbitrator, umpire, or referee, or if any master in chancery, or auditor, corruptly takes any thing to give his verdict, award, or report, or corruptly receives any gift or gratuity whatever, from a party to a suit, cause, or proceeding, for the trial or decision of which such juror has been summoned, or for the hearing or determination of which such master in chancery, auditor, arbitrator, umpire, or referee, has been chosen or appointed, he shall be punished by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding five years, or by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars and imprisonment in the jail not exceeding one year.

Acceptance of bribes by jurors, arbitrators, &c.
R. S. 128, § 11.

SECT. 11. Whoever conveys into a jail, house of correction, house of reformation, or other like place of confinement, any disguise, instrument, tool, weapon, or other thing, adapted or useful to aid a prisoner in making his escape, with intent to facilitate the escape of any prisoner there lawfully committed or detained; or by any means whatever aids or assists such prisoner in his endeavor to escape therefrom, whether such escape is effected or attempted or not; and whoever forcibly rescues any prisoner held in custody upon any conviction or charge of an offence; shall be punished by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding seven years; or if the person whose escape or rescue was effected or intended was charged with an offence not capital nor punishable by imprisonment in the state prison, then by imprisonment in the jail not exceeding two years, or by fine not exceeding five hundred dollars.

Attempts to aid escapes from prison, and rescuing prisoners.
R. S. 128, § 12.

SECT. 12. Whoever aids or assists a prisoner in escaping, or attempting to escape, from an officer or person who has the lawful custody of such prisoner, shall be punished by imprisonment in the jail not exceeding two years, or by fine not exceeding five hundred dollars.

Aiding in an escape from an officer.
R. S. 128, § 13.

SECT. 13. If a jailer or other officer voluntarily suffers a prisoner in his custody upon conviction or any criminal charge, to escape, he shall suffer the like punishment and penalties as the prisoner suffered to escape was sentenced to, or would be liable to suffer upon conviction of the crime or offence wherewith he stood charged.

Voluntary escape from prison.
R. S. 128, § 14.

SECT. 14. If a jailer or other officer through negligence suffers a prisoner in his custody upon conviction or any criminal charge, to escape, or wilfully refuses to receive into his custody a prisoner lawfully directed to be committed thereto on a criminal charge or conviction, or any lawful process whatever, he shall be punished by imprisonment in the jail not exceeding two years, or by fine not exceeding five hundred dollars.

Negligent escape; and refusing to receive a prisoner.
R. S. 128, § 15.

SECT. 15. If an officer authorized to serve process, wilfully and corruptly refuses to execute any lawful process to him directed, and requiring him to apprehend or confine any person convicted or charged with an offence, or wilfully and corruptly omits or delays to execute such process, whereby such person escapes and goes at large, he shall be punished by imprisonment in the jail not exceeding one year, or by fine not exceeding five hundred dollars.

Refusing to arrest, and suffering escape.
R. S. 128, § 16.

SECT. 16. Whoever being required in the name of the commonwealth, by a sheriff, deputy-sheriff, coroner, constable, police officer, or watchman, neglects or refuses to assist him in the execution of his office in a criminal case, or in the preservation of the peace, or the appre-to aid officers.

1855, 45, § 1.

hending or securing of any person for a breach of the peace, or in a case of escape or rescue of persons arrested upon civil process, shall be punished by imprisonment in the jail not exceeding one month, or by fine not exceeding fifty dollars.

Refusing to arrest upon order of a justice of the peace.
R. S. 128, § 18.

SECT. 17. Whoever being required by a justice of the peace, upon view of a breach of the peace or any other offence proper for his cognizance, to apprehend and bring before him the offender, refuses or neglects to obey such justice, shall be punished in the manner provided in the preceding section for refusing assistance to a sheriff; and no person, to whom such justice is known or declares himself to be a justice of the peace, shall plead any excuse on pretence of ignorance of his office.

Falsely assuming to be a justice of the peace or officer.
R. S. 128, § 19.
19 Cush. 61.

SECT. 18. Whoever falsely assumes or pretends to be a justice of the peace, sheriff, deputy-sheriff, coroner, constable, police officer, or watchman, and takes upon himself to act as such, or to require any person to aid or assist him in a matter pertaining to the duty of any such officer, shall be punished by imprisonment in the jail not exceeding one year, or by fine not exceeding four hundred dollars.

Disguising to resist execution of the law.
R. S. 128, § 20.

SECT. 19. Whoever in any manner disguises himself, with intent to obstruct the due execution of the law, or with intent to intimidate, hinder, or interrupt, any officer or other person in the legal performance of his duty, or the exercise of his rights under the constitution or laws of this state, whether such intent is effected or not, shall be punished by imprisonment in the jail not exceeding one year, or by fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, and may also be bound to good behavior for the term of one year after the expiration of such imprisonment.

Concealing and compounding offences.
R. S. 128, § 21.
16 Mass. 91.

SECT. 20. Whoever, having knowledge of the commission of an offence punishable with death or by imprisonment in the state prison, takes money, or a gratuity or reward, or an engagement therefor, upon an agreement or understanding express or implied to compound or conceal such offence, or not to prosecute therefor, or not to give evidence thereof, shall, where such offence of which he has knowledge is punishable with death or imprisonment in the state prison for life, be punished by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding five years, or in the jail not exceeding one year; and where the offence of which he so had knowledge was punishable in any other manner, he shall be punished by imprisonment in the jail not exceeding two years, or by fine not exceeding five hundred dollars.

Officers, taking rewards for omitting their duty.
R. S. 128, § 22.

SECT. 21. If a sheriff, constable, or other officer authorized to serve legal process, receives from a defendant, or any other person, any money or other valuable thing, as a consideration, reward, or inducement, for omitting or delaying to arrest a defendant, or to carry him before a magistrate, or for delaying to take a person to prison, or for postponing the sale of property under an execution, or for omitting or delaying to perform any duty pertaining to his office, he shall be punished by fine not exceeding three hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the jail not exceeding three months.

Extortion by taking illegal fees.

1851, 346.

SECT. 23. Whoever wilfully interrupts or disturbs any school or other assembly of people met for a lawful purpose, shall be punished by imprisonment in the jail not exceeding thirty days, or by fine not exceeding fifty dollars.

SECT. 24. Whoever wilfully interrupts, or by fast driving or otherwise in any way disturbs, a funeral assembly or procession, shall be punished by imprisonment in the jail not exceeding thirty days, or by fine not exceeding fifty dollars.

SECT. 25. Whoever is guilty of drunkenness by the voluntary use of intoxicating liquor shall for the first offence be punished by fine not exceeding five dollars, and for any like offence committed after the first conviction, by fine not exceeding ten dollars, or by imprisonment in the house of correction not exceeding three months; but no prosecution shall be commenced after six months from the commission of the offence.

SECT. 26. Whoever has become liable to imprisonment in the house of correction upon a second conviction for the crime of drunkenness, may be committed to the workhouse, if any, in the town or city where the offence was committed, instead of the house of correction.

SECT. 27. A person convicted of the crime of drunkenness in the city of Boston, may be committed, in case of non-payment of the fine, to the house of industry instead of the jail or house of correction. The term of imprisonment and the manner of pardon and discharge shall in all respects be the same as are provided in cases where such persons are held in prison in the county of Suffolk for non-payment of fine and costs.

SECT. 28. Rogues and vagabonds, idle and dissolute persons who go about begging, persons who use any juggling or unlawful games or plays, common pipers and fiddlers, stubborn children, runaways, common drunkards, common night walkers, pilferers, lewd, wanton, and lascivious persons in speech or behavior, common railers and brawlers, persons who neglect their calling or employment, misspend what they earn and do not provide for themselves or for the support of their families, and all other idle and disorderly persons, including therein those persons who neglect all lawful business and habitually misspend their time by frequenting houses of ill fame, gaming houses, or tippling shops, may, upon conviction, be committed, for a term not exceeding six months, to the house of correction, or to the house of industry or workhouse within the city or town where the conviction is had, or to the workhouse, if any there is, in the city or town in which the offender has a legal settlement, if such town is within the county.

SECT. 29. When a person is convicted, by a justice of the peace or police court, of any offence mentioned in the preceding section, he may, instead of the punishment therein mentioned, be punished by fine not exceeding twenty dollars, either with or without a condition that if the same with the costs of prosecution is not paid within a time specified, he shall be committed to the house of correction, house of industry, or workhouse, as is provided in the preceding section; which conditional sentence shall be carried into execution according to the provisions of section seven of chapter one hundred and seventy-four.

SECT. 30. The master, keeper, director, or overseer, of a house of industry or workhouse to which any person is committed under the two preceding sections, shall receive all persons so committed, set them to work if they are able, and employ and govern them in the manner required by law and prescribed by the rules and orders established for that purpose; and the city or town in which such house is situated may recover the balance of the expense of the support of any such person over and above the amount of his labor, from the party thus sentenced, or from any kindred, town, or city, liable by law for his support, if he is a pauper, in like manner as if he had been committed to the house of correction for the same offence.

SECT. 31. If any person convicted under the provisions of section twenty-eight appeals from the sentence, the commission of any like offence by him before judgment on the appeal, shall be deemed a breach of the condition of the recognizance, if any was taken upon allowing the appeal.

Party committing offences under section twenty-eight after appeal. R. S. 143, § 8.

SECT. 32. When a person is brought before a magistrate upon a charge of any offence mentioned in section twenty-eight, such magistrate, or the court before which the cause may be carried by appeal, may in any stage of the proceedings direct the respondent or appellant to be discharged, upon his entering into a recognizance with sufficient sureties, in such sum as the magistrate or court directs, for his good behavior for a term not less than six months nor exceeding two years, and paying the costs of prosecution or such part thereof as the magistrate or court shall direct.

Respondent may be discharged on recognizance, paying costs. R. S. 143, § 9.

SECT. 33. A person found in a street, highway, or other public place, in the night time, committing any of the offences or disorders before mentioned, may be apprehended by any sheriff, deputy-sheriff, constable, or watchman, or by any other person by the order of any magistrate or either of said officers, without a written warrant, and kept in custody in a convenient place, not more than twenty-four hours, Sundays excepted; at or before the expiration of which time, he shall be brought before a justice of the peace or police court, and proceeded against in the manner directed in the preceding section, or discharged, as such magistrate shall determine.

Disorderly persons arrested in night time. R. S. 143, § 7.

SECT. 34. If a person discharged under the provisions of section seventeen of chapter one hundred and seventy-eight, is afterwards convicted of any offence mentioned in section twenty-eight, committed after the former conviction, either in the same or a different county, he may be sentenced by the magistrate or court before whom the second conviction is had, to hard labor in the house of correction, house of industry, or workhouse, for a term not exceeding one year.

Conviction of certain offenders after discharge on former conviction. R. S. 143, § 13.

SECT. 35. When a person is convicted as a common night walker, and it is alleged in the complaint, and proved at the trial, that the defendant has been previously twice convicted of the same offence, such person may be sentenced to the house of correction, house of industry, or workhouse, if any such is established in the town or city, for a term not exceeding five years.

Night walking, third conviction. 1857, c. 69, § 1. See Ch. 178, § 18.

SECT. 36. If a sheriff, deputy-sheriff, coroner, or constable, takes the body of any deceased person, on mesne process or execution, he shall be punished by fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, or imprisonment in the jail not exceeding six months.

Sheriff, &c., taking a dead body. R. S. 14, § 81.

SECT. 37. Whoever not being authorized by the board of health, overseers of the poor, directors of a workhouse, selectmen, or mayor and aldermen, of any city or town, by the board of directors for public institutions, or overseers of the poor of the city of Boston, wilfully digs up, disinters, removes, or conveys away, any human body, or the remains thereof, or knowingly aids in such disinterment, removal, or conveying away, and whoever is accessory thereto, either before or after the fact, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding one year, or in the jail not exceeding two years, or by fine not exceeding two thousand dollars.

Violation of sepulture. R. S. 130, § 19. 1857, c. 35. 19 Pick. 37. 19 Pick. 304.

SECT. 38. Whoever buys, sells, or has in his possession for the purpose of buying or selling, or trafficking in, the dead body of any human being, shall be punished by fine of not less than fifty nor exceeding five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the jail not less than three months, nor exceeding three years.

Enying or having dead body for the purpose of sale, &c. 1855, c. 323, §§ 2, 3.

SECT. 39. Whoever wilfully destroys, mutilates, defaces, injures, or removes, any tomb, monument, gravestone, or other structure, or thing,

Injuring or defacing tombs, memorials of the dead, &c.

R. S. 130, § 20.

Exhibiting representation of lottery, &c.
R. S. 132, § 4.
5 Pick. 41, 42.

SECT. 5. Whoever advertises any lottery ticket, or any share in such ticket, for sale, either himself or by another person, or sets up or exhibits, or devises or makes for the purpose of being set up or exhibited, any sign, symbol, or emblematic or other representation, of a lottery or the drawing thereof, in any way indicating where a lottery ticket or a share thereof, or any such writing, certificate, bill, token, or other device, before mentioned, may be purchased or obtained, or in any way invites or entices, or attempts to invite or entice, any other person to purchase or receive the same, shall for each offence be punished by fine not exceeding one hundred dollars.

Making or selling tickets in a fictitious lottery.
R. S. 132, § 5.

SECT. 6. Whoever makes or sells, or has in his possession with intent to sell, exchange, or negotiate; or by printing, writing, or otherwise, assists in making or selling, or in attempting to sell, exchange, or negotiate a false or fictitious lottery ticket, or any share thereof, or any writing, certificate, bill, token, or other device, before mentioned, or any ticket, or share thereof, in a fictitious or pretended lottery, knowing the same to be false or fictitious; or receives any money or other thing of value for any such ticket or share of a ticket, writing, certificate, bill, token, or other device, purporting that the owner, bearer, or holder, thereof, shall be entitled to receive any prize, or share of a prize, or any other thing of value, that may be drawn in a lottery, knowing the same to be false or fictitious; shall for each offence be punished by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding three years.

Defendant to prove genuineness, &c., of tickets sold by him.
R. S. 132, § 6.

SECT. 7. Upon the trial of an indictment for either of the offences mentioned in the preceding section, any ticket or share of a ticket, or any other writing or thing before mentioned, which the defendant has sold or offered for sale, or for which he has received a valuable consideration, shall be deemed to be false, spurious, or fictitious, unless such defendant proves that the same was true and genuine, duly issued by the authority of some legislature within the United States, that such lottery was existing and undrawn, and that such ticket or share thereof, or other writing or thing before mentioned, was issued by lawful authority, and binding upon the persons who issued the same.

Prizes, &c., forfeited to the state.
R. S. 132, § 8.
1856, 121, §§ 1, 2.

SECT. 8. All sums of money and every other valuable thing drawn as a prize or as a share of a prize in any lottery, and all property disposed of or offered to be disposed of by any chance or device under the pretext mentioned in section one, by any person being an inhabitant or resident within this state, and all sums of money or other things of value received by any such person, by reason of his being the owner or holder of any ticket or share of a ticket in a lottery or pretended lottery, or of a share or right in any such scheme of chance or such device, contrary to the provisions of this chapter, shall be forfeited, and may be recovered by an information filed, or by an action for money had and received brought by the attorney-general or any district-attorney or other prosecuting officer in the name and on behalf of the commonwealth.

SECT. 9. All racing, running, trotting, or pacing, of any horse or other animal of the horse kind, for a bet or wager of money or other valuable thing, or for a purse or stake, made within this state, is declared to be unlawful; and all persons engaged in such racing, running, trotting, or pacing, for any such bet or wager, purse or stake, and all persons aiding or abetting the same, shall be punished by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the jail not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Racing, &c., declared unlawful. Penalty. 1846, 200, §§ 1, 2.

SECT. 10. No land within any town or city shall be laid out or used as a race ground or trotting park, for the admission to which of persons or property, any money or other valuable consideration shall be directly or indirectly taken or required, without the previous consent of and location by the selectmen or mayor and aldermen; who may regulate and alter the terms and conditions under which the same shall be laid out, used, or continued in use; and discontinue the same when in their judgment the public good so requires; and no land shall be used for any of the purposes mentioned in the preceding section.

Location and regulation of race grounds and trotting parks. Selectmen, &c., may alter terms. 1856, 102, § 1.

SECT. 11. Every race ground or trotting park established, laid out, used, or continued in use, contrary to the provisions of this chapter, is declared a common nuisance, and shall be abated as such; and all persons owning, keeping, using, or permitting to be used, such race ground or trotting park, or aiding or abetting therein, shall be punished in the manner provided in section nine.

Unlawful race grounds deemed nuisances. Penalty. 1856, 102, §§ 2, 3.

CHAPTER 168.

OF FELONIES, ACCESSORIES, ABETTORS, AND ATTEMPTS TO COMMIT CRIMES.

SECTION

1. Felony.
2. Indictments, &c., for, not to be quashed, &c.
3. Persons accessory before fact, punished as principals.

SECTION

4. Accessories before fact, when and how tried.
5. where to be tried.
6. Accessories after fact, who shall be deemed.
7. how, when, and where, tried.
8. Attempts to commit offences.

SECTION 1. Any crime punishable by death or imprisonment in the state prison is a felony; and no other crime shall be so considered.

Felony. 1852, 37, § 1. 3 Gray, 448.

SECT. 2. It shall not be necessary to allege in any indictment or complaint that the offence charged is a felony, or felonious, or done feloniously; nor shall any indictment or complaint be quashed or deemed invalid by reason of the omission of the words "felony," "felonious," or "feloniously."

Indictments, &c., for, not to be quashed, &c. 1852, 37, § 3. 1858, 23.

SECT. 3. Whoever aids in the commission of a felony, or is accessory thereto before the fact, by counselling, hiring, or otherwise procuring, such felony to be committed, shall be punished in the manner prescribed for the punishment of the principal felon.

Persons accessory before fact punished as principals. R. S. 133, § 1. 3 Gray, 441, 448.

Accessories before fact, when and how tried.
R. S. 133, § 2.
16 Mass. 423.
3 Gray, 448.

SECT. 4. Whoever counsels, hires, or otherwise procures, a felony to be committed, may be indicted and convicted as an accessory before the fact, either with the principal felon, or after his conviction; or may be indicted and convicted of a substantive felony, whether the principal felon has or has not been convicted, or is or is not amenable to justice; and in the last-mentioned case may be punished in the same manner as if convicted of being an accessory before the fact.

where to be tried.
R. S. 133, § 3.

SECT. 5. A person charged with the offence mentioned in the preceding section may be indicted, tried, and punished, in the same court and county where the principal felon might be indicted and tried, although the offence of counselling, hiring, or procuring, the commission of such felony is committed on the high seas, or on land either within or without the limits of this state.

Accessories after fact who shall be deemed.
R. S. 133, § 4.

SECT. 6. Whoever, not standing in the relation of husband or wife, parent or grandparent, child or grandchild, brother or sister, by consanguinity or affinity, to the offender, after the commission of a felony, harbors, conceals, maintains, or assists, the principal felon or accessory before the fact, or gives such offender any other aid, knowing that he has committed a felony, or been accessory thereto before the fact, with intent that he shall avoid or escape detection, arrest, trial, or punishment, shall be deemed an accessory after the fact, and be punished by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding seven years, or in the jail not exceeding three years, or by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars.

how, when, and where, tried.
R. S. 133, § 5.

SECT. 7. Whoever becomes an accessory to a felony after the fact may be indicted, convicted, and punished, (whether the principal felon has or has not been previously convicted, or is or is not amenable to justice,) by any court having jurisdiction to try the principal felon, and either in the county where such person became an accessory, or in the county where the principal felony was committed.

Attempts to commit offences.
R. S. 133, § 12.
10 Met. 422.
3 Cush. 529.
5 Cush. 365.

SECT. 8. Whoever attempts to commit an offence prohibited by law, and in such attempt does any act towards the commission of such offence, but fails in the perpetration, or is intercepted or prevented in the execution, of the same, where no express provision is made by law for the punishment of such attempt, shall be punished as follows:—

First. If the offence attempted to be committed is punishable with death, the person convicted of such attempt shall be punished by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding ten years:

Second. If the offence so attempted to be committed is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison for life, or for five years or more, the person convicted of such attempt shall be punished by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding five years, or in the jail not exceeding one year:

Third. If the offence attempted to be committed is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison for a term less than five years, or by imprisonment in the jail, or by fine, the offender convicted of such attempt shall be punished by imprisonment in the jail not exceeding one year, or by fine not exceeding three hundred dollars; but in no case shall the punishment by imprisonment exceed one-half of the greatest punishment which might have been inflicted if the offence attempted had been committed.

OF PROCEEDINGS TO PREVENT THE COMMISSION OF CRIMES.

SECTION

1. Officers authorized to keep the peace.
2. Complaint, how made.
3. Arrest.
4. Trial. Recognizance to keep the peace.
5. Proceedings upon an order to recognize, &c.
6. Complainant, when to pay costs.
7. Payment of costs in other cases.
8. Appeal.
9. Witnesses to recognize.
10. Proceedings on appeal.
11. Recognizance, when to remain in force.

SECTION

12. Person committed for not recognizing, how discharged.
13. Recognizances to be transmitted to court. Suit thereon.
11. when to be required on view of court or magistrate.
15. Persons who go armed may be required to find sureties for the peace, &c.
16. Court may remit part of penalty.
17. Surety may surrender his principal, who may recognize anew.

SECTION 1. The justices of the supreme judicial court, superior court, and police courts, in vacation or in open court, and justices of the peace, may cause to be kept all laws made for the preservation of the public peace; and in the execution of that power may require persons to give security to keep the peace, or for their good behavior, or both, as provided in this chapter.

Officers authorized to keep the peace.
R. S. 131, § 1.
1859, 196.
See § 14.

SECT. 2. When complaint is made to any such magistrate, that a person has threatened to commit an offence against the person or property of another, the magistrate shall examine on oath the complainant and any witnesses who may be produced, reduce the complaint to writing, and cause it to be subscribed by the complainant.

Complaint, how made.
R. S. 134, § 2.

SECT. 3. If upon examination it appears that there is just cause to fear that such offence may be committed, the magistrate shall issue a warrant under his hand, reciting the substance of the complaint, and requiring the officer to whom it is directed forthwith to apprehend the person complained of, and bring him before such magistrate or some other magistrate or court having jurisdiction of the cause.

Arrest.
R. S. 134, § 3.

SECT. 4. When the party complained of is brought before the court or magistrate, he shall be heard in his defence, and may be required to Trial. Recognizance to keep the peace.

8 Mass. 78.

enter into a recognizance with sufficient sureties in such sum as the court or magistrate directs, to keep the peace towards all the people of this commonwealth, and especially towards the person requiring such security, for such term, not exceeding six months, as the court or magistrate may order; but he shall not be bound over to the next court, unless he is also charged with some other offence for which he ought to be held to answer at such court.

Proceedings upon an order to recognize, &c.
R. S. 134, §§ 5, 6.

SECT. 5. If the person so ordered to recognize complies with the order, he shall be discharged; but if he refuses or neglects, the court or magistrate shall commit him to the jail, house of correction, or house of industry, during the period for which he was required to give security, or until he so recognizes, stating in the warrant the cause of commitment, with the sum and time for which security was required.

Complainant, when to pay costs.
R. S. 134, § 7.

SECT. 6. If upon examination it does not appear that there is just cause to fear that such offence will be committed by the party complained of, he shall be forthwith discharged; and if the magistrate deems the complaint unfounded, frivolous, or malicious, he may order the complainant to pay the costs of prosecution, who shall thereupon be answerable to the magistrate and the officer for their fees, as for his own debt.

Payment of costs in other cases.
R. S. 134, § 8.

SECT. 7. When no order respecting the costs is made by the court or magistrate, they shall be allowed and paid in the same manner as costs before justices in criminal prosecutions; but in all cases where a person is required to give security to keep the peace, or for his good behavior, the court or magistrate may further order, that the costs of prosecution, or any part thereof, shall be paid by such person, who shall stand committed until the costs are paid or he is otherwise legally discharged.

Appeal.
R. S. 134, § 9.
1852, 14.
1859, 196.

SECT. 8. Whoever is aggrieved by the order of a justice of the peace or police court, requiring him to recognize as aforesaid, may on giving the security required appeal to the superior court next to be held in the same county.

Witnesses to recognize.
R. S. 194, § 10.

SECT. 9. The court or magistrate shall require such witnesses as may be necessary to support the complaint, to recognize for their appearance at the court appealed to.

Proceedings on appeal.
R. S. 134, § 11.

SECT. 10. The court before which the appeal is prosecuted may affirm the order or discharge the appellant, or may require him to enter into a new recognizance with sufficient sureties in such sum and for such time as the court deems proper, and may make such order in relation to the costs of prosecution as may be deemed just and reasonable.

Recognizance, when to remain in force.
R. S. 134, § 12.

SECT. 11. If the appellant fails to prosecute his appeal, his recognizance shall remain in full force and effect as to any breach of the condition, without an affirmation of the judgment or order of the court or magistrate, and shall also stand as a security for any costs which the court appealed to orders to be paid by the appellant.

Person committed for not recognizing, how discharged.
R. S. 134, § 13.

SECT. 12. A person committed for not finding sureties or refusing to recognize as required by the court or magistrate, may be discharged by any judge or justice of the peace, on giving such security as was required.

Recognizances to be transmitted to court, suit thereon.
R. S. 134, § 14.
1852, 14.
1859, 196.

SECT. 13. Every recognizance taken pursuant to the foregoing provisions shall be transmitted by the magistrate to the superior court for the county on or before the first day of the next term, and shall be there filed of record by the clerk; and upon a breach of the condition a suit shall be commenced thereon by the district-attorney.

when to be required on view of court or magistrate.
R. S. 134, § 15.

SECT. 14. Whoever in the presence of any magistrate mentioned in section one, or before any court of record, makes an affray, or threatens to kill or beat another, or to commit any violence or outrage against his person or property, and whoever in the presence of such court or magistrate contends with hot and angry words, to the disturbance of the peace, may be ordered, without process or any other proof, to recognize for keeping the peace or being of good behavior for a term not exceeding three months, and in case of refusal may be committed as before directed.

SECT. 15. Whoever goes armed with a dirk, dagger, sword, pistol, or other offensive and dangerous weapon, without reasonable cause to fear an assault or other injury, or violence to his person, or to his family or property, may on complaint of any person having reasonable cause to fear an injury, or breach of the peace, be required to find sureties for keeping the peace for a term not exceeding six months, with the right of appeal as before provided.

Persons who go armed may be required to find sureties for the peace, &c.
R. S. 143, § 16.

SECT. 16. When, upon a suit brought on such recognizance, the penalty thereof is adjudged forfeited, the court may, on the petition of any defendant, remit such portion of it as the circumstances of the case render just and reasonable.

Court may remit part of penalty.
R. S. 134, § 17.
7 Mass. 397.

SECT. 17. A surety in a recognizance to keep the peace, or for good behavior, or both, shall have the same authority and right to take and surrender his principal, as if he had been bail for him in a civil cause; and upon such surrender shall be discharged and exempt from all liability for any act of the principal subsequent to such surrender, which would be a breach of the condition of the recognizance. The person so surrendered may recognize anew with sufficient sureties before any justice of the peace for the residue of the term, and shall thereupon be discharged.

Surety may surrender his principal, who may recognize anew.
R. S. 134, § 18.

Property seized may be kept as evidence, and then restored to owner or destroyed.
 R. S. 142, § 5.

SECTION 1. When complaint is made on oath to any magistrate authorized to issue warrants in criminal cases, that personal property has been stolen, embezzled, or obtained by false tokens or pretences, and that the complainant believes that it is concealed in any particular house or place, the magistrate, if he is satisfied that there is reasonable cause for such belief, shall issue a warrant to search for such property.

SECT. 2. Any such magistrate may also, upon like complaint made on oath, issue search warrants when satisfied that there is reasonable cause, in the following cases, to wit:—

First. To search for and seize counterfeit or spurious coin, forged bank notes, and other forged instruments, or tools, machines, or materials, prepared or provided for making either of them:

Second. To search for and seize books, pamphlets, ballads, printed papers, or other things, containing obscene language, or obscene prints, pictures, figures, or descriptions, manifestly tending to corrupt the morals of youth, and intended to be sold, loaned, circulated, or distributed, or to be introduced into any family, school, or place of education:

Third. To search for and seize lottery tickets or materials for a lottery, unlawfully made, provided, or procured, for the purpose of drawing a lottery:

Fourth. To search for and seize gaming apparatus or implements used, or kept and provided to be used, in unlawful gaming, in any gaming house, or in any building, apartment, or place resorted to for the purpose of unlawful gaming.

SECT. 3. All search warrants shall be directed to the sheriff of the county or his deputy, or to any of the constables of a city or town, commanding such officer to search, in the day time, the house or place where the stolen property or other things for which he is required to search are believed to be concealed, (which place and property, or things to be searched for, shall be designated and described in the warrant,) and to bring such stolen property, or other things, when found, and the persons in whose possession they are found, before the magistrate who issued the warrant, or some other magistrate or court having cognizance of the case.

SECT. 4. If there is satisfactory evidence that any property stolen, embezzled, or obtained by false tokens or pretences, or that any of the other things for which a search warrant may be issued by the provisions of this chapter, are concealed, kept, prepared, or used, in a particular house or place, a warrant may be issued by two magistrates, or by a police court, to authorize the searching of such house or place by a public officer, in the night time, and to bring the property or things described in the warrant, if found, and the persons in whose possession they are found, before either of the magistrates who issued the warrant, or some other magistrate or court having cognizance of the case.

SECT. 5. When an officer in the execution of a search warrant finds stolen or embezzled property, or seizes any of the other things for which a search is allowed by the provisions of this chapter, all the property and things so seized shall be safely kept by the direction of the court or magistrate, so long as necessary for the purpose of being produced or used as evidence on any trial. As soon as may be afterwards, all such stolen and embezzled property shall be restored to the owner thereof, and all the other things seized by virtue of such warrants shall be burnt or otherwise destroyed under the direction of the court or magistrate.

REWARDS FOR APPREHENDING OFFENDERS.

SECT. 6. The governor, when in his opinion the public good requires it, may offer and pay a suitable reward, not exceeding one thousand dollars in one case, to any person who in consequence of such offer apprehends, brings back, and secures, any person convicted of or charged with a capital crime, or other high crime or misdemeanor, who has escaped from prison in this state, or to any person who in consequence of such offer apprehends and secures a person charged with such offence, when the person cannot be arrested and secured in the common course of proceeding. The governor with the advice of the council may draw his warrant on the treasury for the payment of every such reward.

Governor may offer rewards, &c.
R. S. 142, § 14.
R. S. act of amend. § 18.

SECT. 7. The mayor and aldermen or selectmen of any city or town, when in their opinion the public good requires it, may offer a suitable reward, to be paid by such city or town, not exceeding five hundred dollars in one case, to any person who in consequence of such offer secures any person charged with a capital crime or other high crime or misdemeanor committed in such place; and such reward shall be paid by the treasurer upon the warrant of the mayor and aldermen or selectmen.

Mayor and aldermen, &c., may offer rewards, &c.
1840, 75, § 1.
5 Met. 56.
7 Met. 469.
5 Cush. 219.
7 Gray, 274, 374.

SECT. 8. When more than one claimant appears and applies for the payment of such reward, the mayor and aldermen or selectmen shall determine to whom the same shall be paid, and if to more than one person, in what proportion to each; and their determination shall be final and conclusive.

Payment of reward.
1849, 75, § 2.

ARREST, EXAMINATION, COMMITMENT, AND BAIL.

SECT. 9. For the apprehension of persons charged with offences, the justices of the supreme judicial court, the superior court, or of any police court, in vacation as well as in term time, and all justices of the peace, are authorized to issue process, to carry into effect the following provisions of this chapter.

Warrants to arrest, by whom issued.
R. S. 135, § 1.
1859, 196.

SECT. 10. Upon complaint made to any such magistrate, that a criminal offence has been committed, he shall examine on oath the complainant and any witnesses produced by him, shall reduce the complaint to writing, and cause the same to be subscribed by the complainant, and if it appears that such offence has been committed, the court or justice shall issue a warrant, reciting the substance of the accusation, and requiring the officer to whom it is directed, forthwith to take the person accused and bring him before said court or justice or some other court or magistrate of the county, to be dealt with according to law, and in the same warrant may require the officer to summon such witnesses as shall be therein named, to appear and give evidence on the examination.

how to issue.
R. S. 135, § 2.
R. S. 143, § 6.
1 Cush. 503.
4 Gray, 32.

SECT. 11. If a person against whom a warrant is issued under the provisions of chapter seventy-two, or for any alleged offence, before or after the issuing of such warrant escapes from or is out of the county, the officer to whom such warrant is directed may pursue and apprehend the party charged, in any county of this state, and for that purpose may command aid and exercise the same authority as in his own county.

in what cases executed out of county, &c.
R. S. 135, § 3.
1846, 266.

SECT. 12. In all cases where the offence charged in a warrant is not punishable by death or imprisonment in the state prison, if the person arrested requests that he may be taken before a magistrate of the county in which the arrest was made, for the purpose of entering into a recognizance without a trial or examination, the officer who made the Prisoners, when to be brought before magistrate on arrest, &c.

R. S. 135, § 4.

arrest shall carry him before a magistrate of that county, who may take from the person arrested a recognizance with sufficient sureties for his appearance at the court having cognizance of the offence, and next to be held in the county where it is alleged to have been committed, and the party arrested shall thereupon be liberated.

Magistrate taking bail, to return recognizance to court, &c.
R. S. 135, § 5

SECT. 13. The magistrate who so lets the person arrested to bail, shall certify that fact upon the warrant, and deliver the same with the recognizance to the officer, who shall cause the same to be delivered without unnecessary delay to the clerk of the court before which the accused was recognized to appear; and on application of the complainant, the magistrate who issued the warrant, or the district-attorney, shall cause such witnesses as he thinks necessary to be summoned to the same court.

Officer, how to proceed if prisoner is not bailed.
R. S. 135, § 6.

SECT. 14. When a person is arrested in a county other than that in which the offence was committed, if the magistrate before whom he is brought refuses to admit him to bail, or if no sufficient bail is offered, the officer shall take him before the magistrate who issued the warrant, or in his absence before some other magistrate of, or police court in, the county in which the warrant was issued.

to take prisoner to county where warrant issued.
R. S. 135, § 7.

SECT. 15. When the offence charged in a warrant is punishable with death, or by imprisonment in the state prison, if the officer makes the arrest in another county, he shall convey the prisoner to the county where the warrant was issued.

Person arrested to be taken before magistrate, &c.
R. S. 135, § 8.
1 Cush. 563.

SECT. 16. Every person arrested by warrant for any offence, where no other provision is made for his examination thereon, shall be brought before the magistrate who issued the warrant, or if he is absent or unable to attend, before some other magistrate of the same county; and the warrant, with a proper return thereon signed by the person who made the arrest, shall be delivered to the magistrate.

Magistrate may adjourn examination, &c.
R. S. 135, § 9.
1852, 259.

SECT. 17. A magistrate may adjourn an examination or trial pending before himself, from time to time as occasion requires, not exceeding ten days at one time, without the consent of the defendant or person charged, and to the same or a different place in the county, as he deems necessary. In the mean time, if the party is charged with an offence not bailable, he shall be committed; otherwise he may be recognized in a sum and with sureties to the satisfaction of the magistrate, for his appearance for such further examination, and for want of such recognizance he shall be committed to prison.

In case of default, magistrate to certify recognizance to court.
R. S. 135, § 10.

SECT. 18. If the person so recognized does not appear before the magistrate or court according to the condition of such recognizance, the magistrate or court shall record the default; but such default may be taken off by the magistrate or court for good cause shown at any time to which the matter may be continued by said magistrate or court. And in case such default shall not be taken off as aforesaid, the magistrate shall certify the recognizance with a record of such default to the superior court, and like proceedings shall be had thereon as upon a breach of the condition of a recognizance for appearance before said superior court.

Proceedings, when party fails to recognize.
R. S. 135, § 11.

SECT. 19. When such person fails to recognize, he may be committed to prison by an order under the hand of the magistrate stating concisely that he is committed for further examination on a future day to be named in the order, and on the day appointed he may be brought before the magistrate by his verbal order to the officer who made the commitment, or by an order in writing to a different person.

Manner of conducting examination.
R. S. 135, § 12.

SECT. 20. The magistrate before whom a person is brought upon a charge of having committed an offence, shall as soon as may be examine the complaint and the witnesses to support the prosecution on oath in presence of the party charged, in relation to any matters connected with such charge which may be deemed pertinent.

SECT. 21. After the testimony to support the prosecution, the witnesses for the prisoner, if he has any, shall be sworn and examined, and he may be assisted by counsel in such examination, and in the cross-examination of the witnesses in support of the prosecution.

Examination on part of prisoner. R. S. 135, § 13.

SECT. 22. The magistrate may at his discretion, while examining a witness, exclude from the place of examination all the other witnesses, and may if requested, or if he see cause, direct the witnesses, for or against the prisoner, to be kept separate so that they cannot converse with each other until they have been examined.

Witnesses may be kept separate, &c. R. S. 135, § 14.

SECT. 23. The testimony of the witnesses examined shall be reduced to writing by the magistrate, or under his direction, when he deems it necessary, and shall if required by the magistrate be signed by the witnesses.

Testimony reduced to writing, &c. R. S. 135, § 15.

SECT. 24. If it appears to the magistrate, upon the whole examination, that no offence has been committed, or that there is not probable cause for charging the prisoner with the offence, he shall be discharged.

Prisoner when to be discharged. R. S. 135, § 16.

SECT. 25. If it appears that an offence has been committed and that there is probable cause to believe the prisoner guilty, and if the offence is bailable by the magistrate and the prisoner offers sufficient bail, it shall be taken and the prisoner discharged; but if no sufficient bail is offered, or the offence is not bailable by the magistrate, the prisoner shall be committed to prison for trial.

when to be bailed or committed. R. S. 135, § 17.

SECT. 26. When the prisoner is admitted to bail or committed, the magistrate shall bind by recognizance such witnesses against the prisoner as he deems material, to appear and testify at the next court having cognizance of the offence, and in which the prisoner shall be held to answer.

Witnesses to recognize. R. S. 155, § 18.

SECT. 27. If the magistrate is satisfied that there is good cause to believe that any such witness will not perform the condition of his recognizance unless other security is given, he may order the witness to enter into a recognizance with such sureties as may be deemed necessary for his appearance at court.

may be required to give sureties. R. S. 135, § 19.

SECT. 28. When a married woman or minor is a material witness, any other person may be allowed to recognize for the appearance of such witness; or the magistrate may in his discretion take the recognizance of such married woman or minor in a sum not exceeding fifty dollars, which shall be valid and binding in law notwithstanding the coverture or minority.

Recognizances by married women and minors. R. S. 135, § 20.

SECT. 29. Witnesses required to recognize either with or without sureties, shall, if they refuse, be committed to prison by the magistrate, there to remain until they comply with such order or are otherwise discharged according to law.

Witnesses refusing, shall be committed. R. S. 135, § 21.

SECT. 30. If it appears to the magistrate that a witness is unable to procure sureties when so ordered, he may with the consent of the defendant take, or cause to be taken by any magistrate authorized to take depositions in civil cases, the deposition of such witness in manner and form as is provided in civil cases, and the witness shall thereupon be discharged. The attorney for the commonwealth who will have charge of the case at the trial shall be notified of the time and place of taking the same, as parties are required to be notified; and the assent of the defendant shall be indorsed on the deposition. The fees shall be the same as in civil cases, and shall be taxed in the bill of costs. The provisions of this section shall not apply to the prosecutor in the case, or to any accomplice in the commission of the offence charged in the complaint.

Depositions of witnesses may be taken in certain cases. Proceedings. 1851, 71, §§ 1, 2.

SECT. 31. The deposition shall be seasonably transmitted to the court at which the witness was ordered to appear; and if he is unable to attend at the time of the trial, by reason of his death, insanity, sickness, to be returned to court, &c. 1851, 71, § 2.

or any infirmity, or of his being absent from the state so that he cannot be compelled to attend by subpoena or attachment, the deposition may be read in evidence on the trial by either party, subject to all legal objections.

Magistrate may have associates. Fees in such cases.
R. S. 135, § 23.

SECT. 32. A magistrate to whom complaint is made, or before whom a prisoner is brought, may associate with himself one or more of the magistrates of the same county, and they may together execute the powers and duties given to magistrates by this chapter; but no fees shall be taxed for such associates.

Commitments, when to be superseded, and recognizances discharged.
R. S. 135, § 25.
1846, 195.

SECT. 33. When a person is committed to prison or under recognizance to answer to a charge of assault and battery or other misdemeanor for which the party injured may have a remedy by civil action, (except where the offence was committed by or upon a sheriff or other officer of justice, or riotously or with intent to commit a felony, or is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison,) if the party injured appears before the magistrate who made the commitment or took the recognizance, and acknowledges in writing that he has received satisfaction for the injury, the magistrate may in his discretion, on the payment of all the costs which have accrued, by an order under his hand discharge the recognizance or supersede the commitment, and may also discharge all recognizances and supersede the commitment of all witnesses in the case.

Orders therefor, how to be filed and effect thereof.
R. S. 135, § 25.

SECT. 34. Every such order discharging the recognizance of the party or witnesses, shall be filed in the office of the clerk before the sitting of the court at which they are bound to appear; and every order superseding the commitment of the party charged, or of any witness, shall be delivered to the keeper of the jail in which he is confined, who shall forthwith discharge him; and every such order, if so filed and delivered, and not otherwise, shall forever bar all remedy by civil action for such injury.

Prisoners, how bailed if arrested after court adjourns.
1845, 166, § 1.

SECT. 35. When a person under indictment for a bailable offence is arrested after the adjournment of the court in which the same is triable, any justice of the court, or any standing or special commissioner appointed for such purpose by the court, may fix the amount of and receive bail in the same manner as the court might do.

how bailed when committed.
R. S. 135, § 22.
1841, 92, § 2.
1855, 265, § 1.
1859, 195.
8 Greenl. 179.

SECT. 36. A justice of the supreme judicial court, superior court, or a standing or special commissioner appointed by either of said courts, or a justice of a police court or two justices of the peace and of the quorum in any county, on application of a prisoner committed for a bailable offence, whether on a warrant or without one, may inquire into the case and admit such prisoner to bail; and such officers and justices of the peace may respectively admit to bail any person committed for not finding sufficient sureties to recognize for him.

not to be bailed without notice, &c.
R. S. 135, § 22.
1841, 92, § 2.
1855, 265, § 1.

SECT. 37. If the person is committed without an order fixing the amount of the recognizance, he shall not be admitted to bail under the preceding section until reasonable notice of his application to the officer by whom he was committed; and if committed with such order, he shall not be admitted to bail by a commissioner, police court, or justices of the peace, for a less amount than is required by the order.

when bailed on Lord's day.
1855, 265, § 2.

SECT. 38. Persons committed to jail on the Lord's day, or on the evening or afternoon preceding, may be admitted to bail on that day, when in the opinion of the magistrate an application for that purpose appears to be proper.

Condition of recognizances.
1845, 166, § 2.

SECT. 39. When a court or magistrate takes a recognizance of a person, either with or without surety, binding him to appear at a court to be held by any police justice, or trial justice, or at a term of any court, to answer to a charge against him, or to prosecute an appeal or bill of exceptions, the condition shall be so framed as to bind him personally to appear at the time or term so expressed, and at any subsequent time or term to which the case may be continued, (if not previously surrendered or discharged,) and so from time to time or term to term, until the final decree, sentence, or order, of the court thereon, and to abide such final sentence, order, or decree, and not depart without leave.

SECT. 40. All recognizances and examinations taken by a magistrate under the provisions of this chapter, shall be certified and returned by him to the district-attorney or the clerk of the court before which the party charged is bound to appear, on or before the first day of the sitting thereof; and if such magistrate refuses or neglects to return the same, he may be compelled forthwith by rule of court, and in case of disobedience, may be proceeded against by attachment as for a contempt.

Recognizances and examinations to be returned to court. R. S. 135, § 24.

SECT. 41. Bail in criminal cases, at any time before the commencement of an action of scire facias on the recognizance, may exonerate themselves by surrendering their principal to the jailer in the county where the offence was committed or is punishable, and delivering to him a certified copy of the recognizance; and the principal shall be received and detained by the jailer, and may be again bailed, in the same manner as if committed for not finding sureties to recognize for him.

Bail may exonerate themselves, &c. 1851, 93, §§ 1, 2. 1859, 131.

SECT. 42. Bail may also exonerate themselves at any time before final judgment in an action of scire facias on the recognizance by surrendering their principal into court; but if such action has been commenced the court may require the bail to pay the whole or any portion of the costs or penalty.

same subject. 1859, 131.

SECT. 43. If by the act of God, or the government of the United States, or any state, or by sentence of law, bail are unable without their fault to surrender their principal, they shall, on motion before final judgment on the scire facias, be exonerated and discharged by the court, with or without costs, as the court deems equitable.

same subject. 1859, 131.

SECT. 44. Bail may take and surrender their principal into court or in the manner provided in section forty-one, after final judgment on the scire facias, and before or after satisfaction thereof, and may thereupon as of right have a review and rehearing as provided in section fifty to fifty-three inclusive.

may surrender principal, &c. 1859, 131.

SECT. 45. When the principal has been once surrendered and bailed anew, his new bail shall not have the benefit of the provisions of the four preceding sections, nor of section fifty to fifty-three inclusive.

Now bail not to have benefit, &c. 1859, 131.

SECT. 46. When a person under recognizance to appear and answer, or to prosecute an appeal or bill of exceptions, in a criminal prosecution, fails to appear for that purpose according to the condition of his recognizance, and when a person under recognizance to testify in a criminal prosecution fails to perform the condition of his recognizance, his default may be recorded; whereupon the obligation of such person and his sureties shall be deemed forfeited, and process shall be issued against them or such of them as the prosecuting officer directs; but in such suit no costs shall be taxed for travel.

Defaults on forfeited recognizances. R. S. 135, § 27. 1845, 166, § 3.

SECT. 47. A surety in such recognizance may by leave of the court, after default and either before or after process has been issued against him, pay to the county treasurer or clerk of the court the amount for which he was bound as surety, with such costs as the court shall direct, and be thereupon forever discharged.

Surety may pay amount of recognizances, &c. R. S. 135, § 28.

SECT. 48. When an action is brought on behalf of the commonwealth against a principal or surety in a recognizance in a criminal prosecution entered into either by a party or a witness, and the penalty is adjudged forfeited, the court may render judgment for the whole of such penalty with interest, or on application of the defendant, for any part thereof according to the circumstances of the case and the situation of the party, and upon such terms and conditions as the court deems just and reasonable.

Action and judgment on recognizances. R. S. 135, § 29. 1844, 44, § 1. 14 Mass. 65.

minished, &c.
1852, 126, § 4.

Offences not bailable.
1852, 259, § 4.

SECT. 49. Such action shall not be barred or defeated, nor shall judgment be arrested, by reason of neglect or omission to note or record the default of any principal or surety at the term when it happens, nor by reason of a defect in the form of the recognizance, if it sufficiently appears from the tenor thereof, at what court the party or witness was bound to appear, and that the court or magistrate before whom it was taken was authorized by law to require and take such recognizance.

SECT. 50. A court that has rendered judgment on a recognizance the penalty of which is forfeited to the commonwealth, may on the petition of any person interested grant a review and a rehearing of the case, upon the surrender or recaption of the prisoner who was enlarged, or for any sufficient cause which has occurred or been ascertained by the person interested after the rendition of such judgment, or at such time as not to have afforded opportunity for presenting the same in evidence.

SECT. 51. The petition, stating the grounds relied upon, shall be filed in court, and notice thereof with a copy given to or served on the attorney for the commonwealth for the county where the court is to sit, fourteen days at least before the term at which such hearing may be had, unless the attorney waives such notice or service.

SECT. 52. If it appears to the court that any part of such preceding judgment has been actually paid to or for the commonwealth upon the recognizance or judgment, and upon such review the court orders the judgment to be reversed or given for a less sum than has been so actually paid, the court may decree a sum equal to the difference between the amount actually paid and the amount so ordered, to be repaid to the party who paid the same or his legal representatives; and the treasurer or other officer of the commonwealth who received or then has the same, shall, on presentation of proper evidence of authority therefor, repay the same accordingly.

SECT. 53. If upon such petition the review is not granted, or the original judgment is not altered, the court may award reasonable costs for the commonwealth against the petitioner.

SECT. 54. The offences of treason, rape, and arson shall not be bailable.

SECT. 3. Grand jurors shall be drawn, summoned, and returned, in the same manner as jurors for trials; and when drawn at the same time with jurors for trials, the persons whose names are first drawn, to the number required, shall be returned as grand jurors, and those afterwards drawn shall be jurors for trials.

Same subject. Who grand jurors, and who jurors for trials. R. S. 136, § 3. See Ch. 132.

SECT. 4. In case of deficiency of grand jurors in any court, writs of venire facias may be issued to the constables of such cities or towns as the court may direct, to return forthwith such further number of grand jurors as may be required.

Grand jurors, deficiency in, how supplied. R. S. 136, § 4.

SECT. 5. The clerk of the court shall prepare an alphabetical list of the names of all persons returned as grand jurors, and when they are to be empanelled, the two persons first named thereon shall be first called, and the following oath shall be administered to them:—

how empanelled and sworn. R. S. 136, § 5.

You, as grand jurors of this inquest for the body of this county of ———, do solemnly swear, that you will diligently inquire, and true presentment make, of all such matters and things as shall be given you in charge; the commonwealth's counsel, your fellows', and your own, you shall keep secret; you shall present no man for envy, hatred, or malice, neither shall you leave any man unrepresented for love, fear, favor, affection, or hope of reward; but you shall present things truly, as they come to your knowledge, according to the best of your understanding; so help you, God.

form of oath.

The other jurors shall then be called in such divisions as the court may deem proper, and the following oath shall be administered to them:—

The same oath which your fellows have taken on their part, you, and each of you, on your behalf, shall well and truly observe and keep; so help you, God.

SECT. 6. When a person returned as grand juror is conscientiously scrupulous of taking the oath before prescribed, he shall be allowed to make affirmation, substituting the word "affirm" instead of the word "swear," and also the words, "this you do under the pains and penalties of perjury," instead of the words, "so help you, God."

when allowed to affirm. R. S. 136, § 6.

SECT. 7. After the grand jurors have been empanelled and received their charge from the court, they shall retire with the officer appointed to attend them, and before proceeding to discharge their duties, elect by ballot one of their number to be foreman, and give notice thereof to the court, and the clerk shall record the same.

Foreman. R. S. 136, § 7.

the whole period they are required to serve, but in his absence another foreman shall be elected in the same manner, who shall perform the duties during such absence, and in case of the death of the foreman, for the residue of their term of service.

SECT. 9. The foreman of the grand jury, or the prosecuting officer before them, may administer oaths and affirmations in the manner prescribed by law, to witnesses who appear to testify before the jury, and the foreman shall under his hand return to the court a list of all witnesses sworn before the grand jury during the term, which shall be filed of record by the clerk.

SECT. 10. The grand jury may appoint one of their number to be clerk, to preserve minutes of the proceedings before them, which minutes when the jury so direct shall be delivered to the attorney-general or district-attorney.

SECT. 11. When the grand jury are dismissed before the court is adjourned without day, they may be summoned to attend again in the same term, at such time as the court directs for the despatch of any business that may come before them.

SECT. 12. No grand juror or officer of the court shall disclose the fact that an indictment for felony has been found against any person not in custody or under recognizance, otherwise than by issuing or executing process on the indictment.

SECT. 13. No grand juror shall be allowed to state or testify in any court, in what manner he or any other member of the jury voted on any question before them, or what opinion was expressed by any juror in relation to such question; and in charging the grand jury, the court shall remind them of the provisions of this and the preceding sections.

SECT. 14. Any person held in prison on a charge of having committed a crime, shall be discharged if he is not indicted before the end of the second term of the court at which he is held to answer, unless it appears to the satisfaction of the court that the witnesses on the part of the government have been enticed or kept away, or are detained and prevented from attending the court by sickness or some inevitable accident, and except in the case provided for in the following section.

SECT. 15. When a person held in prison on a charge of having committed an indictable offence is not indicted by the grand jury by reason of insanity, they shall certify the fact to the court, and thereupon, if his discharge or going at large is deemed manifestly dangerous to the peace and safety of the community, the court may order him to be committed to one of the state lunatic hospitals; otherwise he shall be discharged.

SECT. 16. In a complaint, prosecution, or other process, founded on a special act of the legislature, an ordinance or by-law of any city or town, or an order of the mayor and aldermen, it shall be sufficient to set forth the offence fully, plainly, substantially, and formally; and no part of such law, ordinance, by-law, or order, need be set forth.

SECT. 17. An offence committed on the boundary of two counties, or within one hundred rods of the dividing line between them, may be alleged in the indictment to have been committed, and may be prosecuted and punished, in either county. An offence committed upon the sea within one league of the shore may be prosecuted and punished in the adjacent county.

SECT. 18. If a mortal wound is given, or other violence or injury inflicted, or poison is administered, in one county, by means whereof death ensues in another county, the offence may be prosecuted and punished in either county.

SECT. 19. If a mortal wound is given, or other violence or injury inflicted, or poison is administered, on the high seas, or on land either within or without the limits of this state, by means whereof death ensues in any county thereof, such offence may be prosecuted and punished in the county where the death happens.

R. S. 133, § 9.

SECT. 20. An indictment for the crime of murder may be found at any period after the death of the person alleged to have been murdered; all other indictments shall be found and filed within six years after the commission of the offence; but any period during which the party charged was not usually and publicly resident within this state, shall not be reckoned as part of the six years.

Limitation of criminal prosecutions.
R. S. 136, § 16.
See Ch. 63, § 99.
Ch. 83, § 3.
Ch. 84, § 9: 163, § 22; 165, §§ 2, 20, 25.

SECT. 21. If the grand jury find and return to the court an indictment for a crime punishable with death, process shall be forthwith issued for the arrest of the party charged, if he is not already in custody.

Indictment for a capital offence.
R. S. 82, § 27.
R. S. 136, § 17.
1814, 44, § 4.

SECT. 22. As soon as may be after the finding of such indictment, the party charged, when in custody, shall be served with a copy thereof by the sheriff or his deputy, with an order of the court notifying him, if the indictment is found in the county of Dukes County, that the indictment will be entered at the supreme judicial court next to be held in the county of Barnstable, and if found in any other county, at the term of said court next to be held for the same county, or in either case at any intermediate time before the next term of the court, when the court may be in session in the county.

1814, 44, § 4.
5 Cush. 397.
See Ch. 112, §§ 9, 20-25.

SECT. 23. The clerk of the superior court, when such an indictment is found, shall forthwith give notice thereof to the chief or first justice of the supreme judicial court, and shall transmit the indictment to said court, at the next term or any intermediate time, as mentioned in the preceding section, where it shall be entered. The supreme judicial court shall have cognizance and jurisdiction thereof, and proceedings shall be had thereon, in the same manner as if the indictment had been found in that court.

SECT. 24. Any prisoner indicted for a crime punishable with death, or imprisonment for life in the state prison, shall, on demand upon the clerk by himself or his counsel, have a list of the jurors returned delivered to him, and shall also have process to summon such witnesses as are necessary to his defence, at the expense of the commonwealth.

prisoner to have copy of, &c.
R. S. 136, § 23.
1859, 196, § 21.
13 Mass. 501.

SECT. 25. Every person indicted for an offence for which he may be imprisoned in the state prison, if he is under recognizance or in custody to answer for such offence, shall be entitled to a copy of the indictment and all indorsements thereon, without paying fees therefor.

What other prisoners entitled to copy of indictment.
R. S. 136, § 24.

SECT. 26. The attorney-general and other prosecuting officers may in all cases issue subpoenas for witnesses to appear and testify on behalf of the commonwealth, and the subpoena, under the hand of such officer, shall have the same force, and be obeyed in the same manner, and under the same penalties in case of default, as if issued by the clerk.

Prosecuting officers may issue subpoenas.
R. S. 136, § 25.

SECT. 27. Witnesses summoned in behalf of the commonwealth shall be bound to attend without the payment of fees, and shall be punishable for non-attendance; but if they satisfy the court of their inability to defray their expenses, the court shall order their fees which have accrued to be paid, and may make such further order for the payment of their fees as may be deemed reasonable. The court may at each term pass a general order for the payment of the fees of such witnesses.

Witnesses for state not entitled to fees in advance, &c. Payment of witness fees.
R. S. 136, § 26.
1859, 62.

SECT. 28. When an indictment is found against a person for an assault and battery or other misdemeanor for which the party injured may have a remedy by civil action, except where the offence was committed by or upon a sheriff or other officer of justice, or riotously, or with intent to commit a felony, or is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison, if the party injured appears in court where the indictment is pending, and acknowledges satisfaction for the injury sustained, the court may, on payment of the costs accrued, order all further proceedings to be stayed, and discharge the defendant from the indictment, which shall forever bar all remedy for such injury by civil action.

Prisoner refusing to plead. Need not be asked how he will be tried. R. S. 136, §§ 28, 29. 10 Met. 222.

SECT. 29. If on arraignment a person refuses to plead or answer, or does not confess the indictment to be true, the court shall order a plea of not guilty to be entered, and thereupon the proceedings shall be the same as if he had pleaded not guilty. It shall not be necessary in any case to ask a prisoner how he will be tried.

when to be tried. R. S. 136, § 30. 15 Mass. 277.

SECT. 30. Every person held in prison upon an indictment shall, if he requires it, be tried at the next term of the court after the expiration of six months from the time when he was imprisoned, or shall be bailed upon his own recognizance, unless it appears to the satisfaction of the court that the witnesses on behalf of the government have been enticed or kept away, or are detained and prevented from attending the court by sickness or some inevitable accident.

Plea in abatement, when to be verified. R. S. 136, § 31.

SECT. 31. When to an indictment a plea in abatement or other dilatory plea is offered, the court may refuse to receive such plea, until its truth is proved by affidavit or other evidence.

Commission to examine witnesses, how granted. R. S. 136, § 32. 5 Met. 427.

SECT. 32. When upon an indictment an issue of fact is joined, the court may, on application of the defendant, grant a commission to examine any material witnesses residing out of this state, in the same manner as in civil causes; the prosecuting officer may if he sees fit join in such commission, and name any material witnesses to be examined on the part of the commonwealth.

Such commissions, how executed, and depositions, how used. R. S. 136, § 33.

SECT. 33. When such commission is issued, the interrogatories to be annexed thereto shall be settled, and the commission executed and returned, in the manner prescribed by law in relation to commissions in civil cases, and the depositions taken thereon and returned shall be read in the same cases, with the like effect and subject to the same exceptions, as in civil cases: provided, that when the defendant declines to use on his trial the deposition so taken, the prosecuting officer shall not make use of any deposition taken on the part of the commonwealth, without the defendant's consent.

Civil remedies not barred by proceedings in criminal cases. 1851, 151, § 6. 1856, 123, § 6.

SECT. 34. No proceedings against a person for a criminal offence shall prevent or bar any civil action which might otherwise be maintained by a party aggrieved by the commission of the offence.

Prosecutions under by-laws may be discontinued by order of selectmen, &c. 1833, 179, § 2.

SECT. 15. The jury shall try, according to established forms and principles of law, all criminal causes committed to them, and after having received the instructions of the court, shall decide, in their discretion, by a general verdict, both the fact and the law involved in the issue, or may at their election find a special verdict. The court shall superintend the course of the trials, decide upon the admission and rejection of evidence, and upon all questions of law raised during the trials, and upon all collateral and incidental proceedings, and shall also charge the jury.

SECT. 16. When a person indicted for a felony is on trial acquitted by the verdict of part of the offence charged, and convicted of the residue, such verdict may be received and recorded by the court, and thereupon the person indicted shall be adjudged guilty of the offence, if any, which appears to the court to be substantially charged by the residue of the indictment, and shall be sentenced and punished accordingly.

SECT. 17. When a person indicted for an offence is on trial acquitted by the jury, by reason of insanity, the jury, in giving their verdict of not guilty, shall state that it was given for such cause, and thereupon if his discharge or going at large is deemed manifestly dangerous to the peace and safety of the community, the court may order him to be committed to one of the state lunatic hospitals; otherwise he shall be discharged.

SECT. 18. No prisoner or person under recognizance, who is acquitted by verdict, or discharged because no indictment has been found against him, or for want of prosecution, shall be liable for any costs or fees of office, or for any charge for subsistence while he was in custody.

SECT. 19. No indictment, and no complaint before a justice of the peace or police court, shall be quashed or deemed invalid, nor shall the judgment or proceedings thereon be arrested or affected, by reason of the omission or misstatement of the title, occupation, estate, or degree, of the defendant, or of the name of the city, town, county, or place, of his residence; nor by reason of the omission of the words "force and arms," or the words "against the peace," nor by reason of omitting to charge any offence to have been committed contrary to the form of the statute or statutes: provided, that such omission or misstatement does not tend to the prejudice of the defendant.

SECT. 20. In all prosecutions before a police court or justice of the peace, under the by-laws of a city or town, the city solicitor, or other person appointed by the board of aldermen or selectmen of such city or town, may enter a nolle prosequi, or do any other matter or thing which may be done by a district-attorney in criminal prosecutions.

2.	Witnesses to be recognized, &c.
3.	Justice's duty, &c. Fees, how paid.
4.	Appellant not required to advance fees, &c.
5.	If appeal not prosecuted, appellant to be sentenced.
6.	When on a forfeited recognizance a penalty accrues to a person, it may be awarded by court.
		8.	Reports of cases by judge.
		9.	Person convicted to recognize.
		10.	if he does not, to remain in prison, until, &c. Proceedings in such case. Person not to be deprived of writ of error.

APPEALS.

SECTION 1. Every person convicted of an offence before a justice of the peace or police court, may appeal from the sentence to the superior court then next to be held in the same county. The appellant shall be committed to abide the sentence of said court until he recognizes to the commonwealth in such reasonable sum and with such sureties as the justice or court requires, with condition to appear at the court appealed to, and at any subsequent term to which the case is continued, if not previously surrendered and discharged, and so from term to term, until the final decree, sentence, or order of the court thereon, and to abide such final sentence, order, or decree, and not depart without leave, and in the mean time to keep the peace and be of good behavior.

Appeal from conviction before justices of peace, &c.
R. S. 85, § 28.
R. S. 86.
R. S. 87, § 36.
R. S. 138, § 1.
1845, 166, § 2.

1859, 196.
3 Gray, 476.
6 Gray, 312.
7 Gray, 317.

SECT. 2. On such appeal the justice or court shall have the same authority to bind by recognizances witnesses in the case, as they have by chapter one hundred and seventy when a prisoner is admitted to bail or committed.

Witnesses to be recognized, &c.
1826, 130.

SECT. 3. The justice or court shall on such appeal make a copy of the conviction and other proceedings in the case, and transmit the same, together with the recognizance, if any is taken, to the clerk of the court appealed to. The fees of the justice therefor shall be paid from the county treasury in like manner as other costs in criminal prosecutions.

Justice's duty, &c.
Fees, how paid.
R. S. 138, § 2.
2 Met. 18.

SECT. 4. The appellant shall not be required to advance any fees upon claiming his appeal, nor in prosecuting the same, but if convicted in the court appealed to, or if sentenced for failing to prosecute his appeal, he may be required, as part of his sentence, to pay the whole or any part of the costs of prosecution.

Appellant not required to advance fees, &c.
R. S. 138, § 3.

SECT. 5. If the appellant fails to enter and prosecute his appeal, he shall be defaulted on his recognizance, if any was taken, and the superior court may award sentence against him for the offence whereof he was convicted, in like manner as if he had been convicted in that court; and if he is not then in custody, process may be issued to bring him into court to receive sentence.

If appeal not prosecuted, appellant to be sentenced.
R. S. 138, § 4.
1859, 196.

SECT. 6. When upon suit brought on a recognizance to prosecute an appeal, the penalty is adjudged to be forfeited, or when, by leave of court, such penalty has been paid to the county treasurer or the clerk of the court without a suit, or before judgment is given as provided in chapter one hundred and seventy, if by law any forfeiture accrues to a person by reason of the offence of which the appellant was convicted, the court may award to him such sum as he may be entitled to out of the forfeiture.

When on forfeited recognizance penalty accrues to a person, it may be awarded by court.
R. S. 138, § 9.

NEW TRIALS.

SECT. 7. The supreme judicial court and superior court may at the term in which the trial of any indictment is had, or within one year thereafter, on the petition or motion in writing of the defendant, grant a new trial for any cause for which by law a new trial may be granted; or when it appears to the court that justice has not been done; and on such terms or conditions as the court shall direct.

New trials, how granted, &c.
R. S. 82, § 39.
R. S. 86, § 11.
R. S. 138, § 11.
1855, 152.
1859, 196.
1 Met. 428

REPORTS.

SECT. 8. If, upon the trial of a person convicted in the superior court, any question of law arises which, in the opinion of the presiding judge, is so important or so doubtful as to require the decision of the supreme judicial court, he shall, if the defendant desires it or consents thereto, report the case, so far as may be necessary to present the question of law arising therein; and thereupon all further proceedings in that court shall be stayed.

Reports of cases by judge.
R. S. 138, § 12.
1859, 196.

Person to recognize.
R. S. 138, § 13.

SECT. 9. Any person for whose benefit a report is made as is provided in the preceding section, or who files exceptions, may recognize to the commonwealth in such sum as the court shall order, with sufficient sureties, for his personal appearance at the supreme judicial court next to be held for the same county, and to enter and prosecute his exceptions with effect, and abide the sentence thereon, and in the mean time to keep the peace and be of good behavior.

if he does not, to remain in prison until, &c. Proceedings in such case. Party may have his writ of error.
R. S. 138, § 14. 1859, 191.
7 Gray, 317.

SECT. 10. If such person does not so recognize, he shall be committed to prison to await the decision of the supreme judicial court; and in that case, the clerk of the court in which the conviction was had shall file a certified copy of the record and proceedings in the case, in the supreme judicial court. The court shall have cognizance thereof and consider and decide the cause in the same manner as it decides questions of law reserved by one of the justices of that court, shall render such judgment, and award such sentence, or make such order thereon, as law and justice require; and a new trial may be ordered at the bar of the supreme judicial court, or the cause may be remanded to the superior court for a new trial there, as the justices of the supreme judicial court shall direct. But the proceedings herein prescribed shall not deprive any party of his writ of error for any error or defect appearing of record.

SECT. 3. Whoever is convicted of an offence under the provisions of chapter eighty-six shall be sentenced to pay the costs of prosecution.

SECT. 4. Whoever is convicted of an offence punishable wholly or in part by imprisonment in the jail, may be sentenced to suffer such imprisonment in the house of correction instead of the jail, or to suffer solitary imprisonment and be confined at hard labor either in the jail or house of correction.

tence to jail or house of correction. R. S. 143, § 17.

2 Met. 419. 4 Met. 361.

SECT. 5. Whoever is convicted of a crime punishable by fine and liable to imprisonment in the jail for the non-payment of fine and costs of prosecution, may be sentenced to suffer such imprisonment in the house of correction instead of the jail, and confined at hard labor either in the jail or house of correction.

Same subject. 1845, 118.

SECT. 6. When a person is convicted of an offence punishable at the discretion of the court, either by fine or imprisonment in the jail or house of correction, or by fine or imprisonment in the state prison, the court or justice may award against such offender a conditional sentence, and order him to pay a fine with or without the costs of prosecution, within a limited time to be expressed in the sentence, and in default thereof to suffer such imprisonment as is provided by law.

Conditional sentences. R. S. 139, § 2. 23 Pick. 280. 2 Met. 411, 412. 5 Met. 560.

SECT. 7. The person against whom any such conditional sentence is awarded shall be forthwith committed to the custody of an officer in court or to the jail, to be detained until the sentence is complied with; and if he does not pay the fine and costs imposed within the time limited, the sheriff shall cause the other part of the sentence to be executed forthwith.

Same subject. R. S. 139, § 3.

SECT. 8. When it is provided that an offender shall be punished by imprisonment in the jail and a fine, or by imprisonment in the house of correction and a fine, such offender, unless convicted under chapter eighty-six, may at the discretion of the court be sentenced to be punished by such imprisonment without the fine, or by such fine without the imprisonment.

Court may impose fine or imprisonment, except, &c. R. S. 139, § 4. 1855, 215, § 39.

SECT. 9. When a person is ordered to be imprisoned for non-payment of a fine, or fine and costs, not exceeding twenty dollars, the court or magistrate ordering such commitment shall inquire as to the ability of the defendant to pay the same, and if it appears that he is unable, it shall be so certified upon the mittimus.

Magistrate to certify, if convict is unable to pay fine, &c. See Ch. 189, § 7.

SECT. 10. Every court before which a person is convicted upon an indictment for any offence not punishable with death, or by imprisonment in the state prison, may, in addition to the punishment prescribed by law, require such person to recognize with sufficient sureties in a reasonable sum to keep the peace, or to be of good behavior, or both, for any term not exceeding two years, and to stand committed until he so recognizes.

Sureties for peace may be required, in certain cases. R. S. 139, § 5.

SECT. 11. Such recognizance shall be filed of record in the superior court, and in case of a breach of the condition, the same proceedings shall be had as are prescribed in chapter one hundred and sixty-nine in relation to recognizances to keep the peace and be of good behavior.

Proceedings on forfeiture of recognizance. R. S. 139, § 6.

SECT. 12. When a female with a nursing infant is convicted of an offence punishable by imprisonment in the house of correction, the court or justice before whom the conviction takes place may sentence her to some workhouse or house of industry in the county; and for her support and custody there shall be paid from the county treasury two dollars a week to the town in which the sentence is executed.

Sentence of female convicts with infants. 1851, 416, §§ 1, 4. 1856, 49.

SECT. 13. If a boy under the age of sixteen years is convicted of an offence punishable by imprisonment in the state prison, he not having been before sentenced to imprisonment in the state prison in this state, or in any state prison or penitentiary within the United States, the court, if sentence of solitary imprisonment and confinement at hard labor for a term not exceeding three years is awarded against him, shall order such sentence to be executed against him in the jail, and not in the state prison.

of boys under sixteen. R. S. 143, § 18. 2 Met. 419.

SECT. 14. When sentence of confinement at hard labor for any term of time is awarded against a female convict of whatever age, the court of females. R. S. 143, § 18. 12 Cush. 237.

shall order such sentence to be executed either in the house of correction or jail, and not in the state prison.

SECT. 15. Nothing in the General Statutes shall prevent the court from sentencing juvenile convicts to confinement in any place in which they may be by law confined.

SECT. 16. When the punishment of solitary imprisonment and confinement at hard labor for a term not exceeding three years is awarded by the court against a convict who has not been before sentenced to the like punishment by any court in this state or within the United States, such sentence may be executed either in the house of correction, jail, or state prison.

SECT. 17. Convicts shall not be sentenced to imprisonment in the state prison for a less time than one year.

SECT. 18. When the punishment of imprisonment in the state prison is awarded against a convict, the form of the sentence shall be, that he be punished by confinement at hard labor, and he shall also be sentenced to solitary imprisonment for such term as the court shall direct, not exceeding twenty days at one time; and in the execution of such sentence, the solitary imprisonment shall precede the punishment by hard labor, unless the court otherwise order.

SECT. 19. When a convict sentenced by any court of this state or of the United States to imprisonment in the state prison, at the time of conviction and sentence holds an office under the constitution or laws of this state, such office shall be deemed to be vacated from the time of his sentence; and if the judgment against him is reversed upon writ of error, he shall be restored to his office with all its rights and emoluments, but if pardoned, he shall not by reason thereof be restored, unless it is so expressly ordered by the terms of the pardon.

SECT. 20. When a person convicted of an offence is sentenced to pay a fine or costs or be imprisoned in the jail or house of correction, the clerk of the court shall, as soon as may be, make out and deliver to the sheriff of the county, or to some officer in court, a transcript from the minutes of the court of such conviction and sentence, duly certified by such clerk, which shall be a sufficient authority for the sheriff to execute such sentence, and he shall execute it accordingly.

SECT. 21. When a convict is sentenced to imprisonment in the state prison, the clerk of the court shall make out a warrant, under the seal of the court, directed to the warden of the prison, requiring him as soon as may be to cause such convict to be removed from the jail to the state prison; and the clerk shall also annex to the warrant a certified transcript of such conviction and sentence, and shall deliver the warrant and transcript to the sheriff of the county, who shall cause the same to be transmitted and delivered to the warden, to the end that the warden may, by himself or such person as he may appoint for that purpose, cause the warrant to be duly executed, by the removal of the convict to the state prison in the manner prescribed in chapter one hundred and seventy-nine. And unless his sentence is limited to take effect upon the expiration of a previous sentence, it shall be computed from the time he is ordered to remain in the custody of the sheriff.

SECT. 22. An officer who executes sentence in a criminal case shall, without charging travel therefor, return the precept with his doings and fees indorsed thereon to the court or magistrate issuing it, who shall tax, allow, and certify the fees as a part of the costs in the case. In case of commitment the officer shall leave with the jailer or keeper of the prison an attested copy of the precept, with his return thereon, which shall be a sufficient warrant for the detention of the party committed.

SECT. 23. When a convict imprisoned under sentence of a court is again sentenced to confinement in a prison other than that in which he is then held, the warrant for his commitment in pursuance of the second to be served by keeper where held.

SECT. 24. When a person is convicted of a crime for which sentence of death is awarded against him, the clerk of the court shall as soon as may be deliver to the sheriff of the county a certified copy of the whole record of the conviction and sentence, and the sheriff shall forthwith transmit the same to the governor, and the sentence of death shall not be executed upon such convict until a warrant is issued by the governor, with advice of the council, under the great seal, with a copy of the record thereto annexed, commanding the sheriff to cause execution to be done; and the sheriff shall thereupon cause to be executed on such convict the judgment and sentence of the law.

Proceedings on conviction of a capital offence. R. S. 139, § 11.

SECT. 25. If it appears to the satisfaction of the governor and council, that a convict under sentence of death has become insane, the warrant for his execution may be delayed, or if the warrant has been issued, the execution thereof may be respited from time to time, so long as the governor and council think proper. If a female convict under sentence of death is quick with child, the governor and council shall forbear to issue a warrant for her execution, or if such warrant has been issued, the execution thereof shall be respited, until it appears to the satisfaction of the governor and council that she is no longer quick with child.

when convict has become insane, or when female convict is quick with child. R. S. 139, § 12.

SECT. 26. The punishment of death shall in every case be inflicted by hanging the convict by the neck until he is dead, and the sentence shall, at the time directed by the warrant, be executed within the walls of a prison of the county in which the conviction was had, or within the enclosed yard of the prison.

Sentence of death, how executed. R. S. 139, § 13. 5 Cush. 497. 11 Cush. 694.

SECT. 27. The sheriff of such county shall be present at the execution, unless he is prevented by sickness or other casualty, and also two of his deputies, to be designated by him, and he shall request the presence of the district-attorney, clerk or clerks of the county courts, and twelve reputable citizens, including a physician or surgeon. He shall permit the counsel of the criminal, such ministers of the gospel as the criminal desires, and his relations, to be present, and also such officers of the prison, deputies, and constables, military guard, or other assistants, as he sees fit.

Same subject. R. S. 139, § 14.

SECT. 28. When a sheriff inflicts the punishment of death upon a convict in obedience to a warrant from the governor, he shall as soon as may be make return thereof under his hand, with his doings therein, to the secretary's office. He shall also file in the clerk's office of the court where the conviction was had, an attested copy of the warrant and return; and the clerk shall subjoin a brief abstract of such return to the record of the conviction and sentence.

Sheriff's return on warrant for execution. R. S. 139, § 15.

SECT. 29. When a corporation indicted under the statutes of this state fails to appear after being duly served with process, its default shall be recorded, the charges in the indictment taken to be true, and judgment shall be rendered accordingly.

Corporations failing to appear may be defaulted, &c. 1851, 348, § 1.

SECT. 30. When judgment is rendered upon any such indictment against a corporation, the court may issue a warrant of distress to compel the payment of the penalty prescribed by law, together with costs and interest.

Warrants of distress may be issued. 1851, 348, § 2.

SECTION

11. Coroner's duty in case of a murder, &c.
12. Compensation of clerk, surgeon, &c.
13. Expenses of bringing to land bodies found in harbors, &c.
14. Coroner, when to bury the body, &c. Expenses, how paid.
15. Expenses, how returned, audited, certified, and paid.
16. Where no coroner, justices of peace to act.
17. Coroners to take charge of money, &c., found on the body.

Coroners' inquests, when to be taken.
R. S. 140, § 1.
1849, 172, § 1.
See Ch. 63, § 160.

SECTION 1. Coroners shall, upon being authorized as provided in the following section, take inquests, upon the view of the dead bodies of such persons only as are supposed to have come to their death by violence: provided, that in all cases of death by accident upon a railroad an inquest shall be held.

Warrant to constable to summon jury.
R. S. 140, § 2.
1849, 172, § 1.
1859, 215.

SECT. 2. As soon as a coroner has notice of the dead body of a person found or lying within his county, supposed to have come to his death by violence, he shall repair to the place where the dead body is, and take charge of the same; and if on view of such body, and personal inquiry into the cause and manner of the death, he deems it necessary that an inquest should be taken, he shall, upon being thereto authorized in writing by the attorney-general, or the district-attorney of the district, mayor or chief of police of the city, or selectmen of the town in which such body is found, make his warrant to a constable of the town or city where the dead body is, or to a constable of an adjoining town or city in the county, requiring him forthwith to summon six good and lawful men of the county to appear before such coroner at a time and place expressed in the warrant, which shall be in substance as follows:—

Form of warrant.

—, ss.
To either of the constables of — in the county of —. Greeting.
In the name of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, you are hereby required immediately to summon six good and lawful men of the county of — to appear before me, —, one of the coroners of said county, at the dwelling-house of —, (or at a place called —,) within the town of —, at the hour of —, then and there to inquire, upon the view of the body of —, there lying dead, when, how, and by what means, he came to his death. Hereof fail not.
Given under my hand the — day of —, in the year —.
—, Coroner.

Penalty on constables or jurors for neglect.
R. S. 140, § 3.
1852, 312.

SECT. 3. The constable shall forthwith execute the warrant, and at the time mentioned therein shall repair to the place where the dead body is, and make return thereof, and of his doings thereon, under his hand to the coroner. A constable who unnecessarily neglects or fails to execute or return such warrant, shall forfeit ten dollars; and whoever summoned as a juror fails to appear, without reasonable excuse therefor, shall forfeit seven dollars; which forfeitures may be recovered to the use of the county, by an action of tort to be brought by the coroner.

Talesmen. Oath, &c., of jurors.
R. S. 140, § 4.

SECT. 4. If the six jurors returned do not all appear, the coroner may require the constable, or any other person whom he appoints, to return jurors from the bystanders to complete the number, but no person shall serve on such jury oftener than once in twelve months. The coroner, in view of the body, shall administer to the jurors thus summoned and returned the following oath:—

You solemnly swear, that you will diligently inquire and true presentment make, on behalf of this commonwealth, when, how, and by what means, the person whose body lies here dead came to his death; and you shall return a true inquest thereof, according to your knowledge and such evidence as shall be laid before you; so help you, God.

SECT. 5. The coroner may issue subpoenas for witnesses, returnable forthwith or at such time and place as he shall therein direct. The persons served with such subpoenas shall be allowed the same fees, and their attendance may be enforced by the coroner in the same manner, and they shall be subject to the same penalties, as if they had been served with a subpoena in behalf of the commonwealth, to attend a justice's court.

Witnesses, how summoned, &c. R. S. 149, § 5.

SECT. 6. The coroner, with the consent of a majority of the jury, may order the inquisition to be secret; in which case he may exclude from the place where the inquisition is taken any or all persons other than those required to be present by the provisions of this chapter; and during the examination of a witness, may exclude from the place of examination all other witnesses, and may also direct the witnesses to be kept separate, so that they cannot converse with each other until they have been examined.

Inquisition may be secret, and witnesses examined separately. 1850, 133, § 1.

SECT. 7. An oath to the following effect shall be administered by the coroner to the witnesses:—

Oath of witnesses. R. S. 149, § 6.

You solemnly swear, that the evidence which you shall give to this inquest, concerning the death of the person here lying dead, shall be the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth; so help you, God.

SECT. 8. The testimony of all witnesses examined before any inquest, shall be reduced to writing by the coroner, or some person by his direction, and subscribed by the witnesses.

Testimony, how taken, &c. R. S. 149, § 7. See § 12.

SECT. 9. The jury, upon the inspection of the dead body, and after hearing the testimony of the witnesses and making all needful inquiries, shall draw up and deliver to the coroner their inquisition under their hands, in which they shall find and certify, when, how, and by what means, the deceased person came to his death, his name if it was known, together with all material circumstances attending his death; and if it appears that he was murdered, the jurors shall further state who were guilty either as principal or accessory, if known, or in any manner the cause of his death; which inquisition may be in substance as follows:—

Inquisition, how taken and what to contain. R. S. 149, § 8.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.

—, ss.
An inquisition taken at — in the county of —, on the — day of —, in the year —, before —, one of the coroners of said county of —, upon the view of the body of — (or a person) there lying dead, by the oaths of the jurors, whose names are herewith subscribed, who, being sworn to inquire on behalf of said commonwealth, when, how, and by what means, said — (or person) came to his death, upon their oaths do say, (insert when, how, and by what persons, means, weapon, or instrument, he was killed.) In testimony whereof, said coroner and the jurors of this inquest have hereunto set their hands, the day and year aforesaid.

Form of inquisition.

SECT. 10. If the jury find that a murder, manslaughter, or assault, was committed on the deceased, the coroner shall bind over by recognizance such witnesses as he thinks proper, to appear and testify at the next court to be held in the same county at which an indictment for such offence can be found, and may commit to the jail any witnesses who refuse to recognize in such manner as he directs. He shall return to the same court the inquisition, written evidence, and all recognizances and examinations by him taken.

Coroner's duty in case of a murder, &c. R. S. 149, § 9.

SECT. 11. If a person charged by the inquest with having committed such offence is not in custody, the coroner shall have the same power as a justice of the peace to issue process for his apprehension, and such warrant shall be made returnable before a justice of the peace, or other magistrate or court having cognizance of the case, who shall proceed therein in the manner required of justices of the peace in like cases.

Same subject. R. S. 149, § 10.

SECT. 12. A person who reduces the testimony to writing by direction of the coroner pursuant to section eight, shall be allowed for his services such sum as the coroner determines, not exceeding one dollar and fifty cents for each day's actual attendance upon the jury. A surgeon or chemist who aids in the examination on the determination of the coroner that such aid is necessary, shall be entitled to such compensation for his services as the coroner certifies to be just and reasonable, the same being audited and allowed in the manner provided in section fifteen.

Expenses of bringing to land bodies found in harbors, &c.
1850, 133, § 4.

SECT. 13. When services are rendered in bringing to land the dead body of a person found in any of the harbors, rivers, or waters, of this state, the coroner may allow such compensation for said services as he deems reasonable; but this section shall not entitle any person to allowance for services rendered in searching for such dead body.

Coroner, when to bury the body, &c.
Costs, how paid.
R. S. 140, § 11.
1858, 31, §§ 1, 2.

SECT. 14. When a coroner takes an inquest upon the view of the dead body of a stranger, or being called for that purpose does not deem it necessary on view of such body that an inquest should be taken, he shall cause the body to be decently buried, unless its dissection has been allowed by lawful authority; and if the coroner certifies that, to the best of his knowledge and belief, the person found dead is a stranger not belonging to this state, the expenses of burial and of the inquisition, if any is taken, and other necessary expenses, with the coroner's fees, shall be paid from the state treasury. In all other cases the expenses of the burial shall be paid by the town or city where the body is found, and all other expenses by the county.

Expenses, how returned, audited, certified,
and paid.
1858, 31, § 1.

SECT. 15. The coroner shall return an account of the expenses of each inquest, or view, including his fees, to the county commissioners having jurisdiction over the place where the inquest or view is held, or in Boston to the city auditor, and shall annex thereto the written authority under which the inquest was held. Such commissioners or auditor shall audit such accounts and certify to the treasurer of the commonwealth, or the treasurer of the county, as the case demands, what items therein are deemed just and reasonable, which shall be paid by said treasurers to the persons entitled to receive the same.

Where no coroner, justices of peace to act.
1850, 133, § 5.

SECT. 16. When the dead body of a person supposed to have come to his death by violence is found in any town or city in this state in which no coroner duly qualified resides, any justice of the peace, within his county, shall have the like powers, and execute and discharge the same duties as are herein imposed upon coroners, and shall be entitled to the same fees as coroners for like services.

Coroner to take charge of money, &c., found on the body.

SECT. 17. In all cases under this chapter, the coroner shall take charge of any money or other personal property of the deceased, found upon or near the body, and deliver the same forthwith to those entitled to its care or possession, but if not claimed within sixty days, then to the public administrator, to be administered upon according to law.

SECT. 5. In criminal prosecutions instituted before justices of the peace, in which a warrant is duly served and returned before them and they render judgment, they shall tax the legal costs arising therein and certify their allowance of the same, and in cases where the warrant is not served, they may allow to the officer and tax and certify such costs as they deem proper.

Duty of justices of peace in taxing costs.
1859, 107, § 1.

SECT. 6. In cases in which justices of the peace exercise final jurisdiction in criminal prosecutions, they shall certify the costs by them taxed and allowed, to the next superior court, which taxation shall be examined by the court or its order, the errors therein corrected, and the costs allowed and made up in the general bill of costs for the same term of the court: provided, that when a person convicted before a justice of the peace, and sentenced to pay the costs of prosecution, or a fine and costs, complies with the sentence, the costs, or fine and costs, shall be paid to the justice, who may retain his own fees and pay the residue of the costs to the officer and witnesses or other persons entitled thereto; otherwise such costs and the fine shall be paid to the treasurer of the county, city, or town, in the manner directed in chapter one hundred and twenty.

Same subject. Justice may retain his own fees.
R. S. 141, § 3.
1859, 196.

SECT. 7. In criminal prosecutions which are carried to the superior court by appeal, and in cases where a person is bound by recognizance or committed for want of sureties by a justice of the peace or police court, to answer in the superior court, the costs shall be taxed, and certified with the papers to the court, and shall be there allowed and taxed in the costs of prosecution.

SECT. 9. All fines, forfeitures, and costs, imposed or awarded in criminal prosecutions, by the supreme judicial court, or superior court, to the use of the commonwealth or any county, or the city of Boston, and all sums found to be due on forfeited recognizances, shall be certified by the clerks of said courts, under the direction of the court, to the sheriff of the county, who alone is authorized to receive them, and he shall, within one month after the receipt thereof, pay the same without deduction to the county treasurer.

Sheriff suffering escape to pay fine, &c.
1857, 107, § 1.

SECT. 10. If a sheriff, having a person in his custody by virtue of the sentence of the court, voluntarily or negligently suffers him to escape, he shall be deemed to have received such fines, forfeitures, forfeited recognizances, and costs, at the time of the escape, and held liable to pay the same, with interest and costs of suit, in like manner as if he had received them.

Remedy against sheriff for neglecting to pay over fines, &c.
1857, 107, § 1.

SECT. 11. If a sheriff neglects to make such payment for thirty days, the county treasurer shall sue for and recover of him, in an action of contract, the amount of such fines, forfeitures, forfeited recognizances, and costs, with interest from the time of receiving the same, at the rate of twelve per cent., and costs of suit.

Payments to deputy or jailer valid.
1857, 107, § 2.

SECT. 12. Payment to the jailer, or any deputy-sheriff, of any sums mentioned in section nine, shall be deemed a legal and valid payment to the sheriff.

Sheriffs to make semiannual returns.
Penalty.
1857, 107, § 3.

SECT. 13. Every sheriff shall twice in each year, on the first days of January and July, render to the treasurer, to whom said sums are made payable, an account on oath of all sums which he has received during the six months preceding, for fines, forfeitures, forfeited recognizances, and costs, and the names of the persons from whom received, and against whom awarded; and if a sheriff neglects for thirty days to render such account, he shall be liable to a penalty of two hundred dollars, to be sued for and recovered of him in the same manner as is provided in section eleven.

SECT. 14. Every county treasurer shall twice in each year transmit to the auditor of accounts an account upon oath, in which he shall charge the commonwealth with two-thirds and no more of all sums taxed for costs or allowed for rewards or compensations to prosecutors by the courts in his county, and duly certified by the clerk, since the last account rendered by him; and for all such sums, the certificate of the clerk shall be a sufficient voucher. He shall also credit in his account the amount of all fines, forfeitures, and costs, received by him to the use of the commonwealth. If he fails so to present his accounts, he shall forfeit two hundred dollars for every ten days' neglect, to be sued for and recovered by the treasurer in an action of contract.

Treasurers' accounts, how audited, &c.

FUGITIVES FROM JUSTICE.

SECTION 1. The governor of this state, in any case authorized by the constitution and laws of the United States, may, on demand, deliver over to the executive of any other state or territory any person charged therein with treason, felony, or other crime; or may, on application, appoint an agent to demand of the executive authority of any other state or territory any such offender fleeing from the justice of this state: provided, that such demand or application is accompanied by sworn evidence that the party charged is a fugitive from justice, and by a duly attested copy of an indictment, or a duly attested copy of a complaint made before a court or magistrate authorized to receive the same; such complaint to be accompanied by affidavits to the facts constituting the offence charged, by persons having actual knowledge thereof, and such further evidence in support thereof as the governor may require.

Proceedings on such demands from other states.
R. S. 142, § 7.
5 Met. 546.

SECT. 2. When such demand or application is made, the attorney-general or other prosecuting officer shall, if the governor requires it, forthwith investigate the grounds thereof, and report to the governor all the material facts which may come to his knowledge, with an abstract of the evidence in the case, and especially in case of a person demanded, whether he is held in custody, or is under recognizance to answer for any offence against the laws of this state or of the United States, or by force of any civil process, with an opinion as to the legality or expediency of complying therewith.

Same subject.
R. S. 142, § 7.
5 Met. 546.

SECT. 3. If the governor is satisfied that the demand is conformable to law and ought to be complied with, he shall issue his warrant, under the seal of the commonwealth, to some officer authorized to serve warrants in criminal cases, directing him at the expense of the agent making the demand, at a time designated in the warrant, to take and transport such person to the line of this state, and there deliver him over to such agent, and such officer may require aid as in criminal cases.

Persons arrested to have opportunity to apply for writ of habeas corpus.
1857, 289, § 1.

SECT. 4. No person arrested upon such warrant shall be delivered over to such agent of a state or territory, until he has been notified of the demand made for his surrender and had opportunity to apply for a writ of habeas corpus, if he claims such right of the officer making the arrest. And when such writ is applied for, notice thereof, and of the time and place of hearing thereon, shall be given to the attorney-general or other prosecuting officer for the district within which the arrest is made.

Penalty on officer not affording such opportunity.
1857, 289, § 2.

SECT. 5. An officer who delivers over to such agent for extradition any person in his custody upon such warrant, without having complied with the provisions of the preceding section, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding one thousand dollars.

Fees, how paid.
R. S. 142, § 6.

SECT. 6. If the application for the arrest of a fugitive from the justice of the state is complied with, and an agent appointed, his account shall be audited and paid by the state.

Persons liable to be demanded by other states may be arrested. &c.
R. S. 142, § 8.
5 Met. 546.

SECT. 7. When a person is found in this state charged with an offence committed in another state or territory, and liable by the constitution and laws of the United States to be delivered over upon the demand of the executive of such other state or territory, any court or magistrate authorized to issue warrants in criminal cases may upon complaint under oath, setting forth the offence and such other matters as are necessary to bring the case within the provisions of law, issue a warrant to bring the person charged before the same or some other court or magistrate within the state, to answer to such complaint as in other cases.

and required to recognize, &c.
R. S. 142, § 9.

SECT. 8. If upon the examination of the person charged it appears to the court or magistrate, that there is reasonable cause to believe that the complaint is true, and that such person may be lawfully demanded of the executive, he shall, if not charged with a capital crime, be required to recognize with sufficient sureties in a reasonable sum to appear before such court or magistrate at a future day, (allowing a reasonable time to obtain the warrant of the executive,) and to abide the order of the court or magistrate.

or be committed. Proceedings on default of recognizance, and in capital cases.
R. S. 142, § 9.

SECT. 9. If such person does not so recognize, he shall be committed to prison and there detained until such day, in like manner as if the offence charged had been committed within this state; and if the person recognizing fails to appear according to the condition of his recognizance, he shall be defaulted, and like proceedings shall be had as in case of other recognizances entered into before such court or magistrate. If the person is charged with a capital crime, he shall be committed to prison and there detained until the day so appointed for his appearance.

SECT. 10. If the person so recognized or committed appears before the court or magistrate upon the day ordered, he shall be discharged, unless he is demanded by some person authorized by the warrant of the executive to receive him, or unless the court or magistrate sees cause to commit him, or to require him to recognize anew for his appearance on some other day, and if when ordered he does not so recognize, he shall be committed and detained as before: provided, that whether the person charged is recognized, committed, or discharged, any person authorized by the warrant of the executive may at all times take him into custody, and the same shall be a discharge of the recognizance, and not be deemed an escape.

How proceeded with or discharged.
R. S. 142, § 10.

SECT. 11. The complainant in such case shall be answerable for all actual costs and charges, and the support in prison of any person so committed, to be paid in like manner as by a creditor for his debtor committed on execution. If the charge for support in prison is not so paid, the jailer may discharge such person in like manner as if he had been committed on an execution.

Expenses, how paid.
R. S. 142, § 11.
See Ch. 124.

PARDONS.

SECT. 12. In all cases in which the governor is authorized by the constitution to grant pardons, he may by and with the advice of the council, and upon the petition of the person convicted, grant the pardon, upon such conditions, with such restrictions, and under such limitations, as he deems proper, and he may issue his warrant to all proper officers, to carry such pardon into effect; which warrant shall be obeyed and executed, instead of the sentence originally awarded.

Governor may grant pardons.
Const. Ch. 3, § 1, art. 8.
R. S. 142, § 12.

SECT. 13. When a pardon is granted to a convict, or any part of the punishment of a convict is remitted by the governor with advice of council, on conditions to be performed by the convict, the terms and conditions upon which the pardon or remission is granted shall be specified and set forth in the warrant thereupon to be issued. And the governor, by and with the advice of the council, may require a bond to be given to the commonwealth, in such sum and with such surety as he may approve, conditioned that the terms upon which the pardon or remission is granted shall by said convict be truly observed and kept. The bond shall be deposited with the treasurer of the commonwealth, and be prosecuted to final judgment and execution when the condition thereof is broken. When such bond is required by the governor, the pardon or remission of punishment shall not take effect until the bond is executed and deposited, as aforesaid.

Terms of pardon, &c., to be set forth in warrant.
Bond.
1837, 181, § 1.

SECT. 14. When a convict sentenced to confinement in the state prison, or any jail or house of correction, is pardoned, or his punishment remitted by the governor with the advice of the council, on conditions to be by the convict observed and performed, and it comes to the knowledge of the warden of the state prison, or keeper of the jail or house of correction, where the convict was confined, that he is abroad in violation of the conditions of his pardon or remission of punishment, such warden or keeper shall forthwith cause him to be arrested and detained according to the terms of his original sentence. In computing the period of his confinement, the time between the conditional pardon and subsequent arrest shall not be taken to be any part of the term of sentence.

Keepers of jails, &c., to arrest convicts at large contrary to terms of pardon, &c.
1837, 181, § 2.

SECT. 15. When a convict is arrested and detained for any breach of the condition of his pardon or remission of punishment, the warden or keeper arresting him shall forthwith give notice in writing to the district-attorney for the district where such warden or keeper resides, and such attorney shall file an information before the superior court next to be held in said district, in the same manner as other informations are filed, so that it may be judicially ascertained whether the condition of the pardon or remission of punishment has been broken by the convict.

SECT. 16. If it is admitted by the convict, or found by the verdict of the jury, that the condition is broken, the court before whom the information is filed shall sentence the convict to be remanded and confined for the unexpired term of his former sentence, and to a further period of confinement not exceeding one-half the time for which he was sentenced for the offence to which the pardon or remission applied, to take effect from and after the period when he has suffered the whole term of imprisonment to which he was originally sentenced. If the convict was before sentenced to confinement for life, he shall be subjected to such solitary confinement as the court shall order. If it appears to the court, by the verdict of a jury or otherwise, that the convict has not broken the conditions of his conditional pardon or remission, he shall be discharged.

SECT. 17. When a convict is pardoned or his punishment is commuted, the officer to whom the warrant for that purpose is issued shall, as soon as may be after executing the same, make return thereof under his hand, with his doings therein, to the secretary's office; and he shall also file in the clerk's office of the court in which the offender was convicted, an attested copy of the warrant and return, a brief abstract whereof the clerk shall subjoin to the record of the conviction and sentence.

1859, 489, § 19.

SECT. 6. There shall be provided by the county commissioners in each county except the county of Dukes County, and in Suffolk by the aldermen of the city of Boston, at the charge of said counties and city respectively, a fit and convenient house or houses of correction, suitably and efficiently ventilated, with convenient yards, workshops, and other suitable accommodations, adjoining or appurtenant thereto, for the safe keeping, correcting, governing, and employing, of offenders legally committed thereto by authority of the courts and magistrates of this state or of the United States, except as provided in section sixty-one of chapter one hundred and forty-four.

SECT. 7. The yards shall be of sufficient extent for the convenient employment of the persons confined therein, and enclosed by fences of sufficient height and strength to prevent escapes, and also to prevent all persons without from access to or communication with any persons confined therein. When such house of correction is not provided, the jail or a part thereof may be used for that purpose, but when so used it shall be provided with a sufficient yard, so enclosed.

SECT. 8. If there are several houses of correction in a county, the sentence of prisoners shall be to either house of correction therein, and the sheriff and county commissioners may classify the convicts and place them in either house.

SECT. 9. The commissioners in the several counties, except Suffolk, shall annually on the first Wednesday of January appoint to each house of correction two or three suitable persons of the county, other than the sheriff or commissioners, to be overseers thereof, and may remove any overseer and fill vacancies.

SECT. 10. Each overseer shall receive from the county such annual compensation for his services and travel, not exceeding one hundred dollars, as the commissioners determine, and the directors for public institutions in the city of Boston shall receive such compensation as the city council allows.

SECT. 11. The commissioners in the several counties except Suffolk, and the board of directors for public institutions in Boston, shall cause to be provided, at the expense of said counties and city respectively, suitable materials and implements sufficient to keep at work all the persons committed to the house of correction, and may from time to time establish needful rules for employing, reforming, governing, and punish-to have enclosed yards. Jail may be used for.

ing, the persons so committed, for procuring and preserving such materials and implements, and for keeping and settling all accounts of the cost and expenses of procuring the same, and of all labor performed by each of the persons so committed.

SECT. 12. In the county of Suffolk the board of directors for public institutions, and in other counties the overseers, shall see that the rules established for the management of the house of correction and the government of the persons confined therein are strictly observed, examine all accounts of the master relating to the earnings of the prisoners and all expenses of the institution, and keep a fairly written register of their official proceedings.

SECT. 13. They may make contracts for work to be done in the house, with any person disposed to supply materials to be there wrought, and in such case may stipulate that the contractor shall furnish some person, to be approved by them, to oversee the labor of the convicts and instruct them in business or trades, conforming to all rules of the prison and not interfering with the discipline thereof.

SECT. 14. They may make contracts for letting out to hire during the day time any of the persons there confined, to employers who live so near to the house of correction that the directors or overseers or the master of the house can have the general inspection of the conduct of the persons so let out, and of the treatment they receive.

SECT. 15. The commissioners, or directors, may, with the assent of the master or keeper of any house of correction, employ any of the prisoners to labor upon the public lands and buildings belonging to the county.

SECT. 16. When it appears to the physician of a house of correction that a female convict is in a state of pregnancy, any judge of the superior court, or any police court, may, upon application of the master or keeper of the house, or of the convict, revise her sentence so far as to order her to be transferred to any workhouse or house of industry in the same county for such term as is expedient, not exceeding the remainder of her sentence; and may at any time before the expiration of her sentence cause her to be again restored to the house of correction. For the support and custody of each female so transferred, two dollars a week shall be paid by the county to the city or town to which she is transferred.

SECT. 17. When it appears to the overseers or directors of a house of correction, house of industry, or workhouse, that a person there confined on conviction before a justice of the peace of either of the offences mentioned in section twenty-eight of chapter one hundred and sixty-five, has reformed and is willing and desirous to return to an orderly course of life, they may, by a written order, discharge him from confinement. Any person committed by the superior court, or any police court, for either of said offences, may be discharged by such courts respectively upon the recommendation of the overseers or directors.

SECT. 18. The overseers or directors of any house of correction, workhouse, or house of industry, may, after six months from the time of sentence, discharge any person committed thereto under section thirty-five of chapter one hundred and sixty-five, upon being satisfied that the convict has reformed; or may bind out such person for any term during the period of the sentence, as an apprentice or servant to any inhabitant of this state; and said overseers and directors, and the master, mistress, apprentice, and servant, shall respectively have all the rights and privileges, and be subject to all the duties set forth in chapter one hundred and eleven, in the same manner as if such binding were made by the overseers of the poor; and the relations between the parties shall not be affected by the age of the party bound. If the master or mistress is discharged from the contract of service or apprenticeship as provided in said chapter, the person bound shall be returned to the PROVISIONS RESPECTING JAILS, HOUSES OF CORRECTION, PRISONERS, &c.

Sheriff to have custody of jail, prisoners, &c. Master of house of correction in Suffolk. 1859, 249, § 1.

SECT. 19. The sheriff shall have the custody, rule, and charge of the jails, and except in the county of Suffolk, the houses of correction in his county, and of all prisoners therein, and shall keep the same by himself, or by his deputy, as jailer, master, or keeper, for whom he shall be responsible. The jailer, master, or keeper shall appoint all subordinate assistants, employees, and officers, for whom he shall be responsible. In the county of Suffolk the city council of Boston shall appoint a suitable person to be master of the house of correction, to hold his office during their pleasure.

Master, how removed. 1859, 196. 1859, 249, §§ 1, 8.

SECT. 20. Any master, keeper, or jailer, except in the county of Suffolk, may be removed by the superior court for neglect of duty, or wasteful or extravagant use of supplies, upon complaint of the county commissioners, setting out the facts, and after notice to the sheriff and the person complained of, and a hearing thereon.

Compensation of sheriff for care of prisoners, &c. R. S. 14, § 92.

SECT. 21. For the safe keeping of the prisoners committed to his custody, the sheriff shall have such compensation from the county, not less than twenty dollars a year, as the county commissioners, or in the county of Suffolk the mayor and aldermen, order. He shall not receive any rent or emolument from the jailers and keepers of the houses of correction, for the use and occupation of the dwelling-houses provided for them by the county.

of officers, assistants, &c. 1859, 249, §§ 1, 2.

SECT. 22. The commissioners, (except in the county of Suffolk,) shall establish fixed salaries for all officers, assistants, and employees, of jails and houses of correction, which shall be in full compensation for all their services, and for which they shall devote their whole time to the discharge of their duties, unless released therefrom by the commissioners.

if inadequate, superior court to determine. 1859, 196. 1859, 249, § 3.

SECT. 23. If the sheriff, master, keeper, or jailer, deems any such salary inadequate, he may present his petition, showing the facts, to the superior court next to be holden for the county, and the court, after notice to the chairman of the county commissioners, and a hearing, shall fix the salary, and pass such further order in the premises as law and justice require.

Jailer, &c., to keep calendar of prisoners. Penalty. R. S. 14, § 83. 1859, 139, § 5.

SECT. 24. The jailer, keeper, or master, of each jail and house of correction, shall keep in a bound book an exact calendar of all prisoners committed thereto, and shall cause to be distinctly registered therein the names of all prisoners, their places of abode, additions, and the time, cause, and authority, of their commitment, and a description of the persons of such as are committed on criminal prosecutions, together with such facts as, with the entries in the prison book, will enable the sheriff or directors to make the returns required by sections sixty-nine and seventy. When a prisoner is liberated, he shall register in the same book the time and authority of such liberation, and in case of an escape, the time and manner of the escape. Every jailer, master, or keeper, neglecting to keep such calendar, or to enter such facts therein, shall forfeit one hundred dollars, to be recovered by the commissioners or directors in an action of tort, in the name of the county, or in Suffolk in the name of the city of Boston, and expended by them for the relief of discharged prisoners.

Warrants, &c., to be filed, and delivered to sheriff's successor. R. S. 14, § 85. 1859, 135.

SECT. 25. All warrants, mittimus, processes, and other official papers, or attested copies thereof, by which a prisoner is committed or liberated, shall be regularly filed in the order of time, and with the calendar, be safely kept in a suitable box for that purpose, and upon the expiration of the sheriff's commission, his death, resignation, or removal from office, be delivered to his successor; and in default thereof the sheriff or his executors or administrators shall forfeit two hundred dollars.

SECT. 26. When a person imprisoned for any cause dies in prison, the sheriff or the keeper shall deliver the body to his relations or friends if they request it. If no application is made therefor, the sheriff or keeper shall bury the same in the common burying ground, and the expenses be paid by the city or town in which such person had a legal settlement, if any, otherwise by the county.

Burial of deceased prisoner.
R. S. 14, § 87.

SECT. 27. Every sheriff, upon the expiration of his commission, or his resignation or removal from office, shall deliver to his successor all prisoners in his custody, and for that purpose shall retain the keeping of the jails and houses of correction under his care, and of the prisoners therein, until his successor is appointed and qualified.

Sheriff to deliver prisoners to successor.
R. S. 14, § 84.
1839, 249, § 1.

SECT. 28. In case of the death of the sheriff, the jailer, master, or keeper, by him appointed, shall continue in office and retain the custody, rule, and charge, of the jail or house of correction, and of all prisoners committed thereto, until a successor to the deceased sheriff is appointed or elected and qualified, or until the governor, by and with the advice of the council, removes such jailer, master, or keeper, and appoints another. The jailer, master, or keeper, appointed by the governor, shall give bond with sureties as the governor directs and approves for the faithful performance of the duties of his office.

upon death of jailer to continue in office until, &c.
R. S. 14, § 86.
1839, 249.

SECT. 29. When the mother of a child under the age of eighteen months is imprisoned in a house of correction, jail, workhouse, or other place of confinement, and is capable and desirous of taking care of said child, the keeper shall, upon the order of the court or magistrate committing her, or of any overseer of the poor, receive the child and place it under the care and custody of its mother.

Female convicts may have custody of their children under a certain age.
1838, 57, § 1.

SECT. 30. When the overseers, inspectors, or other like officers, of such institution, are satisfied that the health and comfort of such child call for its removal, or that for any cause it is expedient that it should be removed, they shall give notice to the father or other relatives thereof; and if neither can be found to receive it, to the overseers of the poor of the city or town in which it has a legal settlement, who shall receive it; or if it has no settlement in this state, it shall be sent to one of the state almshouses, as is provided in the case of alien paupers.

How such children may be removed, &c.
1838, 57, § 2.

SECT. 31. The keeper of each jail and the master of each house of correction shall, at the expense of the county, see that the same is constantly kept in as cleanly and healthful a condition as may be, and shall cause the whole interior thereof, including the floors, to be thoroughly whitewashed with lime at least twice in each year, and the walls and floors of each room, while any person is confined therein, to be so whitewashed once in each month between the first of May and the first of November. No permanent vault shall be used in any apartment. Every room occupied by a prisoner shall be furnished with a suitable bucket with a cover made to shut tight, for the necessary accommodation of such prisoner, and such bucket when used shall be emptied daily and constantly kept in good order.

Prisons, &c., to be whitewashed, kept clean, &c.
R. S. 143, § 38.

SECT. 32. The keeper and master shall see that strict attention is constantly paid to the personal cleanliness of all prisoners in their custody, and shall cause the shirt of each prisoner to be washed, and the prisoner himself to be shaved, once at least in each week, and to have a weekly bath of cold or tepid water applied to the whole surface of the body, unless by reason of sickness such bath would be hurtful or dangerous. Each prisoner shall be furnished daily with as much clean water as he has occasion for either as drink or for the purpose of personal cleanliness, and with a clean towel once a week. No clothes shall be washed or hung out wet in any room which is occupied by a prisoner during the night. All prisoners not in solitary confinement shall be served three times each day with wholesome food, well cooked, in good order, and in sufficient quantity.

Classification and separation of prisoners.
R. S. 143, § 35.
See § 41.

SECT. 33. Male and female prisoners shall not be put or kept in the same room; nor, unless the crowded state of the jail or house of correction requires it, shall any two prisoners, other than debtors, be allowed to occupy the same room, except for work. Persons committed for debt shall be kept separate from felons, convicts, and persons confined upon a charge of felony or other infamous offence, and all conversation between prisoners in different apartments shall be prevented. Minors shall be kept separate from notorious offenders and those convicted of a felony or other infamous crime. Persons committed on charge of an offence shall not be confined with convicts, and prisoners charged with or convicted of an offence not infamous shall not be confined with those charged with or convicted of an infamous crime, except while at labor or assembled for moral or religious instruction, at which times no communication shall be allowed between prisoners of different classes.

Execution of sentence to solitary imprisonment.
R. S. 143, § 20.
1854, 393.

SECT. 34. When a convict is sentenced to solitary imprisonment and hard labor in a jail or house of correction, the master or keeper shall execute the sentence of solitary imprisonment by confining the convict in one of the cells, or if there is none, then in the most retired and solitary part of the jail or house, and during the time of solitary imprisonment the convict shall be fed with bread and water only, unless other food is necessary for the preservation of his health. No intercourse shall be allowed with any convict in solitary imprisonment, except for the conveyance of food and other necessary purposes.

and to hard labor; but not in engraving or printing.
Log and chain may be used.
R. S. 143, § 21.
1850, 289, § 4.

SECT. 35. As soon as the term of solitary imprisonment has expired, the master or keeper shall furnish the convict with tools and materials or other means for work in a suitable manner, in which he can be usefully or profitably employed, either in the house of correction or jail, or in the close yard thereof; but no convict shall be employed in engraving or printing of any kind. Such convict may if necessary be confined by a log and chain, or in such other manner as shall prevent his escape without unnecessarily inflicting bodily pain or interrupting his labor. The overseers, or, when the punishment is inflicted in the jail, the sheriff, shall oversee the execution of all such sentences.

Punishment of prisoners refusing to work, &c.; not to be in solitary more than three days, &c.
R. S. 143, § 22.
1853, 31.

SECT. 36. If a convict is refractory, or, during the time for which he is sentenced to hard labor, refuses or neglects without reasonable cause to labor in a suitable manner when required, he shall be kept in solitary confinement and fed on bread and water as before provided so long as he is refractory or refuses to labor; but no keeper of a jail or master of a house of correction shall confine in solitary imprisonment any convict for more than three days at one time, without informing the sheriff or overseers thereof and the reasons therefor.

of refractory prisoners.
R. S. 143, § 46.
1857, 35.

SECT. 37. If a person confined in a jail or house of correction upon a conviction or charge of an offence against the commonwealth, is refractory or disorderly, or wilfully or wantonly destroys or injures any article of furniture or other property, or any part of such prison, the sheriff, overseers, or board of directors for public institutions, respectively, after due inquiry may cause him to be kept in solitary confinement, not more than ten days for one offence; and during such confinement he shall be fed with bread and water only, unless other food is necessary for the preservation of his health.

of poor debtors, &c., who commit depredations.
R. S. 143, § 47.
1852, 312.

SECT. 38. If a person committed to jail on mesne process or execution, or for any other cause than those mentioned in the preceding section, is on complaint of the keeper convicted before a justice of the peace, or police court, of either of the offences therein specified, he shall be punished by solitary imprisonment as directed in said section, not more than ten days for each offence. He shall also be liable for double the amount of the damage done to the jail, furniture, or other property, to be recovered in an action of tort, which may be brought by the sheriff or county treasurer in the name and to the use of the county.

SECT. 39. The two preceding sections shall not affect the authority of a sheriff, jailer, or master of a house of correction, to preserve order and enforce strict discipline among the prisoners in his custody.

SECT. 40. The keeper or master shall at the expense of the county provide for each prisoner under his charge, who is able and desirous to read, a copy of the Bible or of the New Testament, to be used by such prisoner at proper seasons during his confinement, and the county commissioners may, in their discretion and at the expense of their county, provide moral and religious instruction for the prisoners confined in the jails and houses of correction of their respective counties. Prisoners in the state prison, or in any jail, house of correction, almshouse, or other place of confinement, may, in their illness, on request to the warden, keeper, or master, receive the visits of any clergyman they may desire.

SECT. 41. The county commissioners of each county, and the aldermen of the city of Boston, with the sheriff of the county, may at the expense of their county or city furnish suitable instructions in reading and writing for one hour each evening, except Sundays, to such prisoners as may be benefited thereby and are desirous to receive the same.

SECT. 42. No sheriff, jailer, master of a house of correction, or other officer, or under keeper of a prison, shall, under any pretence, give, sell, or deliver, or knowingly suffer to be given, sold, or delivered, to any person committed to jail for debt and supported at the charge of the creditor, or to a prisoner in confinement upon conviction or charge of an offence, any spirituous liquor or mixed liquor, part of which is spirituous, or any wine, cider, or strong beer, unless the attending physician of the prison certifies in writing that the health of the prisoner requires it, in which case he shall be allowed the quantity prescribed, and no more.

SECT. 43. Whoever gives, sells, or delivers, to a person confined in a jail, house of correction, house of industry, workhouse, or prison, or to a person in custody of a sheriff, constable, police officer, jailer, master of a house of correction, or warden of a prison, any spirituous or other liquors, as mentioned in the preceding section, or has in his possession, within the precincts of any jail, house of correction, or other place of confinement mentioned in this chapter, any such liquors, with intent to convey or deliver the same to any person or prisoner confined therein, unless under the direction of the physician appointed to attend such prisoner, shall be punished by fine not exceeding fifty dollars, or by imprisonment in the jail or house of correction not exceeding two months.

SECT. 44. If a sheriff, jailer, or master of a house of correction, gives, sells, or delivers, to any prisoner in his custody, or willingly or negligently suffers such prisoner to have or drink any spirituous, fermented, or other strong or mixed liquor, prohibited by section forty-two, or places or keeps together prisoners in his custody of different sexes or classes, contrary to the provisions of section thirty-three, he shall in each case forfeit for the first offence twenty-five dollars, and for any such offence committed after the first conviction fifty dollars, and shall on such second conviction be further sentenced to be removed from office and to be incapable of holding the office of sheriff, deputy-sheriff, or jailer, or master or keeper of any prison, for the term of five years.

SECT. 45. The sheriffs of the several counties, and the board of directors for public institutions in Boston, shall forthwith remove any officer by them respectively appointed to any position of trust or authority in the jails and houses of correction, who is known to use intoxicating liquors as a beverage.

SECT. 46. Whoever lawfully imprisoned in any place of confinement established by law, other than the state prison, breaks therefrom and escapes, or forcibly breaks the same with intent to escape, or by force or violence attempts to escape therefrom, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding five years, or in the jail or house of correction not exceeding three years, or by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars.

SECT. 47. The keeper of every jail and the master of every house of correction shall keep a record of the conduct of each convict whose term of imprisonment is not less than four months, and for every month that a convict appears by such record to have faithfully observed all the rules and requirements of the prison, and not to have been subjected to punishment, there shall be deducted from the whole term of his sentence, whether in one or more cases, as follows: from a term of less than three years, one day; from a term of three and less than seven years, two days; from a term of seven and less than ten years, four days; and from a term of ten years or more, five days: said record shall be submitted to the sheriff and to the overseers of the house of correction, or board of directors for public institutions in the city of Boston, to be considered by them in recommending prisoners to executive clemency.

SECT. 48. If disease breaks out in a jail or other prison, which in the opinion of the inspectors of the prison may endanger the lives or health of the prisoners to such a degree as to render their removal necessary, the inspectors may designate in writing some suitable place within the same county, or any prison in a contiguous county, as a place of confinement for such prisoners. Such designation being filed with the clerk of the superior court, shall be a sufficient authority for the sheriff, jailer, master, or keeper, to remove all the prisoners in his custody to the place designated, and there to confine them until they can be safely returned to the place whence they were removed. Any place to which the prisoners are so removed shall during their imprisonment therein be deemed a prison of the county in which they were originally confined, but they shall be under the care, government, and direction of the officers of the county in which they are confined.

SECT. 49. If a jail or other prison, or any building near thereto, is on fire, and the prisoners are exposed to danger thereby, the sheriff, jailer, or other person having charge of the prison, may remove such prisoners to a place of safety, and there confine them so long as may be necessary to avoid the danger, and such removal and confinement shall not be deemed an escape of the prisoners.

EXPENSE OF SUPPORTING PRISONERS, &c.

SECT. 50. The commissioners, except in the county of Suffolk, shall, without extra charge or commission to themselves or any person, procure, or cause to be procured, all necessary supplies for the jails and houses of correction, to be furnished and purchased under their direction and at the expense of the county.

SECT. 51. All charges and expenses of safe keeping, maintaining, and employing, convicts sentenced to imprisonment in the jail or house of correction, of the safe keeping of persons charged with offences, and, committed for trial or sentence, and, except in the county of Suffolk, of prisoners committed on mesne process or execution, so long as the fees for their board are paid by the defendant or debtor, plaintiff or creditor, shall be paid from the county treasury, the accounts of the keeper or master being first settled and allowed by the commissioners, or in the county of Suffolk by the board of accounts; and no allowance therefor shall be made by the commonwealth.

SECT. 52. The county commissioners, and the aldermen of the city of Boston, may order such sums of money as may from time to time be necessary, to be advanced out of the treasuries of their counties or city to the master of the house of correction or keeper of the jail, for the purpose of providing such tools, materials, and other things, as may be required for the employment, restraint, and safe keeping of the convicts; and the master or keeper shall appropriate the same under the direction of the officers ordering the advancement, and account to them for the expenditure thereof.

Advancement of money for tools and materials, &c.
R. S. 143, §§ 23, 24.
1839, 146, § 1.
1854, 448, § 33.

SECT. 53. Each master or keeper shall cause the articles manufactured by the prisoners in his custody, or the produce of their labor, to be disposed of to the best advantage, and under the direction of said commissioners or aldermen shall cause accounts to be kept of the proceeds thereof, and shall present such accounts to them for settlement semiannually, and as much oftener as they deem it necessary. He shall pay into the treasury of the county or city, at such time as said officers direct, the amount of sales and other proceeds of the labor and earnings of the prisoners in his custody, or the balance thereof.

Master, &c., to keep account of earnings, &c.
R. S. 143, § 25.

SECT. 54. The master or keeper shall furnish, at the expense of the county, necessary fuel, bedding, and clothing, for all prisoners in his custody upon charge or conviction of any offence against the commonwealth, and shall present to the county commissioners, or in the county of Suffolk the board of accounts, a full account of his charges so incurred, and also for necessary furniture for the prison; and the commissioners or board of accounts shall make a reasonable allowance therefor, which shall be paid from the county treasury.

to supply fuel, &c. Allowance therefor.
R. S. 143, § 44.

SECT. 55. When the commissioners or the aldermen of the city of Boston direct specific rations or articles of food, soap, fuel, or other necessaries, to be furnished to the prisoners, the keeper or master shall conform to such direction, and if he refuses or neglects to furnish the same, he shall be subject for a first and second offence to the penalties prescribed by section forty-four for the offences therein mentioned.

SECT. 21. He shall attend upon all insane convicts, and, when in his opinion it can be done without detriment or danger to the other patients or inmates of the prison shall direct their removal to the prison hospital, and see that they have sufficient daily exercise outside their cells or places of confinement.

Care and treatment of sick convicts.
R. S. 144, § 14.

SECT. 22. When a convict complains of such illness as requires medical aid, notice thereof shall be given to the physician, who shall visit the convict, and if in the opinion of the physician the illness is such as to require his removal to the hospital, the warden may order such removal, and the convict shall remain in the hospital until the physician determines that he may leave it without injury to his health.

WARDEN AND DEPUTY-WARDEN.

Warden to give bond.
R. S. 144, § 15.

SECT. 23. Before the warden enters upon the duties of his office, he shall give bond to the commonwealth in the sum of twenty thousand dollars, with sufficient sureties to be approved by the governor and council, conditioned that he shall faithfully account for all money placed in his hands as treasurer, and perform all the duties incumbent on him as warden. Such bond with the approval of the sureties indorsed thereon shall be filed in the office of the treasurer of the commonwealth.

Removal of convicts to state prison.
R. S. 144, § 20.

SECT. 24. When the warden receives a warrant from a sheriff in the manner prescribed in chapter one hundred and seventy-four, requiring him to cause a convict to be removed from the jail to the state prison pursuant to his sentence, he shall by himself or such person as he appoints for the purpose, as soon as may be, cause such warrant to be duly executed, make return of the manner in which he has caused the same to be executed, file the warrant and the return, with the transcript of the record, in his office, and cause an attested copy of the warrant and of his return thereon to be filed in the office of the clerk from whence it was issued. All sheriffs, jailers, and other officers, are enjoined, if need be, to aid the warden or person by him appointed in the execution of such warrant.

Residence of warden and dep-

SECT. 25. The warden and deputy-warden shall reside constantly within the precincts of the prison; and the deputy-warden, clerk, watchmen, and assistant watchmen, shall perform such duties in the charge and oversight of the prison, the care of the property thereto belonging, and the custody, government, employment, and discipline, of the convicts, as is required of them by the warden in conformity to law and the rules and regulations of the prison.

uty. Officers to perform duties required by warden, &c. R. S. 144, §§ 28, 185; 122, § 1.

SECT. 26. The warden shall from time to time propose in writing to the inspectors, such alterations as he thinks advisable in the rules and regulations for the direction of the officers and the government of the prison.

Warden may propose alteration of rules, &c. R. S. 144, § 6.

SECT. 27. He shall have the charge and custody of all convicts in the prison, and shall govern and employ them in the manner prescribed by law and pursuant to their respective sentences and the rules and regulations of the prison, until their sentences are performed or they are otherwise discharged by due course of law.

to have charge of prisoners, &c. R. S. 144, §§ 25, 30.

SECT. 28. He shall have the charge and custody of the prison, with the lands, buildings, furniture, tools, implements, stock, provisions, and every other species of property pertaining thereto or within the precincts thereof. He shall be treasurer of the prison, and shall receive and pay out all money granted by the legislature for the support thereof, and shall cause to be kept in suitable books regular and complete accounts of all the property, expenses, income, business, and concerns, of the establishment.

to have charge of prison and be treasurer. R. S. 144, § 16.

SECT. 29. He shall, as soon as may be after the last day of September in each year, cause to be made full and detailed accounts, to be closed on that day, of all the disbursements, expenses, receipts, and profits, of the prison, accompanied by sufficient vouchers, which accounts after having been examined and approved by the inspectors shall be deposited and filed in the office of the treasurer of the commonwealth, for the inspection of the legislature.

accounts of, to be settled annually. R. S. 144, § 18.

SECT. 30. When the office of warden is vacant, or the warden absent from the prison or unable to perform the duties of his office, the deputy warden shall have the powers, perform the duties, and be subject to the obligations and liabilities, of the warden.

Duty of deputy, in absence, &c., of warden. R. S. 144, § 26.

SECT. 31. If the office of warden becomes vacant when the governor and council are not in session, the inspectors may require the deputy-warden to give a bond to the commonwealth in the sum of ten thousand dollars, with sufficient sureties to be by them approved, conditioned for the faithful performance of the duties incumbent on him as deputy-warden and treasurer until a warden is appointed; and from the time such bond is approved, the deputy shall, so long as he performs the duties of the office, receive the salary of the warden in lieu of his former salary. If the deputy-warden does not give such bond when required, the inspectors may remove him from the office of warden and appoint a warden pro tempore, who shall give such bond and shall have the power and authority, perform the duties, and receive the salary, of the warden, until a warden is duly appointed and enters upon the discharge of the duties of the office.

Power of inspectors as to deputy-warden when the office of warden is vacant. Warden pro tempore. R. S. 144, § 27.

CONTRACTS.

SECT. 32. All contracts on account of the prison shall be made by the warden in writing, and when approved in writing by the inspectors shall be binding; and the warden or his successor may sue or be sued thereon to final judgment and execution. No such suit shall abate by reason of the office of warden becoming vacant, but any successor of the warden, pending such suit, may take upon himself the prosecution or defence thereof, and upon motion of the adverse party and notice he shall be required so to do.

SECT. 34. When it can be advantageously done, the principal articles purchased for the use of the prison shall be contracted for by the year. The warden shall give previous public notice, in two newspapers at least, of the articles wanted, the quantity and quality thereof, the time and manner of delivery, and the period during which proposals therefor will be received; which notice shall be published a sufficient time for the information of persons who may desire to offer proposals.

SECT. 35. All such proposals shall be in writing and sealed up, and on the day appointed they shall be opened by the warden in presence of the inspectors, who shall cause them to be entered in a book and compared. The person offering the best terms, with satisfactory security for the performance, shall be entitled to the contract, unless it appears to the warden and inspectors that none of the offers are so low as the fair market price; in which case no offer shall be accepted, and the warden, with the consent of the inspectors, may proceed to make contracts for any of the articles wanted for the prison, in the best way he can for the interest of the commonwealth. Every such contractor shall give bond in a reasonable sum with satisfactory surety or sureties for the performance of his contract.

SECT. 36. No officer of the prison shall be concerned or interested directly or indirectly in any contract, purchase, or sale, made on account of the prison.

SECT. 37. The warden shall take bills of the quantity and price of supplies furnished for the prison, at the time of the delivery; and the clerk, or such officer as the warden directs, shall compare the bills with the articles delivered. If the bills are found correct, he shall enter them with the date upon a book to be kept for the purpose. Bills of all services rendered for the prison shall be taken and entered in like manner. If a bill for supplies or services is discovered to be incorrect, the clerk shall omit to enter it, and immediately give notice to the warden, that the error may be corrected.

DISCIPLINE, &c., OF CONVICTS.

SECT. 38. The warden and all officers of the prison shall treat the convicts with kindness, so long as they merit such treatment by their obedience, industry, and good conduct.

SECT. 39. All necessary means shall be used, under the direction of the warden, to maintain order in the prison, enforce obedience, suppress insurrection, and prevent escapes, for which purpose he may at all times require the aid and utmost exertions of all the officers of the institution, the inspectors, chaplain, and physician, excepted.

SECT. 40. Convicts sentenced to the punishment of hard labor in the prison shall be constantly employed for the benefit of the state, but no convict shall be employed in engraving or printing of any kind.

SECT. 41. The warden, with the consent of one or more of the inspectors, may, for such time as they deem necessary to produce penitence, or so long as they think expedient for the promotion of good order and discipline, confine to solitary labor such convicts as are obstinate and refractory.

SECT. 42. Convicts against whom the punishment of solitary imprisonment is awarded by sentence of court, or who are subjected to it for violating any of the rules and regulations of the prison, shall be confined in one of the solitary cells, and during such confinement shall be fed with bread and water only, unless the physician of the prison certifies to the warden that their health requires other diet.

SECT. 43. The warden, with the consent of the inspectors, may cause a Sabbath school to be maintained in the prison, for the instruction of the convicts in their religious duties, and permit such persons as they deem suitable to attend the same as instructors, under such rules and regulations as the inspectors may establish. And the warden and inspectors may furnish suitable instruction in reading and writing for one hour each evening except Sundays, to all such prisoners as may be benefited thereby and desirous to receive the same.

Sunday school and other instruction. 1838, 152, § 3. 1848, 324, § 3. See Ch. 178, § 40.

SECT. 44. No communication shall be allowed between the convicts and any person without the prison. They shall be confined in separate cells in the night time, and in the day time all intercourse between them shall, as far as is practicable, be prevented.

Convicts to be kept separate. R. S. 144, § 23.

SECT. 45. The inspectors and warden may make such regulations as they think necessary or expedient in relation to interviews of the convicts with their friends from without the prison; during which interviews the convicts and persons in communication with them shall be under the eye of the warden, or of some officer of the prison designated by him.

Interviews of, with their friends. 1851, 295, § 1.

SECT. 46. The warden may at such time and under such circumstances as he deems expedient, with the consent of the inspectors, make known to the convicts the whole or parts of any communications received by him from their friends without the prison, and he may in like manner make known to their friends communications made to him by prisoners.

Communications between, and friends. 1851, 295, § 2.

SECT. 47. The warden and inspectors may adopt such regulations not inconsistent with the laws relating to the government of the prison, in relation to the introduction of newspapers into the prison, and in relation to visitors, as they deem necessary or expedient.

Newspapers and visitors. 1850, 289, § 3.

SECT. 48. No persons other than the executive government of the commonwealth, members of the legislature, officers of justice, or other persons having business at the prison, shall be allowed to visit it without a special permit from one of the inspectors or the warden.

Visitors to have permit. 1851, 302, § 1.

SECT. 49. The warden shall cause a register to be kept of the names and residences of all persons so visiting, and of the authority by which they visit; which register shall at all times be open to the inspectors.

Warden to keep register of. 1851, 302, § 2.

SECT. 50. The warden may refuse admission to any person having a permit, when it appears that such admission would be injurious to the best interests of the prison, but he shall report such refusal to the inspectors at their next monthly meeting.

Warden may refuse admission, &c. 1851, 302, § 3.

RECORD OF CONDUCT.

SECT. 51. The warden shall keep a record of the conduct of each convict, and for each month that a convict appears by such record to have faithfully observed all the rules and requirements of the prison and not to have been subjected to punishment, there shall, with the consent of the governor and council, be deducted from the term or terms of his sentence, as follows: from a term of less than three years, one day; from a term of three and less than seven years, two days; from a term of seven and less than ten years, four days; from a term of ten years or more, five days.

Record of conduct. Deduction from sentence. 1857, 283, § 1.

SECT. 52. Said record and scale of deduction, or any part thereof, shall be submitted by the warden to the governor and council when required by them, that the same may be considered in the exercise of such executive clemency on behalf of any convict, as they may deem conducive to the interests of the prison and promotive of the reformation and welfare of the convicts.

Record to be submitted to governor and council. 1857, 283, § 2.

ESCAPES, &amp;c.

Punishment for escape, &c., when sentenced for years.
R. S. 144, § 37.

SECT. 53. If a convict under sentence for any limited time escapes from the prison, or attempts by violence to escape, or assaults the warden, an inspector, or other officer or person employed in the government or custody of the prison, he shall, in addition to his former sentence, be punished by imprisonment in said prison not exceeding ten years, and also by solitary imprisonment not exceeding one year, to be executed forthwith, or at such time or times either before or after the expiration of any former sentence, as the court directs.

when sentenced for life.
R. S. 144, § 38.

SECT. 54. If a convict under sentence of imprisonment for life escapes from the prison, or attempts by violence to escape, or commits any such assault as is mentioned in the preceding section, he shall be punished by solitary imprisonment not exceeding one year, to be executed at such time or times as the court directs.

Punishment of officer, &c., suffering escape.
R. S. 144, § 39.

SECT. 55. If an officer or other person employed in the prison voluntarily suffers a convict confined therein to escape, or in any way consents to such escape, he shall be punished by imprisonment in said prison not exceeding twenty years.

leaving prisoner at large, or other unlawful indulgence.
R. S. 144, § 40.

SECT. 56. If an officer or person employed in the prison suffers a convict under sentence of solitary confinement to be at large or out of the cell assigned to him, or suffers any convict confined in the prison to be at large out of the prison, or to be visited, conversed with, or in any way relieved or comforted, contrary to the regulations of the prison, he shall be punished by fine not exceeding five hundred dollars.

aiding in escape or rescue.
R. S. 144, § 41.

SECT. 57. Whoever conveys into the prison any disguise, instrument, tool, weapon, or other thing, adapted or useful to aid a convict in making his escape therefrom, with intent to facilitate the escape of any convict there lawfully committed or detained, whether such escape is effected or attempted or not, or by any means aids a convict in his endeavor to escape, and whoever forcibly or fraudulently rescues or attempts to rescue a convict held in custody under sentence of imprisonment in the prison, shall be punished by imprisonment in said prison not exceeding ten years, or by fine not exceeding five hundred dollars.

illicit conveyance of articles into prison, &c.
1835, 153, § 1.

SECT. 58. Whoever delivers or procures to be delivered, or has in his possession with intent to deliver, to a convict confined in the prison, or deposits or conceals in or about the prison, or the dependencies thereof, or in any boat, carriage, or other vehicle, going into the premises belonging to the prison, any article or thing, with intent that a convict confined in the prison shall obtain or receive the same; and whoever receives from a convict any article or thing with intent to convey the same out of the prison, contrary to the rules and regulations thereof, and without the knowledge and permission of the warden or board of inspectors, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state prison or jail not exceeding two years, or by fine not exceeding five hundred dollars.

RATIONS, CLOTHING, &amp;c., OF CONVICTS.

Warden, &c., to make regulations respecting rations, &c.
1850, 101.

SECT. 59. The warden and inspectors may, with the consent of the governor and council, make such regulations in regard to the rations, clothing, and bedding, of the convicts, as the health, well-being, and circumstances of each convict require; but all diet, rations, clothing, beds, and bedding, shall be of good quality, and in sufficient quantity, for the sustenance and comfort of the convicts. No intoxicating liquors shall be furnished to the convicts.

Subsistence and diet in the hospital.
R. S. 144, § 46.

SECT. 60. The subsistence and diet of the convicts in the hospital shall be under the direction of the physician; but for all articles of comfort or indulgence not included in his regular hospital rations, his order therefor shall be in writing and for a term not exceeding one week.

SECT. 61. The warden and inspectors may make such variations or additions in relation to the rations, clothing, and bedding, of the convicts, as the circumstances of each convict may require.

Rations, &c., may be varied, &c.

SECT. 62. The prison shall be suitably and sufficiently ventilated, and each prisoner shall have a weekly bath of cold or tepid water, which shall be applied to the whole surface of the body, unless, by reason of the sickness of any prisoner, such bath may be hurtful or dangerous.

Prison to be ventilated and prisoners furnished with baths. 1848, 324, §§ 1, 2.

DISCHARGED CONVICTS.

SECT. 63. The warden may pay to any convict leaving the prison, who in his opinion by good conduct deserves the same, a sum not exceeding five dollars out of the treasury of the prison; and no convict shall leave the prison without being furnished with decent clothing.

Convicts, when discharged, to be decently clothed, &c. R. S. 144, § 53.

SECT. 64. The governor with advice of the council may appoint an agent to hold office until another is appointed in his place, who shall counsel and advise, and when and as he deems proper and expedient, furnish with clothing, board, and tools suitable for their employment, such discharged convicts as may seek his aid; and shall take measures to procure employment for such of them as may desire it, by corresponding with persons in mechanical and agricultural pursuits, and with benevolent persons and associations.

LUNATICS IN THE STATE PRISON.

Commissioners,
1844, 120, § 3.
1856, 135.

SECTION 1. The physician of the state prison as chairman, with the superintendents of the state lunatic hospitals, shall constitute a commission for the examination of convicts in said prison alleged to be insane. Each commissioner shall receive for his services in such capacity his travelling expenses and three dollars a day for each day he is so employed, which shall be charged to the prison.

to be notified
by warden, &c., of insanity of convicts.
1844, 120, § 1.

SECT. 2. When a convict in the prison appears to be insane, the warden or inspectors shall give notice thereof to the chairman of said commission, who shall forthwith notify the members thereof to meet at the prison.

Insane convicts to be removed to hospital, &c.
1844, 120, §§ 1, 2.
1853, 318, § 1.
1856, 247, § 3.

SECT. 3. The commission shall investigate the case, and if, in the opinion of a majority of them, the convict has become insane, and his removal would be expedient, they shall so report, with their reasons, to a judge of the superior court, who shall forthwith issue his warrant under the seal of that court, directed to the warden, authorizing him to remove the convict to one of the state lunatic hospitals, there to be kept till, in the opinion of the superintendent and trustees thereof, he may be recommitted consistently with his health. The superintendent when so satisfied shall certify the fact of such restoration upon the warrant, and give notice to the warden, who shall thereupon cause the convict to be reconveyed to the prison, there to remain pursuant to his original sentence, computing the time of his confinement in the hospital as part of the term of his imprisonment.

LUNATICS IN OTHER PRISONS.

Insane persons in prison, how removed to hospital.
R. S. 145, § 1.
1853, 259.
1853, 318, § 1.
1855, 449.
1856, 247, § 3.

SECT. 4. When a convict in a prison other than the state prison, or in the house of correction, appears to be insane, the physician attending the prison or house of correction shall make a report thereof to the jailer or master, who shall transmit the same in the county of Suffolk to a judge of the superior court, and in any other county to the judge of the probate court. The judge shall make inquiry into the facts therein stated, and if satisfied that such convict is insane, he may, at any time he deems necessary, cause such prisoner to be removed to one of the state lunatic hospitals.

if sane before term expires, to be returned.
R. S. 145, § 2.
1853, 259.

SECT. 5. If a person so removed is restored to sanity before the expiration of his sentence, he shall be forthwith returned to the prison or house of correction from which he was removed, there to remain pursuant to his original sentence, computing the time of his confinement in the hospital as part of the term of his imprisonment.

DISCHARGE OF POOR CONVICTS.

Poor convicts,
how discharged from prison after three months.
R. S. 145, § 3.
1844, 84, § 3.
1848, 32, § 26.
1856, 158, § 3.

SECT. 6. When a poor convict has been confined in a prison or house of correction for three months for fine and costs only, or for either of them, the jailer or master shall make a report thereof in the county of Suffolk to the police court of the city of Boston, and in other counties to any two justices of the peace, one of whom shall be of the quorum, or to any police court. The court or justices shall proceed to make inquiry into the truth thereof, and may require the jailer or keeper to bring the convict before them at the prison or such other convenient place near thereto as they may direct. If satisfied that the statement in the report is true and that the convict since his conviction has not had any estate, real or personal, with which he could have paid the sum for which he is committed, and that he is held for no other cause, they shall make a certificate thereof to the sheriff, directing him to discharge the convict.

after thirty

SECT. 7. When a poor convict has been confined in a prison or house of correction thirty days for fine, or fine and costs, not exceeding ten dollars, or forty days for fine, or fine and cost, not exceeding twenty dollars, he shall be discharged if the justice or court has certified on the mittimus upon which he was committed that he is unable to pay the same. When such convict has been confined thirty days and the justice or court has not so certified, the jailer or master shall make report thereof to a justice of the peace and of the quorum, or to a police court, and such justice or court shall proceed therein and may discharge the convict in the manner prescribed in the preceding section.

1842, 59.
Sec Ch. 174, § 9.

SECT. 8. The justices of the police court of the city of Boston when assembled, may also at any time discharge from prison or the house of correction in the county of Suffolk, any convict held only for the non-payment of fine and costs, if it appears that he is poor and unable to pay the same: provided, that when such person is held under the sentence of any other court, the consent of one of the justices thereof shall be first given in writing.

Poor convicts discharged at any time in the county of Suffolk, when, &c. R. S. 87, § 16.

SECT. 9. A person under guardianship may have the benefit of the provisions of the three preceding sections, although it appears that he has property held under guardianship, if it also appears that such property is beyond his actual control.

Persons under guardianship, how discharged. 1859, 185, § 1.

SECT. 10. When a person is discharged under the preceding section, the commonwealth may, in an action of tort brought within one year after the discharge, recover against his guardian, if he has assets, the amount of fine and costs remaining unpaid.

Fine and cost may be recovered of guardian. 1850, 185, § 2. 1852, 312.

SECT. 11. The fees of the justices for discharging a convict under this chapter, shall be one dollar to each justice, and for travel five cents for each mile going and returning, which shall be taxed, allowed, and paid, in the same manner as other costs arising before justices of the peace in criminal cases.

Fees for discharge. R. S. 145, § 4.

SECT. 5. It shall not affect any penalty or forfeiture incurred before it takes effect, under any of the laws repealed, except that where a punishment, penalty, or forfeiture, is mitigated by the provisions of the General Statutes, such provisions may be extended and applied to any judgment pronounced after said repeal.

SECT. 6. It shall not affect any suit or prosecution pending at the time of the repeal for an offence committed, or for the recovery of a penalty or forfeiture incurred, under any of the acts repealed, except that the proceedings therein shall when necessary conform to the provisions of the General Statutes.

SECT. 7. When a limitation or period of time prescribed in any of the acts repealed, for acquiring a right, or barring a remedy, or any other purpose, has begun to run, and the same or similar limitation is prescribed in the General Statutes, the time of limitation shall continue to run, and shall have like effect as if the whole period had begun and ended under the operation of the General Statutes.

Periods of limitation to continue to run. 1836, 7, § 4.

SECT. 8. All persons who at the time when said repeal takes effect hold any office under any of the acts repealed, shall continue to hold the same according to the tenure thereof, except those offices which have been abolished, and those as to which a different provision is made by the General Statutes.

Tenure of offices preserved. R. S. 146, § 5.

SECT. 9. The provisions of the General Statutes so far as they are the same as those of existing laws, shall be construed as a continuation of such laws, and not as new enactments, and references in laws not repealed, to provisions of laws incorporated into the General Statutes and repealed, shall be construed as applying to the same provisions so incorporated.

General Statutes to be construed as continuation of former laws.

A GLOSSARY

OF SUCH WORDS AND PHRASES CONTAINED IN THESE STATUTES AS BELONG TO FOREIGN LANGUAGES, AND THE MORE OBSCURE OF SUCH OTHERS AS ARE MERELY TECHNICAL.*

PREPARED BY VIRTUE OF CHAPTER 138 OF THE RESOLVES OF 1859.

A.

ABATEMENT, plea of, is when for any default the defendant prays that the writ or plaint do abate; that is, cease against him for that time. Bourier.

AD DAMNUM, (to the damage.) The declaration of the plaintiff's case in all personal and mixed actions concludes with the words "to the damage of the plaintiff, as he says, the sum of—;" and this is called the "ad damnum."

ALIAS, (another.) When prefixed to writ or execution, it means the second; as, alias execution, alias writ of capias, the second execution, the second writ of capias.

ALIEN. A subject of another government. An unnaturalized foreigner.

ALIENATION, an act by which the property and possession of real estate is transferred from one person to another, which may be done by deed, devise, or by matter of record.

ALIMONY, the allowance which is made by order of court to a woman for her support out of her husband's estate, upon being separated from him by divorce, or pending a suit for divorce.

ANSWER is in this state used technically to mean the statement of the matter intended to be relied upon by the defendant in avoidance of the plaintiff's action, and takes the place of special pleas in bar, and the general issue, except in real and mixed actions and actions before justices of the peace and police courts. (See p. 656.)

In equity cases defences may be made by answer. (See p. 559.)

ASSUMPSIT, action of, a form of action for the recovery of damages for the non-performance of a contract not under seal, nor of record. This action is abolished in this state, and the cases to which it applied may now be brought by action of contract. (See p. 633.)

ATTAINDER, the stain, forfeiture, and corruption of blood which followed upon being condemned for certain crimes. The consequences of attainder were, 1st, forfeiture of all the felon's estate, real and personal; 2d, the corruption of his blood by which his posterity were prevented from inheriting property from him, or through him for any remote ancestor.

BILL OF ATTAINDER, a bill brought into parliament for attainting persons condemned for high treason.

By the constitution of the United States, art. 1, sect. 10, states are prohibited from passing any bill of attainder; and by art. 3, sect. 3, congress has "power to declare the punishment of treason, but no attainder of treason shall work corruption of blood or forfeiture except during the life of the person attainted."

AUDITA QUERELA, a writ applicable to the case of a defendant against whom a judgment has been recovered, and who is therefore in danger of execution, or perhaps actually in execution, grounded on some matter of discharge which happened after the judgment, and not upon any matter which might have been pleaded as a defence to the action. Bourier.

AVOIRDUPOIS, a weight of which a pound contains sixteen ounces; its proportion to a pound Troy being as seventeen to fourteen. It is the weight of larger and coarser commodities. Webster.

B.

BONA FIDE. In good faith.

BONUS, a premium.

BOTTOMRY, a contract in the nature of a mortgage of a ship, on which the owner borrows money to enable him to fit out the ship, or to purchase a cargo for a voyage proposed, and he pledges the keel or bottom of the ship as a security for the repayment; and it is stipulated that if the ship should be lost in the course of the voyage by any of the perils enumerated in the contract, the lender also loses his money; but if the ship should arrive in safety, then he shall receive back his principal and also the interest agreed upon, which is generally called marine interest, however this may exceed the legal rate of interest. Not only the ship and tackle, if they arrive safe, but also the person of the borrower, is liable for the money lent and the marine interest. Bowrier.

* In the preparation of this glossary, the editors have endeavored to give the ordinary meaning of the words and phrases as they are used in this volume, in concise language, and with such illustrations and citations as may be useful to the general reader. Many of them have also other significations when used in different connections; and the general definitions to most of them, probably, are subject to limitations and modifications which cannot well be given in a glossary, but may be found in dictionaries, and in treatises on the various subjects.

C.

CAPIAS, (take you, or that you take.) A writ or process commanding the officer to take the body of a person is called a "capias," or a "writ of capias." A writ directing the officer to "attach the goods and estate of the defendant, and for want thereof to take his body," is called a "writ of capias and attachment."

CAPITAL CRIME, a crime punishable with death.

CERTIORARI, the name of a writ issued by the supreme court to certain courts of inferior jurisdiction, commanding them to certify and return to the supreme court their records in a particular case, in order that any errors or irregularities which appear in the proceedings may be corrected. It is the proper process by which to bring before the supreme court for investigation the doings of county commissioners. It lies for the purpose of correcting errors in proceedings which are not according to the course of the common law. (See p. 743.)

It does not lie to the probate court. (8 Cush. 529.)

CIVIL LAW, the municipal code of laws of the Romans. Degrees of kindred are by statute, in this state, to be computed according to the rules of the civil law. (See p. 474.)

Such computation is from one of the persons whose relationship is sought, up to the common ancestor, and then from the common ancestor, down to the other of such persons.

COCCULUS INDICUS, (Indian berry.) A poisonous fruit, sometimes used in the adulteration of liquors.

COMMON LAW, in England, the unwritten law, founded on custom and deriving its force and authority from the universal consent and immemorial practice of the people.

In Massachusetts, "Our ancestors, when they came into this new world, claimed the common law as their birthright, and brought it with them, except such parts as were judged inapplicable to their new state and condition."

"So much of the common law of England as our ancestors brought with them, and of the statutes then in force, altering or amending it; such of the more recent statutes as have been since [before the revolution] adopted in practice; and the ancient usages aforesaid, may be considered as forming the body of the common law of Massachusetts." (8 Pick. 316, 317.) (See also 2 Met. 123. 16 Pick. 182.)

CONTINGENT REMAINDER, the remainder of an estate in lands limited to take effect on an event or condition which may never happen or be performed, or which may not happen or be performed till after the determination of the preceding particular estate; in which case such remainder never can take effect.

CONUSOR. As used in the statutes of Massachusetts, conusor means the party entering into a recognizance for debt, and conussee the party to whom the debt is payable in such recognizance. (See p. 771.)

CORRUPTION OF BLOOD. See ATTAINER.

COPARCENARY. COPARCENERS. In England, an estate in coparcenary arose where a person seized of lands and tenements in fee-simple or in tail died, leaving only daughters, sisters, aunts, or other femule heirs; in which case the estate descended to all such daughters, sisters, &c., jointly. By custom, in certain cases, an estate descended to all the male heirs, who became coparceners.

In this state, lands descend to all the children equally, and there is no substantial difference between coparceners and tenants in common. Greenleaf's Cruise.

COUNT, derived from the French conte, a narrative. The statement of each cause of action included in the plaintiff's suit. The declaration which includes the statement of the plaintiff's whole case may include one or more counts for the same or different causes of action.

COURT OF RECORD, technically, a court having common law jurisdiction, with a clerk or other officer required by law to keep a record of its proceedings. Such are the supreme judicial and superior courts.

Police courts, having clerks, are courts of record. (8 Met. 168.)

Courts of insolvency are so named by statute. (See p. 581.)

Probate courts are not courts of record. (14 Mass. 227.)

COVERTURE, the state or condition of a married woman.

CROZED. Crozing is the making of that place in casks into which the head is fitted, being done with a cooper's instrument called a "croze."

CURTESY. When a married woman is, during coverture, seized of real estate, her husband is entitled to hold the same after her death, for his life, if, during their marriage, they had issue born alive. This is called an "estate by the curtesy." The rights given to married women to hold property to their sole and separate use do not take away the husband's estate by the curtesy. (See pp. 471, 538, 539.)

CURTILAGE, the open space situated within a common enclosure of a dwelling-house and the buildings connected therewith. (See 10 Cush. 480.)

D.

DE BONIS NON, (of the goods not.) When upon the death, resignation, or removal of an executor or administrator before the estate is fully settled, another person is appointed to administer the estate not already administered, he is called "administrator de bonis non," or if there is a will, "administrator de bonis non with the will annexed."

DEBT, action of. A form of action for the recovery of money due upon certain liabilities of record, under seal or on penalties; also for moneys due on contracts "whenever the demand for a sum is certain, or is capable of being reduced to a certainty." It is now abolished in this state. The cases to which it applied may be brought by action of contract or tort. (See p. 653.)

DEFEASANCE. A collateral deed, made at the same time with a conveyance, containing conditions upon the performance of which the estate may be defeated.

The terms of the condition of a mortgage, if made by a separate instrument at the same time with the deed, would be a defeasance, and the two instruments constitute a mortgage. (See p. 716.)

To be valid against third parties, the defeasance must, in this state, be recorded in the registry of deeds. (See p. 167.)

DEMURRER, (to wait or stay.) When the declaration, plea, or replication, &c., appears on the face of it, and without reference to extrinsic matter to be defective either in substance or form, the opposite party may in general demur, which has been defined to be a declaration that the party demurring will 'go no further,' because the other has not shown sufficient matter against him." Chitty.

"It confesses the facts to be true, as stated by the opposite party, but denies that, by the law arising upon those facts, any injury is done to the plaintiff, or that the defendant has made out a legitimate excuse." Blackstone.

For particular cases, in which by statute parties may raise issues in law by demurrer, see p. 655.

DISCLAIMER, (to abandon, to renounce.) A plea in a real action, by which the defendant declares that he has nothing and claims nothing in the demanded premises, and wholly disavows and disclaims to have any thing therein.

"It resembles a plea of tender of the whole sum demanded in an action of debt or assumpsit, in which case the defendant admits the plaintiff's right to the thing in controversy, but shows that he had no right of action for it." (13 Mass. 442.)

DISCONTINUANCE, respecting real estate.

An alienation made or suffered by the tenant in tail, or other tenant seised in right of another, by which the issue in tail, or heir, or successor, or those in reversion or remainder, are driven to their action and cannot enter. It is used to distinguish those cases where a party, whose freehold is ousted, can restore it only by action, from those in which he may restore it by entry. Bouvier.

By statute, in this state, a discontinuance does not take away or defeat any right of entry, or of action for recovery of real estate. (See p. 692.)

DISSEISIN. See SEISIN.

DISTRAIN, DISTRESS. A distress is the taking of personal property, without process of law, from the possession of a wrong doer, as a pledge to a party injured for redress of the injury, or the performance of some duty, or for the satisfaction of some claim.

Collectors may distrain for payment of taxes. (See pp. 81, 82.)

Field drivers and others may distrain cattle going at large or doing damage. (See p. 185.)

DURESS. "An actual or threatened violence of a man's person contrary to law, to compel him to enter into a contract, or to discharge one." Bouvier.

E.

EASEMENT. A liberty, privilege, or advantage in land without profit, distinct from ownership of the soil; such as a right of way over the land of another, or in a public highway, &c.

ESCHEAT. The falling or passing of real estate to the government in the nature of reversion, by reason of there being no person legally entitled to hold the same.

In this state only two causes of escheat have ever been recognized — one when an alien purchased land, and could not hold against the government; and the other, when a person died without heirs, seised of land which he had not devised by will. (9 Mass. 368.) The first of these is abolished by statute. (See p. 473.) The second is still the law. (See p. 474.)

EX OFFICIO. By virtue of office.

EX PARTE, (of the one part.) Any thing done when only one party is present is said to be done ex parte.

EX POST FACTO. Something done after, and in relation to, a former act. After the deed is done, Retrospective. Worcester.

An ex post facto law is, technically, one which renders an act punishable in a manner in which it was not punishable when it was committed. Fletcher v. Peck, 6 Cranch, 57.

By article 1, section 10, of the constitution of the United States, the states are prohibited from passing such a law. (See p. 5.)

It applies to laws respecting crimes only. (9 Mass. 363.)

EXECUTORY DEVISE. An executory devise of lands is such a disposition of them by will, that thereby no estate vests at the death of the deviser, but only on some future contingency. It differs from a remainder in three very material points: First, that it needs no particular estate to support it. Second, that by it a fee-simple or other less estate may be limited after a fee-simple. Third, that by this means a remainder may be limited of a chattel interest, after a particular estate for life created in the same. Blackstone.

It is a limitation by will of a future contingent interest in lands, contrary to the rules of limitation of contingent estates in conveyances at law. Bouvier.

F.

FEE, inheritance; FEE-SIMPLE, a simple inheritance. An estate in fee, or fee-simple, is an estate in lands held to a person, to him and his heirs forever, generally, absolutely, and simply, without mentioning what heirs.

FEE-TAIL. An estate in tail, or in fee-tail, is an estate in lands descendible to some particular heirs only of the person to whom it is granted, and not to his heirs general. Blackstone. Cruise.

FELONY. By statute in this state, any crime punishable by death or imprisonment in the state prison, and no other, is a felony. (See p. 825.)

FEME COVERT. A married woman.

FORMEDON, writ of. Upon an alienation of the tenant in tail, by which the estate in tail was discontinued, and the remainder or reversion is, by the failure of the particular estate, displaced and turned into a mere right, the remedy was by action of formedon, because the writ comprehends the form of the gift. Bouvier.

This writ is abolished in this state. (See p. 696.)

FREEHOLD. A freehold estate is an interest in lands held in fee, for life, or for some other uncertain period. An estate for years, however long the time.

is not, by common law, a freehold, because its duration is certain.

But by statute, in this state, whoever holds lands under a lease for one hundred years or more, so long as fifty years thereof remain unexpired, is regarded as a freeholder. (See p. 471.)

G.

GENERAL ISSUE. A form of plea by a defendant making a general denial of the whole of the allegations in the declaration, indictment, or complaint against him.

This plea is abolished in this state in all civil actions, except real and mixed actions and actions before justices of the peace and police courts, and an answer substituted. (See p. 656.)

H.

HABEAS CORPUS, (have the body.) The writ of habeas corpus is a writ issued by a judge, magistrate, or court, commanding that some person held in custody or under restraint shall be brought before the same or some other judge, magistrate, or court at a certain time or place for the purpose of inquiry into the legality of the restraint, or of having the person in court, for trial as a party, or as a witness, or for some other cause making his personal attendance necessary.

HEREDITAMENTS. An inheritance or an estate which descends to one by succession.

Incorporeal Hereditament is such a right issuing out of, or concerning, or annexed to, or exercisable within a thing corporate or tangible, such as an annuity charged on lands, and granted to a person and his heirs.

HYPOTHECATION, a certain kind of pledge of personal property without delivery to the pledgee, originally peculiar to the civil law.

In the common law, cases of hypothecation, in the strict sense of the civil law, that is, of a pledge of a chattel, without possession by the pledgee, are scarcely to be found. Cases of bottomry bonds, and claims for seamen's wages against ships, are the nearest approach to it; but these are liens and privileges rather than hypothecation. Story.

I.

INNUENDO. An averment which explains the meaning, or points out the application of some words or matters expressed, commonly used in actions of slander, but now, by statute, not necessary. (See p. 666.)

INSIMUL COMPUTASSANT, (they had accounted together.) The technical name of a count in the plaintiff's declaration for a balance found due him by the parties on accounting together. (See p. 664.)

INTERLOCUTORY. Intermediate. An interlocutory judgment, decree, or order, is one entered between the commencement and the end of a suit, deciding some particular point, without making a final decision of the matter in issue.

ISSUE. In relation to kindred, it means all persons who have descended from a common ancestor.

In pleading, it is the close or result of the pleadings, by which the single material point depending in the suit is presented for determination.

J.

JOINT TENANTS, ESTATES IN JOINT TENANCY. Applied to real estate. The peculiar incident of an estate in joint tenancy, distinguishing it from an estate in common, is the right of survivorship, by which, upon the death of any joint tenant, the entire estate goes to the survivors or survivor, and the last survivor holds it to himself and his heirs. It is a life estate to all but the last survivor.

L.

LEVY. A seizure. Commonly used in the statutes to express the taking of property on executions to satisfy judgments, or on warrants for the collection of taxes.

LIEN. In its most extensive signification, it includes every case in which real or personal property is charged with or held for the payment of any debt or duty. In a more limited sense, it is the right of detaining the property of another until some claim is satisfied. Bourier.

M.

MANDAMUS, (we command.) A mandamus is a writ issuing in the name of the commonwealth, from the supreme judicial court, and is directed to some inferior court, or to some person or corporation exercising a public authority, commanding them to do some particular thing specified in the writ, which it belongs to their office or their duty to perform. And generally in all cases of omissions or mistakes where there is no other adequate specific remedy, resort may be had to this writ.

MAYHEM is the unlawfully and violently depriving another of the use of such of his members as may render him the less able in fighting either to defend himself or to annoy his adversary. And therefore, the cutting off, or disabling, or weakening a man's hand or finger, or striking out his eye or fore tooth, are held to be mayhems. But the cutting off his ear, or nose, or the like, are not held to be mayhems at common law, because they do not weaken but only disfigure him. Blackstone. Bourier. (For the punishment of this offence, see p. 792.)

MESNE PROCESS. Intermediate process, which issues pending the suit upon some collateral interlocutory order, as to summon juries, witnesses, and the like. Blackstone.

It includes any process between original and final process; that is, between the original writ and the execution. Bourier.

With us, mesne process in common speech, seems to denote the original writ, or first process, by virtue of which the proper officer attaches property, arrests the body, or makes service on the defendant.

MESNE PROFITS. The value of the premises during the time that the owner has been wrongfully kept out of the possession of his estate.

MESSUAGE. Dwelling-house. A grant or devise of a messuage will pass a house and the buildings belonging to it, its curtilage, garden, and orchard, and the close on which the house is built. Bowrier.

MINOR. In England and the United States, a person, whether male or female, who has not attained the age of twenty-one years. Minors are also in law called infants.

MISPRISION OF TREASON is the bare knowledge and concealment of treason by being merely passive, and without any degree of assent thereto. Any assent makes the person a principal traitor.

MITTIMUS, (we send.) It is the name of a precept in writing, under the hand and seal of a justice of the peace, or, if issued by a court, under the seal of the court and signed by the clerk, directed to the jailer, commanding him to receive and safely keep the person named therein until he shall be delivered by due course of law.

N.

NISI, (unless.) This word is used in legal proceedings to indicate that any order, &c., shall take effect at a given time, unless before that time the order, &c., is modified, or something else is done to prevent its taking effect.

Nisi prius, (unless before.) Nisi prius, applied to terms of court, denotes those terms at which jury trials are heard.

Cases in court are sometimes said to be continued nisi, which means that they are continued for a special purpose, and that they will be entered on the docket of the next term, unless they are before that time otherwise disposed of.

NOL. PROSSED, NOLLE PROSEQUI, (is not desirous of prosecuting further.) Nol. prosed, applied to indictments and criminal prosecutions, indicates that the prosecuting officer has discontinued them.

NOLO CONTENDERE, (I do not wish to contend.) The name of a plea by a defendant to an indictment or criminal complaint, the legal effect of which is to admit the truth of the charges in the indictment or complaint, and upon which the defendant may be sentenced.

NON COMPOS. Not of sound mind, memory, or understanding. This is a generic term, and includes all the species of madness, whether arising from idiocy, sickness, lunacy, or drunkenness. Bowrier.

In this state, by statute, a person non compos is included in the words "insane person" and "lunatic." (See p. 51.)

NON TENURE. A plea in a real action, by which the defendant asserts that he does not hold either the whole land, or some part of the land mentioned in the plaintiff's declaration. (See DISCLAIMER.)

NUNCUPATIVE WILL. A will made verbally. A nuncupative will or testament is a verbal declaration by a testator of his will before a competent number of legal witnesses. Bowrier.

In this state, by statute, a "soldier in actual military service, or a mariner at sea, may dispose of his wages and other personal estate by a nuncupative will." (See p. 477.)

O.

OLEOMETER. An instrument for testing the quality or purity of oil.

OUSTER, OUSTED. An ouster is the actual turning out, or keeping excluded, the party entitled to possession of any real property corporeal. Any continuing act of exclusion from the enjoyment constitutes an ouster.

Ousted indicates the condition of the party so kept excluded.

OYER, (to hear; the hearing.) It is a term used in pleading, and denotes that the person making the plea asks that he may hear the bond, or deed, or instrument, read, which is declared on.

P.

PETIT TREASON, (little treason.) This offence was formerly the killing of a master by his servant; of a husband by his wife; of his superior by an ecclesiastical person, either secular or regular. It was called petit (little) treason because of the civil or ecclesiastical connections between the person killed and the one taking his life. In this state, there is no distinction between petit treason and murder. (See p. 791.)

PLEA. A term in pleading denoting the defendant's answer by matter of fact to the plaintiff's declaration. The word is sometimes erroneously used to denote the argument or address of counsel, either to the jury or the court.

POSTHUMOUS, (after the death of.) A posthumous child is one born after the death of its parent. Posthumous children by our statutes are considered as living at the death of their parents, for the purpose of inheritance of property. (See p. 475.)

PRIMA FACIE, (on the first view or appearance; at first sight.) Prima facie evidence of a fact, is that which in law is sufficient to establish the fact, unless rebutted.

"Prima facie evidence is competent evidence tending to prove a proposition of fact, and if it is not rebutted or controlled by other evidence, will stand as sufficient proof of such proposition of fact." (1 Gray 500.)

PROCHEIN AMI, (next friend.) Where one as a minor, cannot sue in his own name, he may sue in the name of some person competent to sue, who is called his prochein ami, and he is then said to bring the suit by his prochein ami, or next friend.

PROFERT, (produces), PROFERT IN CURIA, (produces in court.) Where a plaintiff declares on a deed, or a defendant pleads a deed and makes title under it, he does it with a profert, or profert in curia, by declaring that he "brings here into court the said writing obligatory."

PRO RATA. Proportional.

PRO TEMPORE, PRO TEM. For the time

PROVOST MARSHAL. An officer of the army, whose duties are to take steps for the prosecution of crimes and offences against military discipline, to seize and secure deserters, to punish marauders, &c., to take charge of prisoners, and superintend the execution of punishments.

Q.

QUARANTINE. The space of time (forty days, more or less) during which a ship or vessel, coming from a port or place infected, or supposed to be infected with a contagious or epidemic disease, is detained, after her arrival, within certain designated limits, generally called the quarantine ground, and during which time her crew and passengers are required to remain on board, without intercourse with those on shore.

The word quarantine, by the law of England, indicated the space of forty days, during which the widow of a landed man had a right to remain in her husband's principal mansion immediately after his death. The right of the widow was also called her quarantine.

QUARE CLAUSUM. This is an abbreviation for quare clausum fregit, "wherefore he broke the close." It is generally used in connection with actions of tort or trespass; as, "trespass quare clausum." In such connection, it means an action to recover damages for breaking and entering the close (or premises) of the plaintiff.

QUASHED, QUASH, (overthrown, annulled, made void.) Where proceedings in courts, whether civil or criminal, are clearly irregular and void, the court will quash them; that is, declare them void.

QUORUM signifies the number of persons belonging to a legislative assembly, or corporation, or a society, or other body, required to transact business.

The word is also used to designate a class of justices of the peace, as justices of the peace and of the quorum, to which class of justices of the peace some special duties are assigned, and without whose presence, or the presence of one of them, such duties cannot be transacted.

The duties imposed by statute, in this state, upon justices of the peace and of the quorum, are the discharge of poor debtors arrested on mesne process or execution, and the approval of bail bonds.

QUO WARRANTO, (by what authority or warrant.) A writ issued from the supreme judicial court, in the name of the commonwealth, against any person or corporation that usurps a franchise or office, commanding the sheriff of the county to summon the defendant to appear before the court from which the writ issued to show by what authority (quo warranto) he claims the franchise, or office mentioned in the writ.

R.

RECOGNIZANCE. An obligation of record, entered into before a court, or officer duly authorized for that purpose, with a condition to do some act required by law which is therein specified, or pay the sum of money therein mentioned. In criminal cases, the condition is, that the defendant shall appear before the proper court to answer there to the charges against him, and meanwhile to keep the peace, and be of good behavior. Witnesses are required to recognize to testify.

In civil cases, recognizances are entered into by bail, conditioned that they will pay, upon certain contingencies, the debt, interest, and costs recovered by the plaintiff. There are also recognizances under the authority of statutes. (See pp. 770, 772.)

REMAINDER. An estate in remainder is an estate limited to take effect and be enjoyed after another estate is determined. As if a man seised in fee simple granteth lands to A for twenty years, and after the determination of the said term, then to B and his heirs forever; here A is tenant for years, and B has the remainder in fee. Blackstone.

Contingent or executory remainders are where the estate in remainder is limited to take effect either to a dubious and uncertain person, or upon a dubious and uncertain event; so that the particular estate may chance to be determined, and the remainder never take effect. Blackstone.

Vested remainders are where the estate is invariably fixed to remain to a determinate person after the particular estate is spent. Blackstone.

REPLEVIN. An action of replevin lies for the recovery specifically (in specie) of any personal chattel which has been wrongfully taken and detained from the owner's possession, together with damages for the detour.

REPLICATION. A term of pleading. It is the reply which the plaintiff makes to the defendant's plea or answer.

REPRISAL, writ of. (See WITHERNAM.)

RES JUDICATA, (a matter adjudged.) A question settled by judicial decision.

RESPONDENTIA. A loan of money on maritime interest, on goods laden on board of a ship, which in the course of the voyage must from their nature be sold or exchanged, upon this condition, that if the goods should be lost in the course of the voyage, by any of the perils enumerated in the contract, the lender shall lose his money; if not, that the borrower shall pay him the sum borrowed, with the interest agreed upon. The contract is called respondentia, because the money is lent on the personal responsibility of the borrower. Bowyer. (See BOTTOMRY.)

REVERSION. An estate in reversion is the residue of an estate left in the grantor, to commence in possession after the determination of some particular estate granted out by him. Blackstone.

S.

SCIRE FACIAS, (that you make known or show cause.) The name of a judicial writ, founded upon some record and requiring the defendant to show cause why the plaintiff should not have the advantage of such record.

SEISIN. The possession of an estate of freehold. In the absence of other evidence, a deed of land duly acknowledged and recorded, raises a presumption that the grantor had sufficient seisin to enable him to convey, and also vests the legal seisin in the grantee. (15 Pick. 185.)

Disseisin is an ouster of the rightful owner from the seisin or estate in the land and the commencement of a new estate in the wrong doer. Notorious and exclusive adverse possession without right, constitutes a disseisin. (5 Met. 33.)

Disseised, unlawfully ousted, or expelled from, and kept out of the possession of, an estate of freehold.

SEVERAL TENANCY. A tenant in severalty is he who holds lands and tenements in his own right only, without any other person being joined or connected with him in point of interest during his estate therein. Blackstone.

SOLE CORPORATION. A sole corporation consists of only one person, to whom and his successors belongs that legal perpetuity, the enjoyment of which is denied to all natural persons.

SOLE TENANCY. A sole tenant is one who holds lands in his own right, without being joined with any other. Bouvier.

SUBORNATION OF PERJURY. Procuring another person to commit perjury. (p. 812.)

“To constitute subornation of perjury, the party charged must have procured the commission of the perjury, by inciting, instigating, or persuading the guilty party to commit the crime.” (5 Met. 245.)

SUBPENA, (under penalty; at your peril.) It is a summons issued by a court or magistrate to compel a witness to attend before a court or magistrate, or some person or persons named in the process at the time and place therein mentioned, to testify what he may know relating to the cause or matter described therein. It usually concludes with words similar to these: “Hereof fail not, at your peril.”

Subpœna duces tecum, (at your peril bring with you.) This is a process issued by a court for compelling the attendance of a witness, with a direction requiring the witness to “bring with him” and produce to the court the books, papers, &c., named in the process, that are in his possession, or under his control, tending to elucidate the matter in issue.

Subpœna, in equity practice. A mandatory writ or process from the court, directed to and requiring the person or persons, or corporation, &c., named therein, to appear at the time and place mentioned therein, and answer the matters charged against it, him, or them.

SUMMONS. The name of a writ commanding the sheriff, or other authorized officer, to notify a party to appear in court to answer a complaint made against him and in the said writ specified, on a day therein mentioned. Bouvier.

SUPERSEDEAS, (that you stay or supersede.) The name of a writ containing a command to stay the proceedings at law. Bouvier.

T.

TAIL, ESTATE. (See FEE TAIL.)

Tenant in tail. The holder of an estate tail is called a tenant in tail.

TALESMAN. A person returned by order of the court from among the bystanders, or from the county at large, to serve as a juror in order to complete the panel. In this state, not more than five talesmen can be returned for one jury, as the statutes provide that there must be on the jury “not less than seven of the jurors who were originally drawn and summoned.” (See p. 682.)

TERMINI. Limits, boundaries.

TORT. A legal injury, a wrong. In this state, actions of tort include actions of trespass, trespass on the case, trover, and actions for penalties. (See p. 653.)

TRESPASS. An unlawful act committed with force directly applied to the person or property.

Trespass on the case. The name of an action instituted for the recovery of damages caused by an injury unaccompanied with force, or where the damages sustained are only consequential. Bouvier.

TROVER, (to find.) The name of an action brought to recover the value of personal chattels wrongfully converted by another to his own use. Bouvier.

TROY WEIGHT. A scale of weight used for weighing gold, silver, diamonds, &c. The pound contains twelve ounces, or five thousand seven hundred and sixty grains.

V.

VENIRE, VENIRE FACIAS, (to come, that you cause to come.) The name of a writ issued by the clerk of the court, directed to the sheriff, commanding him to cause to come before the court, on a specified day, from certain towns of the county named in the writ, a certain number of persons qualified to serve as jurors.

VENUE OF ACTIONS. The venue is the county from which the jury are to come who are to try the issue. Bouvier.

As used in the statutes, it means the county where the action is to be brought. (See pp. 620, 621.)

W.

WASTE. A spoil, or destruction in houses, gardens, trees, or other corporeal hereditaments, to the disherison of him that hath the remainder or reversion in fee simple or fee tail. Blackstone.

WITHERNAM. The name of a writ used in connection with the action of replevin.

In this state, when, in an action of replevin to determine the legality of the distraint or impounding of cattle, the defendant has judgment that the cattle be returned and restored, a writ of return may issue to carry a judgment of that kind, when rendered before a justice of the peace, into execution, by which writ the officer is directed to restore to the defendant the same beasts that the plaintiff had replevied from him. If the officer upon this writ makes return that the property is withheld so that he cannot get it, a writ of withernam may issue, by which the officer is directed to take other goods of the plaintiff in withernam, (by way of reprisal.) and hold them until the plaintiff restores to the defendant the beasts he took from him by the writ of replevin. In this state, the writ of withernam is called a writ of reprisal. (See pp. 732, 733.)
